Contracts of partially insane person: Where it is made to appear that a person is insane upon one subject his contracts in regard to other matters will be scrutinized closely by the court when their validity and his competency to make them are questioned. Ratliff v. Baltzer's Admr. (1907) 13 I. 152, 89 P. 71.

A conveyance or other contract made by a person who is of unsound mind but who is not entirely without understanding, and before his incapacity has been judicially determined is not absolutely void but is only voidable and subject to rescission. Ib.

A contract made by a person of defective mind but not entirely without understanding, who comprehends the full force and effect of such contract and upon whom no fraud or deception has been practiced, will not be rescinded. Ib.

§ 4590. [2608] Same: After adjudication of incapacity. After his incapacity has been judicially determined, a person of unsound mind can make no conveyance or other contract, nor delegate any power or waive any right until his restoration to capacity. But a certificate from the medical superintendent or resident physician of the insane asylum to which such person may have been committed, showing that such person had been discharged therefrom cured and restored to reason, shall establish the presumption of legal capacity in such person from the time of such discharge. CHAPTER 182.

MARRIAGE.

ARTICLE 1.

NATURE AND VALIDITY OF MARRIAGE CONTRACT.

§ 4591. [2611] What constitutes marriage. Marriage is a personal relation arising out of a civil contract, to which the consent of parties capable of making it is necessary. Consent alone will not constitute marriage; it must be followed by a solemnization, or by a mutual assumption of marital rights, duties or obligations. [R. S. § 2420.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 55; similar as am. Kerr's C. ib.

Presumption of marriage: Though there was a legal impediment to prevent a valid marriage, as where there was a former husband or wife living at the time, still a valid marriage will be presumed to have occurred after the removal of such impediment by death or divorce, where the parties continue their marital duties, rights and obligations. Huff v. Huff (1911) 20 I. 450, 462, 118 P. 1080.

§ 4592. [2612] Persons who may marry. Any unmarried male of the age of 18 years or upward, and any unmarried female of the age of 18 years or upward, and not otherwise disqualified, are capable of consenting to and consummating marriage. ['88-89, p. 44.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 56; Kerr's C. ib.

§ 4593. [2613] Proof of consent and consummation. Consent to and subsequent consummation of marriage may be manifested in any form, and may be proved under the same general rules of evidence as facts in other cases. [R. S. § 2422.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 57; different as am. Kerr's C. ib.

§ 4594. [2614] When voidable. If either party to a marriage be incapable from physical causes of entering into the marriage state, or if the consent of either be obtained by fraud or force, the marriage is voidable. [R. S. § 2423.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 58; repealed: Kerr's C. ib.

Construed with § 8286: The definition herein contained applies to § 8286, prescribing the penalty for incest. S. v. Andrus (1916) 29 I. 1, 156 P. 421.

§ 4596. [2616] Marriages of Caucasians with negroes. All marriages of white persons with negroes or mulattoes are illegal and void. [R. S. § 2425.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 60; same except "Mongolians" inserted after "negroes": Kerr's C. ib.

§ 4597. [2617] Polygamous marriages. A subsequent marriage contracted by any person during the life of a former husband or wife of such person, with any person other than such former husband or wife, is illegal and void from the beginning unless:

1. The former marriage of either party has been annulled or dissolved more than six months; or

2. Such former husband or wife was absent and not known to such person to be living for the space of five successive years immediately preceding, or was generally reputed, and was believed by such person, to be dead at the time such subsequent marriage was contracted.

In either of which cases the subsequent marriage is valid until its nullity is adjudged by a competent tribunal. ['03, p. 10, § 1.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 61; as am. Kerr's C. ib.

Allegations: The complaint must allege, in order to state an offense under the laws of this state, that the other party charged to have contracted a subsequent marriage is not the former husband or wife of the divorced person so subsequently married. S. v. Cole, 31 I. 603, 174 P. 131.

Limitation not applicable to agreement to marry: An agreement to marry entered into within six months after the date of a decree of divorce, to be consummated and the marriage contract actually made after the expiration of the six months from the date of the decree, is valid, and damages for a breach thereof may be recovered in a proper action. (On rehearing) Harpold v. Doyle (1908) 16 I. 671, 102 P. 158.

§ 4598. [2618] Release from contract for unchastity. Neither party to a contract to marry is bound by a promise made in ignorance of the other's want of personal chastity, and either is released therefrom by unchaste conduct on the part of the other, unless both parties participate therein. [R. S. § 2427.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same except "unless both parties participate therein" omitted: Civ. C. 1872, § 62; Kerr's C. ib.

§ 4599. [2619] Recognition of foreign marriages. All marriages contracted without this state, which would be valid by the laws of the country in which the same were contracted, are valid in this state. [R. S. § 2428.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 63; Kerr's C. ib.

ARTICLE 2.

SOLEMNIZATION OF MARRIAGE.

§ 4600. [2620] How solemnized. Marriage must be solemnized, authenticated and recorded as provided in this chapter, but noncompliance with its provisions does not invalidate any lawful marriage. [R. S. § 2425.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 68; similar as am. Kerr's C. ib.

Common-law marriage recognized: Where after the death of a former spouse a couple recognize their union as husband and wife and enter upon the marriage relation and children are born to them thereafter such relationship develops into a common-law marriage. Huff v. Huff (1911) 20 I. 450, 118 P. 1080.

§ 4601. [2621] Duty of person officiating. All persons herein authorized to solemnize marriages must ascertain and be assured of:

1. The identity of the parties.
2. Their real and full names and places of residence.
3. That they are of sufficient age to be capable of contracting marriage.
4. If the male is under the age of 18 or the female under the age of 18 years, the consent of the father, mother or guardian, if any such, is given, or that such nonaged person has been previously but is not at the time married; and that the parties applying for the rites of marriage, and making such contract, have a legal right so to do. ['88-89, p. 44.]

Hist. (See '77, p. 24, § 9) R. S. § 2430; am. '88-89, p. 44, reen. R. C. § 2621, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 4606. [2626] Fees of officer. The person solemnizing a marriage is for such service entitled to receive from the parties married the sum of $5, but may receive any other or greater sum voluntarily given by the parties to such marriage. [R. S. § 2438.]

Disposition of fees: Fees received by the probate judge for solemnizing marriages must be turned into the county treasury, but any gratuities given him by the parties over and above the amount of the legal fee, may be retained for his individual use. Rhea v. Bd. of Comrs. (1906) 12 I. 455, 88 P. 89; (on rehearing) 13 I. 59, 88 P. 89.

§ 4607. [2627] Validity not affected by want of authority. No marriage solemnized by any person professing to be a judge, justice, or minister, is deemed or regarded void, nor is the validity thereof to be in any way affected on account of any want of jurisdiction or authority: Provided, It be consummated with a full belief on the part of the persons so married, or either of them, that they have been lawfully joined in marriage. [R. S. § 2439.]

Hist. (See '64, p. 615, § 13) R. S. § 2439; reen. R. C. § 2627, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 4608. [2628] Marriage certificate as evidence. The original certificate, and record of marriage made by the judge, justice or minister, as prescribed in this chapter, and the record thereof by the recorder of the county, or a copy of such record duly certified by such recorder, must be received in all courts and places as presumptive evidence of the fact of such marriage. [R. C. § 2628.]

Hist. (See '64, p. 615, § 14) R. S. § 2440; am. '88-89, p. 44; am. R. C. § 2628, reen. C. L. ib.

LICENSES, CERTIFICATES AND RECORDS.

§ 4609. [2629] Marriage license: Contents. The county recorder of any county in this state shall have authority to issue marriage licenses to any parties applying for the same who may be entitled under the laws of this state to contract matrimony, authorizing the marriage of such parties, which licenses shall be substantially in the following form:

> Know all men by this certificate that any regularly ordained minister of the gospel, authorized by the rites and usages of the church or denomination of Christians, Hebrews, or religious body of which he may be a member, or any judge or justice of the peace or competent officer to whom this may come, he not knowing of any lawful impediment thereto, is hereby authorized and empowered to solemnize the rites of matrimony between....., of.....of the county of ....., and the state of....., and....., of.....of the county of....., state of.....,

and to certify the same to said parties, or either of them, under his hand and seal, in his ministerial or official capacity, and thereupon he is required to return his certificate in form following as hereto annexed.

CHAPTER 183.

DIVORCE.

ARTICLE 1.

ANNULMENT OF MARRIAGE.

§ 4620. [2640] Annulment of marriage: Grounds. A marriage may be annulled for any of the following causes, existing at the time of the marriage:

1. That the party in whose behalf it is sought to have the marriage annulled was under the age of legal consent, and such marriage was contracted without the consent of his or her parents or guardian, or persons having charge of him or her; unless, after attaining the age of consent, such party for any time freely cohabits with the other as husband or wife;
2. That the former husband or wife of either party was living, and the marriage with such former husband or wife was then in force;
3. That either party was of unsound mind, unless such party, after coming to reason, freely cohabited with the other as husband or wife;
4. That the consent of either party was obtained by fraud, unless such party afterward, with full knowledge of the facts constituting the fraud, freely cohabited with the other as husband or wife;
5. That the consent of either party was obtained by force, unless such party afterwards freely cohabited with the other as husband or wife;
6. That either party was, at the time of marriage, physically incapable of entering into the married state, and such incapacity continues, and appears to be incurable. [R. S. § 2450.]

§ 4621. [2641] Action to annul: Parties and limitations. An action to obtain a decree of nullity of marriage, for causes mentioned in the preceding section, must be commenced within the periods and by the parties as follows:

1. For causes mentioned in subdivision one; by the party to the marriage who was married under the age of legal consent, within four years after arriving at the age of consent; or by a parent, guardian, or other person having charge of such nonaged male or female, at any time before such married minor has arrived at the age of legal consent;

2. For causes mentioned in subdivision two; by either party during the life of the other, or by such former husband or wife;

3. For causes mentioned in subdivision three; by the party injured, or relative or guardian of the party of unsound mind, at any time before the death of either party;

4. For causes mentioned in subdivision four; by the party injured, within four years after the discovery of the facts constituting the fraud;

5. For causes mentioned in subdivision five; by the injured party, within four years after the marriage;

6. For causes mentioned in subdivision six; by the injured party, within four years after the marriage. [R. S. § 2451.]

ARTICLE 2.

GROUNDS FOR AND DEFENSES AGAINST DIVORCE.

§ 4625. [2645] Dissolution of marriage. Marriage is dissolved only:

1. By the death of one of the parties; or

2. By the judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction decreeing a divorce of the parties. [R. S. § 2455.]

Hist. R. S. § 2455, reen. R. C. § 2645, reen. C. L. ib.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 90; same as amended: Kerr's C. ib.

§ 4626. [2646] Effect of decree. The effect of a judgment decreeing a divorce is to restore the parties to the state of unmarried persons. [R. S. § 2456.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 91; same as amended: Kerr's C. ib.

§ 4627. [2647] Causes for divorce. Divorces may be granted for any of the following causes:

1. Adultery.
2. Extreme cruelty.
3. Wilful desertion.
4. Wilful neglect.
5. Habitual intemperance.
6. Conviction of felony.
7. When either the husband or wife has become permanently insane, as provided in sections 7037 to 7041, inclusive, of the Code of Civil Procedure. [R. C. § 2647.]

§ 4629. [2649] Extreme cruelty. Extreme cruelty is the infliction of grievous bodily injury or grievous mental suffering upon the other by one party to the marriage. [R. S. § 2459.]

Cited: DeCloedt v. DeCloedt (1913) 24 I. 277, 133 P. 664.

When conduct is excusable: Where cruelty is alleged to have consisted in the wife's hostile demonstrations and lecturing, nagging and hectoring the husband and the evidence discloses that he has been so indiscreet in his conduct toward others as to arouse suspicion on the part of his wife, the conduct of the wife in her protests and outbursts of feeling will not be viewed with the same severity and rigidity by the law as it would be in a case where no such apparent provocation existed. Spofford v. Spofford (1910) 18 I. 115, 108 P. 1054.

The party to the marital contract who by his acts and conduct invites a remonstrance, protest or demonstration from the other party, must expect to exercise a degree of forebearance which the law and good morals would not expect of him under more favorable circumstances. Boeck v. Boeck (1916) 29 I. 639, 161 P. 576.

Test: The question as to whether the acts of cruelty cause grievous mental suffering on the part of the innocent party is the determining question. Donaldson v. Donaldson (1917) 31 I. 180, 170 P. 94.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 95; Kerr's C. ib.

What constitutes desertion: Where the husband establishes a new home and requests his wife to follow him and furnishes her the means with which to travel, and she declines to take up her residence with him, the husband is not guilty of desertion because he fails to support his wife during her absence. Roby v. Roby (1904) 10 I. 139, 77 P. 213.

Enforced absence not desertion: A husband who fails, neglects or refuses to furnish his wife with a suitable home, according to his condition, and refuses to support her, is not in a position to successfully charge her with desertion if she leaves him and seeks employment whereby she may support herself. Bell v. Bell (1908) 15 I. 7, 96 P. 196.

§ 4631. [2651] Wilful neglect. Wilful neglect is the neglect of the husband to provide for his wife the common necessaries of life, he having the ability to do so, or it is the failure to do so by reason of idleness, profligacy or dissipation. [R. S. § 2461.]

§ 4632. [2652] Habitual intemperance. Habitual intemperance is that degree of intemperance from the use of intoxicating drinks which disqualifies the person a great portion of the time from properly attending to business, or which would reasonably inflict a course of great mental anguish upon the innocent party. [R. S. § 2462.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 106; Kerr's C. ib.

Construed: The statute does not mean that a person would have to be drunk all the time, neither does it provide that he shall be incapacitated from pursuing his usual labors during any particular hours, or any time, but it does mean one who has a fixed habit of frequently getting drunk, and that such drunkenness causes the innocent party to suffer great mental anguish and suffering. The statute does not provide that the person shall be generally drunk, or that he is drunk more hours than he is sober. It is sufficient that he have the habit and that the habit is firmly fixed upon him; that he gets drunk with recurring frequency periodically, or that he is unable to resist when opportunity and temptation is presented. DeCloedt v. DeCloedt (1913) 24 I. 277, 133 P. 664.

§ 4633. [2653] Continuation of cause. Wilful desertion, wilful neglect or habitual intemperance must continue for one year before either is a ground for divorce. [R. S. § 2463.]

Hist. R. S. § 2463, reen. R. C. § 2653, reen. C. L. ib.

Desertion by husband: Where a husband first deserts his wife and remains absent from her for a period in excess of that prescribed by this section, she may thereafter refuse to live with him and can maintain an action against him for a divorce, or defeat an action brought by him against her for such divorce. Stoneburner v. Stoneburner (1905) 11 I. 603, 83 P. 938.

§ 4634. [2654] Denial of divorce. Divorces must be denied upon showing:

1. Collusion.
2. Condonation.
3. Recrimination, or
4. Limitation and lapse of time. [R. S. § 2464.]

§ 4635. [2655] Collusion. Collusion is an agreement between husband and wife that one of them shall commit, or appear to have committed, or to be represented in court as having committed, acts constituting a cause of divorce for the purpose of enabling the other to obtain a divorce, and is a bar to an action for such acts. § 4637. [2657] Condonation. Condonation of a cause of divorce shown in the answer as a recriminatory defense, is a bar to such defense when the condonee has fully performed the marital duties, and is without reproach since the condonation, or if two years or more have elapsed after the condonation. [R. S. § 2467.]

1. When the cause is adultery and the action is not commenced within two years after the commission of the act of adultery, or after its discovery by the injured party.

2. When the cause is conviction of felony, and the action is not commenced before the expiration of one year after a pardon or the termination of the period of sentence.

3. In all other cases when there is an unreasonable lapse of time before the commencement of the action. [R. S. § 2468.]

[2661] Not granted by default or confession. No divorce can be granted upon the default of the defendant, or upon the uncorroborated statement, admission or testimony of the parties, or upon any statement or finding of fact made by a referee; but the court must, in addition to any statement or finding of the referee, require proof of the facts alleged, and such proof, if not taken before the court, must be upon written questions and answers. [R. S. § 2471.]

Construed: The provisions of this section are mandatory. The statement, admission or testimony of either or both of the parties to the action is competent evidence. It is not of itself sufficient corroboration to establish the main issue in the action, but requires some extrinsic corroboration. Bell v. Bell (1908) 15 I. 7, 96 P. 196.

Degree of corroboration: No definite rule as the degree of corroboration required can be laid down, and each case must be decided according to its own facts and circumstances. Bell v. Bell (1908) 15 I. 9, 96 P. 196; DeCloedt v. DeCloedt (1913) 24 I. 277, 133 P. 664; Donaldson v. Donaldson (1917) 31 I. 180, 170 P. 84.

Judgment on the pleadings: A motion for judgment on the pleadings will not be entertained in a suit for divorce. Richards v. Richards (1913) 24 I. 87, 94, 132 P. 576.

Effect on default judgment: Every reasonable opportunity should be afforded each of the parties to a full hearing, and a liberal rule adopted in opening defaults. (Dis. op.) Darwin v. Darwin (1915) 27 I. 303, 149 P. 467.

§ 4642. [2662] Allowance of support and suit money. While an action for divorce is pending, the court may, in its discretion, require the husband to pay as alimony any money necessary to enable the wife to support herself or her children, or to prosecute or defend the action. [R. S. § 2472.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 137; as amended: Kerr's C. ib.

Allowance discretionary: The allowance of alimony to the wife and counsel fees pending an action of divorce rests in the sound discretion of the trial court. Wyatt v. Wyatt (1886) 2 I. 236, 10 P. 228.

Amount of allowance: In determining the amount of allowance, the court should take into consideration the wealth and social standing of the parties, their manner of living, the present available means of the wife, and the ability and income of the husband, her health and probable needs while the suit is pending, as well as all other circumstances which may aid the court in determining the amount necessary to maintain the wife during the suit, according to her former manner of living. Day v. Day (1908) 15 I. 107, 96 P. 431.

Where the marriage of the parties is admitted, in determining the amount of alimony the court should attempt to place each party in that position that neither should have the advantage of the other, in waging the suit or in presenting the evidence to prove or disprove the falsity of the allegations made. Ib.

Time of allowance: The court has no power after trial in the final judgment to award attorney's fees for past services. (Budge, C. J. dissents) Donaldson v. Donaldson (1917) 31 I. 180, 170 P. 94.

Allowance pending appeal: Where an appeal has been taken from a judgment in a divorce case, the district court still retains jurisdiction to make orders directing the payment of costs, expenses and attorneys' fees, necessary in the preparation and perfection of the appeal. Roby v. Roby (1903) 9 I. 371, 74 P. 957, 3 Ann. Cas. 50.

Allowance on appeal: On appeal, the supreme court will award a wife costs and attorneys' fees to prosecute or defend the appeal. Roby v. Roby (1904) 10 I. 139, 77 P. 213; Stoneburner v. Stoneburner (1906) 11 I. 603, 83 P. 938; Spofford v. Spofford (1910) 18 I. 115, 108 P. 1054.

Where, in a divorce suit, it appears that defendant is a wealthy man, and his wife is without means to properly prosecute her suit for divorce, the court will allow her attorneys' fees on an appeal from an order refusing to change the place of trial. Day v. Day (1906) 12 I. 556, 86 P. 531, 10 Ann. Cas. 260.

When the lower court allows an inadequate amount, its order will be revised on appeal. Ib.

Original jurisdiction in granting alimony and suit money is vested in the district court and judges thereof at chambers. The supreme court can only exercise jurisdiction in such matters where necessary to a complete exercise of its appellate jurisdiction. Callahan v. Dunn (1917) 30 I. 225, 164 P. 356.

§ 4643. [2663] Custody of children. In an action for divorce the court may, before or after judgment, give such direction for the custody, care and education of the children of the marriage as may seem necessary or proper, and may at any time vacate or modify the same. [R. S. § 2473.]

Discretionary power of court: The question as to the disposition of children is in the first instance in the discretion of the trial court and unless such discretion is abused the judgment will not be disturbed. Donaldson v. Donaldson (1917) 31 I. 180, 170 P. 94.

Order after judgment: Where, after judgment for divorce awarding the custody of the children to the mother, the father obtains an order permitting him to visit the children and restraining the mother or others from estranging the children from him, such order is appealable and a writ of review will not lie thereto. Porter v. Steele (1900) 7 I. 414, 63 P. 187.

§ 4644. [2664] Alimony for fault of husband. Where a divorce is granted for an offense of the husband, the court may compel him to provide for the maintenance of the children of the marriage, and to make such suitable allowance to the wife for her support as the court may deem just, having regard to the circumstances of the parties respectively; and the court may, from time to time, modify its orders in these respects. § 4650. [2670] Disposition of community property and homestead. In case of the dissolution of the marriage by the decree of a court of competent jurisdiction, the community property and the homestead must be assigned as follows:

1. If the decree be rendered on the ground of adultery or extreme cruelty, the community property must be assigned to the respective parties in such proportions as the court, from all the facts of the case and the condition of the parties, deems just.

2. If the decree be rendered on any other ground than that of adultery or extreme cruelty, the community property must be equally divided between the parties.

3. If a homestead has been selected from the community property, it may be assigned to the innocent party, either absolutely or for a limited period, subject in the latter case to the future disposition of the court; or it may be divided or be sold and the proceeds divided.

4. If a homestead has been selected from the separate property of either, it must be assigned to the former owner of such property, subject to the power of the court to assign it for a limited period to the innocent party. [R. S. § 2480.]

Division in subsequent suit: Division of property may be made in a later suit. Kuhnen v. Kuhnen (1916) 29 I. 712, 161 P. 1041.

Division after foreign divorce: A wife who abandons her husband and home in this state, takes up a separate residence in another state, procures a decree of divorce on substituted service in that state, and forms a new community by another marriage, cannot maintain an action thereafter in this state for a division of the community property. (Sullivan, C. J. dissents.) Bedal v. Sake (1904) 10 I. 270, 77 P. 638.

Disposition of property secondary: In action for divorce, the question of the ownership of real estate will not be determined unless the divorce is granted. Bell v. Bell (1908) 15 I. 7, 96 P. 196.

Postnuptial settlement: In a divorce suit where property rights are involved and a postnuptial settlement is presented and relied upon as a settlement of all property rights, and such agreement is challenged on the ground that it is unfair and inequitable and fraudulent, the evidence must show clearly that the postnuptial settlement is in every way fair and unexceptionable on equitable grounds. DeCloedt v. DeCloedt (1913) 24 I. 277, 133 P. 664.

CHAPTER 184.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

Purpose: The provisions of this chapter, concerning the rights of married women, are in the nature of a grant, or an enlargement of the powers of the wife to make contracts, as such rights existed at the common law. Hall v. Johns (1909) 17 I. 224, 105 P. 71.

The statutes of this state with reference to contracts, powers and liabilities of married women must be construed as grants instead of restrictions of power and authority to contract. Bk. of Commerce v. Baldwin (1906) 12 I. 202, 85 P. 497.

The common-law disability of married women to enter into contracts still remains except when the same has been removed by legislative grants of power. Meier & Frank Co. v. Bruce (1917) 30 I. 732, 168 P. 5.

Husband's liability: It is the duty of the husband to maintain and support his wife and family. Hall v. Johns (1909) 17 I. 224, 105 P. 71.

The primary duty rests on the husband by reason of his marital contract and operation of law to furnish the wife with the necessaries of life, which includes board and lodging, and a creditor who furnished the wife with such necessaries may maintain his action against the husband, although the latter never contracted the debt, nor promised to pay the bill. Edminston v. Smith (1907) 13 I. 645, 92 P. 842, 121 A. S. R. 294, 14 L. R. A. (N. S.) 299, 871.

The fact that the debt was contracted by the wife and the credit was extended on the faith of her promise to pay, does not relieve the husband of the liability imposed on him by operation of law, independent of the wife's contractual liability to pay. Ib.

Wife's liability: A wife cannot bind her husband nor the community property for counsel fees in a divorce action. Wyatt v. Wyatt (1886) 2 I. 236, 10 P. 228.

No obligation rests on wife to support family out of separate property, unless there is no community property and husband is too infirm to support himself. Hall v. Johns (1909) 17 I. 224, 105 P. 71.

Where necessaries are furnished to a married woman on the strength of her personal promise to pay therefor, the debt is incurred for her use and benefit and she is liable therefor as a feme sole. Edminston v. Smith (1907) 13 I. 645, 92 P. 842, 121 A. S. R. 294, 14 L. R. A. (N. S.) 871.

§ 4656. [2676] Separate property of wife. All property of the wife owned by her before marriage, and that acquired afterward by gift, bequest, devise or descent, or that which she shall acquire with the proceeds of her separate property, shall remain her sole and separate property, to the same extent and with the same effect, as the property of a husband similarly acquired. Conveyances from husband: A husband when free from debts and liabilities may make a gift to his wife from their community property and the same will then become her separate property and will not be liable for debts subsequently contracted by him. Bk. of Orofino v. Wellman (1914) 26 I. 425, 143 P. 1169.

As against a preexisting creditor, a wife who takes a conveyance from her husband must show adequate consideration by clearer proof than is required in transactions between strangers. Chaney v. Gauld Co. (1915) 28 I. 76, 152 P. 468.

Borrowed money: Property purchased after marriage with money borrowed by wife is community property and does not come within the provisions of this section. Chaney v. Gauld Co. (1915) 28 I. 76, 152 P. 468.

Estoppel: A wife who permits her separate property to remain in her husband's name is estopped to assert her title against his creditors. Chaney v. Gauld (1915) 28 I. 76, 152 P. 468. But this rule does not apply where the wife did not know the title to the property was in the husband's name. McKeehan v. Vollmer-Clearwater Co. (1917) 30 I. 505, 166 P. 256.

Evidence: Oral testimony of wife ought not to be received on question of separate property if written evidence is available. Chaney v. Gauld (1915) 28 I. 76, 152 P. 468. Otherwise when written evidence is lost, McKeehan v. Vollmer-Clearwater Co. (1917) 30 I. 505, 166 P. 256.

Application of section: This section and the act of which it is a part refers only to the separate property of the wife, and the management and control thereof, and does not empower a married woman to bind herself personally for the payment of a debt that was not contracted for her own use, or for the use and benefit of her separate estate, or in connection with the control and management thereof, or in conducting business connected therewith. Bk. of Com. v. Baldwin (1906) 12 I. 202, 85 P. 497; Ib. (1908) 14 I. 75, 93 P. 504, 17 L. R. A. (N. S.) 676.

A wife's power to contract with reference to her separate property is not an absolute and unlimited right of contract as to all matters. Her right is confined to those contracts that have reference to her separate estate. Ib.

The common-law disability of married women to enter into contracts still remains, except in contracts for her own use or in management of her separate property. Meier & Frank v. Bruce (1917) 30 I. 732, 168 P. 5.

Creation of liability in rem: In order for a married woman to create a charge against her separate estate for a debt not contracted for her use, nor for the benefit of such separate property, it must be made a charge in rem by mortgage or pledge of the property or in some manner known to the law as constituting a lien upon property. Such a charge can not be created by a mere representation of the woman that she owns a certain amount, class or character of property. Bk. of Com. v. Baldwin (1906) 12 I. 202, 85 P. 497; Ib. (1908) 14 I. 75, 93 P. 504, 17 L. R. A. (N. S.) 676; Smith v. Schultz (1912) 23 I. 144, 150, 129 P. 640.

Not bound as surety: A married woman has no authority to become surety or guarantor for the debts of others, such right and the concurrent obligations thereof not being necessary or essential to the complete enjoyment of her separate estate. Bk. of Com. v. Baldwin (1908) 14 I. 75, 93 P. 504, 17 L. R. A. (N. S.) 676.

Right to sue: A married woman is given the absolute control of her separate property which includes the right to bring an action for the protection of her separate property. Salisbury v. Spofford (1912) 22 I. 393, 126 P. 400.

But her attorneys cannot, by stipulation, bind a married woman in a case where she could not bind herself or make her liable on a contract that she has never executed. Strode v. Miller (1900) 7 I. 16, 59 P. 893.

Contract where wife receives property: A contract made by a married woman, by which she secures property for which the contract is executed, is for her own use and benefit, and such use and benefit is a fact resulting from the contract itself. Booth Merc. Co. v. Murphy (on rehearing 1908) 14 I. 212, 93 P. 777.

Separate contracts independent of husband: It is not necessary for the husband to join with the wife in the conveyance or incumbrance of her real estate. A wife may, independently of her husband, enter into contracts with reference to her separate property. Stewart v. Weiser L. Co. (1912) 21 I. 340, 121 P. 775.

Foreign contract: A contract entered into by a married woman in a state where her common-law disabilities have been removed will be enforced here, even though not made for her own use or for the benefit of her separate estate. (Budge, C. J. dissents) Meier & Frank Co. v. Bruce (1917) 30 I. 732, 168 P. 5.

Transactions involving husband: It is error to render judgment jointly against husband and wife on a note signed by both in the absence of a showing that the debt was created for the separate use and benefit of the wife, or for the use and benefit of her separate estate. Jaeckel v. Pease (1898) 6 I. 131, 53 P. 393.

A wife has no power to burden the community property with her contracts. Hall v. Johns (1909) 17 I. 224, 105 P. 71.

Where a wife joins her husband in a warranty deed, conveying his separate property and for the conveyance of which the husband receives the consideration, the wife is not liable in an action for breach of the covenant of warranty, for the reason that such contract and covenant of warranty is not made with reference to the wife's separate property or for her own use or benefit. Humbird L. Co. v. Doran (1913) 24 I. 507, 135 P. 66.

A married woman who placed her husband in possession of her separate property and permitted him to manage it as his own was estopped from asserting ownership to the property when it would result in the loss of a debt contracted by her husband. Boise Butcher Co. v. Anixdale (1914) 26 I. 483, 144 P. 337.

A wife who loans proceeds of separate property to husband becomes one of his creditors, and rights as such are governed by same legal principles as other creditors. Wilkerson v. Aven (1914) 23 I. 559, 144 P. 1105; Bates v. Papesh (1917) 30 I. 529, 166 P. 270.

Decisions under prior statute: Repeal: The act of which this section is a part expressly repealed R. S. §§ 2498-9. Section 2499 provided for the appointment of a trustee in case of mismanagement by the husband. Decisions under the repealed § 2498, which gave the husband the management and control of the separate property of the wife during coverture, except in the sale or the creation of liens on the same, were as follows:

Bassett v. Beam (1894) 4 I. 106, 36 P. 501; Dernham & Kaufman v. Rowley (1896) 4 I. 753, 44 P. 643; Northwestern etc. Bk. v. Rauch (1900) 7 I. 152, 61 P. 516; Karlson v. Property acquired out of state: Personal property acquired during coverture is governed by the law of the matrimonial domicile. If the title thereto and property therein was vested in the husband under the law of the domicile it will be presumed everywhere to be his property. Douglas v. Douglas (1912) 22 I. 336, 125 P. 796.

Cases in which property was held to be husband's separate property:

Property purchased with proceeds of property owned and acquired in common-law state where property belongs to husband solely. Douglas v. Douglas (1912) 22 I. 336, 125 P. 796.

Homestead earned before marriage but where patent was not issued until after marriage. Humbird L. Co. v. Doran (1913) 24 I. 507, 135 P. 66.

§ 4660. [2680] Community property. All other property acquired after marriage by either husband or wife, including the rents and profits of the separate property of the husband and wife, is community property, unless by the instrument by which any such property is acquired by the wife it is provided that the rents and profits thereof be applied to her sole and separate use; in which case the management and disposal of such rents and profits belong to the wife, and they are not liable for the debts of the husband. [R. S. § 2497.]

Property classified: The property of a husband and wife is divided into two classes, namely, the separate property of each spouse, and community property. Hall v. Johns (1909) 17 I. 224, 105 P. 71.

Nonresident wife: This section is not limited to a community created in this state or to one composed of persons who, having been married elsewhere, come within the state and become domiciled here, but protects a nonresident wife of a man who comes into this state and acquires property here. Jacobson v. Bunker Hill etc. Co. (1891) 3 I. 126, 28 P. 396.

Construction with § 6919: This section must be construed with § 6919 under which the rents, issues and profits of the separate property of the wife are exempt from execution against the husband. Thorn v. Anderson (1900) 7 I. 421, 63 P. 592; Bk. of Nez Perce v. Pindel (1912) 193 F. 917, 113 C. C. A. 545.

Presumption that property belongs to community: All property acquired by either spouse during coverture is presumed to be community property. The presumption may be rebutted but the burden of proof rests upon the party who asserts it is separate property to show such fact by a preponderance of evidence. Jacobson v. Bunker Hill etc. Co. (1891) 3 I. 126, 28 P. 396; Vermont L. & T. Co. v. McGregor (1897) 5 I. 510, 51 P. 104; Stowell v. Tucker (1900) 7 I. 312, 62 P. 1033; Stewart v. Weiser L. Co. Doran (1913) 24 I. 507, 135 P. 66; Chaney v. Gauld Co. (1915) 28 I. 76, 152 P. 468.

In an action to foreclose a mortgage, executed by husband and wife, failure to allege that the mortgaged property or any part thereof is the separate estate of the wife, or that the debts were created for the benefit of her separate estate, raises a presumption that said debts are debts of the husband, and that such property is community property. Strode v. Miller (1900) 7 I. 16, 59 P. 893.

Actions concerning community property: Under our statutes, making the time and earnings of both husband and wife community property, loss of ability to labor is an element of damage in an action by the husband and wife for a tortious injury to the wife and a separate action by the husband need not be brought to recover for such damage. Giffen v. Lewiston (1898) 6 I. 231, 55 P. 545.

In an action upon an account by a married woman, the fact that the account sued upon is community property is a proper defense. Holton v. Sandpoint L. Co. (1901) 7 I. 573, 64 P. 889. And a counterclaim against the husband of plaintiff may be interposed. Campbell v. Kerns (1907) 13 I. 287, 70 P. 108.

In an action against a wife to foreclose a mortgage on community property where the husband, being a necessary party to such action, is not served with process, the judgment, being void as to the husband, is also void as to the wife. Vermont Loan & Trust Co. v. McGregor (1897) 5 I. 510, 51 P. 104.

Property acquired out of state: Property acquired out of state as separate property and brought here or transmuted into property here retains its separate character. Douglas v. Douglas (1912) 22 I. 336, 125 P. 796; Gooding etc. Co. v. Lincoln Co. S. Bk. (1912) 22 I. 468, 126 P. 772. But in the absence of proof to the contrary, the presumption arises in the courts of this state that the community property law prevails in a sister state, the same as it prevails in this state. Douglas v. Douglas, supra.

Property acquired with borrowed money: Property purchased with money borrowed by either spouse during the existence of the community is community property. Northwestern etc. Bk. v. Rauch (1900) 7 I. 152, 61 P. 516; Chaney v. Gauld Co. (1915) 28 I. 76, 152 P. 468.

Tax sale redemption: Where property assessed to the husband is sold for taxes to a third party, and by such third party to the wife, the circumstances amount to a redemption and the property retains its community character. Meserole v. Whitney (1912) 22 I. 543, 127 P. 553.

Gift by husband to wife: Husband may give to his wife his interest in any community property or in her earnings, so long as it is not done in fraud of creditors. Gooding M. & E. Co. v. Lincoln Co. S. Bk. (1912) 22 I. 468, 126 P. 772.

Liability for wife's debts: The wife cannot either directly or indirectly make the community property liable for her debts. But if a husband abandons his family or ceases to discharge his duties to them, the wife's passive rights in the community property then become active, and she may make contracts, particularly in regard to the support of herself and family, which are collectible out of the community property. Hall v. Johns (1909) 17 I. 224, 105 P. 71.

Commingling of property: Property purchased in the name of the wife, partly with funds of her separate estate and partly with money borrowed during the existence of the community, is the separate estate of the wife to the extent to which funds of her separate estate is used and community property to the extent to which such borrowed money was used in its purchase. Northwestern etc. Bk. v. Rauch (1900) 7 I. 152, 61 P. 516.

Earnings of wife: A wife's earnings while living with her husband are community property, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary or gift by the husband. Ahlstrom v. Tage, 31 I. 459, 174 P. 605.

Cases in which property was held to be community property:

Mining property acquired under the laws of the United States during coverture. Jacobson v. Bunker Hill etc. Co. (1891) 3 I. 126, 28 P. 396.

Where property did not appear in records to be separate property. Vermont Loan etc. Co. v. McGregor (1897) 5 I. 510, 51 P. 104.

Preemption filing under laws of the U. S. when final proof and payment is made. Kneen v. Halin (1899) 6 I. 621, 59 P. 14.

Mortgaged property on which mortgages were executed by both husband and wife, there being no allegations that it was separate estate. Strode v. Miller (1900) 7 I. 16, 59 P. 893.

Property purchased with money borrowed by either spouse during existence of community. Northwestern etc. Bk. v. Rauch (1900) 7 I. 152, 61 P. 516.

Real estate conveyed to the wife during coverture. Stowell v. Tucker (1900) 7 I. 312, 62 P. 1033.

On question of evidence as to source of purchase money. Coleman v. Jaggers (1906) 12 I. 125, 85 P. 894, 118 A. S. R. 207.

Property acquired by the joint effort of the two members of the community or their individual and separate efforts. Kohny v. Dunbar (1912) 21 I. 258, 121 P. 544, Ann. Cas. 1913D 492, 39 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1107.

Property assessed to husband, sold to third party on tax deed, repurchased by wife. Meserole v. Whitney (1912) 22 I. 543, 127 P. 553.

As to whether timber cut from land which is the separate property of one of the spouses constitutes "rents or profits from the separate property," adverted to and doubted, but not decided. Humbird L. Co. v. Doran (1913) 24 I. 507, 135 P. 66.

Personal property alleged to have been purchased with wife's money but apparently claim was in fraud of creditors. McDonnell v. Jones (1914) 25 I. 551, 138 P. 1123.

Property purchased with borrowed money and taken in husband's name. Chaney v. Gauld Co. (1915) 28 I. 76, 152 P. 468.

The right to sue for damages for personal injuries to a married woman is a chose in action and is community property. Labonte v. Davidson, 31 I. 644, 175 P. 588.

§ 4661. [2681] Inventory of wife's property. A full and complete inventory of the separate personal property of the wife may be made out and signed by her, acknowledged or proved in the manner required by law for the acknowledgment or proof of a conveyance of real property by an unmarried woman, and recorded in the office of the recorder of the county in which the parties reside. Liability for debts: A married woman may contract debts after her marriage and subject her separate property to liability therefor. Bassett v. Beam (1894) 4 I. 106, 36 P. 501.

Same: Debts of husband: In order to charge the separate property of the wife with liability for a debt it must be alleged and proven that the debt was incurred for the use or benefit of her separate property, or was contracted by her for her own use and benefit; debts contracted by the husband for his own benefit or for the use of his family cannot subject the separate property of the wife to liability therefor. Dernham & Kaufman v. Rowley (1896) 4 I. 753, 44 P. 643; Holt v. Gridley (1900) 7 I. 416, 63 P. 188.

The wife is not personally liable for the debts of her husband, and neither is her separate property. McFarland v. Johnson (1912) 22 I. 694, 698, 127 P. 911.

Liability for necessities: Where necessaries are furnished the wife upon her special contract and on her personal responsibility to pay therefor, she can be held to pay the debt, and to that end may be sued as a feme sole. In such case, the debt is incurred for her use and benefit. Edminston v. Smith (1907) 13 I. 645, 92 P. 842, 121 A. S. R. 294, 14 L. R. A. (N. S.) 299, 871.

No obligation on wife to support family out of her separate property unless there is no community property and husband is too infirm to support himself. Hall v. Johns (1909) 17 I. 224, 105 P. 71.

Liability on joint contract: Where a husband and wife both contract to purchase a parcel of real estate, the purchase price is as much the debt of the wife as of the husband. Tipton v. Ellsworth (1910) 18 I. 207, 109 P. 134.

Liability on foreign contract: A contract entered into by a married woman in a state where her common-law disabilities have been removed will be enforced here. There is nothing wicked or immoral or contrary to public policy in permitting a wife's separate property to become liable for the payment of her husband's debts or community debts; nor is there anything in the statutes to indicate that the public policy of the state would be violated by enforcing a valid contract made by a married woman in a sister state. (Budge, C. J. dissents, on ground that settled policy of state is violated) Meier & Frank v. Bruce (1917) 30 I. 732, 168 P. 5.

§ 4666. Husband's control of community property. The husband has the management and control of the community property, except the earnings of the wife for her personal services and the rents and profits of her separate estate. But he can not sell, convey or encumber the community real estate unless the wife join with him in executing and acknowledging the deed or other instrument of conveyance, by which the real estate is sold, conveyed or encumbered. [C. L. § 2686.]

The act of '67 gave the husband the entire management and control and absolute power of disposition of the common property. The act of '85 required the joinder of the wife in the conveyance of any property of a married person occupied as a residence or homestead, or any common property of the husband and wife.

Prior law: Under this section, prior to the '13 and '15 amendments, it was not necessary for the wife to join with the husband in the conveyance of community property, unless the property had been impressed with a declaration of homestead, or was, at the time of the transfer, community property, occupied or used by the husband and wife as a residence. Ray v. Ray (1874) 1 I. 566; L. v. Spence (1897) 5 I. 244, 48 P. 282; Wilson v. Wilson (1899) 6 I. 597, 57 P. 708; N. W. etc. Bk. v. Rauch (1900) 7 I. 152, 61 P. 516; Wits-Keets-Poo v. Character of husband's control: The wife has an equal interest and ownership with the husband in community property and the only particular in which their rights differ is in the fact that the statute constitutes the husband the managing agent and trustee of the community partnership. Kohny v. Dunbar (1912) 21 I. 258, 121 P. 544, Ann. Cas. 1913D 492, 39 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1107; but he cannot dispose of the community real estate unless the wife joins with him in the conveyance, whether or not the property is impressed with homestead declaration or used or occupied as a home. Wits-Keets-Poo v. Rowton (1915) 28 I. 193, 152 P. 1064.

Not liable for wife's separate debts: Community property cannot be bound by postnuptial contracts of the wife for the use and benefit of her own separate property. Hall v. Johns (1909) 17 I. 224, 105 P. 71. But as to part of community property now see § 4667.

Liable for husband's debts: Community property is liable to attachment and execution for the debts of the husband, whether incurred for his own use or for the benefit of the community. The 1913 amendment does not affect the general rule. Holt v. Empey, 32 I. —, 178, P. 703.

Husband's right to sue: The husband is the only necessary party in a suit to recover damages for personal injuries to the wife and for expenses incurred for medical attendance and hospital fees by reason thereof, and need not join the wife in such action. Disposition of son's wages: Where a debtor agrees with his creditor that the services and earnings of his infant son may be retained by the creditor in part payment of the indebtedness, he cannot, by emancipating his son or donating to him his earnings, avoid payment of such indebtedness and thereby give the son the right to recover for such services. Tuckey v. Lovell (1902) 8 I. 731, 71 P. 122.

§ 4679. [2698] Custody of children after separation of parents. When a husband and wife live in a state of separation, without being divorced, any court of competent jurisdiction, upon application of either, if an inhabitant of this state, may inquire into the custody of any unmarried minor child of the marriage, and may award the custody of such child to either, for such time and under such regulations as the case may require. The decision of the court must be guided by the welfare of the child. [R. S. § 2534.]

§ 4696. Same: Contents: Amendment. Articles of incorporation must be prepared setting forth:

1. The name of the corporation.
2. The purpose for which it is formed.
3. The place where its principal business is to be transacted.
4. The term for which it is to exist, not exceeding 50 years.
5. The number of its directors.
6. The amount of its capital stock and the number of shares into which it is divided.
7. If there is a capital stock, the amount actually subscribed and by whom.
8. Any corporation organized or existing, or hereafter organized or existing, under the laws of this state, instead of electing its entire board of directors annually, as now required by law, may provide in its articles of incorporation or by amendment to its articles of incorporation, for the election of one-third of the number of its directors for a term of one year, and one-third thereof for a term of two years, and one-third thereof for a term of three years, and thereafter at each succeeding annual meeting of the stockholders, one-third thereof for a term of three years. Purpose: This section requires articles of incorporation to state the purpose for which the corporation is formed, not only to inform the sovereign which creates the corporation but also in order to formulate in a solemn and binding manner the contract of association between the incorporators, and express the actual considerations which induced them to thus associate themselves together. Riley v. Callahan Min. Co. (1916) 28 I. 525, 155 P. 665.

§ 4697. [2715] Same: For railroad, wagon road, telephone or telegraph. The articles of incorporation of any railroad, wagon road, telephone or telegraph organization must also state:

1. The kind of road, telephone or telegraph intended to be constructed.
2. The place from and to which it is intended to be run, and all the intermediate branches: Provided, That this subdivision shall not apply to railroad, telegraph or telephone corporations.
3. The estimated length of the road, telephone or telegraph line.
4. Every such corporation may provide in its articles of incorporation the number of directors which shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and that every decision by a majority of such quorum of the board shall be valid as a corporate act.
5. That all the meetings of the board of directors may be held at the principal office of the corporation in this state, or at such other place or places within or without this state for the transaction of any business of the corporation as the directors may, by resolution or by the by-laws, provide.
6. That at least one member of the board of directors shall be a resident of this state, and that no other qualification as to residence of the directors shall be necessary.

7. The articles of incorporation of any such corporation now existing, or that may hereafter be organized under the laws of this state, may be amended in any respect conformable to the laws of this state by a vote representing at least a majority of the outstanding capital stock thereof, at a stockholders' meeting called for that purpose, as provided by section 4707 of this code: Provided, That the original purposes of the corporation shall not be altered nor shall the capital stock be diminished to an amount less than 50 per cent in excess of the indebtedness of the corporation: And, Provided further, That the personal or individual liability of the holder of fully paid capital stock for assessments, or for obligations of the corporation, shall not be changed without the consent of all the stockholders.

8. That stockholders shall not be individually liable for the debts of the corporation.

9. Railroad corporations organized and existing, or hereafter organized and existing, under the laws of this state, shall be subject to all the duties imposed by the terms of this section, and shall have and possess all the powers and privileges conferred by the laws under which said corporations were organized, or which are contained in their articles of incorporation. BY-LAWS.

§ 4707. [2724] By-laws to be adopted. Every corporation formed under this title must, within one month after filing articles of incorporation, adopt a code of by-laws for its government not inconsistent with the laws of congress and of this state. The assent of stockholders representing a majority of all the subscribed capital stock, or a majority of the members, if there be no capital stock, is necessary to adopt by-laws, if they are adopted at a meeting called for that purpose; and if such meeting be called, two weeks' notice of the same, by advertisement in some newspaper published in the county in which the principal place of business of the corporation is located, or, if none be published therein, then in a paper published at the capital of the state, must be given by order of the acting president. The written assent of the holders of two-thirds of the stock subscribed, or of two-thirds of the members, if there be no capital stock, shall be effectual to adopt a code of by-laws without a meeting for that purpose. § 4710. Book of by-laws: Amendment of by-laws. All by-laws adopted must be certified by a majority of the directors and the secretary of the corporation, and copied in some book kept in the principal office of the corporation in the state, to be known as the book of by-laws, and no by-laws shall take effect until so copied, and the book shall be open to the inspection of the public during office hours of each day, except holidays.

The by-laws may be repealed or amended, or new by-laws may be adopted at the annual meeting, or at any meeting of the stockholders or members called for that purpose by the directors, by a vote representing two-thirds of the subscribed stock, or two-thirds of the members when there is no capital stock, or by the written consent, duly acknowledged in the same manner that conveyances of real estate are required by law to be acknowledged, of the holders of two-thirds of the subscribed capital stock, which written consent may be in one or more instruments, or the power to repeal and amend the by-laws and adopt new by-laws may, by a similar vote at any such meeting, or by a similar written consent, be delegated to the board of directors. This power, when so delegated, may be revoked by a similar vote at any regular meeting of the stockholders or members.

Whenever any amendment or new by-law is adopted, it shall be copied in the book of by-laws with the original by-laws, and immediately after them, and shall not take effect until so copied. If any by-laws be repealed, the fact of repeal, with the date of the meeting at which the repeal was enacted, or if such repeal occur by reason of the filing of written consent of the stockholders, the date when the consent of the necessary number was obtained, must be stated in the said book, and until so stated the repeal must not take effect. ARTICLE 3.

DIRECTORS.

§ 4711. Constitution and powers of board of directors. The corporate powers, business and property of all corporations formed under this title must be exercised, conducted and controlled by a board of not less than three nor more than 15 directors, to be elected from among the holders of the stock, or when there is no capital stock, then from among the members of such corporation. At least one of the directors must, in all cases, be a citizen and actual bona fide resident within this state. Directors of corporations for profit must be holders of the stock thereof in an amount to be fixed by the by-laws. Directors of all other corporations must be members thereof. Whenever a vacancy occurs in the board of directors, unless otherwise provided by the by-laws, such vacancy must be filled by the board or by a quorum thereof. Unless a majority is present and acting, no business performed, or act done, by the board of directors is valid as against the corporation: Provided, That the board of directors of any corporation may appoint an executive committee of its members, equal in number to at least one-third of the number of its directors, as set forth in its articles of incorporation, and such committee shall have all the powers, rights and privileges of the board of directors, and may meet at such times and places as the board of directors may by resolution, or by the by-laws, prescribe, and the acts of such committee shall be in all matters valid as against the corporation. Liability of directors: Directors are individually liable to the corporation for fraud, malfeasance or gross negligence, whereby its property is wasted and the stockholders are deprived of dividends, or their shares depreciated or rendered valueless. An action to enforce such liability must be brought by the corporation, unless it appears that it refuses, or that the directors who are in control are themselves answerable, when it may be maintained in equity by one or more stockholders in their own names. § 4712. Election of directors. At the first meeting of the stockholders held after the organization of the corporation, or at such subsequent meeting as may be called and held for such purpose, directors must be elected to hold their offices for one year and until their successors are elected and qualified; except that they may be classified and elected for the terms provided for in the articles of incorporation, or, if no such provision is made in the articles of incorporation of such corporations, then the board of directors shall be elected for one year. § 4713. Same: How conducted: Water users' associations. All elections of directors must be by ballot, and the vote of the stockholders representing a majority of the subscribed capital stock, or a majority of the members, if there be no capital stock, is necessary to a choice. If there be capital stock in the corporation, each stockholder shall have the right to vote in person or by proxy for the number of shares of stock owned by him for as many persons as there are directors or managers to be elected, or to cumulate said shares, and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of his shares of stock shall equal, or to distribute them on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit; and such directors shall not be elected in any other manner: Provided, however, That at regular meetings of the stockholders or members of a corporation or water users' association owning or controlling an irrigation system, of which corporation or water users' association the number of stockholders or members exceeds 100, those present either in person or by proxy shall constitute a quorum and may elect officers and transact all other business proper to be done by them: Provided further, That at no meeting of the stockholders or water users' association or members of such corporation, held after the 1st day of March in the year 1913, shall any officer, director or employee of such corporation or association have the right to cast, by proxy or otherwise, any votes except those representing stock actually owned by him. Immediately after their election, the directors must organize by the election of a president, who must be one of their number, a secretary, and a treasurer. They must perform the duties enjoined upon them by law and by the by-laws of the corporation. A majority of the directors, or in the case of any railroad, wagon road, telephone or telegraph organization, a quorum of the board of directors, as fixed by the articles of incorporation, is a sufficient number to form a board for the transaction of business, and every decision of such quorum or of a majority of the directors forming such board, made when duly assembled, is a valid corporate act, as though made by a majority of all the directors of the corporation. § 4715. Prohibition respecting dividends and capital. The directors of corporations must not make dividends, except from the surplus profits arising from the business thereof; nor must they divide, withdraw or pay to the stockholders, or any of them, any part of the capital stock; nor must they reduce or increase the capital stock, except as in this title specially provided. For a violation of the provisions of this section the directors under whose administration the same may have occurred, except those who may have caused their dissent therefrom to be entered in the minutes of the meeting of the board of directors at the time, or those who were not present when the vote was taken, are, in their individual and private capacity, jointly and severally liable to the corporation and to the creditors thereof, in the event of dissolution, to the full amount of the capital stock so divided, withdrawn, paid out or reduced. There may, however, be a division and distribution of the capital stock of any corporation which remains after the payment of all its debts, upon its dissolution or the expiration of its term of existence. Application: Banking corporation: The provisions of this section have no application to banking corporations. (In syllabus) McTamany v. Day (1912) 23 I. 95, 128 P. 563.

The action of the directors and stockholders of a banking corporation in withdrawing and distributing among themselves the assets of the corporation is void as to existing creditors. Weil v. Defenbach (1918) 31 I. 258, 170 P. 103.

Beneficiaries: The statute makes the directors liable to all creditors—those who became creditors before such dividend is paid as well as those who became creditors afterward. Stoltz v. Scott (1912) 23 I. 104, 129 P. 340.

An action brought under this section is based on the illegal payment of dividends in fraud of creditors, and a receiver as the representative of creditors may maintain an action to recover the amount of dividends so illegally paid. Ib.

This statute was enacted for the benefit of creditors of and those who engage in business with corporations on the assumption that their capital is unimpaired and of stockholders who have right to insist that the corporation continue in business, but not for protection of directors who have violated its terms. Chadwick v. Holm (1918) 31 I. 252, 170 P. 87.

The liability for the violation of this section is in the first instance to the corporation itself. As between the creditors of the corporation and the stockholders thereof the liability of the latter is secondary. Weil v. Defenbach (1918) 31 I. 258, 170 P. 103.

Dissolution by insolvency: When a corporation ceases business because of its insolvency and is put in the hands of a receiver, it is dissolved within the meaning of this section. Stoltz v. Scott (1912) 23 I. 104, 129 P. 340.

When liability attaches: It is not necessary for a recovery against the directors that the assets of the corporation be first exhausted or its liability be first adjudicated. Stoltz v. Scott (1912) 23 I. 104, 129 P. 340.

Improper dividends: Directors improperly vote themselves a dividend, when the corporation is in need of cash successfully and profitably to carry on its business. Claiborn v. Utah Assn. of Credit Men (1912) 22 I. 158, 165, 124 P. 788.

Reduction of capital stock: The purchase by the corporation of its own stock amounts to a reduction of the capital stock of the company in violation of this statute. Dietrich v. Copeland Lbr. Co. (1916) 28 I. 312, 154 P. 626.

Assets: The assets of a corporation constitute a trust fund for the payment of its debts which can not lawfully be divided until the creditors are paid. Weil v. Defenbach (1918) 31 I. 258, 170 P. 103.

Purchase of own stock by insolvent corporation: The purchase of its own stock by an insolvent corporation is void. Brown v. T. B. Reed & Co., 31 I. 529, 174 P. 136.

§ 4716. Removal of directors. No director can be removed from office unless by a vote of the stockholders holding two-thirds of the capital stock, or of two-thirds of the members, where there is no capital stock, at a general meeting held after previous notice of the time and place, and of the intention to propose such removal. Meetings of stockholders or members for this purpose may be called by the president, or by a majority of the directors, or by members or stockholders holding at least one-half of the votes. Such call must be in writing and addressed to the secretary, who must thereupon give notice of the time, place and object of the meeting, and by whose order it is called. If the secretary refuses to give the notice, or if there is none, the call may be addressed directly to the members or stockholders, and be served as a notice, in which case it must specify the time and place of meeting. The notice must be given in the manner provided in section 4708 of this title, unless other express provision has been made therefor in the by-laws. In case of removal, the vacancy may be filled by election at the same meeting. ['09, p. 157, S. B. 100, § 5.]

STOCK AND STOCKHOLDERS.

Cross ref. Capital stock of corporations exempted from taxation: § 3099, subd. 6. Increase or diminution of capital stock: § 4756.

§ 4728. Personal liability of stockholders. Each stockholder of a corporation is individually and personally liable for its debts and liabilities to the full amount unpaid upon the par or face value of the stock or shares owned by him.

Any creditor of the corporation may institute actions against any of its stockholders jointly or severally, and in such action the court must determine the amount unpaid upon the stock held or owned by each defendant, and a several judgment must be entered against him for a sum not exceeding such amount.

Nothing in this title must be construed to render any stockholder individually or personally liable, as such stockholder, for debts or liabilities of the corporation, either at the suit of a creditor or for assessments or calls, to an amount exceeding the balance unpaid upon his stock or the difference between the amount that has been actually paid upon his stock and the par or face value thereof, except when so liable on the ground of fraud or misrepresentation, or concealment, or for neglect or misconduct as an officer, agent, stockholder or member of the corporation.

No corporation shall issue any stock as paid up, in whole or in part, or credit any amount, assessment or call as paid upon any of its stock, except for money, property, labor or services, actually received by the corporation, or actually paid upon the indebtedness of the corporation, as provided in this section, to the full value of the amount credited upon such stock.

If any stockholder of any insolvent corporation pays the full amount unpaid upon the stock held by him as above defined, upon the overdue debts of the corporation, incurred while he was such stockholder, he is relieved from any further personal liability upon his stock, but not from any liability for fraud, neglect or misconduct. The liability of such stockholder is determined by the amount of stock or shares owned by him at the time the debt or liability was incurred by the corporation, and such liability is not released or discharged by any subsequent transfer of stock.

When such liability does not arise upon contract, it shall be deemed to be incurred when judgment thereof is obtained against the corporation.

The term "stockholders," as used in this section, applies not only to such person as appears by the books of the corporation to be such, but also to every equitable owner of stock, although the same appears on the books in the name of another; and also to every person who has advanced the instalments or purchase money, or subscribed for stock in the name of a minor, so long as the latter remains a minor; and also to every guardian or trustee who voluntarily invests any trust funds in the stock. Trust funds in the hands of a guardian or trustee are not liable under the provisions of this section, by reason of any such investment, nor is the person for whose benefit such investment is made responsible in respect to the stock until he becomes competent and able to control the same; but the responsibility of the guardian or trustee making the investment continues until that period, or while the investment continues. Stock held as collateral security, or by a trustee who is not the beneficial owner, or in any other representative capacity without a beneficial interest, does not make the holder thereof a stockholder within the meaning of this section, except in the cases above mentioned, so as to charge him with the debts or liabilities of the corporation; but the pledger or person or estate represented is to be deemed the stockholder as respects such liability.

Members of corporations not organized for profit and having no capital stock are not individually or personally liable for its debts or liabilities, unless such liability is imposed by the by-laws of the corporation, and then only to the extent so imposed; any such liability may be enforced to the extent imposed by the by-laws by joint or several actions against members, as before provided.

The liability of each stockholder of a corporation not formed under the laws of this state, but doing business within the state, is the same as the liability of stockholders of corporations organized under the laws of this state. [C. L. § 2745.]

L. § 2745; in third paragraph after the phrase "to render any stockholder" has been inserted "individually or personally liable as such stockholder" to conform to section as originally enacted and as drafted in the original copy of the amendatory bill passed by the senate. The phrase appears to have been inadvertently omitted in engrossed copy transmitted to the house. In McTamany v. Day (1912) 23 I. 95, 101-2, 128 P. 563, the section is quoted with the word "liable" inserted by the court to supply the above omission.

Application: This section does not apply to banking corporations, as the organization, internal management and supervision of banks are provided for by another chapter. McTamany v. Day (1912) 23 I. 95, 128 P. 563.

This section creates no new liability against a stockholder but recognizes an old liability, and makes it available to corporate creditors.

A purchaser of stock, originally issued as fully paid up in exchange for fraudulently overvalued property, is not liable to corporate creditors for the unpaid balance of its par value in excess of the true valuation of the property, where he acquired the stock in good faith and without notice. Feehan v. Kendrick, 32 I. —, 179 P. 507.

Application to existing corporations: Constitutionality: The liability of a shareholder in a corporation under this section and the following sections, which provide for an assessment against the stock of a corporation, is substantially the same as the liability imposed upon shareholders by the corporation act of '75 (R. L. '74-75, p. 618) except that by this section, and the sections providing for an assessment, an additional remedy to the remedy by action authorized by the former act, is given. Consequently these provisions of the R. S. are not, as applied to preexisting corporations, an unconstitutional impairment of the contract rights of the shareholders in such corporations. Sparks v. Lower Payette Ditch Co. (1892) 3 I. 306; 29 P. 134.

Same: Insolvent corporations: Stockholders in a corporation are not liable to creditors under this section as amended, where the corporation became insolvent and went out of business prior to the enactment of the amendment, but their liability is governed by the terms of the original section prior to the amendment. Aulbach v. Dahler (1896) 4 I. 654, 43 P. 322.

Liability to assessment: This section refers to the personal liability of stockholders, and not to the liability of stock to assessments made necessary, not only to carry out the purposes for which the corporation was created, but to preserve its property. Hall v. Eagle Rock & Willow Creek Water Co. (1897) 5 I. 551, 51 P. 110; Wall v. Basin M. Co. (1909) 16 I. 313, 101 P. 733, 22 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1013.

Liability can not be limited by agreement: A corporation has no authority to accept subscriptions to its capital stock upon special terms, where the terms are such as to constitute a fraud upon other subscribers, or upon persons who become creditors of the corporation. Meholin v. Carlson (1910) 17 I. 742, 107 P. 755, 134 A. S. R. 286.

Action on stockholder's liability: Possessors of certificates of stock are prima facie presumed to be bona fide holders, and it is incumbent on one suing on a stockholder's liability to allege that defendant was not a holder in good faith without notice of the fraud charged. Feehan v. Kendrick, 32 I. —, 179 P. 507.

§ 4729. Issuance of certificates. All corporations for profit must issue certificates for stock when fully paid up, signed by the president and secretary, or such other officers as may be authorized by the by-laws of the corporation, and all such corporations may provide in their by-laws for issuing certificates prior to the full payment, under such restrictions and for such purposes as their by-laws may provide. ['09, p. 157, S. B. 100, § 7.]

Purchase of stock under secret agreement: A secret agreement by which a purchaser of stock from a corporation is to get an advantage over other stockholders is void and constitutes no defense to an action brought to recover the purchase price by a receiver of an insolvent corporation. Meholin v. Carlson (1910) 17 I. 742, 754, 107 P. 755, 134 A. S. R. 286.

§ 4730. [2747] Transfer of shares. Whenever the capital stock of any corporation is divided into shares, and certificates therefor are issued, such shares of stock are personal property, and may be transferred by indorsement by the signature of the proprietor, or his attorney or legal representative, and delivery of the certificate; but such transfer is not valid except between the parties thereto, until the same is so entered upon the books of the corporation as to show the name of the parties by and to whom transferred, the number and designation of the shares, and the date of the entry. Corporations may, by by-laws, provide that no transfer of their stock shall be made upon their books until all indebtedness to the corporation of the person in whose name the stock stands, whether for assessments, calls or otherwise, is paid. Transfer: Necessity of registration: The liability of stockholders of a corporation to creditors imposed by R. S. § 2609, is not affected by sale of the stock, unless the transfer is entered on the books of the corporation as prescribed by this section. Aulbach v. Dahler (1896) 4 I. 654, 43 P. 322.

Transfer on descent: Shares of stock in a corporation are personal property and descend according to the laws of the state which was the domicile of the owner at the time of his death, and the certificates of shares of corporate stock, which constitute evidence of ownership, are transferred according to the laws of the state wherein the corporation was organized. S. v. Dunlap (1916) 28 I. 784, 156 P. 1141.

Shares of stock in irrigation company: Shares of stock in an irrigation company are not appurtenant to lands of the owner although he irrigates such lands with the water represented by such shares. Wells v. Price (1899) 6 I. 490, 56 P. 266.

Certificates of shares of stock in an incorporated canal or ditch company are personal property. Watson v. Molden (1905) 10 I. 570, 79 P. 503.

Shares of stock in a Carey act operating company are but incidental to ownership of a water right, which is real estate. Ireton v. Idaho Irr. Co. (1917) 30 I. 310, 164 P. 687.

§ 4731. [2748] Same: By married woman. Shares of stock in corporations, held or owned by a married woman, may be transferred by her, her agent or attorney, without the signature of her husband, in the same manner as if such married woman were a feme sole. All dividends payable upon any shares of stock of a corporation held by a married woman, may be paid to such married woman, her agent or attorney, in the same manner as if she were unmarried, and it is not necessary for her husband to join in a receipt therefor; and any proxy or power given by a married woman touching any shares of stock of any corporation, owned by her, is valid and binding without the signature of her husband, the same as if she were unmarried. § 4732. [2749] Same: By nonresident stockholders. When shares of stock in a corporation are owned by a nonresident of the state, the president, secretary or directors of the corporation, before entering any transfer of the shares on its books, or issuing certificate therefor to the transferee, may require satisfactory evidence that the nonresident owner was alive at the date of the transfer, and if such satisfactory evidence be not furnished, may require a bond of indemnity, with two sureties, satisfactory to the officers of the corporation, or approved by the judge of the district court of the district in which the principal office of the corporation is situate, conditioned to protect the corporation against any liability to the heirs or legal representatives of the owner of the shares, in case of his or her death before the transfer; and if such evidence or bond be not furnished when required, as herein provided, neither the corporation nor any officer thereof is liable for refusing to enter the transfer on the books of the corporation. ARTICLE 6.

ASSESSMENTS ON STOCK.

Cited: Sparks v. Lower Payette Ditch Co. (1892) 3 I. 306, 29 P. 134.

Unlawful assessment: Action: In an action against a corporation for the wrongful selling of stock of a shareholder, the burden is on the corporation to show a compliance with this section before attempting to assess and sell the plaintiff's stock, by showing that one-fourth of its stock had been subscribed, and the complaint in such an action is not demurrable for failure to allege that one-fourth of the stock had not been subscribed. Corcoran v. Sonora etc. Co. (1902) 8 I. 651, 71 P. 127.

Assessments and calls authorized: The statutes clearly empower a corporation not only to levy assessments or calls for instalments of unpaid portions of the subscribed capital stock, but also to levy assessments upon fully paid-up stock for the purposes enumerated in the statute. Wall v. Basin M. Co. (1909) 16 I. 313, 101 P. 733, 22 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1013.

Same: Defined: The word "assessment" and the words "call" or "instalments" are often used interchangeably in the statute; but strictly speaking, the word "assessment" means a demand upon stockholders for payments above the par value of their stock to meet the money demands of creditors of the corporation; while the word "call" or "instalments" means the action of the board of directors of the corporation demanding the payment of all or of a portion of unpaid subscriptions. Wall v. Basin M. Co., supra.

Assessment of paid-up stock: The levy of assessments against stock fully paid up is a proceeding in rem, by which the stock may be sold, but no personal liability attaches to the stockholder for any deficiency arising from the sale. Wall v. Basin M. Co., supra.

Nonassessment contract: A corporation is not prohibited from making a contract with its stockholders that their stock shall be nonassessable; and, if it does so, as by printing across the face of the certificate the words "fully paid and nonassessable," the corporation is bound by its contract and can not assess the stock. Wall v. Basin M. Co., supra.

Assessment in mutual company: A mortgage debt as well as current expenses of a mutual canal company may be paid by assessments levied against the stockholders as in this section provided. If directors fail to make levy stockholders can compel them to do so. Hobbs v. Twin Falls Canal Co. (1913) 24 I. 380, 133 P. 899.

§ 4734. [2751] Limitation on assessments. No one assessment must exceed 10 per cent of the amount of the capital stock named in the articles of incorporation except in the cases in this section otherwise provided as follows:

1. If the whole capital of a corporation has not been paid up, and the corporation is unable to meet its liabilities or to satisfy the claims of its creditors, the assessment may be for the full amount unpaid upon the capital stock; or if a less amount is sufficient, then it may be for such a percentage as will raise that amount.

2. The directors of railroad corporations may assess the capital stock in instalments of not more than 10 per centum per month, unless in the articles of incorporation it is otherwise provided.

3. The directors of fire insurance corporations may assess such a percentage of the capital stock as they deem proper. [R. S. § 2615.]

§ 4735. [2752] Same: Previous uncollected assessment. No assessment must be levied while any portion of a previous one remains unpaid, unless:

1. The power of the corporation has been exercised in accordance with the provisions of this title for the purpose of collecting such previous assessment.

2. The collection of the previous assessment has been enjoined, or

3. The assessment falls within the provisions of one of the subdivisions of the last preceding section. [R. S. § 2616.]

§ 4736. [2753] Order levying assessment. The order levying an assessment must specify the amount thereof, when, to whom and where payable; fix the day subsequent to the full term of publication of the assessment notice, on which the unpaid assessments will be delinquent, not less than 30 or more than 60 days from the time of making the order levying the assessment; and a day for the sale of delinquent stock, not less than 15 nor more than 60 days from the day the stock is declared delinquent. POWERS OF CORPORATIONS.

§ 4752. Enumeration of powers. Every corporation, as such, has power:

1. Of succession, by its corporate name, for the period limited, and when no period is limited, perpetually.
2. To sue and be sued in any court, as a natural person may.
3. To make and use a common seal, and alter the same at pleasure.
4. To purchase and hold such real and personal estate as the purposes of the corporation may require, not exceeding the amount limited by this title; and to sell, lease, assign, transfer, mortgage or convey, any rights, privileges, franchises, real or personal property of the corporation, other than its franchises of being a corporation; and to purchase, own, vote, sell or hypothecate the stock and bonds of other corporations.
5. To appoint such subordinate officers or agents as the business of the corporation may require, and to allow them suitable compensation.
6. To make by-laws not inconsistent with any existing law, for the management of its business and property, the regulation of its affairs, and for the transfer of its stock.
7. To admit stockholders or members, and to sell their stock or shares for the payment of assessments or instalments.
8. To enter into any contracts or obligations essential, necessary or proper to the transactions of its ordinary affairs, or for the purposes of the corporation.
9. To create two or more kinds of stock of such classes, with such designations, preference and voting powers, or restrictions or qualifications thereof, as shall be stated or expressed in the articles of incorporation or in any certificate of amendment thereof, or as shall be fixed in the by-laws; and the power to increase or decrease the stock as in this code elsewhere provided shall apply to all or any of the classes of stock; but no preferred stock shall be issued except for cash or its equivalent nor for less than par value of its shares, and at no time shall the total amount of the preferred stock, issued and outstanding, exceed two-thirds of the capital stock paid in cash or property; and such preferred stock may, if desired, be made subject to redemption any time after three years from the issuance thereof at a price not less than par, and the holders thereof shall be entitled to receive and the corporation shall be bound to pay thereon a fixed yearly dividend, if actually earned, to be expressed in the certificate, not exceeding 8 per centum, payable quarterly, semiannually or annually before any dividend shall be set apart or paid on the common stock, and such dividend may be made cumulative. In no event shall a holder of preferred stock be personally liable for the debts of the corporation; but in case of insolvency, its debts or other liabilities shall be paid in preference to the preferred stock. On a dissolution of the corporation, voluntary or otherwise, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to have their shares redeemed at par before any distribution of any part of the assets of the corporation shall be made to the holders of the common stock.

Any corporation now in existence may amend its articles of incorporation so as to provide for the issuance of preferred stock, or an increase thereof, in the same manner as is now provided by law for amendments increasing the capital stock of corporations and the number and amount of shares therein.

When any corporation shall issue stock or bonds for labor done, services performed or property actually received, the judgment of the directors of such corporation as to the value of such labor, services or property shall, in the absence of fraud in the transaction, be conclusive.

10. To amend its articles of incorporation as follows: Changing the name of the corporation; the purposes for which the corporation was formed; the place where its principal place of business is to be transacted; the number of its directors; increasing or diminishing the capital stock or in any other respect not in violation of law desired by the stockholders: Provided, That the capital stock must in no case be diminished to an amount less than the indebtedness of the corporation or the estimated cost of the work it may be the object or purpose of the corporation to construct. Any amendments shall be made and certified in the manner prescribed in section 4756 for increasing or diminishing the capital stock and filed in the office of the county recorder and secretary of state. Borrowing money: Power of directors: Under this section construed with § 4711, the directors of a corporation are authorized to borrow money for the corporation and to issue mortgages on the corporate property to secure it, without submitting the question to the stockholders. Hobbs v. Twin Falls Canal Co. (1913) 24 I. 380, 133 P. 899.

Powers limited by articles: While every corporation as such is granted the power to purchase, own, vote, sell or hypothecate the stock and bonds of other corporations, this is not an unqualified grant of power, but must always be construed in the case of any particular corporation with reference to the purposes for which the corporation was organized as expressed in its articles of incorporation. Riley v. Callahan M. Co. (1916) 28 I. 525, 155 P. 665.

Ultra vires: The doctrine of ultra vires when invoked for or against a corporation should not be allowed to prevail where it would defeat the ends of justice or work a legal wrong. In such a case the party is estopped from setting up the defense of ultra vires. Meholin v. Carlson (1910) 17 I. 742, 107 P. 755, 134 A. S. R. 286; First Nat. Bk. v. Callahan M. Co. § 4756. [2773] Increasing and diminishing capital stock. Every corporation may increase or diminish its capital stock as in this section provided:

1. By a majority vote of the directors there may be called a meeting of the stockholders, to be convened for the purpose of increasing or diminishing the capital stock.

2. Personal notice of the time and place of such meeting, and of the object thereof, must be served on each stockholder at least 30 days prior to the date of such proposed meeting, or, in lieu thereof, the notice must be published at least once a week in a newspaper published in the county where the principal business is located, for at least 30 days.

3. The notice must also contain the amount to which it is proposed to increase or diminish the capital stock.

4. The capital stock must in no case be diminished to an amount less than the indebtedness of the corporation or the estimated cost of the works it may be the object or purpose of the corporation to construct.

5. At least two-thirds of the entire capital stock must vote in favor of such increase or diminution before the same is effected.

6. A certificate signed and verified by the chairman and secretary of the meeting, must be made, showing a strict compliance with all the requirements of this section, the amount to which the capital stock has been increased or diminished, the amount of stock represented at the meeting, and the vote by which the object was accomplished.

7. Said certificate must be subscribed by a majority of the directors, and duplicates made, one to be filed in the office of the county recorder and one in the office of the secretary of state, as provided for original articles of incorporation, and thereupon the capital stock is so increased or diminished. CORPORATE RECORDS.

§ 4758. [2775] Records required to be kept. All corporations for profit are required to keep a record of all their business transactions; a journal of all meetings of their directors, members or stockholders, with the time and place of holding the same, whether regular or special, and if special, their object, how authorized, and the notice thereof given. The record must embrace every act done or ordered to be done; who were present, and who absent, and, if requested by any director, member or stockholder, the time must be noted when he entered the meeting or obtained leave of absence therefrom. On a similar request, the ayes and noes must be taken on any proposition, and a record thereof made. On similar request, the protest of any director, member or stockholder, to any action or proposed action, must be entered in full—all such records to be open to the inspection of any director, member, stockholder or creditor of the corporation. Same: When parol evidence admissible: Where the verity of the records of a corporation is attacked by minority stockholders, who deny that the transactions therein purporting to be recorded ever occurred, and they contend that the true minutes of a given meeting show the very contrary of that shown by the official record, parol evidence is admissible to show what actually occurred at such meeting. Just v. Idaho Canal etc. Co. (1909) 16 I. 639, 102 P. 381, 133 A. S. R. 140.

Right of inspection by stockholders: This section and §§ 4759 and 8506 have adopted and extended the common law rule and make the right of inspection of books of corporation by stockholders absolute. The right to make copies of the records follows as an incident to the right to examine. Pfirman v. Success M. Co. (1917) 30 I. 468, 166 P. 216.

§ 4759. [2776] Same: Stock and transfer book. In addition to the records required to be kept by the preceding section, corporations for profit must keep a book, to be known as the stock and transfer book, in which must be kept a record of all stock; the names of the stockholders or members, alphabetically arranged; instalments paid or unpaid; assessments levied and paid or unpaid; a statement of every alienation, sale or transfer of stock made, the date thereof, and by and to whom; and all such other records as the by-laws prescribe. Corporations for religious and benevolent purposes must provide in their by-laws for such records to be kept as may be necessary. Such stock and transfer book must be kept open to the inspection of any stockholder, member or creditor. [R. S. § 2640.]

RIGHT OF REPEAL.

§ 4760. [2777] Legislature may amend or repeal title. The legislature may at any time amend or repeal this title or any chapter, article or section thereof, and dissolve all corporations created thereunder; but such amendment or repeal does not, nor does the dissolution of any such corporation, take away or impair any remedy given against any such corporation, its stockholders or officers, for any liability which has been previously incurred. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

§ 4768. [2788] Extending term of existence. Every corporation formed for a period less than 50 years may, at any time prior to the expiration of the term of its corporate existence, extend such term to a period not exceeding 50 years from its formation. Such extension may be made at any meeting of the stockholders or members called by the directors expressly for considering the subject, if voted by stockholders representing two-thirds of the capital stock, or by two-thirds of the members; or may be made upon the written assent of that number of stockholders or members. A certificate of the proceedings of the meeting upon such vote, or upon such assent, must be signed by the chairman and secretary of the meeting of a majority of the directors and be filed in the office of the county recorder, where the original articles of incorporation were filed, and a certified copy thereof in the office of the secretary of state, and thereupon the term

Foreign corporation not to do business within the state without having one or more known places of business and an authorized agent on whom process may be served: Const. XI, 10.

Legislation valid: This statute is an amplification of Const. XI, 10, and carries out the declared policy of the state toward foreign corporations. Katz v. Herrick (1906) 12 I. 1, 86 P. 873.

Even in the absence of any constitutional declaration of the subject, the legislature has the power to impose conditions and restrictions on foreign corporations as a prerequisite to their doing business. Ib.

A corporation is a creature of the laws of the state or sovereignty where created, and has no legal existence beyond the limits of such state or sovereignty, except as is granted to foreign corporations by the laws of the state in which such corporation applies for permission to carry on its business, and the assent of the state may be upon such terms and conditions as the legislature may prescribe. § 4772. Filing of evidence of incorporation: Prerequisite to doing business. Every corporation not created under the laws of this state must, before doing business in this state, file with the county recorder of the county in this state in which is designated its principal place of business in this state, a copy of the articles of incorporation of said corporation, duly certified to by the secretary of state of the state in which said corporation was organized, and a copy of such articles of incorporation duly certified by such county recorder, with the secretary of state, paying to the latter the same fees as are provided by law to be paid for filing original articles of incorporation. Noncompliance: Where a foreign corporation has filed a copy of its articles of incorporation with the secretary of state, duly certified to by the secretary of the state or the territory where the corporation was organized, but such copy was not certified to by the county recorder of any county of this state, and no certified copy of its articles of incorporation had been filed with the recorder of any county of this state; held, that the corporation had failed substantially to comply with the requirements of the statute. Tarr v. Western etc. Co. (1909) 15 I. 741, 99 P. 1049, 21 L. R. A. (N. S.) 707.

Doing business in this state: What is not: Cases in which it was held that the foreign corporation was not doing business within the meaning of this article:

The sale of an article by a foreign corporation in another state through orders taken by agents is interstate commerce and does not constitute doing business in this state. Belle City Mfg. Co. v. Frizzell (1905) 11 I. 1, 81 P. 58; Toledo etc. Co. v. Young (1909) 16 I. 187, 101 P. 257; Foore v. Simon Piano Co. (1910) 18 I. 167, 108 P. 1038.

The prosecution of an action in this state for the collection of a debt contracted in another state, and payable in that state, does not constitute doing business in this state. Bonham Nat. Bk. v. Grimes Pass M. Co. (1910) 18 I. 629, 111 P. 1078.

The mere purchase at execution sale of real property, in satisfaction of a judgment procured by a foreign corporation on an interstate transaction, is not in itself doing business in this state. Foore v. Simon Piano Co. supra.

The foreclosure of a real estate mortgage assigned to the plaintiff in another state before maturity, and for which plaintiff comes into the courts of the state for the sole and only purpose of maintaining said action, does not constitute doing business within this state. Diamond Bk. v. Van Meter (1911) 19 I. 225, 113 P. 97.

§ 4773. Designation of statutory agent. Such corporation must also within three months from the time of commencement to do business in this state, designate some person in the county in which the principal place of business of such corporation in the state is situated, upon whom process issued by authority of or under any law of this state may be served, and within the time aforesaid must file such designation in the office of the secretary of state, and in the office of the clerk of the district court for such county, and a copy of such designation certified by either of said officers, must be evidence of such appointment.

It is lawful to serve on such person so designated any process issued as aforesaid, and such service must be deemed a valid service thereof.

Such notice and designation of agent on whom process may be served, shall run from the time of filing the same as herein provided, until his successor is appointed by such filing, or said office becomes vacant by resignation filed by such agent in the office in which his appointment is filed, or by his death, or removal from such county, and in case of such vacancy said corporation shall, within 60 days thereafter, refill said office as herein provided. Proof of service: Proof of service of summons on a foreign corporation by delivery of a copy to the president, without showing any designation by the corporation of the president as its agent for the service of process, is fatally defective. Applington v. G. V. B. Mining Co. (1898) 6 I. 216, 55 P. 241.

Service where corporation ceases business: A foreign corporation having assented to the provisions of this article and designated an agent must respond to process served upon him in a controversy arising out of business transacted within the state, even though it has ceased to do business within the state. Hill v. Empire State etc. Co. (1907) 156 F. 797.

§ 4774. Change of principal place of business in state. Any corporation which has complied with the requirements of this article may change its principal place of business in this state, to another county by filing in the office of the secretary of state and in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county in which its principal place of business has heretofore been situated, and of the clerk of the district court of the county to which such principal place of business is changed, a statement of such change, designating some person in the county to which said place of business is changed on whom process may be served, and by filing a copy of its articles of incorporation duly certified by the secretary of state of the state in which such corporation was organized or by the secretary of state in this state, in the county last mentioned. § 4775. Effect of noncompliance: On contracts. No contract or agreement made in the name of, or for the use or benefit of, such corporation prior to the making of such filings as provided in sections 4772 and 4773 can be sued upon or enforced in any court of this state by such corporation. ['03, p. 49, H. B. 45, § 1.]

Hist. '03, p. 49, H. B. 45, § 1, amending R. S. § 2653, reen. R. C. § 2792, reen. '15, c. 124, p. 270, reen. C. L. § 2792d.

Construed: A foreign corporation which fails to comply with the requirements of this article cannot maintain a suit in any of the courts of the state for breach or violation of a contract entered into during the time the corporation has failed to comply therewith. Katz v. Herrick (1906) 12 I. 1, 86 P. 873.

This section is mandatory and must be substantially complied with in order to enable foreign corporations to maintain an action in the courts for the enforcement of contracts. Tarr v. Western etc. Co. (1909) 15 I. 741, 99 P. 1049, 21 L. R. A. (N. S.) 707; Morris-Roberts Co. v. Mariner (1913) 24 I. 788, 135 P. 1166.

The contract referred to in this section is one growing out of the "doing of business" in this state, or one so connected therewith as to be an element of such transaction. Bettilyon Homebuilders Co. v. Philbrick, 31 I. 724, 175 P. 958.

Applied to note: Where the indorsee of a nonnegotiable promissory note sues the maker thereof and the defendant sets up as one of his defenses that the payee was a foreign corporation doing business in this state, and that it failed to comply with the constitution and statutes of the state in designating an agent upon whom service of process could be made, and in filing copies of its articles of incorporation, it is error for the court to strike such defense from defendant's answer. Union Stock Yards Nat. Bk. v. Bolan (1908) 14 I. 87, 93 P. 508, 125 A. S. R. 146.

Not applicable to contracts in interstate commerce: This section is not applicable to contracts made in interstate commerce.

Belle City Mfg. Co. v. Frizzell (1905) 11 I. 1, 81 P. 58; Toledo etc. Co. v. Young (1909) 16 I. 187, 101 P. 257; Foore v. Simon Piano Co. (1910) 18 I. 167, 108 P. 1038; Bonham Nat. Bk. v. Grimes Pass M. Co. (1910) 18 I. 629, 111 P. 1087; Diamond Bk. v. Van Meter (1911) 19 I. 225, 113 P. 97.

Contracts not void: The fact that this statute points out certain penalties against noncomplying foreign corporations but does not specifically declare contracts entered into in violation of the statute to be void, does not indicate that the contracts of noncomplying foreign corporations are to be deemed valid. Katz v. Herrick (1906) 12 I. 1, 86 P. 873.

The contracts entered into by such corporation are not void but the corporation is deprived of its remedy in the courts on an action to enforce contracts made by them while in default of compliance with the requirements of law. Ib.

Same: Enforceable in federal court: This statute is remedial relating to pleadings and practice in the state courts only and does not render void the executory contracts of a foreign corporation failing to comply with it. The latter may sue thereon in the federal court. Colby v. Cleaver (1908) 169 F. 206; Continental etc. Bk. v. Corey Bros. Const. Co. (1913) 208 F. 976, 125 C. C. A. 64.

Other actions not prohibited: This section is applicable only to actions brought for the enforcement of contracts, and has no applicability to action by a foreign corporation to protect its property lawfully acquired. Bismark M. Co. v. North Sunbeam Co. (1908) 14 I. 516, 95 P. 14; War Eagle Con. M. Co. v. Dickie (1908) 14 I. 534, 94 P. 1034; Ida. Fruit etc. Co. v. Great Western etc. Co. (1909) 17 I. 273, 105 P. 562; Junction Placer M. Co. v. Reed (1915) 28 I. 219, 153 P. 564.

Estoppel as applied to other party: The fact that a party to a contract with a noncomplying foreign corporation has made numerous payments of interest instalments before being sued, and without objection on the ground of the noncompliance of the corporation, does not constitute a waiver of the right to plead the corporation's failure to comply with the statute and constitution of this state in order to entitle it to do business within the state. Tarr v. Western etc. Co. (1909) 15 I. 741, 99 P. 1049, 21 L. R. A. (N. S.) 707.

In a case where a person has secured a loan from a noncomplying foreign corporation and has failed to pay the same as provided by his contract, even though the corporation has failed to qualify as provided by law in order to entitle it to do business in this state, the borrower will not be heard in a court of equity to admit the contract and the indebtedness and at the same time prosecute his action to cancel the mortgage given to secure the indebtedness, simply because the corporation failed to comply with the statute in qualifying to do business. Ib.

Pleading: Where a foreign corporation commences an action in this state and discloses upon the face of its pleading that it is a foreign corporation, it must then either show a compliance with the state laws entitling it to do business within the state or else show by the facts constituting its cause of action that the contract sued upon does not arise out of a domestic transaction or by reason of doing any business within this state. Bonham Nat. Bk. v. Grimes Pass M. Co. (1910) 18 I. 629, 111 P. 1087.

§ 4776. Same: On real estate holdings. Such corporation can not take or hold title to any realty within this state prior to making such filings, and any pretended deed or conveyance of real estate to such corporation prior to such filings shall be absolutely null and void. ['03, p. 49, H. B. 45, § 1.]

Construed: This section is mandatory and any conveyance made to a foreign corporation that has failed to comply with it is null and void. Dickens-West M. Co. v. Crescent etc. Co. (1914) 26 I. 153, 141 P. 566.

Where a foreign corporation at the time of acquiring property rights had previously complied by filing its articles and designating an agent, it would not be precluded from suing to protect such rights by reason of the fact that it had no designated agent at time of action. Junction Placer M. Co. v. Reed (1915) 28 I. 219, 153 P. 564.

This section does not apply to a foreign corporation which bids in real estate at execution sale for the collection of a judgment due to the corporation which judgment arises out of an interstate transaction. Foore v. Simon Piano Co. (1910) 18 I. 167, 108 P. 1038.

Prior titles not affected: A noncomplying corporation may maintain a suit to protect its title to property in this state validly acquired. Bismark M. Co. v. North Sunbeam Co. (1908) 14 I. 516, 95 P. 14; War Eagle etc. Co. v. Dickie (1908) 14 I. 534, 94 P. 1034; Ida. Fruit etc. Co. v. Great Western etc. Co. (1909) 17 I. 273, 105 P. 562; Junction Placer M. Co. v. Reed (1915) 28 I. 219, 153 P. 564.

Deed to trustee for noncomplying corporation: Foreign corporation cannot take or hold title to realty prior to complying with this section and Const. XI, 10, but conveyance to a trustee for its benefit prior to doing business is not void. (Op. by Budge, J. concurred in by Sullivan, C. J.; Morgan, J. dissenting) Donaldson v. Thousand Springs P. Co. (1916) 29 I. 735, 162 P. 334.

A trustee or agent of corporation can no more take title under the statute than the corporation, and a conveyance to such a trustee is void. (Op. by Rice, J., on rehearing, concurred in by Morgan, J., Budge, C. J. dissenting) Donaldson v. Thousand Springs P. Co. supra.

Estoppel: The right to take and hold title to real property is one that can neither legally nor equitably be questioned by the vendor thereof after he has parted with his title and received the purchase price therefor. Keating v. Keating M. Co. (1910) 18 I. 660, 112 P. 206.

The judgment creditor of a grantor who has parted with title after receiving full consideration therefor cannot set aside the conveyance as void under this section. Donaldson v. Thousand Springs P. Co. (1916) 29 I. 735, 162 P. 334. Ib. (on rehearing, 1917) 29 I. 754, 162 P. 334.

Equitable relief: While this section is mandatory, in an equitable case where the ends of justice require, it will not be strictly enforced. Morris Roberts Co. v. Mariner (1913) 24 I. 788, 135 P. 1166.

§ 4777. Same: Liability of officers. Any and all officers, agents and representatives of said corporation, or persons claiming to be officers or agents of the same, who shall make or attempt to make any contract or agreement, or contract any indebtedness, in the name of such corporation, or for its use and benefit, before such original filings are made, or while such corporation is in default upon filing a reappointment as hereby provided, shall be, jointly and severally, personally liable upon and for all such contracts and agreements as principal contractors. Statute of limitations: Where it is sought to hold the officers of a noncomplying corporation personally liable under this section, action must be brought within the time prescribed by the statute of limitations. Copeland v. Dietrich Lbr. Co. (1916) 28 I. 312, 154 P. 626.

§ 4778. Same: Statute of limitations. Every such corporation which fails to comply with the provisions of this section shall be denied the benefit of the statutes of the state limiting the time for the commencement of civil actions, and any limitations in such statutes shall only run in favor of any such corporation during such time as such person duly designated, as aforesaid, upon whom such service can be made, shall be within the state. [Part of R. C. § 2792.]

Not applicable to officers: Where it is sought to hold the officers of a noncomplying foreign corporation personally liable, action must be brought within the time prescribed by the statute of limitations. Dietrich v. Copeland Lbr. Co. (1916) 28 I. 312, 154 P. 626.

Instructions: Instructions embodying this section approved. Austin v. Brown Bros. (1917) 30 I. 167, 164 P. 95; Graham v. Brown Bros. (1917) 30 I. 651, 168 P. 9.

Hist. R. S. § 2653, reen. '03, p. 49, H. B. 45, § 1, reen. R. C. § 2792, reen. '15, c. 124, p. 270; compiled and reen. C. L. § 2792h.

Subject to attachment: Under this section a foreign corporation is not a citizen or resident of this state within the meaning of the foreign attachment laws, and is not exempt from attachment as a nonresident. Jennings v. Ida. Ry. etc. Co. (1915) 26 I. 703, 146 P. 101, Ann. Cas. 1916E 359, L. R. A. (N. S.) 1915D 115.

Complaint: Essential allegations: Where a foreign corporation commences an action in this state and discloses upon the face of its pleading that it is a foreign corporation, it must then either show a compliance with the state laws entitling it to do business within the state or else show by the facts constituting its cause of action that the contract sued upon does not arise out of a domestic transaction, or by reason of doing any business within this state. Bonham Nat. Bk. v. Grimes Pass etc. M. Co. (1910) 18 I. 629, 111 P. 1078.

Complaint: When demurrable: A failure to set forth the performance of all the things required by the constitution and statute leaves the complaint open to demurrer on the ground of failure to show capacity to sue. Valley Lbr. etc. Co. v. Driessel (1907) 13 I. 662, 93 P. 765, 15 L. R. A. (N. S.) 299, 13 Ann. Cas. 63; Valley Lbr. etc. Co. v. Nickerson (1907) 13 I. 682, 93 P. 24; Con. Wagon etc. Co. v. Kent (1913) 23 I. 690, 132 P. 305.

General demurrer not sufficient: In an action by a foreign corporation, a general demurrer does not raise the question of plaintiff's legal capacity to sue. Valley Lbr. etc. Co. v. Driessel (1907) 13 I. 662, 93 P. 765, 13 Ann. Cas. 63, 15 L. R. A. (N. S.) 299; Valley Lbr. Co. v. Nickerson (1907) 13 I. 682, 93 P. 24.

Waiver: Unless the fact of the compliance of a foreign corporation with our state law is put in issue by demurrer or answer, it is waived. Valley Lbr. etc. Co. v. Driessel, supra; Valley Lbr. etc. Co. v. Nickerson, supra.

Answer: Insufficient denial: Where a foreign corporation alleges in its complaint its compliance with the laws of the state relative to doing business herein, a denial thereof on information and belief raises no issue. Nelson Bennett Co. v. Twin Falls etc. Co. (on rehearing) (1905) 14 I. 5, 93 P. 789; Bismark M. Co. v. North Sunbeam Co. (1908) 14 I. 516, 95 P. 14; Toledo etc. Co. v. Young (1909) 16 I. 187, 101 P. 257.

Answer: Burden of proof: Where the complaint of a foreign corporation fails to allege compliance with the constitution and statutes of this state relating to foreign corporations, and defendant fails to demur, but raises the objection by pleading such noncompliance as an affirmative defense to plaintiff's right of recovery, the burden of proving such allegation is on defendant. Kiesel v. Bybee (1908) 14 I. 670, 95 P. 20.

Venue of actions: Foreign corporations doing business in this state do not acquire, by complying with this law and designating an agent for service of process, a fixed residence in this state so as to be entitled to be sued in the county in which such agent resides, but such corporations are, for the purpose of jurisdiction, nonresidents of the state and may be sued in the district court in any county designated in the complaint. Boyer v. N. P. Ry. (1901) 8 I. 74, 66 P. 826, 70 L. R. A. 691 (overruling Easley v. New Zealand Ins. Co. 4 I. 205, 38 P. 405); Boyer v. N. P. Ry. (1901) 8 I. 81, 66 P. 1082; Smith v. Intermountain Auto Co. (1913) 25 I. 212, 136 P. 1125.

By complying with this section and designating an agent for the service of process, a foreign corporation obtains the same rights as a citizen so far as the venue of an action against it is concerned, but no superior rights, and it may therefore be sued in a justice's court of the precinct in which an injury to property committed by it occurs, although the residence of the agent whom it designates is in another county. Webster v. O. S. L. Ry. (1898) 6 I. 312, 55 P. 661.

ANNUAL STATEMENT AND LICENSE FEE.

§ 4780. Annual statement of corporations. Every corporation organized or formed under, by or pursuant to the laws of this state, whether now existing or hereafter created, and every foreign corporation, joint stock company or association now doing business in this state, or that may hereafter do business in this state, shall, during the month of July of each year and on or before the 1st day of September next thereafter, furnish to the secretary of state and the county recorder of each county in this state, wherein the articles of such corporation are filed, an annual statement hereinafter provided for, upon blanks to be supplied by the secretary of state for filing in the office of the secretary of state, and by the county recorder for filing in the office of the county recorder of such county or counties.

The said statement shall be sworn to by one of the officers of the corporation, or managing agent, or authorized attorney in fact in this state of any foreign corporation, joint stock company or association, before an officer duly authorized to administer oaths, setting forth the name of the corporation, joint stock company or association, the location of its principal office, the names of the president, secretary and treasurer, with the post-office address of each, date of annual election of directors and officers of such corporation, joint stock company or association, the amount of authorized capital stock, the number of shares, the par value of each share, the amount of the capital stock subscribed, the amount of capital stock issued and the amount of capital stock paid up.

Every foreign corporation, joint stock company or association shall include in such statement the name and post-office address of its managing agent or attorney in fact in this state.

Nothing in this section shall be so construed as to require fire, marine, fire and marine, life, accident, life and accident, surety companies, educational, religious, scientific and charitable corporations, and all corporations which are not organized for pecuniary profit, to file the annual statement referred to in this section. ['12, c. 6, § 1, p. 14.]

§ 4781. Annual license: Exemptions. No corporation heretofore or hereafter incorporated under the laws of this state, or of any other state, shall do or attempt to do business by virtue of its charter or certificate of incorporation, in this state, without a state license therefor: Provided, That nothing in this chapter shall be so construed as to require the payment of the annual license tax herein provided for, by fire, marine, fire and marine, life, accident, life and accident, surety companies, educational, religious, scientific and charitable corporations or associations, and all corporations which are not organized for pecuniary profit, all mining corporations which do not own productive mines, telephone and irrigation corporations, incorporated canals, lateral and drainage ditches, operated on the cooperative plan solely and not conducted and operated wholly or in part, for revenue purposes: Provided further, That all nonproductive mining corporations, all cooperative telephone and irrigation corporations, incorporated canals, lateral and drainage ditches, which are operated on the cooperative plan solely, and not conducted wholly or in part, for revenue purposes, must file the annual statement provided for in section 4780, within the time specified therein, in order to secure exemption from the payment of the annual license tax provided for in section 4782. ['12, c. 6, § 2, p. 15.]

Hist. Based upon '07, p. 235, § 2, reen. R. C. § 2785; enacted '12, c. 6, § 2, p. 15, reen. C. L. 207:2.

§ 4782. Annual license fee schedule. It shall be the duty of every corporation incorporated under the laws of this state, and of every foreign corporation now doing business, or which shall hereafter engage in business in this state, except such as are exempt by the provisions of section 4781 to procure annually from the secretary of state a license authorizing the transaction of such business in this state, and shall pay therefor a license tax as follows:

When the authorized capital stock does not exceed $5000, an annual license fee of $10; when the authorized capital stock exceeds $5000 and does not exceed $10,000, $12.50; when the authorized capital stock exceeds $10,000 and does not exceed $25,000, $15; when the authorized capital stock exceeds $25,000 and does not exceed $50,000, $22.50; when the authorized capital stock exceeds $50,000 and does not exceed $100,000, $37.50; when the authorized capital stock exceeds $100,000 and does not exceed $250,000, $52.50; when the authorized capital stock exceeds $250,000 and does not exceed $500,000, $75; when the authorized capital stock exceeds $500,000 and does not exceed $1,000,000, $90; when the authorized capital stock exceeds $1,000,000 and does not exceed $2,000,000, $130; when the authorized capital stock exceeds $2,000,000, $150.

Said license tax or fee shall be due and payable on the 1st day of July of each and every year, to the secretary of state, who shall pay the same into the state treasury. If not paid on or before the hour of 4 o'clock p. m. of the 1st day of September, next thereafter, the same shall become delinquent, and there shall be added thereto, as a penalty for such delinquency, the sum of $10.

The license tax or fee hereby provided authorizes the corporation to transact its business during the year, or for any fractional part of such year, in which such license tax or fee is paid. "Year," within the meaning of this chapter, means from and including the 1st day of July, to and including the 30th day of June next thereafter. ['12, c. 6, § 3, p. 15.]

Hist. '07, p. 235, § 2, reen. R. C. § 2785; am. '12, c. 6, § 3, p. 15, reen. C. L. 207:3.

Constitutionality: The fee required by this section is an excise and not a property or ad valorem tax. The statute is not violative either of the commerce clause of the federal constitution or of any provision of the state constitution. N. P. Ry. Co. v. Gifford (1913) 25 I. 196, 136 P. 1131, appeal dismissed 235 U. S. 711, 35 S. C. R. 198, 59 L. ed. 436; id. 27 I. 667, 151 P. 909, appeal dismissed 242 U. S. 659.

Application to intrastate commerce: The excise required by this section is not a property tax which is laid or intended to be laid upon corporations engaged exclusively in interstate commerce and cannot apply thereto, but it does apply to the local and intrastate business in which a corporation may be engaged, whether it is also engaged in interstate commerce or not. Ib.

Graduation of license tax: The authorized capital stock of a corporation is only used as a basis of measuring the license or excise tax which is imposed upon the corporation and is not used for the purpose of a basis for taxing the property of the corporation, the purpose being to graduate the license tax proportionately to the size, magnitude and probable activities of the corporation seeking to engage in domestic business. Ib.

§ 4783. Fees for fraction of year. At the time of filing a certified copy of articles of incorporation of any corporation, when filed on or between the 1st day of July and the 30th day of September, in any year, there shall be paid, in addition to all other fees required by law to be paid to the secretary of state, the full amount of the license tax provided to be paid in section 4782; when filed on or between the 1st day of October and the 31st day of December, in any year, a sum equal to three-fourths of the license tax provided for in section 4782 shall be paid; when filed on or between the 1st day of January and the 31st day of March, in any year, a sum equal to one-half of such license tax provided for in section 4782 shall be paid; and when filed on or between the 1st day of April and the 30th day of June, in any year, a sum equal to one-fourth of the license tax provided for in section 4782 shall be paid. Upon receipt of such full or fractional license tax the secretary of state shall issue a license receipt for the full or for the fractional part of the then current fiscal year. § 4787. Reinstatement of corporations. Any corporation which failed to pay the license tax and penalty required by this chapter may pay all the said license taxes and penalties prescribed by section 4782, and the license taxes and penalties that would have accrued, if such corporation had not forfeited its charter or right to do business, and any such corporation making such payment shall be relieved from the forfeiture prescribed by this chapter, and all persons exercising the powers of any such corporation, making such payment, shall be relieved from the provisions of section 4789. The secretary of state shall issue to every corporation so reinstated a certificate showing such reinstatement, and the date thereof, and any such corporation shall file a copy of such certificate of reinstatement with the county recorder of each county in this state in which it shall purchase, locate or hold property in the manner required by law by filing a copy of the articles of incorporation of such corporation: Provided, The rehabilitation of a corporation under the provisions of this chapter shall be without prejudice to any action, defense or right which accrued by reason of the original forfeiture: Provided, That in case the name of any corporation which has suffered the forfeiture prescribed by this chapter has been adopted by any other corporation since the date of said forfeiture, or a name which so closely resembles the name of such corporation as will tend to deceive, then said corporation, having suffered said forfeiture, shall be relieved therefrom, pursuant to the terms of this section of this chapter, only upon the adoption by said corporation seeking reinstatement of a new name, and in such case, nothing in this chapter contained shall be construed as permitting such corporation to be revived, or carry on any business, under its former name, and such corporation shall have the right to use its former name or take such new name only upon filing an application therefor with the secretary of state, and upon the issuing of a certificate to such corporation by the secretary of state, setting forth the right of such corporation to take such new name, or use its former name, as the case may be. Abatement of mortgage foreclosure: In a suit in equity and in rem to foreclose a mortgage, an abatement of the action does not necessarily work a dismissal of the action or destroy the cause of action, but merely operates to suspend the further prosecution thereof until the cause which resulted in the abatement is removed, when a revival may be had and the action may be prosecuted to final judgment. Rowe v. Stevens (1913) 25 I. 237, 137 P. 159.

Presumption of good standing: Where a foreign corporation is shown to have complied with the laws of this state and to have lawfully entered upon business in this state, one dealing with such corporation or desiring to prosecute an action against it may presume that it has paid the corporation tax and is still entitled to do business in this state, and he is not chargeable with the duty of making inquiry and examination to ascertain if it has kept in good standing so long as it has continued to do business. Rowe v. Stevens, supra.

§ 4789. Penalties for violation of chapter. It shall be unlawful for any corporation delinquent under this chapter, either domestic or foreign, which has not paid the license tax or fee, together with the penalty for such delinquency, as in this chapter prescribed, to exercise the powers of such corporation, or to transact any business in this state, after the 30th day of November next following the delinquency.

Each and every person who exercises any of the powers of a corporation so delinquent, either domestic or foreign, which has not paid the license tax, together with the penalty for such delinquency, or who transacts any business for or in behalf of any such corporation, after the 30th day of November next following the delinquency, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 and not exceeding $1000, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than 50 days and not more than 500 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Right of directors to intervene: Directors of a defaulting foreign corporation who cannot defend an action in the name of the corporation may intervene and defend as trustees. Otherwise, the court may appoint a trustee to represent the corporation. (Con. op.) Rowe v. Stevens, supra.

§ 4791. Actions against corporation not abated. No action pending against any corporation, at the time of such forfeiture, shall abate thereby, but may be prosecuted to final judgment, and the same may be enforced by execution with the same force and effect, and in like manner as though no forfeiture had occurred. § 4796. [2796] Enumeration of powers. Every railroad corporation has power:

1. To cause such examination and surveys to be made as may be necessary to the selection of the most advantageous route for the railroad; and for such purposes their officers, agents and employees may enter upon the lands or waters of any person, subject to liability for all damages which they do thereto.

2. To receive, hold, take and convey, by deed or otherwise, as a natural person, such voluntary grants and donations of real estate and other property which may be made to it to aid and encourage the construction, maintenance and accommodation of such railroad.

3. To purchase, or by voluntary grants or donations to receive, take possession of, hold, and use all such real estate and other property as may be necessary for the construction and maintenance of such railroad, and for all stations, depots and other purposes necessary to successfully work and conduct the business of the road.

4. To lay out its road, not exceeding nine rods wide, and to construct and maintain the same, with a single or double track, and with such appendages and adjuncts as may be necessary for the convenient use of the same: Provided, That any such railroad corporation may take and hold any right of way or other property, of whatever width or extent that it may acquire under the laws of congress.

5. To construct its road across, along or upon any stream of water, water course, navigable stream, street, avenue or highway, or across any railway, canal, ditch or flume which the route of its road intersects, crosses or runs along, in such manner as to afford security for life and property; but the corporation must restore the stream or water course, road, street, avenue, highway, railroad, canal, ditch or flume thus intersected to its former state of usefulness as near as may be, or so that the railroad shall not unnecessarily impair its usefulness or injure its franchise.

6. To cross, intersect, join or unite its railroad with any other railroad, either before or after construction, at any point upon its route, and upon the grounds of such other railroad corporation with the necessary turnouts, sidings and switches, and other conveniences in furtherance of the objects of its connections; and every corporation whose railroad is, or shall be hereafter, intersected by any new railroad, must unite with the owners of such new railroad in forming such new intersections and connections, and grant facilities therefor. And if the two corporations can not agree upon the amount of compensation to be made therefor, or the points or the manner of such crossings, intersections and connections, the same must be ascertained and determined as is provided in the Code of Civil Procedure.

7. To purchase lands, timber, stone, gravel or other materials to be used in the construction and maintenance of its road, and all necessary appendages and adjuncts, or acquire them in the manner provided in the Code of Civil Procedure for the condemnation of lands; and to change the line of its road in whole or in part whenever a majority of the directors so determine, as is provided hereinafter, but no such change must vary the general route of such road as contemplated in its articles of incorporation.

8. To carry persons and property on their railroad and receive tolls or compensation therefor.

9. To erect and maintain all necessary and convenient buildings, stations, depots, fixtures and machinery for the accommodation and use of their passengers, freight and business.

10. To regulate the time and manner in which passengers and property shall be transported, and the tolls and compensation to be paid therefor within the limits prescribed by law, and subject to alteration, change or amendment by the legislature at any time.

11. To regulate the force and speed of their locomotives, cars, trains or other machinery used and employed on their road, and to establish, execute and enforce all needful and proper rules and regulations for the management of its business transactions usual and proper for railroad corporations. § 4799. [2799] Construction of extensions and branches. Any railroad corporation chartered by or organized under the laws of this state, or of any state or territory, or under the laws of the United States, and authorized to do business in this state, may extend its railroad from any point named in its charter or articles of incorporation, or may build branch roads, either from any point on its line of road or from any point on the line of any other railroad connecting, or to be connected, with its road, the use of which other road between such points and the connection with its own road, such corporation shall have secured by lease or agreement for a term of not less than ten years from its date. Before making any such extension, or building any such branch road, such corporation shall, by resolution of its directors or trustees, to be entered in the record of its proceedings, designate the route of such proposed extension or branch by indicating the place from and to which said railroad is to be constructed, and the estimated length of such railroad, and the name of each county in this state through or into which it is constructed or intended to be constructed, and file a copy of such record, certified by the president and secretary, in the office of the secretary of state, who shall indorse thereon the date of filing thereof and record the same. Thereupon such corporation shall have all the rights and privileges to make such extension or build such branch, and receive aid thereto, which it would have had if it had been authorized in its charter or articles of incorporation. § 4800. [2800] Consolidation, sales and leases. Any such railroad corporation may consolidate its stock, franchises and property with any other railroad corporation, whether within or without the state, when such other railroad corporation does not own any competing line of railroad, upon such terms as may be agreed upon, and become one corporation, by any name selected, which, within this state, shall possess all of the powers, franchises, and immunities, including the right of further consolidation with other corporations under this section, and be subject to all the liabilities and restrictions such as such corporations peculiarly possess, or were subject to at the time of consolidation by the laws then in force applicable to them or either of them. Articles stating the terms of consolidation shall be approved by each corporation by a vote of the stockholders owning a majority of the stock, in person or by proxy, at the regular annual meeting thereof, or a special meeting called for that purpose in the manner provided by the by-laws of the respective consolidating corporations, or by the consent, in writing, of such stockholders annexed to such articles; and a copy thereof, with a copy of the records of such approval or such consent, and accompanied by lists of their stockholders and the numbers of shares held by each, duly certified by the respective presidents and secretaries, with the respective corporate seals of such corporations affixed, shall be filed for record in the office of the secretary of state before any such consolidation shall have any validity or effect.

Any railroad corporation whose line is wholly or in part within this state, whether chartered by or organized under the laws of this state, or of any other state or territory, or of the United States, may lease or purchase and operate the whole or any part of the railroad of any other railroad corporation, together with the franchises, powers, immunities and all other property or appurtenances appertaining thereto; (or any railroad company may sell or lease the whole or any part of its railroads or branches within or without this state, constructed, or to be constructed, together with all property and rights, privileges and franchises pertaining hereto, to any railroad company organized or existing pursuant to the laws of the United States or of this state, or of any other state or territory of the United States); and all such purchases or leases heretofore made or entered into are for all intents and purposes hereby ratified and confirmed: Provided, That in no case shall the capital stock of the company formed by such consolidation exceed the sum of the capital stock of the companies so consolidated, at the par value thereof, nor shall any bonds or other evidences of debt be issued as a consideration for or in connection with such consolidation. § 4801. [2801] Extensions into the state. Any railroad corporation chartered by or organized under the laws of the United States, or of any state or territory, whose constructed railroad shall reach or intersect the boundary line of this state at any point, may extend its railroad into the state from any such point or points to any place or places within this state, and may build branches from any point on such extension. Before making such extension, or building any such branch road, such corporation shall, by resolution of its directors or trustees, to be entered in the record of its proceedings, designate the route of such proposed extension or branch by indicating the place from and to which such extension or branch is to be constructed, and the estimated length of such extension or branch, and the name of each county in this state through or into which it is constructed or intended to be constructed, and file a copy of such record, certified by the president and secretary, in the office of the secretary of state, who shall indorse thereon the date of filing thereof and record the same. Thereupon such corporation shall have all the rights and privileges to make such extension, or build such branch, and receive such aid thereto as it would have had had it been authorized so to do by articles of incorporation duly filed in accordance with the laws of this state. It shall be the duty of railroad companies, when intersecting or crossing any other railroad in this state, to so arrange their sidetracks or switches that cars or freight may be readily transferred from one track to the other at the option of the shipper. CONSTRUCTION OF ROAD.

§ 4803. [2803] Map and profile. Every railroad corporation in this state must, within a reasonable time after its road is finally located, cause to be made a map and profile thereof, and of the land acquired for the use thereof, and the boundaries of the several counties through which the road may run, and file the same in the office of the secretary of state; and also like maps of the parts thereof located in different counties, and file the same in the office of the recorder of the county in which such parts of the road are, there to remain of record forever. The maps and profiles must be certified by the chief engineer, the acting president and secretary of such company, and copies of the same, so certified and filed, be kept in the office of the secretary of the corporation, subject to examination by all parties interested. [2805] Time for commencing and completing construction. Every railroad corporation must, within two years after filing its original articles of incorporation, begin the construction of its road, and must every year thereafter complete and put in full operation at least five miles of its road, until the same is fully completed; and upon its failure so to do, for the period of one year, its right to extend its road beyond the point then completed is forfeited. adjusted as to permit the passage of the cars on each road with as little obstruction as possible; and in case the persons or corporations owning the railroads cannot agree as to the compensation to be made for cutting and adjusting the rails, the condemnation of the right of way over the one for the use of the other road may be had in proceedings under the Code of Civil Procedure, and the damages assessed and the right of way granted as in other cases. OPERATION OF ROAD.

§ 4809. [2809] Checking baggage. A check must be affixed to every package or parcel of baggage when taken for transportation by any agent or employee of a railroad corporation, and a duplicate thereof given to the passenger or person delivering the same in his behalf; and if such check is refused on demand, the railroad corporation must pay to such passenger the sum of $20 to be recovered in an action for damages; and no fare or toll must be collected or received from such passenger, and if such passenger has paid his fare the same must be returned by the conductor in charge of the train; and on producing the check, if his baggage is not delivered to him by the agent or employee of the railroad corporation he may recover the value thereof from the corporation. Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 479; Kerr's C. ib.

Constitutionality: The requirement of this section that a railroad company shall not collect toll or fare from a passenger when it fails, neglects or refuses to deliver to him a check for his baggage is valid and binding upon such company as a part of the penalty for its failure to comply with the statute, and is not taking of property without due process of law. Tarr v. O. S. L. R. R. Co. (1908) 14 I. 192, 93 P. 957, 125 A. S. R. 151.

Liability of company: Where a railroad company has no night agent at a station to receive and check baggage, but stops its train at such station and takes on a passenger and his baggage, and after the passenger boards the train and demands a check for his baggage and declines to pay his fare or deliver up his ticket until he receives such check, and the employees of the company in charge of the train refuse to deliver a baggage check, and, on the contrary, eject the passenger from the train, the railroad company will be held liable in damages for the tort so committed. Tarr v. O. S. L. R. R. Co. supra.

§ 4810. [2810] Accommodations for passengers and freight. Every such corporation must start and run their cars for the transportation of persons and property, at such regular times as they shall fix by public notice, and must furnish sufficient accommodations for the transportation of all such passengers and property as, within a reasonable time previous thereto, offer or is offered for transportation at the place of starting, at the junction of other railroads and at siding and stopping places established for receiving and discharging way passengers and freight; and must take, transport and discharge such passengers and property at, from and to such places, on the due payment of toll, freight or fare therefor. § 4814. Erection and maintenance of fences: Liability for damages. Every railroad company or corporation operating any steam or electric railroad in this state shall erect and maintain lawful fences, not less than four feet high, on each side of its road, where the same passes through or along enclosed or adjoining cultivated fields or enclosed lands, with proper and necessary openings and gates therein and farm crossings; and also construct and maintain cattle guards suitable and sufficient to prevent horses, cattle, mules or other animals from getting on such railroads, at all highway crossings where such railroad is fenced up to such highway crossing.

Until such fences, openings, gates, farm crossings and cattle guards shall be duly and properly made, installed and maintained, such railroad company or corporation shall be liable in a civil action to any and all person or persons who may sustain any loss, injury or damage by the wounding, maiming or killing of any horse, mare, gelding, filly, jack, jenny or mule, or any cow, heifer, bull, ox, steer, or calf, or any other domestic animal, which shall be done by such railroad company or corporation, or its agents or servants, in the operation and management of engines, cars, or other rolling stock, upon or over such railroad, whether such person or persons operating or in charge of such engine, cars or other rolling stock were guilty of negligence or not; and such railroad company or corporation shall also be liable in a civil action to any and all persons who may sustain any loss, injury or damage by the wounding, maiming or killing of any horse, mare, gelding, filly, jack, jenny or mule, or any cow, heifer, bull, ox, steer or calf, or any other domestic animal which shall be done by such railroad company or corporation, or its agents or servants in the operation or management of engines, cars, or other rolling stock upon or over such railroad, if any such animal or animals escape from adjoining lands and come upon the right of way or railroad tracks of such railroad company or corporation, occasioned by the failure of such railroad company or corporation to construct and maintain such fences, gates, farm crossings or cattle guards, whether the person or persons operating or in charge of such engine, cars or other rolling stock were guilty of negligence or not; but after such fences, gates, farm crossings and cattle guards shall have been duly made, installed and maintained, such railroad company or corporation shall not be liable for any such damage, unless negligently or wilfully done, and in all actions for the recovery of damages under this section, proof of the wounding, maiming or killing of such animal or animals by such railroad company or corporation, shall be prima facie evidence of negligence or wilfulness on the part of such railroad company or corporation.

If any railroad company or corporation, aforesaid, fail, neglect or refuse for and during a period of three months after the completion of its road through or along the fields or enclosures hereinbefore mentioned, to erect, install and maintain any fences, openings, gates, farm crossings, or cattle guards as herein required, after having received not less than 30 days' notice requiring them to erect, install and maintain such fences, openings, gates, farm crossings or cattle guards, then the owner of such field or enclosure may erect and maintain such fences, openings, gates, farm crossings and cattle guards, and shall thereupon have a right to recover from such railroad or corporation, the full value of the work so done, by a civil action in any court of competent jurisdiction. Constitutionality: The statute which this section repealed (R. S. § 2680) was held unconstitutional because it made the railroad liable for killing an animal without any proof of negligence or of violation of statutory duty. Catril v. Union Pac. Ry. Co. (1889) 2 I. 576, 21 P. 416; Jones v. O. S. L. Ry. Co. (1899) 6 I. 441, 56 P. 76.

A section which this supersedes was held to be a general police regulation, designed not merely for the benefit of the adjoining owners, but for the protection of property in domestic animals generally and for the safety of passengers who would be exposed to peril by collision with cattle coming upon the track. The company is under a general obligation to the public and not a limited obligation to adjoining landowners. Johnson v. O. S. L. Ry. Co. (1900) 7 I. 355, 63 P. 112.

In order to enforce the duty to fence the legislature may prescribe appropriate penalties. The mode in which they shall be enforced, whether at the suit of a private party or at the suit of the public, and what disposition shall be made of the amounts collected, are mere matters of legislative discretion. Hindman v. O. S. L. Ry. Co., 32 I. —, 178P. 837.

Construed: Liability of railroad: Until the railroad has complied with this section, it is liable, regardless of any negligence on the part of its servants, for all damages incurred by the destruction of live stock. Bernhardi v. N. P. Ry. Co. (1910) 18 I. 76, 108 P. 542, 27 L. R. A. (N. S.) 796.

Application: Rural districts: "Inclosed or cultivated fields or inclosed lands" as used in this section refers to rural or country districts. The section does not apply to a municipality or town, whether incorporated or not, unless its limits are so extended as to include fields. Bernhardi v. N. P. Ry. Co. supra.

Application: Crossings: This section applies only to stock killed on the company's line where it is required to fence it, and not at highway crossings. Yates v. Camas Prairie R. R. Co. (1912) 22 I. 802, 128 P. 545.

Maintenance of gates: This section requires every railroad company to erect and maintain fences, with gates at private crossings, at places where it is required to fence, which gates so maintained shall be kept closed by the railroad company, as far as third parties and the public are concerned. Saccamonno v. Great Nor. Ry. Co. (1917) 30 I. 513, 166 P. 267.

Maintenance of cattle guards: It is the duty of a railroad company to maintain a cattle guard at a highway crossing where it has fenced its right of way up to the highway, whether it has done so voluntarily or because required to fence by the statute. Strong v. O. S. L. Ry. Co. (1917) 31 I. 48, 169 P. 179.

§ 4815. [2816] Crossings and cattle guards. It shall be the duty of every railroad company whose line runs through or across any desert or other unoccupied territory, to keep and maintain suitable crossings and cattle guards, wherever any public highway or publicly traveled road crosses the same, and to place gates at convenient intervals not exceeding four miles apart, for the crossing of the same wherever there are no roads within such distances. ['07, p. 324, § 2.]

Hist. '07, p. 324, § 2, reen. R. C. § 2816, reen. C. L. ib.

Construed: It was intended that this section should apply to great stretches of country traversed by railroads, but not cultivated or inclosed. It was not intended to apply to such lands as are included in § 4814. Brown v. O. S. L. Ry. Co. (1911) 20 I. 364, 118 P. 768.

It was not intended by this section to require a railroad company to erect gates in places where its track is not fenced nor required to be fenced. Ib.

§ 4816. Claim for damages. Any person claiming damages under section 4814 must serve notice of his claim in writing signed by such person, or some one in his behalf, upon any station agent, ticket agent, or other agent of such railroad company or corporation, within six months after the alleged damage is done, and all suits for such damage must be commenced within one year after the service of such notice. Purpose of notice: The purpose of the notice required by this section is to prevent stale claims being filed against the company, and to afford the latter an opportunity to make an investigation, the liability of the company being limited to the value of the animal or animals killed or wounded, if the company's right of way fence has been erected and maintained as required by law. Hindman v. O. S. L. R. Co. 32 I. —, 178 P. 837.

§ 4817. Recovery of attorneys' fees. In all suits under section 4814 if the plaintiff recover any damages he shall also be entitled to recover reasonable attorneys' fees, together with his costs of suit. ['11, c. 223, § 3, p. 708.]

Cited: (On rehearing) Yates v. Camas P. R. R. Co. (1912) 22 I. 802, 806, 128 P. 545.

Constitutional: This section is a proper police regulation, designed to compel railroad companies to comply with the law requiring them to maintain fences along their rights of way for the public safety, and to provide a penalty for violation thereof. It does not deprive them of their property without due process of law nor deny to them the equal protection of the laws, and is not repugnant to the 14th amendment to the federal constitution. Hindman v. O. S. L. R. Co. 32 I. —, 178 P. 837.

§ 4818. [2819] Book of descriptions of stock killed. Every railroad company must keep a book at a principal station in each county into or through which its road runs, to be designated by the company, and a notice of the station so designated must be filed with the recorder of the county in which the station is located; and every such company must cause to be entered in said book, within 15 days after the killing or maiming of any animal, a description as nearly as may be of such animal, its color, age, marks and brands, and keep said book subject to public inspection. Should any company fail to keep such book, or to file such notice in the manner herein provided, or to enter therein such description of any animal maimed or killed, for a period of 15 days thereafter, such company is liable to the owner of such animal for twice the value thereof. Constitutionality: Constitutionality of this section mentioned but not determined. Wilson v. O. S. L. Ry. Co. (1915) 28 I. 54, 152 P. 1062.

Purpose: The duty imposed upon the railroad company under this section is the keeping of a book, the evident purpose of which is to give notice, but this is not necessary where the owner has actual notice. Wilson v. O. S. L. Ry. Co. supra.

Negligence must be shown: The killing of the animals and the failure to keep the book herein required do not alone render the company liable. The plaintiff must in addition allege and prove negligence on the company's part. Wilson v. O. S. L. Ry. Co. supra.

§ 4819. [2820] Disposal of carcass. In case of maiming or killing any cattle, sheep or hog, the body of the animal belongs to the company, unless the owner elects, within 12 hours, to take the same in satisfaction or reduction of damages. The company may proceed to take care of and preserve the body of such animal, and must, unless taken by the owner, take off enough of the hide to show distinctly any brands on such animal, also both ears, including the hide between the ears, and in such way as to keep the ears together, and the pieces of hide so taken off, and the ears of each animal, must be attached together and preserved for at least three months for inspection at the station house nearest to the place where such killing or maiming occurred. For every failure so to keep any such pieces of hide and ears for inspection, the company, in addition to the damages to the owner, forfeits $100, to be recovered in an action in the name of the state, in any court of competent jurisdiction, one-half to be paid into the school fund of the county, and the residue to the informer. [R. S. § 2682.]

§ 4820. [2821] Bell or whistle to be sounded. A bell of at least 20 pounds weight must be placed on each locomotive engine, and be rung at a distance of at least 80 rods from the place where the railroad crosses any street, road or highway, and be kept ringing until it has crossed such street, road or highway; or a steam whistle must be attached, and be sounded, except in cities, at the like distance, and be kept sounding at intervals until it has crossed the same, under a penalty of $100 for every neglect, to be paid by the corporation operating the railroad, which may be recovered in an action prosecuted by the prosecuting attorney of the proper county, for the use of the state. The corporation is also liable for all damages sustained by any person, and caused by its locomotives, trains or cars, when the provisions of this section are not complied with. [R. S. § 2683.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 486; Kerr's C. ib.

Construed: This section does not rest the liability for damages upon the contingency that the injury sustained was the result of the failure to ring the bell or blow the whistle, but declares absolutely that where the bell is not rung or the whistle blown and damages are sustained, the company is liable. Wheeler v. O. R. & N. Co. (1909) 16 I. 375, 102 P. 347.

Failure of railway company to ring bell or sound whistle constitutes negligence per se, negligence in law. Wheeler v. O. R. & N. Co. supra; Graves v. N. P. Ry. Co. (1917) 30 I. 542, 166 P. 571.

Contributory negligence: Railroad company is liable for damages where provisions of this section are not complied with unless person injured is guilty of contributory negligence. Wheeler v. O. R. & N. Co. supra; Graves v. N. P. Ry. Co. supra.

If the duty imposed upon the company by this section is observed the company has a right to assume that persons on the highway will look and listen. Burrow v. Idaho etc. R. R. Co. (1913) 24 I. 652, 135 P. 838.

There is no arbitrary rule as to when or where the traveler must stop, look and listen. Graves v. N. P. Ry. Co. supra.

§ 4821. Ejection of passengers: Penalty for employee's misconduct. If any passenger on any railroad train refuses to pay his fare, or to exhibit or surrender his ticket, when reasonably requested so to do, or uses abusive, vulgar, obscene or profane language in a car occupied by other passengers, or makes his presence offensive or unsafe to the said passengers, or if any trespasser be found on any car or train, the conductor and employees of the railway company may put him and his baggage out of the cars or off the train, using no unnecessary force, at any station of the railway company operating such train, which is open at the time of such ejection, on stopping the train, but not otherwise.

Upon the arrival of the said delayed passenger train at each succeeding division terminal, or station where train dispatchers are located, it shall be the duty of the dispatcher or telegraph operator at each terminal or office to notify every telegraph station on the line of the road, not yet reached by such train, how much the said train is delayed. And in any contract for the leasing or hiring of such property, it shall be lawful to stipulate for a conditional sale thereof at the termination of such contract, and that the rentals or amounts to be received under such contract, may, as paid, be applied and treated as purchase money, and that the title to the property shall not vest in the lessee or bailee until the purchase price shall have been paid in full, and until the terms of the contract shall have been fully performed, notwithstanding delivery to and possession by such lessee or bailee: Provided, That no such contract shall be valid as against any subsequent judgment creditor, or any subsequent bona fide purchaser for value and without notice, unless:

1. The same shall be evidenced by an instrument executed by the parties and duly acknowledged by the vendee or lessee or bailee, as the case may be, or duly proved before some person authorized by law to take acknowledgment of deeds, and in the same manner as deeds are acknowledged or proved.
2. Such instrument shall be filed for record in the office of the secretary of state.
3. Each locomotive, engine or car so sold, leased or hired, or contracted to be sold, leased or hired as aforesaid, shall have the name of the vendor, lessor or bailor plainly marked on each side thereof, followed by the word "owner" or "lessor" or "bailor," as the case may be. ['05, p. 154, § 1.]

And on payment in full of the purchase money, and the performance of the terms and conditions stipulated in any such contract, a declaration in writing to that effect may be made by the vendor, lessor or bailor, or his or its assignee, which declaration may be made on the margin of the record of the contract, duly attested, or it may be made by a separate instrument, to be acknowledged by the vendor, lessor or bailor, or his or its assignee, and recorded as aforesaid. And for such services the secretary of state shall be entitled to a fee of $2 for recording each of said contracts and each of said declarations, and a fee of $1 for noting such declaration on the margin of the record. BRIDGE, FERRY, FLUME AND BOOM CORPORATIONS.

§ 4829. License to take tolls. When a corporation is formed for the construction and maintenance of a bridge, ferry, flume or boom, or for two or more of said purposes, it must not take tolls on or for the same until authority is granted therefor by the boards of county commissioners of the county or counties where its flume or abutments, landings or anchorages are situate. But after such authority is granted it may demand and receive such tolls as it is so authorized to take, and may, when necessary, secure the right of way for its flume, and the necessary chutes, raceways, landings, abutments and anchorages under the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure. 1. If, within one year from filing its articles of incorporation it has not commenced the construction of its bridge, flume or boom, as the case may be, and if within two years from such filing its bridge or boom is not completed.

2. If, when the bridge or boom of such corporation is destroyed, it is not reconstructed and ready for use within two years thereafter.

3. If the ferry of any such corporation is not in running order within four months after authority to take tolls thereon is obtained, or if at any time thereafter it ceases, for a like term consecutively, to perform the duties imposed by law. [R. S. § 2695.]

TELEGRAPH, TELEPHONE AND ELECTRIC POWER CORPORATIONS.

ARTICLE 1.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Cross ref. Regulation by public utilities commission: c. 119.

§ 4832. [2833] Right to use highways. Telegraph and telephone corporations may construct lines of telegraph or telephone along and upon any public road or highway, along or across any of the waters or lands within this state, and may erect poles, posts, piers or abutments for supporting the insulators, wires and other necessary fixtures of their lines in such manner and at such points as not to incommode the public use of the road or highway, or interrupt the navigation of the waters. § 4836. [2837] Rights of way for electric power companies. Any person, company or corporation incorporated or that may hereafter be incorporated under the laws of this state or of any state or territory of the United States, and doing business in this state, for the purpose of supplying, transmitting, delivering or furnishing electric power or electric energy by wires, cables or any other method or means, shall have and is hereby given the right to erect, construct, maintain and operate all necessary lines upon, along and over any and all public roads, streets and highways, except within the limits of incorporated cities and towns and across the right of way of any railroad or railroad corporation, together with poles, piers, arms, cross-arms, wires, supports, structures and fixtures for the purposes aforesaid, or either of them, in such manner and at such places as not to incommode the public use of the road, highway, street or railroad, or to interrupt the navigation of water, together with the right to erect, construct, maintain and operate upon said electric power line a telephone line to be used only in connection with the said electric energy and power line: Provided, That the corporation, company or person exercising the right of way herein and hereby granted shall first apply to the board of county commissioners for permission to construct in the manner provided by law, and to acquire a right of way, and shall give to the county into or through which the right of way herein and hereby granted is exercised, a bond, with surety to be approved by the board of county commissioners, in the sum of $5000, conditioned to hold the said county harmless from any and all liability on account of the erection, construction, maintenance or operation of the said electric line or lines: Provided further, That nothing in this section shall be construed to mean the right to occupy public roads for any railroad or car line of any kind. REGULATIONS CONCERNING MESSAGES.

§ 4837. Refusal to accept messages unlawful. It shall be unlawful for any telegraph or telephone company or any person in charge of such telegraph or telephone service, or operating or controlling any public telegraph or telephone system or office within this state, in whole or in part, or any employee thereof, to fail or refuse to accept and transmit to its final destination, promptly and by the most expeditious means of communication available between the place of receipt and destination thereof, any message or communication when the same shall be presented for transmission to any regular telegraph or telephone station upon any of its lines, and the regular and usual fees and charges paid, tendered or offered thereon: Provided, That when any message or communication is offered which is couched, in whole or in part, in obscene or profane language, nothing in this article contained shall be so construed as to compel any telegraph or telephone company, or any person in charge of the same, to transmit such message or communication, and for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this article. ['11, c. 222, part of § 1, p. 704.]

§ 4838. Telegraph offices must connect with telephone. All telegraph offices or stations from which messages are transmitted, or at which messages are received for transmission shall be equipped with proper telephone connections in order that messages and communications may be expeditiously transferred from telegraph to telephone lines or from telephone to telegraph lines when such transfer will accelerate the transmission of any such messages or communications: Provided, That nothing herein is intended to require said telegraph companies or any one operating or controlling any telegraph system or office within this state to build a telephone line, it being intended to require such company to install a telephone in each of its offices where such telephone can be obtained by it, as it may be obtained by other business offices in the same vicinity. [C. L. § 2837b.]

Hist. '11, c. 222, part of § 1, p. 704; compiled and reen. C. L. § 2837b.

§ 4839. Messages must be wired when possible. It is the purpose of this article, among other things, to require cooperation on the part of telegraph and telephone companies in the transmission of messages and communications to or from any place where the use of both means of communication is necessary or desirable and where such use will expedite the transmission of any such message or communication; and it shall be unlawful for any telegraph or telephone company or any person having charge of any public telegraph or telephone service or system, controlling or operating any such system within this state, in whole or in part, or any employee thereof, to transmit any message or communication upon which the fees and charges have been paid, tendered or offered, as herein provided, by mail, over any portion of the distance over which such message or communication is to be transmitted, unless neither telegraph nor telephone service is available, and then such means of transmission shall only be used for such distance as necessary in conveying such message to the nearest telegraph or telephone station. ['11, c. 222, § 2, p. 705.]

Hist. '11, c. 222, § 2, p. 705, reen. C. L. § 2837c.

§ 4840. Law cumulative. This article shall be cumulative only, and is intended as affording additional remedy not now provided by law. [C. L. § 2837d.]

Hist. '11, c. 222, § 2, p. 705; compiled and reen. C, L. § 2837d.

Company's liability: A telegraph company is a public service corporation engaged in a public utility, and in receiving, transmitting and delivering messages should be treated as an independent principal or contracting party, and be held liable in contract and tort, the same as other principals. Strong v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1910) 18 I. 389, 109 P. 910, Ann. Cas. 1912A 55.

The reasonableness or unreasonableness of rules and regulations made by a telegraph company must be determined with reference to public policy, precisely as in the case of common carriers, and a stipulation which exempts such company from damages for its own negligence is void. Ib.

Where a telegraph company fails to transmit a message correctly, the proof of the fact is prima facie evidence of the company's negligence. Ib.

§ 4841. Penalty for violation. Any telegraph or telephone company or person owning, controlling or operating any telegraph or telephone line or system within this state, in whole or in part, or any employee thereof, violating any of the provisions of this article, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding $300. CHAPTER 192.

WATER AND CANAL CORPORATIONS.

§ 4842. Contracts for municipal water supply. No corporation formed to supply any city or town with water must do so unless previously authorized by an ordinance of the authorities thereof, or unless it is done in conformity with a contract entered into between the city or town and the corporation. Contracts so made are valid and binding in law, but an exclusive right must not be granted. No contract or grant must be made for a term exceeding 50 years. [C. L. § 2838.]

Application: This law applies only to corporations furnishing water to cities, etc., and has no application to contracts between an individual and a city for furnishing such water. Jack v. Grangeville (1903) 9 I. 291, 74 P. 969.

This law applicable to water corporations, furnishing water to cities and towns, was not intended to apply to corporations furnishing water for irrigation purposes. MacCammelly v. Pioneer Irr. Dist. (1909) 17 I. 415, 105, P. 1076.

Actions: Pleading: In an action to compel a water company to furnish a city with free water in case of fire, the complaint must set forth the ordinance and contract by which the company is authorized to supply water to the city. (Sullivan, J. dissents.) Boise City v. Artes. H. & C. W. Co. (1895) 4 I. 351, 39 P. 562.

Grant for indefinite term: A municipal grant to individuals for an indefinite term, of the right to lay pipes in the city streets and to repair the pipes of a water distributing system, if affected at all by this section, is not rendered thereby ineffective, but at most is limited to a term of fifty years. Boise Artesian etc. Water Co. v. Boise City (1913) 230 U. S. 84, 57 L. ed. 1400, 33 S. C. R. 997, overruling (1911) 186 F. 705, 108 C. C. A. 523.

§ 4843. [2840] Right of way granted. Any corporation created under the provisions of this title for the purposes named in this chapter, subject to the reasonable rules and directions of the city or town authorities as to the mode or manner of using such right of way within the city or town, and subject to the reasonable rules and directions of the board of county commissioners as to the mode and manner of using any right of way outside the corporate limits of such city or town, may use so much of the streets, alleys and ways in any city or town, or the public roads and highways within the county, as may be necessary for the laying of pipes for conducting water to its consumers, or the building and maintaining of ditches, canals, pipes, flumes and acqueducts in conducting water from outside points to the corporate limits of said city or town. Nature of grant: A municipal grant of the right to occupy the city streets with the pipes of a water distributing system is, when accepted by the grantee, not a mere revocable license, but a substantial property right. Boise Artesian etc. Water Co. v. Boise City (1913) 230 U. S. 84, 57 L. ed. 1400, 33 S. C. R. 997, overruling (1911) 186 F. 705, 108 C. C. A. 223.

The obligation of a municipal ordinance granting an irrevocable easement to lay pipes in the city streets and repair the pipes of a water distributing system is unconstitutionally impaired by a subsequent ordinance requiring the payment to the city of a monthly rental for such use and occupation of the streets. Ib.

Rights of way under this section are granted without requiring any compensation whatever. Pocatello v. Murray (1912) 21 I. 180, 199, 120 P. 812, 226 U. S. 318, 33 S. C. R. 107, 57 L. ed. 239.

Pipes in street: All the mains and laterals of a water system within the franchise limit belong to the company owning the franchise, and it is the duty of the company to construct the same at its own expense and connect with the pipes of the property owner at the line of his property and the limit of its franchise. Bothwell v. Consumers' Co. (1907) 13 I. 568, 92 P. 533, 24 L. R. A. (N. S.) 485.

It is the duty of a water company to supply and lay the laterals from its main pipe line to the line of a consumer's property abutting on the street, and such laterals are the property of the company. It shall be the duty of any corporation owning or controlling any canal or irrigation works for the distribution of water under a sale or rental thereof in this state, to file, before the first Monday in January in each year, in the office of the county recorder of every county in which said company distributes water under such sale or rental, upon a blank form to be prepared and furnished by him upon application, and a duplicate copy thereof with the department of reclamation, a statement showing the condition of the business of said corporation on December 31 of the preceding year, which statement shall include the following:

1. A general description of the property of the company.
2. A statement of its cost and estimated present value.
3. The total amount and the character of all indebtedness of the company, including a list of all perpetual water rights sold and outstanding and their respective dates of execution, and the amount received from such sales.
4. The amount due to said company and from what sources.
5. The income of the company during the preceding calendar year and from what sources.
6. The expenditures by the company during the same period and for what purposes.
7. The total area of land watered from its works during the preceding season; that part of said area having no water rights attached being given separately.

8. The number of acres of land under said ditch susceptible of irrigation.

9. The capacity of its works and the quantity of water carried during the said season as nearly as known.

10. The amounts of recorded appropriations and the date of each.

Said statement shall be sworn to by the proper official of said corporation. If the proper official, or principal accounting officer of said corporation shall neglect or refuse to file the statement herein required, the said recorder shall notify him of such failure, and if for 30 days after said notification he still neglects or refuses to file such statement, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be subject to a fine not exceeding $300, or to imprisonment in the county jail of his county for not more than six months, or to both such fine and imprisonment. Said statement required to be filed under this section shall be kept on file in the office of said recorder and shall be open to inspection.

HOMESTEAD CORPORATIONS.

§ 4848. [2845] Definition and term of existence. Corporations organized for the purpose of acquiring lands in large tracts, paying off incumbrances thereon, improving and subdividing them into homestead lots or parcels, and distributing them among the shareholders, and for the accumulation of a fund for such purposes, are known as homestead corporations, and must not have a corporate existence for a longer period than 10 years. Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 557: Kerr's C. ib.

§ 4849. [2846] Requirements as to by-laws. Such corporations must specify in their by-laws the times when the instalments of the capital stock are payable, the amount thereof, and the fines, penalties or forfeitures incurred in case of default. A printed copy of the articles of incorporation and by-laws must be furnished to any shareholder on demand. [R. S. § 2721.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 558: Kerr's C. ib.

§ 4850. [2847] Sale of delinquent stock. Whenever any shares of stock are declared forfeited by resolution of the board of directors, the directors may advertise the same for sale, giving the name of the subscriber and the number of shares by notice of not less than three weeks, published at least once a week in a newspaper of general circulation in the city, town or county where the principal place of business of such corporation is located. Such sale must be made at auction, under the direction of the secretary of the company. The corporation may be a bidder, and the shares may be disposed of to the highest bidder for cash. No defect, informality or irregularity in the proceedings respecting the sale invalidates it, if notice is given as herein provided. After the sale is made, the secretary must, on receipt of the purchase money, transfer to the purchaser the shares sold, and after deducting from the proceeds of such sale all instalments then due, and all expenses and charges of sale, must hold the residue subject to the order of the delinquent subscriber. [R. S. § 2722.]

§ 4851. [2848] Limitation on indebtedness. Homestead corporations may borrow money for the purposes of the corporation not exceeding at any one time one-fourth of the aggregate amount of shares or parts of shares actually paid in, and the income thereof; no greater rate of interest must be paid therefor than 12 per cent per annum. For the purpose of completing the purchase of lands intended to be divided and distributed, they may borrow on the security of their shares on the land thus purchased, or that owned by the corporation at the time of procuring the loan, any sum of money which, together with the interest contracted to become due thereon, will not exceed 90 per cent of the unpaid amount subscribed by the shareholders; but no loan must be made to the corporation for a term extending beyond that of its existence. [R. S. § 2723.]

GUARANTY, TITLE AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Cross ref. The savings departments of all companies organized under this chapter are under the supervision of the department of commerce and industry: § 5235.

§ 4858. [2961] Powers and rights of companies. Companies incorporated under the provisions of this chapter shall have the power and right:

1. To furnish abstracts of title to real estate; to guarantee the title, and to make insurance of every kind pertaining to or connected with titles to real estate, and to make, execute and perfect such and so many contracts, agreements, policies and other instruments as may be required therefor.

2. To receive and hold on deposit and in trust and as security, estate, real and personal, including the notes, bonds, obligations of estates, individuals, companies and corporations, and the same to purchase, collect, adjust and settle, sell and dispose of, in any manner with or without proceedings in law or equity, and for such price, and on such terms as may be agreed on between them and the parties contracting with them.

3. To act as trustee, assignee, receiver, guardian, executor, administrator, and to take, accept and execute trusts of every description not inconsistent with the laws of this state or of the United States, and the president or secretary of any such company may take the oath necessary to qualify it to act in such capacity, and such company shall be bound thereby; and to receive deposits of money and other personal property and to issue their obligations therefor; to invest their funds in and to purchase real and personal securities, and to loan money on real and personal security.

4. To act as fiscal or transfer agent of any state, municipality, body politic or corporation, and in such capacity to receive and distribute money, transfer, register and countersign certificates of stocks, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness, and to receive and manage any sinking fund thereof on such terms as may be agreed upon.

5. To take, receive and hold any and all such pieces of real property as may have been or may hereafter be the subject of any insurance made by such companies under the powers conferred by their charter, and the same to grant, bargain, sell, convey and dispose of in any such manner as they see proper.

6. To purchase and sell real estate and take charge of the same.

7. To become security for the payment of all damages that may be assessed and directed to be paid for lands taken in the building of any railway, or for the purposes of any railway, or for the opening of streets or roads or for any purpose whatsoever where land or property is authorized by law to be taken.

8. To become security upon any writ of error or appeal, or in any proceeding instituted in any court in this state, in which security may be required. [R. C. § 2961.]

ARTICLE 1.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 4870. Formation of corporations. Any number of persons associated together for any purpose where pecuniary profit is not their object may, in accordance with the rules, regulations or discipline of such association, elect directors, the number thereof to be not less than three nor more than 35, and may incorporate themselves as provided in this title: Provided, That whenever, according to the custom of any religious, social or benevolent corporation, the management of the real estate of such corporation is under the control of one board and the promotion, operation and maintenance of such corporation, under the control of another board, then such corporation, when incorporated, may elect both such boards, the former to consist of not less than three nor more than five, and the latter to consist of not less than five nor more than 35, in accordance with the usual customs or rules of such corporation in so far as they do not conflict with the provisions of this chapter: Provided further, That, when such boards are elected by any such corporation, such boards shall have charge of the management of the real estate of such corporation and the promotion, operation and management thereof, respectively. § 4871. Additional requirements of articles. In addition to the requirements of chapter 186 the articles of incorporation of any such association must set forth the holding of an election for directors or such other boards as such corporation may elect to operate under in conformity with section 4870, the time and place where same was held, that a majority of the members of such association who were present at such meeting voted at such election, and the result thereof; which facts must be verified by the presiding officer or secretary of the meeting: Provided, however, That before any election of directors or other boards, as herein provided for, shall be held, notice of the time and place of holding such election shall be given by publication at least two weeks in some newspaper in the city or town in which such election was held, and if there be no newspaper in such city or town, then in some newspaper in the county where such election is held, and also by posting a like notice in a conspicuous place on the building where such election is to be held for the same length of time. If no newspaper be published in the county where such election is to be held, the posting of the notice hereinbefore required shall be sufficient notice. The fact of having given the notice, as herein required, and in the manner required, shall be set forth in the articles of incorporation and verified as other facts herein are required to be done. Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 594: Kerr's C. ib.

§ 4872. Amendment of articles. The articles of incorporation of any religious, social or benevolent corporation may be amended in any manner at any regular meeting of the members of such corporation by a vote of a majority of a quorum attending such meeting: Provided, Public notice of the intention to amend the articles of incorporation shall have been given by publication at least once a week for four weeks in a newspaper published in the county wherein such meeting is to be held, such notice to designate the regular meeting at which it is intended to vote on the proposition of amending the articles of incorporation, and shall state the manner in which it is intended to amend the articles of incorporation. ['13, c. 40, § 1, p. 143.]

§ 4873. Same: Filing of certificates. A certificate signed and verified by the presiding officer and the secretary, or recording officer of such meeting, must be made showing a strict compliance with the requirements of section 4872. Duplicates of such certificate must be made and one filed in the office of the county recorder and one in the office of the secretary of state, as provided for original articles of incorporation, and thereupon such articles shall stand amended. ['13, c. 40, § 2, p. 143.]

Hist. '13, c. 40, § 2, p. 143, reen. C. L. § 3012b.

§ 4874. Power to hold property. All such corporations may hold all the property of the association owned prior to incorporation or acquired thereafter in any manner, and transact all business relative thereto; but no such corporation must own or hold more real estate than may be necessary for the business and objects of the association; the title of all property, real and personal, held by or for said association at the time of its incorporation, shall pass immediately to and become vested in the said corporation, and thereafter such corporation may take, receive, mortgage, alienate or convey its real or personal property in the same manner as other private corporations, and its corporate power may be exercised in such manner as may be provided by its by-laws. Power to mortgage: Regulations concerning mortgage prescribed under former statutes and repealed by the '13 amendment to this section, were considered in: Portneuf Lodge v. Western etc. Saving Co. (1899) 6 I. 673, 59 P. 362; Hobbs v. Twin Falls C. Co. (1913) 24 I. 380, 133 P. 899.

Title to property upon division in church: Where a division occurs in a church or religious organization and one faction withdraws or forms another organization, the title to the property will remain in the old organization and be subject to the control and disposition of those who adhere to the doctrines and tenets of such church or organization as originally taught. Apostolic etc. Union v. Knudson (1912) 21 I. 589, 123, P. 473.

Same: Pending suit: Where opposing factions of a religious society each seek to have the other restrained from using a church for purposes of worship, the trial court has jurisdiction to order an injunction pendente lite, which in effect gives each faction the right to use the church at stated times. Wayne v. Alspach (1911) 20 I. 144, 116 P. 1033.

§ 4875. Same: Additional property. In addition to that provided for in the preceding section, Masons, Odd Fellows, pioneer incorporated associations and fraternal orders generally may hold such real estate as may be necessary to carry out their charitable purposes, or for the establishment and endowment of institutions of learning connected therewith. § 4876. [3016] Provisions of by-laws. Corporations organized for purposes other than for profit may in their by-laws, ordinances, constitutions or articles of incorporation, in addition to the provisions in chapter 186, provide for:

1. The qualifications of members, mode of election and terms of admission to membership.
2. The fees of admission and dues to be paid to their treasury by members.
3. The expulsion and suspension of members for misconduct or nonpayment of dues; also for restoration to membership.
4. Contracting, securing, paying and limiting the amount of their indebtedness.
5. Other regulations not repugnant to the laws of the state and consonant with the objects of the corporation. [R. S. § 2765.]

§ 4877. [3017] Death benefit associations. Associations may be formed for the purpose of paying to the nominee of any member a sum upon the death of said member not exceeding $3 for each member of such association. No such association must exceed in number 1000 persons. It may upon the death of each member, levy an assessment upon each member living at the time of the death, not exceeding $3 for each member, and collect the same, and pay the same to the nominee of such deceased; and may also provide for the payment of such annual payments by members as may be deemed best. Such annual assessment upon any one member must not be raised above the annual assessment established at the time such member joined such association. Such association, by its name, may sue and be sued, and may loan such funds as it may have on hand, and may own sufficient real estate for its business purposes, and such other real estate as it may be necessary to purchase on foreclosure of its mortgages: Provided, Such real estate so obtained through foreclosure shall be sold and conveyed within five years from the day title is obtained, unless the district court of the proper district shall, upon petition and good cause shown, extend the time. TITLE XXXVIII. INSURANCE.

Hist. The first insurance law was enacted '01, p. 165. As subsequently amended it was reenacted in the R. C. The law was entirely rewritten by '11, c. 225, p. 710, and c. 228, p. 732, all former enactments being expressly repealed. Subsequent amendments are: '12, c. 5, p. 10; '13, c. 31, p. 129; '13, c. 97, p. 385; '13, c. 166, p. 535; '13, c. 184, p. 589; '13, c. 185, p. 593; '15, c. 145, p. 317; '15, c. 171, p. 392; '17, c. 105, p. 381; '17, c. 108, p. 387; '17, c. 123, p. 410, and '17, c. 140, p. 449. As embodied in Compiled Laws the law was rearranged and the longer sections subdivided.

The law as enacted in '11, and reenacted in Compiled Laws created an insurance department and provided for the appointment of an insurance commissioner and a deputy.

'19, c. 8, § 51, p. 69, repealed C. L. 220:1-7, 11-13; § 38 of the same act (§ 351 herein) abolished the insurance department and the offices of the insurance commissioner and his deputy, and § 28 (§ 284 herein) vested their powers and duties in the department of commerce and industry.

The section notes "Compiled upon authority '19, c. 8," etc., indicate that the substitutions of offices and officials authorized by that act have been made accordingly; the text of preexisting law not being changed except in so far as necessary in making such substitutions.

CHAPTER 201.

SUPERVISION OF INSURANCE COMPANIES.

ARTICLE 1.

§ 4916. Examiners. The department of commerce and industry may employ persons to make personal examinations of the condition and affairs of insurance companies when necessary, as required by law.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 9, p. 734, reen. C. L. 220:8; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4917. Attorney general's duty. Whenever the department of commerce and industry may think necessary it shall call upon the attorney general of the state for legal counsel and such assistance as may be necessary to enforce the provisions of the insurance laws.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 9, p. 734, reen. C. L. 220:9; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4918. Records of office public. The office of said department of commerce and industry in relation to insurance and insurance companies shall be deemed a public office, and the records, books and papers thereof or on file therein shall be deemed public records of this state.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 10, p. 734; compiled and reen. C. L. 220:10; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4919. Reports. The department of commerce and industry shall have printed annually, on or before the 1st day of July, and transmit to the governor, a report which shall contain the official transactions of the department and contain in a condensed form statements made to the department by every insurance company authorized to do business in this state pursuant to the provisions of this title, and such statements and reports shall be audited and corrected by the department, all arranged in tabular form or in abstracts, which report shall also contain:

1. A statement of all insurance companies authorized to do business in this state during the year ending the 31st day of December next preceding, with their names, locations, amounts of capital, dates of incorporation and of the commencement of business, and kinds of insurance in which they are engaged respectively.

2. A statement of the insurance companies whose businesses have been closed since making the last report and the reasons for closing the same, with the amount of their assets and liabilities so far as the same are known or can be ascertained by the department.

3. The names and compensation of the clerks employed by the department and the whole amount, itemized, of the expenses of the department during such period.

4. A detailed statement of the moneys and fees of office received by the department and for what purposes.

In addition to the annual reports herein provided the department of commerce and industry shall have printed and issue, immediately preceding the meeting of the legislature, a biennial report which shall contain recommendations regarding insurance legislation which in the opinion of the department shall seem desirable, in addition to other data that the department may consider of interest to the legislature.

Sufficient copies of such annual and biennial reports shall be laid before the legislature meeting after the issuing of such reports for the use and information of its members, and in addition the department of commerce and industry shall have printed the necessary number of copies of such reports for its use.

ARTICLE 3.

QUALIFICATION OF COMPANIES.

Cross ref. Limited partnership may not conduct insurance business: § 5784.

§ 4936. Companies must file articles and by-laws. Every insurance company transacting business in this state shall file with the department of commerce and industry in duplicate its charter or articles of incorporation and amendments thereto, duly certified to by the secretary of state or proper officer of the company's home state or country; and a copy of its by-laws, together with the names and residences of each of its officers and directors, all of which shall be certified under the hands of the president and secretary of the company: Provided, That every foreign insurance company fully complying with the provisions of this article shall be exempt from complying with the provisions of sections 4772 to 4779.

Hist. (See R. C. § 2882) '11, c. 228, part of § 19, p. 740; am. '13, c. 97, § 7, p. 392, reen. C. L. 220:31; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4937. Examination by attorney general necessary before filing. When application is made to the department of commerce and industry by a number of persons desiring to become incorporated as an insurance corporation or for authorization to transact the business of insurance in this state, pursuant to any articles of incorporation or charter presented for filing in the department, or any amendment thereto, required by law to be filed or to be approved by the department of commerce and industry, the department shall not file such articles of incorporation, or charter, or grant a certificate of authority, until such articles of incorporation, charter or amendment shall have been examined by the attorney general and certified by him to the department to be in accordance with the requirements of law.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 19, p. 740, reen. '13, c. 97, § 7, p. 392, reen. C. L. 220:32; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4938. Duplicate names prohibited. No certificate of authority to transact the business of insurance in this state shall be granted by the department of commerce and industry to any corporation hereafter applying therefor, if such corporation has the same name as another corporation authorized to transact such business in this state at the time of granting such certificate, or a name so nearly resembling it as to be calculated to deceive.

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 20, p. 741, reen. C. L. 220:33; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4939. Companies limited to business for which licensed. No insurance corporation shall transact any business in this state not specified in the certificate of authority granted by the department of commerce and industry.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 16, p. 738; am. '13, c. 97, § 4, p. 389, reen. C. L. 220:34; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4940. Domestic and foreign mutual life companies. No domestic mutual life insurance company shall be permitted to do business in this state unless it is possessed of an actual paid up cash guaranty fund or surplus of not less than $100,000, and no such foreign company shall be permitted to do business unless possessed of surplus over all liabilities for the protection of policy holders amounting to not less than $100,000.

The cash or securities representing the minimum surplus required by this chapter of domestic life insurance companies incorporated on the mutual plan shall be deposited with the department of commerce and industry in the same manner as provided in sections 4962 to 4965 pertaining to investments of domestic and foreign stock insurance companies.

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 50, p. 755, reen. C. L. 220:39; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4945. Classes of business permitted. The provisions of sections 4950 to 4957, inclusive, shall apply to the classes of business to be transacted by domestic joint stock insurance companies, but shall not apply to the requirements as to capital or surplus of such companies. ['13, c. 97, § 9, subd. 8, p. 396.]

Hist. '13, c. 97, § 9, subd. 8, p. 396, reen. C. L. 220:40.

§ 4946. Capital and surplus of domestic companies. Any domestic insurance company may be authorized to transact business in this state if it shall have a fully paid in cash capital and surplus as follows:

General—If transacting one or more of classes 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 14 provided in article 2 of this chapter, it must have a capital of not less than $100,000; and if transacting business in class 3 of said article 2 it must also have a cash surplus equal to 50 per cent of its paid in capital.

Fidelity and surety—If transacting business in class 5 of said article 2 it must have a fully paid in cash capital of not less than $250,000, with a cash surplus of not less than $50,000.

Live stock—If transacting business in class 13 of said article 2 it must have a fully paid in cash capital of not less than $25,000 with a cash surplus equal to 50 per cent of its said capital.

The surplus provided in this section may be used in establishing the company in business without impairment of the company. [C. L. 220:41.]

ARTICLE 4.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

Dividends.

§ 4961. Restrictions on dividends. The directors of every insurance corporation, at such times as their by-laws may provide, shall make, declare and pay to the stockholders dividends of so much of the net profits of the corporate business and interest on capital invested as to them appears advisable: Provided, It shall not be lawful for any insurance company organized under the laws of this state to make any dividend except from surplus profits arising from its business, and in estimating such profits, there shall be reserved therefrom the lawful reserve on all unexpired risks, the amount of all unpaid losses, whether adjusted or unadjusted, all other debts due and payable, or to become due and payable, and all other liabilities including the entire subscribed capital stock; any dividends made contrary to the provisions of this chapter shall subject the company making them to a forfeiture of its charter, and the department of commerce and industry shall forthwith revoke its certificate of authority: Provided, That the department shall give such company at least 10 days' notice in writing of its intention to revoke such certificate, stating specifically the reasons for such revocation: Provided further, That nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the apportionment, accounting and distributing of such surplus to policy holders or members of insurance companies who are entitled to share in the profits of surplus as apportioned to their contracts of insurance.

§ 4966. Restrictions on real estate holdings. Insurance corporations transacting business in this state may purchase, hold and convey real property only for the following purposes and in the following manner:

1. The building in which it has its principal office and the land upon which it stands.
2. Such as shall be requisite only for its convenient accommodation in the transaction of its business.
3. Such as shall have been acquired for the accommodation of its business.
4. Such as shall have been mortgaged to it in good faith by way of securities for loans previously contracted or for moneys due.
5. Such as shall have been conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings.

6. Such as shall have been purchased at sales upon judgments, decrees and mortgages obtained or made for such debts.

All such real property specified in subdivisions 3, 4, 5, and 6 of this section as shall not be necessary for its accommodation in the convenient transaction of its business, shall be sold and disposed of within five years after the same shall have ceased to be necessary for the accommodation of its business, and it shall not hold such property for a longer period unless it shall procure a certificate from the department of commerce and industry that its interests will suffer materially by the forced sale thereof, in which event the time for the sale may be extended to such time as the department shall direct in such certificate.

No real property shall be acquired by any domestic life insurance corporation under subdivisions 1 or 2 hereof, and no real property within the state shall be acquired under subdivision 2 hereof, except with the approval of the department of commerce and industry.

No real property shall be disposed of by any domestic life insurance corporation and no real property shall be disposed of by any foreign life insurance company by exchange for other real property hereafter substituted as a consideration of the transfer in whole or in part, unless the acquisition of the land shall be requisite for the convenient accommodation of the corporation in the transaction of its business, and shall be approved by the department of commerce and industry, or, if a foreign company, the insurance commissioner of the company's home state.

Actions.

§ 4967. Venue of action: Service of process. Suits may be instituted and prosecuted against any insurance company in any county where a loss occurs, or where the policy holder instituting such suit resides, and the process in any such suit against a foreign company may be served upon the commissioner of commerce and industry of this state as attorney in fact for such company.

§ 4968. Failure to satisfy judgment: Revocation of authority. Should any insurance company fail to pay over and satisfy any execution that may lawfully issue or any final judgment against said company within 30 days after the officer holding such execution has demanded payment thereof from the duly authorized officer, agent or attorney of such company in this state or out of it, such officer shall immediately certify such demand and failure to the department of commerce and industry, and thereupon the department shall declare null and void the certificate of authority issued by it to such company. Such company shall be prohibited from transacting any business in this state thereafter until said execution shall be fully satisfied and discharged, and until such department shall renew its certificate of authority to such company.

Deposits.

§ 4969. Deposits with department: How made. The department of commerce and industry shall receive and hold on deposit in the manner provided in this chapter, the securities of domestic companies which are deposited by any such company under the provisions of this chapter for the purpose of securing policy holders, or to comply with any similar law of another state to enable such company to transact business in such state. The department shall furnish, under its official seal, to such company, a certificate certifying that it holds said securities in trust for the benefit of the policyholders of such company. The department of commerce and industry shall give vouchers for all securities deposited with it to the company depositing them. It shall be the duty of the department, upon receipt of such securities from any insurance company, to forthwith deposit the same in the presence of the president or authorized agent of the company in a strong iron box, which shall require two distinct and different keys to unlock the same, one key to be kept by the department, and the other by the company, and the box shall not be opened, except in the presence of the commissioner of commerce and industry or deputy and the said president or authorized agent of the company: Provided, however, That in case the company having such securities on deposit shall be adjudged insolvent, or be dissolved, the court may make and enforce the necessary orders to place such securities, or any part of them, at the sole disposal of the court or department of commerce and industry. The boxes shall be placed in the vault of a safe deposit company or national bank in the city of Boise, to be selected by the department, and the insurance company shall pay the several fees for the safe keeping of their several boxes. So long as the company so depositing shall continue solvent, the department shall permit such company to collect and receive the interest and dividends on its securities so deposited and transferred, and, from time to time, to withdraw such securities on depositing other securities in place of those to be withdrawn, such new securities to be of the same value as or greater value than those withdrawn.

§ 4973. Same: Alien fire and marine. No insurance company organized under the laws of any foreign country, transacting the business permitted in classes 1 and 2, or either of them, including or excluding class 12 of article 2 of this chapter, shall be licensed to transact such business in this state, unless, in addition to complying with the laws of this state, it shall have made a deposit with the department of commerce and industry of this state, or with the duly authorized officer of some other state of the United States, in a sum not less than $200,000.

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 14, p. 736; am. '12, c. 5, § 1, p. 11; am. '13, c. 97, § 3, p. 387, reen. C. L. 220:68; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4974. Same: Foreign companies. No insurance company organized under the laws of any state, territory or district of the United States, or of any foreign country transacting the business permitted in one or more of classes 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14 of article 2 of this chapter, shall be licensed to transact such business in this state, unless, in addition to complying with the laws of this state, it shall have made a deposit with the department of commerce and industry of this state, or with the duly authorized officer of some other state of the United States, in a sum not less than $100,000.

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 14, p. 736; am. '12, c. 5, § 1, p. 11; am. '13, c. 97, § 3, p. 387, reen. C. L. 220:69; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4975. Same: Nature of deposit. Such deposit shall be an exclusive trust for the benefit and security of all the policyholders of such company in the United States, and may be made in such securities as provided in sections 4962 to 4965, and such deposit of a company organized under the laws of any foreign country shall be deemed, for all purposes of the insurance laws, the capital of the company making it. Examination of Companies.

§ 4976. Policies subject to inspection of department. The commissioner, his deputy or examiner, shall have the right at any time to inspect any policy, covering any risk in this state, and every policyholder shall produce and exhibit any policy in his possession or control when required for the inspection of the commissioner, his deputy, or examiner. Any person who violates the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, punished by a fine of not exceeding $100. ['13, c. 185, § 9, p. 597.]

§ 4977. Examination of domestic companies. The department of commerce and industry shall, as often as it deems expedient, and, if a domestic life insurance corporation, at least once in three years, or if any other domestic corporation, association, society or order, at least once in five years, examine into the affairs of any corporation doing business in this state, and into the affairs of any corporation organized under the laws of this state or having an office in this state, or partnership or individual, which corporation, partnership or individual is engaged in or is claiming or advertising that it is engaged in organizing or receiving subscriptions for or disposing of stock of, or in any manner aiding or taking part in the formation of or business of, an insurance corporation or corporations, or which is holding the capital stock of one or more insurance corporations for the purpose of controlling the management thereof as voting trustee or otherwise. For such purpose the commissioner may appoint as examiners one or more competent persons not officers of or connected with or interested in any insurance corporation other than as policyholders.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 15, p. 736, reen. C. L. 220:72; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 15, p. 736, reen. C. L. 220:73; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4979. Report of examination. Every such examiner shall make a full and true report of every examination made by him, verified by his oath, which shall comprise only facts appearing upon the books, papers, records or documents of such corporation, or ascertained from the testimony, sworn to, of its officers, agents or other persons examined under oath concerning its affairs, and such conclusions and recommendations as may reasonably be warranted from such facts so disclosed, and said report, so verified, shall be presumptive evidence in any action or proceeding in the name of the people against the corporation, partnership or individual, its officers, or agents, of the facts stated therein.

The department of commerce and industry shall grant a hearing to whoever may be examined before filing any such report, and may withhold any such report from the public inspection for such time as the department may deem proper and may, if it deem it for the interest of the public so to do, publish any such report or the results of any such examination as contained therein, in one or more newspapers of the state.

§ 4980. Cost of examination. The cost of such examinations shall be paid by the company examined and shall include the reasonable expenses of the department of commerce and industry and the compensation and reasonable expenses of its assistants, or person or persons employed therein. Duplicate receipts showing the entire cost of the examination, authorized by the department, shall be taken and certified to by the company examined, one copy to be retained by the company and the duplicate filed in the office of the department of commerce and industry as a part of the public records. No company, corporation, partnership or individual, so examined shall, directly or indirectly, pay by way of gift, gratuity or otherwise any further sum to said commissioner of commerce and industry, his deputy, assistants, or other person or persons making said examination, either for services rendered, for extra services, for the purpose of legislation, or for any other pretense whatsoever.

§ 4981. Penalty for violation. Any commissioner, examiner, officer, clerk or employee of any insurance company violating any of the provisions of this [the foregoing] section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. ['11, c. 228, part of § 15, p. 738.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 15, p. 738, reen. C. L. 220:76; bracketed words inserted for correction.

§ 4982. Revocation of certificate of authority. Whenever it shall appear to the department of commerce and industry from its examination, or the report of the person appointed by the department to make such examination, that the condition of any company examined is unsound, the department shall revoke the certificate of authority granted such company and cause a notification thereof to be published in a daily paper at the capital and mail a copy thereof to each agent of the company, after which notice the agent or agents thereof shall be required to discontinue doing business for such company.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 15, p. 738, reen. C. L. 220:77; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4983. Examination of foreign companies. The department of commerce and industry shall have the same supervision, and, when it deems it necessary, make the same examinations of the business and affairs of every foreign insurance corporation doing business in this state, as of domestic insurance corporations doing the same kind of business, and of its assets, books, accounts and general condition. Every such foreign corporation, its agents and officers, shall always be subject to the same laws, rules and penalties as are imposed upon domestic insurance corporations doing the same kind of business, so far as the same are applicable thereto.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 16, p. 738; am. '13, c. 97, § 4, p. 388, reen. C. L. 220:78; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4984. Examination outside state: Penalty for refusal of company. The department of commerce and industry may, whenever it deems it necessary, either by an official of the department or by a proper person appointed by the department, repair to the general office of such foreign corporation, wherever the same may be, and make an investigation and examination of its affairs and conditions. The department may cancel and revoke the certificate of any such foreign corporation refusing or unreasonably neglecting to comply with the provisions of this section, or to allow the examinations herein provided for to be made, and prevent such corporation from further continuance in business in this state.

§ 4985. Examination of companies applying for admission. The department shall, in like manner and upon like condition, examine corporations and companies applying for admission to transact business in this state, and, if the affairs and condition of any such corporation or company do not fully meet with the requirements of law, the department shall withhold its certificate of authority.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 16, p. 738, reen. '13, c. 97, § 4, p. 388, reen. C. L. 220:80; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4986. Certificate from commissioner of another state. A certificate from the insurance commissioner of any state, who has recently examined the affairs of any foreign company, may be accepted as evidence of the condition of the company, in lieu of the examination herein required. Impairment of Capital.

§ 4987. Capital: Impairment of. Any insurance company transacting business within this state, whose capital stock shall become impaired to the extent of 25 per cent thereof, shall make good such impairment within 60 days by either an assessment upon the stockholders or the reduction of its capital stock: Provided, That such capital stock shall in no case be less than the minimum amount provided by this chapter; and in the event of failure to make good such impairment within the said time, shall forfeit its rights to write any new business in this state until said impairment shall have been made good. ['13, c. 97, § 28, p. 411.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 62, p. 759; am. '13, c. 97, § 28, p. 411, reen. C. L. 220:82.

§ 4988. Same: Liability of officers. Any insurance corporation, whose capital stock or assets are impaired within the limitations of the preceding section, and whose president and directors, after knowing the same, may make any new or further insurance, the estates of those who may make such insurance or assent thereto shall be severally and jointly liable for the amount of any loss or losses which may take place under such insurance. ['11, c. 228, § 64, p. 759.]

§ 4989. Reduction of capital stock. If the capital stock of any domestic company shall become impaired, such company may, by vote of the majority of the stock represented in a meeting legally called for that purpose, reduce its capital stock and the number of shares thereof to an amount not less than the minimum required by law, but no part of its assets shall be distributed to its stockholders. The directors, after such reduction of capital stock, may require each stockholder to surrender his certificate and, in lieu thereof, may issue a new certificate for such number of shares as he shall be entitled to. Within 10 days after such meeting, the company shall submit to the department of commerce and industry a certificate of the meeting thereof and the amount of such reduction, together with a statement of the assets and liabilities of the company, signed and sworn to by its president, secretary and a majority of the directors. If the department finds that it will not be prejudicial to the public, it shall indorse its approval on such certificate.

§ 4991. Deficiency in assets of mutual company. If it appears to the department of commerce and industry, from its examination, that the assets of any mutual insurance corporation are insufficient to justify its continuance in business, the department shall determine the amount of the deficiency and request the officers of the corporation to make the same good within a time to be specified, not less than 30 days, nor more than 90 days from the date of such request. Service may be made by mail direct to the corporation at its principal place of business in this state, specified in its charter. Upon receipt of such service or requisition, the directors of the corporation shall forthwith cause such deficiency to be made good, and proof must be filed with the department within the time specified in the requisition that the deficiency has been made good.

Reinsurance.

§ 4993. Reinsurance of risk. Any insurance company licensed to transact business in this state, may reinsure the whole or any part of any policy obligation in any solvent and responsible insurance company. Every insurance company doing business in this state shall be required to furnish the department of commerce and industry with a list of its reinsuring companies, giving the name and amount and premiums affected in each company.

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 54, p. 756; am. '13, c. 97, § 26, p. 410, reen. C. L. 220:88; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4994. Retiring companies: Reinsurance. No insurance company, impaired, insolvent or retiring from business in this state, shall reinsure its business in this state in any company not admitted to do business in this state, until its plan to effect such reinsurance shall have been submitted to the department of commerce and industry and approved by it in writing. No domestic insurance company shall reinsure all the risks of any other company unless the plan of said reinsurance shall be submitted to the department and be approved by it in writing. In effecting such reinsurance, the reinsuring company shall become liable to the original insured for any loss or damage occurring under the policies reinsured, and shall, within a reasonable time, replace such policies with its own, or by indorsement thereon acknowledge liability thereunder; and in case of cancellation, shall be liable to the original insured for all return premiums.

Taxation of Insurance Companies.

§ 4995. Annual tax statement and tax of fire and marine companies. All insurance companies licensed to transact business in this state in classes 1 and 2, or either of them, of article 2 of this chapter, shall file with the department of commerce and industry annually on or before the 1st day of March of each year, a statement, under oath, showing the amount of all gross premiums received by said company on risks situated in this state during the year ending December 31 next preceding, and pay to the department a tax of 2 per cent on the amount of such gross premiums collected in excess of premiums and cancellations returned to such policy holders.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 18, p. 740; am. '13, c. 97, § 6, p. 391, reen. C. L. 220:90; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4996. Annual statement and tax of other companies. All insurance companies licensed to transact business in this state in one or more of classes 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14 of article 2 of this chapter shall file with the department of commerce and industry annually on or before the 1st day of March of each year, a statement, under oath, showing the amount of all gross premiums received by said company in this state during the year ending December 31 next preceding, and shall pay to the department a tax of 2 per cent on all such gross premiums collected: Provided, however, That companies licensed to transact business in class 3 may in computing the gross premiums deduct the amount of refunds, dividends and coupons paid policy holders in the nature of return premiums.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 18, p. 739; am. '13, c. 97, § 6, p. 391, reen. C. L. 220:91; am. '19, c. 119, p. 405; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4997. Reinsuring companies: Credit. Reinsuring companies authorized to transact business in this state may take credit for premiums received on account of reinsurance from authorized companies. Such premiums are to be reported by and the taxes paid thereon by the parent company. ['11, c. 228, part of § 18, p. 740.]

§ 4998. Payment of tax. Within 30 days thereafter such insurance companies shall pay or cause to be paid to the department of commerce and industry the tax herein required, which payment of tax when made shall be in lieu of all other taxes upon premiums and upon the personal property of such companies and the shares of stock or assets thereof: Provided, That all real property, if any, of such company, shall be listed, assessed and taxed the same as real property of like character of individuals.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 18, p. 740; am. '13, c. 97, § 6, p. 391, reen. C. L. 220:93; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 4999. Penalty for failure to pay tax. An organization failing or refusing to render such statement and pay the required tax of 2 per cent thereon for more than 30 days after the time so specified shall be liable to a fine of $25 for each additional day of delinquency, and the taxes may be collected by distraint and same recovered by an action to be instituted by the attorney general in the name of the state in any court of competent jurisdiction. The department of commerce and industry shall revoke the license of any delinquent company until the taxes and fine, should any be imposed, are fully paid, and notice thereof is given to the department.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 18, p. 740; am. '13, c. 97, § 6, p. 391, reen. C. L. 220:94; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5000. Reduced tax for company making local investments. Any insurance company transacting business in this state having more than 50 per cent of its assets invested in bonds or warrants of this state, or bonds or warrants of any county, city or district within this state authorized by law to be issued, or in taxable property within this state, or in first mortgages upon improved, unencumbered real estate within this state, shall pay a tax of 1 per cent upon the premiums collected in this state on risks located in this state, in lieu of the tax provided in the preceding sections. ['13, c. 185, § 16, p. 601.]

Fees and Licenses.

§ 5001. Annual statement. All insurance companies licensed to do business in this state, unless otherwise provided in this chapter, shall file with the department of commerce and industry annually, on or before March 1, in each year, a statement under oath, upon a form to be prescribed and furnished by the department, stating the amount of all premiums collected or contracted for by the company making such statement, in this state, during the year ending December 31 next preceding; the amounts actually paid policy holders on losses; the amounts paid policy holders as return premiums; the amounts paid policy holders as dividends; the amount of insurance reinsured in other companies authorized to do business in this state, and the amount of premiums paid therefor; and the amount of insurance reinsured in companies, naming them, not authorized to do business in this state, and the amount of premiums paid therefor; and the amount of reinsurance accepted from admitted companies and the premiums received for such reinsurance or risks located in this state, with the names of the companies so reinsured.

Every foreign insurance company, except life insurance companies, doing business in this state shall cause to be attached to said statement the affidavit of its president, manager or chief executive officer in the United States to the effect that all policies, bonds, duplicate policies or contracts of insurance of every kind and character, and all general and floating policies upon persons and property, resident, situated or located in this state, made, written, placed and caused to be made, written and placed in this state by said company during the year covered by said statement were so done only through agents, resident within this state and legally commissioned and licensed to transact insurance business therein; and that said resident agents had received, or, if the business is still pending, would receive the full commission therefor, when the premiums were severally paid.

No license shall be issued to any company until such annual statement and such affidavit, if required, be filed.

The annual statement made to the department pursuant to this section, or other provisions of law, shall include the substance of that required by what is known as the convention blank form, adopted from year to year by the national convention of insurance commissioners, and shall also include such other information as may be required by the department.

§ 5005. Department's financial report and accounting. The department of commerce and industry shall make and file with the state auditor on the first day of each month an itemized statement of the moneys received during the preceding month, covering license and other fees, and shall deliver a certified copy of same to the state treasurer. All moneys derived from the sale of licenses, taxation, filing and all other fees shall be deposited with the state treasurer when such amount shall exceed $100, but should such fees during any month amount to less than $100, then at the end of such month. Such moneys shall be credited by the state treasurer to the general fund of the state. A statement of each deposit thus made shall be filed with the state auditor.

§ 5006. Form of licenses and certificates. All licenses and all certificates of authority shall expire annually, on the 31st day of March.

Blank licenses shall be signed and issued by the state auditor to the department of commerce and industry from time to time, as requested, and charged to the department. Such licenses shall be consecutively numbered. The state auditor may also issue to the department 100 or more unnumbered blank agent's licenses, which he shall likewise charge to the department, such licenses to be issued as duplicates of licenses lost or destroyed in transit to the companies, and to be issued only upon affidavit of the company showing the original license has been lost. The company's receipt for duplicates thus issued, accompanied by the affidavit herein required, shall be prima facie evidence that such duplicates have been issued without cost, and upon presentation to the state auditor the department shall be credited upon the books of the auditor for the face amount of such duplicates issued. No charge shall be made against the companies for duplicates so issued.

§ 5010. Penalty for violation by company. Any company wilfully failing to observe or comply with the provisions of section 5008 and 5009 shall be subject to and liable to pay a penalty of $500 for each violation thereof and for each failure to observe and comply with the said sections. Such penalty may be collected and recovered in an action brought in the name of the state in any court having jurisdiction thereof. Any insurance company or association which shall neglect or refuse for 30 days after judgment in any such action to pay the amount of such judgment, shall have its authority to transact business in this state revoked by the department of commerce and industry, and such revocation shall continue for at least one year from date thereof, nor shall any insurance company or association whose authority to transact business in this state shall have been revoked be again authorized or permitted to transact business herein, until it shall have paid the amount of such judgment and shall have filed in the office of the department of commerce and industry a certificate to the effect that the terms and obligations of the provisions of these sections are accepted by it as a part of the right and authority to transact business in this state.

§ 5012. Agent defined. Any person who for compensation, or otherwise, solicits insurance in behalf of any company receiving applications for insurance of any kind whatsoever, or transmitting for a person other than himself an application for a policy of insurance to or from such company, or offers or assumes to act in the negotiation of such insurance or in any manner aids in the transaction of the business of an insurance company incorporated in this state or out of it shall be deemed an agent within the intent and purpose of this chapter. ['11, c. 228, § 36, p. 746.]

§ 5013. Penalty for acting as agent without license. It shall be unlawful for any person to act within this state as an agent, or otherwise, in soliciting or receiving application for insurance of any kind or class whatever, or in any manner, directly or indirectly aid in the transaction of the business of any insurance company incorporated in this state or out of it without first procuring a certificate of authority from the department of commerce and industry.

Any person who solicits or aids in soliciting business for any insurance company without the certificate herein required, or after such certificate has been withdrawn or revoked, or any agent who accepts an application from any person, who is a nonresident of this state, or a resident thereof not provided with the certificate of authority for an agent, as herein required, and in any way compensates or promises to compensate such person from whom he receives such application shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $100, or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Nothing in this chapter shall be considered as prohibiting the authorized agent of any company, duly licensed to transact such business in this state, from exchanging business with the authorized agent of any other company licensed to transact the same character of business in this state.

Provided, That the provisions of this chapter shall not apply to reciprocal or interinsurance associations or organizations.

Agents of Life Insurance Companies.

§ 5014. Life insurance agents: Notice of appointment: License. Upon written notice by a life insurance company or association authorized to transact business in this state of its appointment of a person to act as its agent herein, and certificate, verified by an executive officer or managing agent thereof, that such company or association has duly investigated the character and record of such person, and satisfied itself that he is trustworthy to act as its agent and intends to hold himself out in good faith as a life insurance agent, the department of commerce and industry shall, if it is satisfied that the appointee is a trustworthy person, issue to him a license which shall state, in substance, that the company is authorized to do business in this state, and that the person named therein is a constituted agent of the company in this state for the transaction of such business. Such notice and certificate shall be upon forms furnished by the department of commerce and industry.

§ 5015. Same: Applicant's statement. The notice and certificate provided for in the preceding section shall be accompanied by a statement by the person to be licensed as such agent, upon blanks to be furnished by the department of commerce and industry, and such statement shall set forth the name in full, age, present residence, present occupation, and residence and occupation of such person for two years next preceding the date of such notice, also whether such person is married or single, and if married, the place of residence of his family; whether such person has previously been engaged as an agent writing or soliciting life insurance, and if so, for what company or companies, giving in detail such service for three years previous to the date of such notice, also what portion of his time he intends to devote to the writing of life insurance; whether he has ever been denied a license by any insurance commissioner, or his license been revoked, and the details in regard thereto; whether or not he is indebted to any insurance company for which he has worked, and if so, the amount of such indebtedness, and all the circumstances connected therewith, and whether or not he has arranged or secured the payment of the same. The department of commerce and industry may require such further information as it may desire tending to show the qualification and character of such applicant and his fitness to be licensed as an agent to sell and solicit for the sale of life insurance. If the department of commerce and industry is satisfied after such investigation that the applicant is a proper person to be licensed, it shall grant such license, and it may in its discretion refuse the same.

§ 5019. Life insurance agent's authority. An agent licensed on request of any such life insurance company or association may place excess or rejected risks in any other company doing business in this state by and with the knowledge and approval of his own company or association, without additional or separate license. Unless revoked by the department or unless the company by written notice to the department cancels the agent's authority to act for it, such license or any other license issued to an agent or any renewal thereof shall expire on the 31st day of March next after its issue. But any license issued may, in the discretion of the department, be renewed for a succeeding year or years by a renewal certificate without requiring the detailed information required by this chapter. While such license remains in force a company shall be bound by the acts of the persons named therein within his apparent authority as its acknowledged agent.

Miscellaneous Penal Provisions.

§ 5020. Prohibiting publicity of unauthorized statements. No insurance company, or agent thereof, doing business in this state, shall anywhere publish, represent or advertise assets except those actually owned and possessed by it in its own exclusive right, available for the payment of losses and claims, and held for the protection of its policy holders and creditors. ['13, c. 185, § 5, p. 596.]

Hist. '13, c. 185, § 5, p. 596, reen. C. L. 220:115.

§ 5021. Advertisement to show actual paid up capital and surplus. Every advertisement or public announcement, and every sign, circular or card issued by any insurance company doing business in this state purporting to show its financial condition, shall correspond with or include its last verified statement made to the department of commerce and industry.

Hist. '13, c. 185, part of § 6, p. 596, reen. C. L. 220:116; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5022. Penalty for false advertising. For violation of either of the two preceding sections by a company it shall forfeit, for the first offense, to the people of the state, the sum of $250, and for every subsequent offense the sum of $500, which sums may be recovered by an action prosecuted by the department of commerce and industry, the attorney general representing it, and which sums when recovered shall be paid to the state treasurer and credited to the general fund.

Hist. '13, c. 185, latter part of § 6, p. 596, ren. C. L. 220:117; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5023. Misrepresentation. No insurance company, association or society, or any officer, director, agent, broker or solicitor thereof, or any other person, shall issue, circulate or use, or cause or permit to be issued circulated or used, any written or oral statement or circular misrepresenting the terms of any policy issued or to be issued by such company, or misrepresent the benefits or privileges promised under any such policy, or the dividend or share of the surplus to be received thereon. ['13, c. 97, part of § 20, p. 405.]

Hist. '13, c. 97, part of § 20, p. 405, reen. C. L. 220:118.

§ 5024. Twisting. No insurance company, association or society, officer, director, agent, broker or solicitor thereof, or any person, firm, association or corporation, shall make any misrepresentation or incomplete comparison of policies, oral, written or otherwise, to any person insured in any company, for the purpose of inducing or tending to induce such person to take out a policy of insurance, or for the purpose of inducing or tending to induce a policy holder in any company to lapse, forfeit or surrender his insurance therein, and take out a policy of insurance in another like company. ['13, c. 97, part of § 20, p. 405.]

Hist. '13, c. 97, part of § 20, p. 405, reen. C. L. 220:119.

§ 5025. Penalty for misrepresentation and twisting. Any insurance company, association or society, agent, broker or solicitor, or any person, firm, association or corporation, violating the provisions of the two preceding sections, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $100, or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, for each such violation.

The department of commerce and industry shall have authority, in its discretion, to revoke the license theretofore issued to any company, association, society, agent or broker, convicted of a violation of the provisions of the two preceding sections.

§ 5026. Rebating prohibited. No insurance company, association or society, by itself or any other party, and no insurance agent, solicitor or broker, personally or by any other party, shall offer, promise, allow, give, set off or pay directly or indirectly, as inducement to insurance or in connection therewith, on any risk in this state, now or hereafter to be written, any rebate of or part of the premium payable on the policy or on any policy or of the agent's commission thereon; nor shall any such company, association or society, agent, collector or broker, personally or otherwise, offer, promise, allow, give, set off or pay, directly or indirectly, as inducement to such insurance, or in connection therewith, any earnings, profit, dividends or other benefit, founded, arising, accruing or to accrue on such insurance or therefrom, or any other valuable consideration as inducement to insurance or in connection therewith, which is not specified, promised or provided for in the policy contract of insurance; nor shall any such company, association or society, agent, collector or broker, personally or otherwise, offer, promise, give, sell or purchase, as inducement to insurance or in connection therewith, any stocks, bonds, securities or property, or any dividends or profits accruing or to accrue thereon, nor except as specified in the policy contract, offer, promise, or give any other thing of value whatsoever, as an inducement to insurance.

No insured person, firm or corporation shall knowingly receive or accept, directly or indirectly, any rebate or premium or part thereof, or agent, solicitor or broker's commission thereon, payable on the policy, or on any policy of insurance or any special favor or advantage in the dividend or other benefit to accrue thereon; nor shall any such person, firm or corporation receive anything of value as an inducement to insurance or in connection therewith, which is not specified, promised or provided for in the policy contract of insurance.

Any company, association, society, officer, solicitor, agent, broker or other person who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of $100 for each and every violation, or to imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not less than 90 days nor more than six months, or both such fine and imprisonment.

Any employee of any person, firm or corporation who shall receive, directly or indirectly, any rebate of premium or part thereof payable on a policy of insurance issued to the person, firm or individual by whom he is employed, or who receives any part of any agent's commission payable on the policy issued to such person, firm or corporation, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine not exceeding $100, or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 30 days, or both such fine and imprisonment, for each and every such offense.

Nothing in this section shall be so construed as to prohibit any company issuing nonparticipating life insurance from paying bonuses to policy holders or otherwise abating their premiums in whole or in part out of the surplus accumulated from nonparticipating insurance; nor to prohibit any company transacting industrial insurance on the weekly payment plan from returning to policyholders who have made premium payments for a period of at least one year directly to the company at its home or district offices, a percentage of the premiums which the company would have paid for the weekly collection of such premiums; nor to prohibit any life insurance company, doing business in this state, from issuing policies of life or endowment insurances with or without annuities, at rates less than the usual rates of premiums for such policies, insuring members of labor organizations, lodges, beneficial societies or similar organizations, or employees of any employer who, through their secretary or employer may take out insurance in an aggregate of not less than 50 members and pay their premiums through such secretary or employer.

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 38, p. 746; am. '13, c. 97, § 19, p. 403, reen. C. L. 220:121; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5027. Testimony on violation of preceding sections: Immunity. No person shall be excused from testifying or from producing any books, papers, contracts, agreements or documents at the trial or hearing of any person, company or association, charged with violating any provisions of sections 5023 to 5026, on the ground that such testimony or evidence may tend to incriminate himself, but no person shall be prosecuted for any act concerning which he shall be compelled so to testify, or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, except for perjury committed in so testifying. ['13, c. 97, § 21, p. 406.]

Hist. '13, c. 97, § 21, p. 406, reen. C. L. 220:122.

§ 5028. Agent to report exact consideration: Penalty. Every agent or other representative of any insurance company issuing a policy on its own behalf in this state, shall report to the company the exact consideration charged and written in the policy, as a premium for the risk assumed. Any officer, manager, agent, solicitor or other representative of any insurance company violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. ['13, c. 185, § 11, p. 597.]

Hist. '13, c. 185, § 11, p. 597, reen. C. L. 220:123.

§ 5029. Penalty for burning or destroying insured property. Any person who wilfully burns or in any other manner injures or destroys any property which is at the time insured against loss or damage by fire or by any other casualty, with intent to defraud or prejudice the insurer, or for personal gain, whether the same be the property of, or in possession of, such person or any other, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one year nor more than 10 years. ['11, c. 228, § 35, p. 745.]

Hist. (See Cr. and P. '64, § 58) R. S. § 7009, reen. R. C. ib.; am. '11, c. 228, § 35, p. 745, reen. C. L. 220:124. See § 8395.

§ 5030. Penalty for false proofs of loss. Any person who, knowing it to be such, presents, or causes to be presented, a false or fraudulent claim, or any proof in support of such a claim, for the payment of a loss upon a contract of insurance, or who prepares, makes or subscribes false or fraudulent account, certificate, affidavit or proof of loss, or other document or writing, with intent that the same be presented or used in support of such a claim, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. ['13, c. 185, § 8, p. 597.]

Intent: Under this section an essential element of the offense of swearing falsely to a proof of loss on an insurance policy is the intent to defraud, and unless such intent is shown, the fact that the insured incorrectly stated in the proof of loss his interest in the property destroyed is no defense in an action on a policy which by its conditions is to be void in case of any fraud or false swearing by the insured. Carroll v. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. (1916) 28 I. 466, 154 P. 985.

§ 5031. Policy fee forbidden unless stated in policy: Penalty. It shall be unlawful for any insurance company or for any officer, manager, agent or other representative of any such company, to include in the sum charged or designated in any policy as the consideration for insurance, any fee, compensation, charge or perquisite whatsoever, not specified in the policy. When collected, the same shall be reported as premium. Any insurance company violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [C. L. 220:126.]

Hist. '13, c. 185, § 10, p. 597; compiled and reen. C. L. 220:126.

General Provisions Relating to Policies.

§ 5032. Policies not conforming to standards. No company or agent shall issue or deliver in this state any policy which conflicts with any provision of this chapter. A policy issued in violation of this chapter shall be held valid and shall be construed as provided in this chapter, and when any provision in a policy is in conflict with any provision of this chapter, the rights, duties and obligations of the company and policy holder and the beneficiary shall be governed by the provisions of this chapter. ['11, c. 228, § 46, subd. 4, p. 753.]

Standard form not exclusive: The contractual rights of parties are in no way abridged by a law prescribing a standard form of policy. Carroll v. Hartford F. Ins. Co. (1916) 28 I. 466, 154 P. 985.

§ 5033. Return of unearned premiums. In the event of the total destruction of any insured property, on which the total amount or agreed loss shall be less than the total amount insured thereon, the insuring company or companies shall return to the insured the unearned insurance premium for the excess of the insurance over the appraised or agreed loss, to be paid at the same time and in the same manner as the loss shall be paid. ['11, c. 228, § 56, p. 756.]

§ 5034. Mutual companies: Policy must state ownership of profits. Every domestic insurance company incorporated upon the mutual plan shall state clearly in its policies or certificates that the accumulations of profits over and above all proper liabilities shall be the sole property of the members or policy holders in good standing, and that the same shall be distributed in a just and equitable manner, in case such companies are reinsured or cease to do business. ['11, c. 228, § 67, p. 760.]

ARTICLE 5.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO LIFE, ACCIDENT AND HEALTH INSURANCE

§ 5035. Life insurance company: Statement. Every company, corporation or society transacting the business of life insurance within the state of Idaho shall publish or cause to be published soon after the 1st of January and prior to the 1st of April, in some paper published in the capital, a statement showing the exact condition of its affairs on the last day of the month of December preceding. ['11, c. 228, § 29, p. 744.]

Hist. R. C. § 2866; am. '11, c. 228, § 29, p. 744, reen. C. L. 220:130.

§ 5036. Discrimination prohibited: Immunity for testifying: Penalty. No life insurance corporation doing business in this state shall make or permit any discrimination between individuals of the same class and of equal expectancy of life, in the amount of payment or return of premiums or rates charged for policy of insurance, or in the dividends or other benefits payable thereon, or in any of the terms and conditions of the policy; nor shall any such company permit an agent thereof to offer or make any contract of insurance or agreement as to such contract other than is plainly expressed in the policy issued thereon; nor shall any such company or any officer, agent, solicitor or representative thereof pay, allow or give, or offer to pay, allow or give, directly or indirectly, as an inducement to any person to insure, or give, sell or purchase, or offer to give, sell or purchase as such inducement or in connection with such insurance, any stock, bonds or other securities of any insurance company or other corporation, association or partnership, or any dividends or profits accruing thereon, or any valuable consideration or inducement whatsoever not specified in the policy; nor shall any person knowingly receive as such inducement, any rebate of premium, or any special favor or advantage in the dividends or other benefits accruing thereon, or any paid employment or contract for services of any kind or any valuable consideration or inducement whatever, not specified in policy.

No person shall be excused from attending and testifying and producing any books, papers or other documents before any court or magistrate upon any violation, proceeding or trial for a violation of any of the provisions of this section, upon the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to convict him of a crime or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture, but no person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction made, or thing confirming which he may so testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, and no testimony so given or produced shall be received against him upon any claim, investigation or proceeding.

Any violation of the provisions of this section shall constitute a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall subject the party offending to the payment of a fine of not more than $300, or to imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding six months, or to both such fine and imprisonment, and if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the department of commerce and industry that any corporation is issuing policies or making contracts that are in violation of this section, the department shall revoke the authority of such corporation to do business in this state.

§ 5037. Life and endowment policies: Standard provisions. No policy of life or endowment insurance other than industrial insurance, annuity and pure endowments with or without return premium, shall be issued or delivered in this state until a copy of the form thereof has been filed at least 30 days with the department of commerce and industry, unless before the expiration of said 30 days the department shall have approved the same in writing; nor if the department of commerce and industry notifies the company in writing that in the opinion of the department the form of said policy does not comply with the laws of this state, specifying the reasons for its opinion: Provided, That upon petition of the company the opinion of the department of commerce and industry shall be subject to review by any court of competent jurisdiction.

Nor shall any such policy be so issued or delivered unless it contains, in substance, the following provisions:

1. That the insured is entitled to a grace of either one month, or 31 days, within which the payment of any premium after the first year may be made, during which period of grace the policy shall continue in force; the company may impose an interest charge not in excess of 6 per cent per annum for the number of days of grace elapsing before the payment of the premium, and in case the policy becomes a claim during the said period of grace, the amount of such premiums, with interest and any deferred instalments of the annual premium, may be deducted from the face of the policy in settlement.

2. That the policy, so far as it relates to life or endowment insurance, shall be incontestable after two years from its date of issue, except for nonpayment of premiums, and except for violation of the conditions of the policy relating to military or naval service in time of war.

3. That the policy and the application therefor shall constitute the entire contract between the parties thereto, and that all statements made by the insured, in the absence of fraud, shall be deemed representations and not warranties; and that no statement shall be used to void the policy unless it is contained in the written application, a copy of which shall be indorsed upon or attached to the policy when issued.

4. That if the age of the insured has been misstated, the amount payable under the policy shall be such as the premium would have purchased at the correct age.

5. That the policy shall participate in the surplus of the company, annually.

6. Specifying an automatic nonforfeiture provision, which must be either a loan, a paid up policy, or an extended term, to which the policy holder is entitled in the event of default in a premium payment after three full annual premiums shall have been paid.

7. That not later than the third anniversary of the policy the holder of the policy, upon a proper assignment thereof to the company, shall be entitled to borrow of the company on the sole security of the policy, an amount not to exceed the cash surrender value thereof; any indebtedness to the company and interest in advance at an annual rate, not exceeding 6 per cent, may be deducted from the amount of the loan. Said provision shall include such other conditions as, in conformity to the laws of the state of Idaho, the company will impose when the application for the loan is made.

8. Tables showing in figures the cash, paid up and extended insurance options available under the policy each year upon default in premium payments, during the first 20 years of the policy, or for its life if maturity is less than 20 years. The value of these options shall be equivalents based on the reserves, according to the table of mortality and rate of interest assumed, which shall be named in the policy, less a specified surrender charge, not exceeding 2½ per cent of the amount of the insurance.

9. That the proceeds of the policy may be paid in instalments, and a table showing the amounts of the instalments shall be made a part of the policy.

10. That the holder of a policy shall be entitled to have the policy reinstated at any time within three years from the date of any default in payment of premiums, unless the cash value has been paid, or the extension period expired, upon the production of evidence of insurability satisfactory to the company and the payment of all overdue premiums and any other indebtedness to the company upon said policy, with interest at a rate not exceeding 6 per cent per annum.

11. That when the first year is on preliminary term basis, the policy must so state, and the policy may also provide that the company shall have the right to defer payment of the cash value or the making of the loan (unless for the purpose of paying renewal premiums on policies in such company) for a period not exceeding 90 days.

Any of the foregoing provisions or portions thereof not applicable to industrial insurance policies or to single premium or nonparticipating or term policies need not to that extent be incorporated therein, and any such policy may be issued or delivered in this state which, in the opinion of the department, contains provisions on any one or more of the several foregoing requirements more favorable to the policy holder than hereinbefore required. The provisions of this section shall not apply to policies of reinsurance.

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 42, p. 748; am. '13, c. 97, § 22, p. 406; am. '15, c. 171, § 1, p. 392, reen. C. L. 220:132; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

Contestability (Subd. 2): By this section contestability is limited to two years, but the statute does not prohibit the parties from contracting that the period of contestability shall be less than two years nor from agreeing that policy shall not be contestable after its delivery. (Morgan, J. dissents) Duvall v. Nat. Ins. Co. (1916) 28 I. 356, 154 P. 632, Ann. Cas. 1917E 1112.

Any defense on account of fraudulent warranties in an application for insurance is precluded under a clause making the policy incontestable from date. (Morgan, J. dissents) Ib.

Constitutionality: Subds. 1, 7 and 10 of this section do not violate the provisions of the constitution of this state or of the United States, in that such provisions permit the taking of property without due process of law. Continental etc. Co. v. Hattabaugh (1912) 21 I. 285, 121 P. 81.

There is no provision in the state or federal constitution which in any way limits the power of the legislature in making a classification of persons or corporations writing insurance within the state of Idaho, and placing in a separate class those persons or corporations who loan money upon policies written, and limit the charge to be made for the use of such loans to 5 per cent. Ib.

Provisions regulating interest: Subds. 1, 7 and 10 of this section which regulate and fix the rate of interest to be charged by life insurance companies doing business within the state, upon loans of money upon the policy and forbearances in the collection of dues upon the policy, are provisions which are required to be made a part of the policy of life insurance, and are not independent conditions or agreements. Continental etc. Co. v. Hattabaugh, supra.

Tables showing insurance options: The requirement of subd. 8 that a life insurance policy shall contain as a part of the policy a table, etc., is not an unfair or unreasonable requirement, and may be enforced by the insurance commissioner. Continental etc. Co. v. Hattabaugh, supra.

Contract: Under this section the application and the policy constitute the contract of insurance. Riordan v. Equitable Life Ins. Soc. 31 I. 657, 175 P. 586.

§ 5038. Same: Prohibited provisions. No policy of life or endowment insurance shall be issued or delivered in this state, or be issued by a life insurance company organized under the laws of this state, if it contain any of the following provisions:

1. A provision limiting the time within which any action at law or in equity may be commenced to less than three years after the cause of action shall accrue.

2. A provision by which the policy shall purport to be issued or to take effect more than six months before the original application for the insurance was made: Provided, That no policy shall be dated back so as to make the applicant of a lower insurable age.

3. A provision by which the settlement at the maturity of any policy after the expiration of the contestable period thereof, shall be of less value than the amount insured on the face of the policy plus dividend additions, if any, less any indebtedness to the company on or secured by the policy and less any premium that may, by the terms of the policy, be deducted. This paragraph shall not apply to substandard policies, nor to any nonforfeiture provision which employs the cash value less indebtedness, if any, to purchase automatic paid up or extended insurance.

4. A provision for forfeiture of the policy for failure to repay any loan on the policy, or to pay interest on such loan, while the total indebtedness on the policy is less than the loan value thereof. ['13, c. 97, part of § 23, p. 408.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 43, p. 749; am. '13, c. 97, part of § 23, p. 408, reen. C. L. 220:133.

§ 5039. Life insurance policies of foreign companies. The policies of a life insurance company, not organized under the laws of this state, may contain any provision which the law of the state, territory, district or country under which the company is organized prescribes shall be in such policies when issued in this state, and the policies of a life insurance company organized under the laws of this state may, when issued or delivered in any other state, territory, district or country contain any provisions required by the laws of the state, territory, district or country in which the same are issued, anything in this chapter to the contrary notwithstanding. ['13, c. 97, part of § 23, p. 409.]

Hist. '13, c. 97, part of § 23, p. 409, reen. C. L. 220:134.

§ 5040. Participating and nonparticipating bases. No life insurance company operated on the mutual plan shall be permitted to transact the business of life insurance in the state of Idaho unless it shall confine its business to policies written on a participating basis: Provided, That all term and paid up policies may be issued on a nonparticipating basis.

All joint stock life insurance companies authorized to transact business in the state of Idaho may be permitted to operate on both a participating and nonparticipating basis. [C. L. 220:135.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 44, p. 750; am. '13, c. 97, § 24, p. 409; am. 15, c. 171, § 2, p. 394; compiled and reen. C. L. 220:135.

§ 5041. Same: Method of accounting. No life insurance company doing business upon both the participating and nonparticipating basis shall be permitted to operate in the state of Idaho unless such company shall maintain a system of accounting in its business which segregates its participating from its nonparticipating business and which system shall clearly show the profits and losses upon each class of business mentioned, and the annual reports filed each year with the department of commerce and industry by all such companies shall clearly disclose such information.

Hist. '17, c. 123, § 1, p. 410; compiled and reen. C. L. 220:136; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5042. Health and accident policies: Standard provisions. No policy of insurance against loss or damage from disease or by bodily injury by accident, or both, of the assured shall be issued or delivered in this state:

1. Until a copy of the form thereof and the table of rates or manual of risks of the company has been filed at least 30 days with the department of commerce and industry, unless, before the expiration of said 30 days, the department shall have approved the same in writing.

2. Nor if the department of commerce and industry notifies the company in writing that, in the opinion of the department, the form of said policy does not comply with the laws of this state, specifying the reasons for its opinion: Provided, That upon the petition of the company the opinion of the department of commerce and industry shall be subject to review by any court of competent jurisdiction.

3. Nor shall such policy be so issued or delivered unless every portion is plainly printed in type not smaller than long primer or 10-point type.

4. Nor unless there is printed on the first page thereof and on its filing back, in type not smaller than 18-point or great primer, a brief description of the policy.

5. Nor unless the exceptions be printed with the same prominence as the benefits to which such exceptions apply.

6. Nor unless it contains in substance the following provisions:

a. A provision that such policy, with a copy of the application therefor, if any, and of such other papers as may be attached to or indorsed thereon shall constitute the entire contract of insurance, except as the same may be affected by any table of rates or classification of risks filed by the company with the department of commerce and industry.

b. A provision that no statement made by the applicant for insurance, which statement is not incorporated in or indorsed on the policy issued to such applicant, shall avoid the policy or be used in evidence, and no provision of the charter, constitution or by-laws shall be used in defense of any claims arising under any such policy unless such provisions are incorporated in full in the policy, but this requirement shall not be deemed to apply to the table of rates or manual of classification of risks of any company filed with the department of commerce and industry prior to the date of the occurrence of the injury or commencement of the sickness for which indemnity is claimed.

c. A provision that specifies the time within which notice of accident or disability shall be given which time shall be not less than 20 days from the date of the accident, nor less than 10 days from the date of the beginning of disability from sickness upon which claim is based: Provided, however, In case of accidental death, immediate notice thereof may be required, unless the notices herein specified may be shown not to have been reasonably possible.

d. A provision that notice of a claim for indemnity shall be deemed sufficient when given to the office or agent of the company specified in the policy.

e. A provision that under every such policy, if a past due premium shall be accepted by the company or by a branch office or by an authorized agent of the company in the city, town or county in which the insured shall reside, or by the duly authorized agent of the company who accepted the last premium on the policy, such acceptance shall reinstate the policy in full as to disability resulting from accidental bodily injuries thereafter sustained, but shall only reinstate the policy as to disability from disease beginning more than 10 days after the date of such acceptance.

f. A provision that if the insured is injured or contracts disease after having changed his occupation to one classified by the company as more hazardous than that stated in the policy, or while he is doing any act or thing pertaining to any occupation so classified (except ordinary duties about his residence or while engaged in recreation), the company shall pay such proportion of the indemnities provided in the policy as the premium paid would have purchased at the rate, but within the limits fixed by the company for such hazardous occupation according to the company's rates and classification of risks filed with the department of commerce and industry in this state prior to the occurrence of the injury or the commencement of the disease for which indemnity is claimed.

g. A provision that the company will pay the benefits promised within 60 days of the receipt by it of due proofs of death or disability.

h. A provision that the policy may be cancelled at any time by the company by written notice delivered to the insured or mailed to him at his last address as shown by the records of the company and the tender of the company's check for the unearned portion of the premium, but that such cancellation shall be without prejudice to any claim arising on account of disability commencing prior to the date on which the cancellation takes effect.

i. A provision that no such policy shall limit the time within which proofs of claim shall be furnished to the company to a period less than 90 days from the date of death, dismemberment or loss of sight or from the termination of any other disability.

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 45, p. 750; compiled and reen. C. L. 220:137; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5043. Health and accident policies: Prohibited provisions. No such policy insuring against accidental bodily injuries or disease or death shall be issued or delivered in this state if it contains in substance, any of the following provisions:

1. A provision limiting the time within which an action at law or in equity may be commenced to less than one year from the date when the final proof of claim is filed with the company.

2. A provision that no such policy shall authorize the deduction of any premium or assessment from any indemnity payable under the terms of the policy, except such premium or assessment as may be due or covered by written order or note at the time of payment of the indemnity. ['11, c. 228, first part of § 46, p. 752.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, first part of § 46, p. 752, reen. C. L. 220:138.

§ 5044. Health and accident policies of foreign companies. The policies of insurance against accidental injury or disease of a company not organized under the laws of this state may contain any provision which the law of the state, territory or district of the United States under which the company is organized prescribes shall be in such policies when issued in this state; and the policies of insurance against accidental injury or disease of a company organized under the laws of this state may, when issued or delivered in any other state, territory, district or country, contain any provisions required by the laws of the state, territory, district or country in which the same are issued, anything in this chapter to the contrary notwithstanding. ['11, c. 228, § 46, subd. 5, p. 753.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 46, subd. 5, p. 753, reen. C. L. 220:139.

§ 5045. Penalty for violation. Any company, corporation or association to which this chapter applies, or any officer thereof, which issues or delivers in this state, or to any citizen thereof, any accident or health policy or contract in wilful violation of the provisions of this chapter, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each offense, and the department of commerce and industry may revoke the license of any foreign company or agent thereof which violates any provision of this chapter.

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 46, subd. 7, p. 753, reen. C. L. 220:140; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5046. Group insurance policies. The provisions of this chapter relating to the form of health and accident policies shall not apply to or affect any general or blanket policy of insurance issued to any municipal corporation or department thereof, or to any corporation, copartnership, association or individual employer, police or fire department, underwriters corps, salvage bureau, or life associations or organizations, where the officers, members or employees or classes or departments thereof are insured against specified accidental bodily injuries or diseases while exposed to the hazards of the occupation or otherwise, for a premium intended to cover the risks of all the persons insured under such policy. [C. L. 220:141.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 46, part of subd. 6, p. 753; compiled and reen. C. L. 220:141.

§ 5047. Life insurance policies with accident and health provisions. The provisions of this act prescribing the form of health and accident policies shall not apply to or affect contracts of life insurance or contracts supplemental thereto which shall contain provisions intended to safeguard such life insurance against lapse, or that shall provide a special surrender value therefor in the event that the insured thereunder shall, by reason of accidental bodily injury or disease, be unable to continue the premium payments thereon. [C. L. 220:142.]

§ 5048. Valuation of life policies. All valuations of the policies of life insurance companies shall be made by the department of commerce and industry according to the standard of valuation adopted by the company: Provided, That the minimum standard of valuation for all policies issued in this state on and after the 1st day of January, 1914, shall be the American experience table of mortality, and interest at 3½ per cent per annum, and that not more than one year shall be used as a preliminary term. The department may make extra charges in particular cases of invalid lives and other extra hazards; may value policies in groups; may use approximate averages for fractions of a year, and may at its option assume as accurate the valuations of the department of insurance of any other state; and shall value policies other than ordinary and 20 payment life, according to the modified preliminary term, with 20 payment life policies as a basis for such valuation.

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 49, p. 755; am. '13, c. 97, § 25, p. 410; am. C. L. 220:143; am. '19, c. 46, § 1, p. 146; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

Hist. '13, c. 185, § 12, p. 598, reen. C. L. 220:144.

§ 5050. False statement in application for insurance. Any solicitor, agent, examining physician, or other person, who knowingly and wilfully makes a false or fraudulent statement or representation in or relative to an application for life, accident or health insurance, or who makes any such statement for the purpose of obtaining a fee, commission, money or benefit in a company, transacting such business under the provisions of this chapter, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. ['13, c. 185, § 7, p. 596.]

§ 5051. Assessment policies must be so stamped. Every policy or certificate issued to a resident of the state of Idaho by any corporation transacting business of life or casualty upon the assessment plan therein or admitted into this state under the laws of Idaho, shall print in bold type in red ink on every policy or certificate issued upon the life or lives of property of the citizens of Idaho, making one of the principal lines next to the top thereof the words "Issued upon the assessment plan," and the words "Assessment plan" shall be conspicuously printed in red ink in and upon every application, circular, card, advertisement and other printed document issued, circulated or caused to be circulated by such corporation within this state. ['11, c. 228, § 59, p. 758.]

§ 5052. Valuation of assessment life insurance policies. It shall not be lawful for any association transacting business on the assessment plan to issue policies upon the natural premium or stipulated premium plan at a lower rate than the net premium computed on a basis of the terms of the policy, and the American experience table of mortality and 4½ per cent interest. And said companies or associations must at all times maintain a reserve on said basis. ['11, c. 228, § 60, p. 758.]

ARTICLE 6.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO FIRE INSURANCE.

§ 5053. Fire insurance policy standard form. No fire insurance company, except county mutuals, shall issue any fire insurance policy covering on property or interest therein in this state, other than on the form known as the New York standard, as now or may be hereafter constituted, except as follows:

1. A company may print on or in its policy its name, location and date of incorporation, plan of operation, whether stock or mutual, and if mutual whether on cash premium or assessment plan; and if it be a stock company, the amount of its paid up capital stock, the names of its officers and agents, the number and date of the policy, and, if it is issued by an agent, the words, "This policy shall not be valid until countersigned by the duly authorized agent of the company at....."; and, if a mutual company, must state the contingent mutual liability of its policy holders or members for payment of losses and expenses not provided for by its cash funds until it shall have accumulated surplus assets of not less than $50,000, which it must maintain in securities deposited with the properly qualified officer of some state of the United States for the protection of all the policy holders of the company, and, while it maintains such surplus assets on deposit, it may issue its policies with the statement thereon that the liability of the policy holder is limited to the premium paid, as provided in sections 5088, 5089, 5091.

2. A company may print or use in its policies printed forms of description and specifications of the property insured.

3. A company insuring against damage by lightning may print in the clause enumerating the perils insured against the additional words, "also any damage by lightning whether fire ensues or not," and in the clause providing for an apportionment of loss in case of other insurance the words, "whether by fire, lightning or both."

4. A domestic company may print in its policies any provisions which it is authorized or required by the law to insert therein, and any foreign company may, with the approval of the department of commerce and industry, so print any provision required by its charter or deed of settlement, or by the laws of its own state or country, not contrary to the laws of this state; but the department shall require any provision which, in its opinion modifies the contract of insurance in such a way as to affect the question of loss to be appended to the policy by an indorsement or rider as hereinafter provided.

5. The blanks in said standard form may be filled in in print or in writing.

6. A company may print upon policies issued in compliance with the preceding provisions of this section the words "Idaho standard policy."

7. A company may write upon the margin or across the face of the policy, or write or print in type not smaller than nonpareil upon a slip. slips, rider or riders to be attached thereto, provisions adding to or relating to those contained in the standard form; and all such slips, riders, indorsements and provisions must be signed by the officers or agents of the company so using them.

8. If the policy be made by a mutual or other company having special regulations lawfully applicable to its organization, membership, policies or contracts of insurance such regulation shall apply to and form a part of the policy as the same may be written or printed upon, attached or appended thereto.

9. Every policy shall have legibly inscribed upon its face and filing back suitable words to designate whether the company making such insurance be a stock or mutual company.

The word "noon" occurring in the policy shall be construed to be the noon of standard time of the place where the property covered by the policy is situated.

Hist. '13, c. 185, § 13 p. 598; compiled and reen. C. L. 220:148; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

Cross ref. Standard form not exclusive: § 5032.

Construed: This unique section was not intended by the legislature to abridge any contractual rights which an applicant for fire insurance would have had prior to its enactment, or to confer upon insurance companies any immunity for the negligence of their agents in incorrectly reducing an insurance contract to writing. Carroll v. Hartford F. Ins. Co. (1916) 28 I. 466, 154 P. 985.

Right of recovery on a fire insurance policy cannot be defeated by the insertion of a condition voiding it, if the interest of the insured be other than unconditional and sole ownership, where the agent of the insurer had knowledge that the insured applied for a policy on his interest as a mortgagee. Ib.

Judicial criticism: The adoption by reference merely of the law of another state, as in the case of the reference herein to "New York standard" as now or may be hereafter constituted is anomalous. Carroll v. Hartford F. Ins. Co. supra.

Time of instituting action: A failure to submit proof of loss within the time specified in a standard fire insurance policy is not fatal to an action on the policy. Southern Idaho Conference etc. v. Hartford F. Ins. Co. (1917) 31 I. 130, 169 P. 616.

§ 5054. Registration of title by fire insurance company. Every fire insurance company licensed to transact business in this state shall file with the department of commerce and industry the title under which it proposes to write any fire insurance in this state, and such title shall be registered by the department, together with the name of the insurance company filing such title.

Such insurance company shall be entitled to issue policies of insurance for the one title so registered and no more: Provided, That any joint stock fire insurance company or companies may register one additional title and issue policies of fire insurance under such additional title upon the payment of an annual fee of $100. Upon such filing and payment of such fee such company or companies shall be authorized by the department of commerce and industry to issue policies under such additional title during the current insurance year and annually thereafter upon payment of such annual fee: Provided further, That where two or more duly authorized fire insurance companies, one of which companies is not issuing policies in this state under its own title, jointly desire to register an additional title, such additional title may be registered without the payment of the registry fee herein provided and license shall be issued without cost under such additional title during such time as one of the companies joining in registering such title is not transacting business under its own title in this state.

The agents of companies issuing policies under such additional title shall be licensed in the same manner as provided for agents for the parent company.

The business transacted by companies under such additional title shall be reported in the business of the parent company or companies and the taxes thereon paid by such company or companies.

Hist. '13, c. 185, § 14, p. 600; compiled and reen. C. L. 220:149; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5055. Unauthorized fire insurance. All persons, firms, companies or corporations, obtaining fire insurance upon property situated in this state, in companies not authorized to transact business in this state, shall file with the department of commerce and industry a statement or declaration under oath setting forth the name of the company and its location, the number of the policy, the amount of insurance, rate, premium and description of property insured in such unauthorized company, and shall be required to pay a tax thereon of 10 per cent of the premiums paid on such policies to the said department of commerce and industry; and shall pay a further fee to the department of $1 on each policy in such unauthorized company for making record of said statement or declaration, which record shall be kept for the information of the department of commerce and industry of this state.

If any person, firm, company or corporation obtaining fire insurance in such unauthorized company shall fail or neglect for 20 days after taking such insurance to file the report and to pay the taxes and fees herein provided to be paid to the department of commerce and industry, the department is hereby authorized to begin suit against such person, firm, company or corporation, in any court of competent jurisdiction, in its name as department of commerce and industry, for said taxes and fees, and in addition thereto shall recover from such person, firm, company or corporation in any such suit a penalty equal to the amount of said taxes so unpaid, plus the sum of $100. The attorney general of the state shall file and prosecute all such suits when requested so to do by the department of commerce and industry, and the moneys so recovered shall be paid to the state treasurer as other fees received by the department.

Hist. '13, c. 185, § 15, p. 600, reen. C. L. 220:150; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

Foreign contracts, unconstitutional: When applied to contracts of insurance made and to be performed outside of the state, covering property within the state, this section is unconstitutional, as depriving persons of liberty without due process of law. Hyatt v. Blackwell Lbr. Co. 31 I. 452, 173 P. 1083.

ARTICLE 7.

DOMESTIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES.

Note: The predecessor of this law was '03, p. 74, reen. R. C. §§ 2905-24. The former law was held valid on the theory that the legislature may enact a law relative to one class of insurance so long as it is general in its terms as to that particular class of business. Ida. Mutual etc. v. Myer (1904) 10 I. 294, 77 P. 628.

§ 5056. Organization. Twenty-five or more persons, citizens of this state, may form a corporation to carry on the business of fire insurance on the mutual plan; but no such corporation shall begin to do business until a guaranty fund of at least $25,000 has been provided and deposited in cash or in such securities as are permitted by law in case of stock companies with the department of commerce and industry, under the conditions named in this chapter, the same to be held as security for the payment of all losses and other policy liabilities of such companies.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 68, p. 760, reen. C. L. 220:151; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5057. Word "mutual" must appear in name. Every mutual fire insurance company shall embody the word "mutual" in its title, which shall appear upon the first page of every policy and renewal receipt in some suitable manner. ['11, c. 228, § 72, p. 763.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 72, p. 763, reen. C. L. 220:152.

§ 5058. Directors. Any company so incorporated shall thereupon have the power to elect directors by vote of incorporators, but the directors so elected shall serve but one year, when an election by the members shall be held. The number of such directors shall be not less than nine nor more than 15, and in all meetings of the members each shall have one vote and shall vote in person, by mail or by proxy, but no one person shall vote more than five proxies. ['11, c. 228, part of § 68, p. 760.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 68, p. 760, reen. C. L. 220:153.

§ 5059. Certificate of authority. When such company has paid the fees required by law, and fully complied with all other statutes, the department of commerce and industry shall furnish such company with a certificate of authority to do business in this state, and shall issue to such company, as provided for other insurance corporations, a certificate showing the amount and purpose of the guaranty fund deposit with the department.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 68, p. 761, reen. C. L. 220:154; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5060. Annual statement. It shall be the duty of the president and secretary to prepare annually, under oath, a full and complete statement of the conditions of the company on the 31st day of December preceding, said statement to be presented at the annual meeting of the company. A copy of said statement shall be filed in the office of the department of commerce and industry not later than the 1st day of February of each year.

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 75, p. 763, reen. C. L. 220:155; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5061. Fees. Domestic, mutual or assessment fire insurance companies shall pay to the department of commerce and industry the following fees:

For filing articles of incorporation	$10.00
For filing annual statement	10.00
For annual license	50.00
And for each agent's certificate of authority	3.00

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 83, p. 765, reen. C. L. 220:156; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5062. By-laws. The members of mutual fire insurance companies or the board of directors, as may be provided in the articles of incorporation, shall make such by-laws, not inconsistent with this chapter, as they may deem necessary for the management of said company. All amendments of the by-laws shall be furnished to the members in such manner and form as the by-laws shall provide. ['11, c. 228, § 74, p. 763.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 74, p. 763, reen. C. L. ?20:157.

§ 5063. Guaranty fund certificates of domestic mutual fire and casualty companies. Guaranty fund certificates may be issued to provide a guaranty fund for domestic fire insurance companies incorporated upon the mutual plan, and for domestic casualty insurance companies incorporated upon the mutual plan; such fund to be held as security for the payment of all losses and other policy liabilities of such companies. Guaranty fund certificates may draw interest or dividends not exceeding, in the aggregate, 8 per cent per annum, which shall only be paid from the profits of the company. Said certificates can only be retired or redeemed by using the profits of the company for that purpose, but the full fund as required of each kind of mutual company by this chapter must at all times be maintained. Such guaranty fund shall be a liability until redeemed or retired. It shall only be used to pay policy claims or liabilities when the contingent mutual liability of the policy holders has been drawn upon and found insufficient to meet the losses of policy claims, or when the directors from any cause fail to provide for the payment of policy claims. ['11, c. 228, part of § 86, p. 767.]

§ 5064. Same: Profits defined. The profits of a domestic mutual insurance company or association are that portion of its cash funds not required for the payment of losses and expenses not set apart for the unearned premium reserve, or any other purpose required by law. ['11, c. 228, part of § 86, p. 767.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 86, p. 767, reen. C. L. 220:159.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 68, p. 761, reen. C. L. 220:160.

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 73, p. 763, reen. C. L. 220:161.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 68, p. 761, reen. C. L. 220:162.

§ 5068. Liability of members: Assessments. Every person who effects insurance in a mutual fire insurance company and continues to be insured, and his heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, shall thereby become members of the company during the period of insurance; shall be bound to pay for losses and such necessary expenses as accrue in and to the company in proportion to the original amount of his deposit note or contingent liability.

The directors shall, as often as they deem necessary, settle and determine the sum to be paid by the several members thereof, and publish the same in such manner as they may choose, or as the by-laws prescribe, and the sum to be paid by each member shall always be in proportion to the original amount of such liability, and shall be paid to the officers of the company within 30 days next after the publication or mailing of such notice: Provided, That whenever such company is not possessed of cash funds above its reinsurance reserve sufficient for the payment of incurred losses and expenses, it shall be deemed as having impaired its capital, and shall make an assessment for the amount needed to pay such losses and expenses upon its members liable to assessment therefor in proportion to the several liabilities; and no such company shall borrow money or create a debt, unless for necessary operating expenses, to continue beyond the period when such assessment may be collected and applied to the payment thereof, and no member shall be assessed for liabilities incurred prior to his membership. ['11, c. 228, § 69, p. 761.]

§ 5069. Enforcement of assessments. If a member neglects or refuses, for a space of 30 days after the publication or mailing of notice of an assessment, and after demand for payment, to pay the sum assessed upon him as his proportion of any loss or expense as aforesaid, the corporation may sue for and recover the whole amount of contingent liability, with the cost of suit; but execution shall only issue for assessments and costs as they accrue, and every such execution shall be accompanied by a list of losses or expenses for which the assessment is made: And, Provided further, That no member of such company shall ever be required to pay for any expense or loss occasioned by fire more than the whole amount of his contingent liability. ['11, c. 228, part of § 70, p. 762.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 70, p. 762, reen. C. L. 220:164.

§ 5070. Same: Evidence of assessment. In actions for the recovery of assessments duly levied by the directors of any mutual fire insurance company of this state, or for money due on the liability of the members of any such company, the official statement of the president or secretary of such company, under seal and sworn to, shall be received in court as evidence of the facts essential for making the same, and that such assessment, for the nonpayment of which any such action is commenced, has been duly levied and notice thereof given. ['11, c. 228, § 71, p. 762.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 71, p. 762, reen. C. L. 220:165.

§ 5071. Withdrawal of members: Termination of liability. Any member of such company may withdraw therefrom at any time by giving the company notice thereof in writing and paying his or her share of claims or liabilities for losses or expenses then existing against the company, surrendering his or her policy and paying such cancellation fee as may be provided by the board of directors, in which case his liability ceases; but no member, his or her heirs, executors, administrators or assigns can avoid liability to such company for their pro rata share of the unpaid claims against the company accruing when a member. ['11, c. 228, § 78, p. 763.]

§ 5072. Property of members only insurable. No mutual fire insurance company shall have the power to insure the property of others than members of the company. ['11, c. 228, part of § 68, p. 761.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 68, p. 761, reen. C. L. 220:167.

§ 5073. Limitations on amount of policies. Domestic mutual fire insurance companies shall not issue policies on any one risk or hazard to exceed $1000 until it has $300,000 of insurance in force, when policies of $2000 may be issued; or

Issue policies of more than $2000 on any one risk until there is $1,000,000 of insurance in force, at which time policies of $3000 may be issued; or

Issue policies for more than $3000 until there is $2,000,000 of insurance in force, when policies may be issued at the discretion of the company.

Provided, however, No real property shall be insured for more than three-fourths of its value. ['11, c. 228, § 77, p. 763.]

§ 5074. Cancellation of policies. Such company for good and sufficient reasons apparent to it, may cancel any policy by giving the member notice to that effect, and releasing him or her from further assessments, and thereupon such member shall send in his or her policy to the company. ['11, c. 228, § 79, p. 764.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 70, p. 762, reen. C. L. 220:171.

§ 5077. Losses collectible by action. Suits at law may brought against said company by a member or members thereof for losses sustained if payment is withheld after such losses are adjusted and become due. ['11, c. 228, § 80, p. 764.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 80, p. 764, reen. C. L. 220:172.

§ 5078. Reinsurance regulations. No domestic insurance company organized upon a mutual or the assessment plan shall transfer its risk to or reinsure them in any other corporation unless the said contract of transfer or reinsurance is first submitted to and approved by two-thirds vote of the membership, to be taken by person, mail or proxy at a meeting called for this purpose. Written or printed notice clearly describing the purpose of the meeting shall be mailed to each policy holder or indemnity certificate holder not less than 20 days nor more than 90 days before the day fixed for said meeting. A certified copy of such proposed contract of transfer or reinsurance shall be filed in the department of commerce and industry, and the call for such meeting shall be submitted to the department for its approval.

In case such transfer or reinsurance of the corporation is to result in any increase in the premium or rate of insurance of those already holding contracts, or in any reduction of the amount of insurance in lieu of such advance in premium, the fact shall be set forth in the call for a new meeting.

The meeting and the counting of votes shall be held and done under the supervision of the commissioner of the department for the purpose of seeing that the by-laws of the company and the laws of the state are fully observed. The commissioner shall, before the transfer is finally made, report upon the nature of the contract of reinsurance or transfer and as to the methods employed to secure the consent of its members or policy holders thereto, and also as to the disposition of any funds belonging to the members or policy holders of the company that is to be reinsured: Provided, The commissioner may, if, in his judgment, the law has been violated or members deprived of their rights or of their joint assets, apply to the district court for an injunction restraining such transfer or reinsurance.

§ 5079. Insolvent companies: Duty of department. If upon examination it shall appear to the department of commerce and industry that the condition of any mutual company incorporated or authorized to transact business under this chapter is not such as to justify it continuing in business, the department shall apply to the district court of the county where the principal office of such company is located for an order restraining such company from doing further business, and the court may appoint a receiver or issue such decrees and orders as may best serve the interests of the members or policy holders and of the public; the disbursement or distribution of the guaranty fund or assets of the company shall then be made under the direction of the court: Provided, however, That the guaranty fund shall first be used to pay policy claims or losses; the balance of the fund or funds remaining shall be used to pay creditors, if any, and the then remaining portion of the fund shall be used to redeem outstanding guaranty fund certificates, or if none are outstanding, it shall be distributed among the members of the company as the court may direct.

ARTICLE 8.

COUNTY MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES.

§ 5080. Organization: Farmers' lodges permitted to operate. Twenty-five or more persons, citizens of Idaho and owning insurable property in any county in this state, may form a county mutual fire insurance company in such county for the purpose of insuring each other and for the purpose of insuring church property and public halls that may be situated within the territory in which they do business against loss by fire, lightning, tornado, windstorm or hailstorm on property situated in the county in which the headquarters of the association are located and in not more than four other counties adjacent thereto: Provided, That the grange or similar association or organizations now operating upon the lodge or mutual cooperative plan may operate under this chapter in all or any counties of this state. ['17, c. 105, part of subd. 87, p. 382.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 87, p. 767, reen. '13, c. 31, p. 129; am. '17, c. 105, p. 382, reen. C. L. 220:175.

Membership: Under constitution school districts are prohibited from becoming members of a county mutual fire insurance company. It may be that a postponed contingent liability is not an indebtedness within meaning of constitution, but it is a liability which may become an indebtedness. Sch. Dist. No. 8 v. Twin Falls etc. Co. (1917) 30 I. 400, 164 P. 1174.

§ 5081. Name: Articles of incorporation. Such company shall adopt the name of county mutual fire insurance company preceded by some distinctive name, and the articles of incorporation shall state the name of the town or city in which the head office shall be located and of the counties in which it is proposed to do business. They shall also state the objects of the organization as being one or more of the objects set forth in this article, and to enforce any contract which may be by them entered into, by which those entering therein shall agree to be assessed specifically for incidental purposes and for the payment of losses which may occur to its members. The kinds of property proposed to be insured and the casualties specified in this article proposed to be insured against shall also be specified in the articles of incorporation. ['11, c. 228, part of § 87, p. 768.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 87, p. 768; substantially reen. '13, c. 31, p. 130; substantially reen. '17, c. 105, p. 382, reen. C. L. 220:176.

§ 5082. Directors: By-laws: Certificate of authority. After a certified copy of these articles is filed with the department of commerce and industry and approved by the attorney general, and the incorporators are advised that the same is approved, they may proceed to select directors and officers and to make their constitution and by-laws.

The directors selected by the incorporators shall not be less than nine nor more than 15 in number, and shall serve one year, when an election by the members shall be held and the term of no director thereafter shall be more than three years. Members shall have one vote each, and shall vote for directors in person or by proxy, or by mail, but no person shall vote more than five proxies.

Before granting any insurance such company shall file with the department of commerce and industry, in addition to a certified copy of the articles of incorporation approved by the attorney general, a copy of the constitution and by-laws and forms of certificates of members or of insurance, and if the department finds that the laws have been complied with, it shall issue a certificate of authority for such company to commence business.

§ 5083. Fees. Such companies shall pay to the department of commerce and industry the following fees:

For filing articles of incorporation.....$10.00
For filing annual statement..... 10.00

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 87, p. 769; am. '13, c. 31, p. 131, reen. '17, c. 105, p. 383, reen. C. L. 220:178; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5084. Supervisory power of department. Such companies shall make such statements of accounts and records of the business and financial conditions as may be required by the department of commerce and industry, which shall furnish blank forms for such purpose; and the department shall have the same right to visit and examine such company, and the same supervisory authority over such company as is given the department by law over mutual companies or associations, and it shall have the power to revoke the license of such companies for failure to settle loss with reasonable promptness, and publish such revocation in such a manner as may best serve the interests of the policy holders and the public.

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 87, p. 769, substantially reen. '13, c. 31, p. 131, reen. '17, c. 105, p. 383, reen. C. L. 220:179; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5085. Liability of members. All the policies issued by the company must state specifically that the liability of each member is not limited. All persons becoming members of such company must sign the constitution and by-laws, and shall be held in law to comply with all the provisions and requirements of the company. ['11, c. 228, part of § 87, p. 768.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, part of § 87, p. 768, reen. '13, c. 31, p. 130, reen. '17, c. 105, p. 383, reen. C. L. 220:180.

Limit of liability: A person cannot become member without becoming an insurer of property of other members and his liability will be limited only by amount of insurance in force and solvency of members. Sch. Dist. No. 8 v. Twin Falls etc. Co. (1917) 30 I. 400, 164 P. 1174.

§ 5086. Insurable property. Such company shall in no instance have the power to insure the property of others than members of the company. Said county mutual fire insurance companies shall be permitted to insure churches or public halls located outside of incorporated cities. No such company shall insure any property beyond the limits of the territory comprised in the formation of the company, as herein provided, nor shall it insure any property within the limits of any incorporated city or town, except that located upon tracts of land of not less than five acres in area located within the limits of any city, town or village, nor shall it expose itself to loss on any one risk to an amount in excess of that provided for in section 5073. ['17, c. 105, part of subd. 87, p. 382.]

Hist. '11, c. 228, parts of § 87, p. 767, reen. '13, c. 31, p. 129; am. '17, c. 105, p. 382, reen. C. L. 220:181.

§ 5087. Assessments. County mutual fire insurance companies may assess and collect from the owners or trustees of churches or public halls, and may assess and collect from their members, such sums of money as may be necessary to pay losses from fire, lightning, tornado, wind storm or hail storm, from time to time as such losses occur, and to pay such expenses as may be approved by the board of directors.

The assessment and collections of such sums shall be regulated by the constitution and by-laws of the company, which must, however, provide that assessments to cover losses can not be levied in advance of the occurrence of such losses, except that any such company may, in its by-laws, provide for an emergency fund, which fund shall at no time exceed one-half of 1 per cent of the amount of insurance in force, out of which fund losses to the extent of the money on hand therein may be paid. ARTICLE 9.

FOREIGN MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES.

§ 5088. Requirements. Any mutual fire insurance company organized or incorporated under authority other than that of the state of Idaho, before being authorized to do business in this state, shall be required to file with the department of commerce and industry a financial statement showing its condition of December 31 next preceding the date of its application for admission, signed by its president, and secretary under oath, and showing that it is possessed of accumulated assets of not less than $200,000, of which not less than $50,000 shall be net surplus over and above all liabilities, said liabilities to include reinsurance reserve calculated on a pro rata basis, which surplus must always be maintained, and must be kept invested in securities as provided in sections 4962, 4963, 4964, 4965, relating to the investment of surplus of joint stock insurance companies: Provided, That such surplus must be deposited with the department of commerce and industry of this state, or the appropriate department of such company's home state for the protection of all its policy holders. Such mutual fire insurance company must also furnish a certificate from the insurance commissioner of the state in which said corporation or association is incorporated, certifying that, in the judgment of the state insurance commissioner, the statement is correct, and that the corporation or association is possessed of $200,000 accumulated assets, of which not less than $50,000 is net surplus.

§ 5090. Fees. Foreign mutual fire insurance companies organized under any other laws than the laws of this state shall pay the same fees required of all other joint stock insurance companies doing business in this state. ['11, c. 228, § 85, p. 767.]

§ 5091. Liability of members. Each and every policy holder shall be liable to pay his proportionate share of any assessment in accordance with the provisions of law and his contract on account of all losses and expenses incurred while a member. Any such corporation or association shall charge and collect upon its policies the full premium in cash, and may, in its by-laws, fix the liability of its members for the payment of losses and expenses not provided for by its cash funds: Provided, That the liability of a member to assessment shall be not less than the amount of one annual premium in addition to the annual cash premium of his policy: Provided, however, That corporations or associations which have accumulated in the regular course of business, assets of not less than $200,000, of which not less than $50,000 is net surplus over and above a pro rata reinsurance reserve, which reserve shall at no time be less than that provided in section 5002, shall have power, while in that condition, to limit the liability of its policy holders to the amount of premium stated in the policy, which premium shall be not less than the premium charged by solvent stock companies for insuring similar risks, such limitation of liability to continue only during the time such corporation or association is in such financial condition: Provided further, That every such corporation or association must print upon its policies such conditions as will define the liability of a policy holder: Provided further, That any such corporation or association may classify its risks according to the various hazards covered, and any saving experienced by the company in loss ratio, expenses of management or from any other source may be returned to the policy holders in the various classifications according to the experience of the company in said classes, and as determined by the board of directors of the company. FIDELITY AND SURETY COMPANIES.

§ 5103. Application of chapter. The provisions of this chapter shall apply to all companies organized under the laws of this state or of any other state, territory or district of the United States, or of any foreign government, for the purpose of issuing surety, guaranty or indemnity bonds, guaranteeing persons holding places of public or private trust; guaranteeing the performance of contracts other than insurance policies; or guaranteeing and executing all bonds, undertakings and contracts of suretyship. ['13, c. 97, § 29, p. 411.]

Hist. The act of '05, p. 394, brought under one law the acts of '99, p. 337, and '99, p. 187. '05, p. 394, § 3, reen. R. C. § 2938, reen. '11, c. 228, § 88, p. 770; am. '13, c. 97, § 29, p. 411, reen. C. L. 220:198.

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Acceptance of unauthorized companies as surety: § 5117.

§ 5104. Conditions precedent to doing business: Deposit. Every insurance company transacting surety and fidelity insurance in this state must be authorized to do business under the laws of the state, territory, district or government where incorporated, and empowered under its charter or articles of incorporation to become surety upon such bond, undertaking, obligation, recognizance or guaranty; must have the capital and surplus hereinbefore provided in this chapter and comply with all other provisions of this chapter applicable to such companies.

Such company, if it be organized under the laws of any other state, territory or district of the United States or of any foreign country, shall, before any certificate of authority to do business in this state shall issue, deposit with the state treasurer of this state, money or bonds of the United States or of this state, or interest paying bonds when they are at or above par, or any other state of the United States or the District of Columbia, or the bonds of any county or municipal corporation of this or any other state of the United States or the District of Columbia to the actual market value of not less than $25,000.

The said money or bonds so deposited with the state treasurer shall be an exclusive trust for the benefit of the holders of the obligations of such company in this state, to remain with said treasurer in trust, to answer any default of said company as surety upon any such obligation established by final judgment upon which execution may lawfully be issued against said company; such company, however, at all times shall have the right to collect the interest, dividends and profits upon such securities, and from time to time withdraw such securities or portions thereof, substituting therefor others of equally good character and value, to the satisfaction of the department of commerce and industry, and such securities shall not be sold under any process against such company until after 40 days' notice to said company, specifying the date, place and manner of such sale, and the process under which and the purposes for which it is to be made, accompanied by a copy of such process. The state of Idaho shall be held responsible for the safety of all deposits made under the provisions of this section. Such company shall not be permitted to withdraw from the state treasurer such deposit of money or bonds for a period of one year after discontinuing business within this state, or while any suit is pending or any judgment against said company in this state shall remain unpaid. Said deposit shall at all times be maintained at said sum of $25,000 or more, and for a failure for a period of 40 days after notice by the department of commerce and industry given by registered letter addressed to the president of said company at its home office to replenish and so maintain the same, the authority of said company to do business in this state shall be revoked by the department.

§ 5105. Certificate of authority. The department of commerce and industry, upon due proof that such company possesses the qualifications specified in this chapter, and that it has in all things complied with the laws of this state relating to surety companies or applicable thereto, shall issue to such company a certificate authorizing said company to do business until and including March 31 thence next ensuing, and thereafter such certificate shall issue on April 1 as hereinbefore provided, for a period of one year. Said certificate shall be evidence of the authority of such company to do business in this state, and to become and to be accepted as sole surety on all private bonds and contracts, and on all bonds, undertakings, recognizances and obligations required or permitted by law of [or] the charter, ordinances, rules or regulations of any municipality, board, body, organization or public officer and of the solvency and credit of such company for all authorized purposes and its sufficiency as such surety.

§ 5106. Reimbursement for premiums on fiduciary and official bonds. Any judge, court or officer whose duty it is to pass upon the amount of bonds of any assignee, trustee, receiver, guardian, executor, administrator or other fiduciary required by law to give bond or undertaking as such, and whenever such assignee, receiver, trustee, guardian, executor, administrator or other fiduciary has given bond or undertaking with a surety company or companies as surety or sureties thereon, as herein provided, shall allow, in the settlement of the account of such assignee, receiver, trustee, guardian, executor, administrator or other fiduciary a reasonable premium, subject to the limitations hereinafter provided, paid to any such company or companies for becoming his surety on such bond or undertaking.

In all other cases where, by the provisions of this chapter a corporate surety or guarantor is given or required, except notaries public, the premium to be paid to any such company or companies for becoming such surety or guarantor shall be paid out of the general funds of the divisions of government by or for which the person giving such bond or undertaking was appointed or elected: Provided, however, That the premium shall in no case exceed in the aggregate one-half of 1 per cent per annum on the amount of such bond or undertaking: Provided also, That such company or companies have complied, and shall continue to comply, with the laws of this state relative to such companies. § 5107. Notice to county recorders. Whenever any surety company not organized under the laws of the state of Idaho shall have complied with the laws of this state as in this chapter and as otherwise by law provided, it shall be the duty of the department of commerce and industry on the first day of the next succeeding month to send to the county recorder of each county in this state a notice, stating that such surety company has complied with the laws of this state and is authorized to write risks of the kind and character authorized in its certificate of authority to do business, stating therein in general terms the risks authorized to be written by such company. Such notice shall be issued by said department of commerce and industry over its seal of office, and shall be received in evidence as a sufficient justification of such surety, and of its authority to do business in this state until the end of the insurance year in which the same may have been issued, or until notice be given of withdrawal from, or of cancellation of its license to do business in this state. Such certificate shall be kept on file in the offices of the county recorders of the respective counties, subject to inspection as other public records, and any party interested may have certified copies thereof which shall be admissible in evidence with like effect as the original.

If any company shall withdraw from this state, or if its license shall be cancelled, the department of commerce and industry shall give notice of such withdrawal from the state or cancellation of license to do business, forthwith, by mailing a certificate of such fact to the county recorder of each county of the state, and also by sending notice to each agent resident within the state authorized to do business for said company, as shown by the records of the department, at the address shown in said records.

The certificates of authority to be sent monthly as in this section provided shall include in one certificate all companies which have been authorized to do business during the preceding month, and may also include all companies which have withdrawn or whose certificate of authority may have been cancelled during such month, and unless deemed for the public interest that notice be given forthwith, all notices of withdrawal from the state, and also all notices of cancellation of licenses to do business, may be made part of such monthly certified statement, and copies thereof sent to agents of said company, and the county recorders at the first of the month only in lieu of sending such notice forthwith: Provided, That the certificate of authority to be sent monthly to county auditors contain a list of the companies authorized to transact surety business in this state shall be in force and effect until notice is duly served of the withdrawal or cancellation of authority of some authorized company, or the authorization of a company not included in the department's former certificate of authority.

Cross ref. Justification of surety: § 7183. Libby v. Spokane Valley etc. Co. (1908) 15 I. 467, 98 P. 715.

Justification: This section contemplates that a surety company may be called upon to justify, just the same as any other surety, and prescribes the method of justification. Where exceptions have been taken to a surety company, as surety upon an undertaking on appeal, then such company must comply with the requirements of § 7183, by giving notice that it will justify and by justifying. The method of justifying is by presenting to the court before whom the justification is to be made the notice or a certified copy thereof required to be given by the state insurance commissioner to the county recorder of each county. This is a sufficient justification. Libby v. Spokane Valley etc. Co. (1908) 15 I. 467, 98 P. 715.

§ 5108. [2944] Penalty for failure to pay judgment. If any surety company doing business under this chapter shall neglect or refuse for a period of 90 days to pay any final judgment rendered against it upon any bond or undertaking made or guaranteed by it under the provisions of this chapter, it shall forfeit all right to do business in this state and its certificate of authority shall be revoked: Provided, If any appeal from said judgment shall be taken within said 90 days, accompanied by an undertaking as is provided in cases of appeals under the general statutes of this state, then and in that case such period of 90 days shall begin to run from the date the remittitur from the supreme court affirming said judgment in whole or in part shall be filed in the district court. ['05, p. 399, § 1, subd. 12.]

§ 5109. [2945] Surety bonds recognized in lieu of all other bond requirements. Whenever any bond, undertaking, recognizance or other obligation is by law, or by the charter, ordinances, rules or regulations of any municipality, board, body, organization, court, judge or public officer, required or permitted to be made, given, tendered or filed with surety or sureties, and whenever the performance of any act, duty or obligation, or the refraining from any act, is required or permitted to be guaranteed, such bond, undertaking, obligation, recognizance or guaranty may be executed by a surety company qualified as in this chapter provided. Such execution by such company of such bond, undertaking, obligation, recognizance or guaranty shall be in all respects a full and complete compliance with every requirement of every law, charter, ordinance, rule or regulation that such bond, undertaking, obligation, recognizance or guaranty shall be executed by one surety or by one or more sureties, or that such sureties shall be residents or householders, or freeholders, or either or both, or possess any other qualifications. All courts, judges, heads of departments, boards, bodies, municipalities and public officers of every character shall accept and treat such bond, undertaking, obligation, recognizance or guaranty, when so executed by such company, as conforming to, and fully and completely complying with every such requirement of every such law, charter, ordinance, rule or regulation. § 5110. [2946] Release of surety. The surety or the representative of any surety, upon the bond of any trustee, committee, guardian, assignee, receiver, executor or administrator, or other fiduciary, may apply by petition to the court wherein such bond is directed to be filed, or which may have jurisdiction of such trustee, committee, guardian, assignee, receiver, executor or administrator, praying to be relieved from further liability as such surety, for the acts or omissions of the trustee, committee, guardian, assignee, receiver, executor or administrator or other fiduciary, which may occur after the date of the order relieving such surety to be granted as herein provided for, and to require such trustee, committee, guardian, assignee, receiver, executor or administrator, or other fiduciary, to show cause why he should not account and said surety be relieved from such further liability as aforesaid, and said principal be required to give a new bond.

Thereupon, upon filing of said petition, said court shall issue such order returnable at such time and place and to be served in such manner as said court shall direct, and may restrain such trustee, committee, guardian, assignee, receiver, executor or administrator or other fiduciary from acting except in such manner as it may direct to preserve the trust estate.

Upon the return of such order to show cause, if the principal in the bond account in due form of law and file a new bond duly approved, then said court must make an order releasing said surety, filing the petition as aforesaid, from liability upon the bond for any subsequent act or default of the principal. In default of said principal thus accounting and filing such new bond, said court shall make an order directing such trustee, committee, guardian, assignee, receiver, executor or administrator, or fiduciary to account in due form of law within 30 days, and that if the trust fund or estate shall be found or made good and paid over or properly secured, such surety shall be discharged from any and all further liability as such for the subsequent acts or omissions of the trustee, committee, guardian, assignee, receiver, executor or administrator, or fiduciary, after the date of the surety being so relieved or discharged and discharging such trustee, committee, guardian, assignee, receiver, executor or administrator, or fiduciary. § 5112. [2948] Expenses of bonds as costs. Any receiver, assignee, guardian, trustee, committee, executor, administrator, or curator, or other fiduciary required by law or the order of any court or judge to give a bond or other obligation, as such may include as a part of the lawful expense of executing his trust such reasonable sum paid a company authorized under the laws of this state so to do for becoming his surety on such bond as may be allowed by the court in which, or a judge before whom, he is required to account, not exceeding 1 per cent per annum on the amount of such bond. In all actions and proceedings a party entitled to recover disbursements therein shall be allowed and may tax and recover such sum paid such company for executing any bond, recognizance, undertaking, stipulation or other obligation therein, not exceeding, however, 1 per cent on the amount of the liability upon such bond, recognizance, undertaking, stipulation, or other obligation during each year the same has been in force. § 5113. Companies must receive government certification. No foreign insurance company, transacting business of surety and fidelity insurance, shall be authorized to transact such business in this state except during such time as it shall comply with all the requirements of the federal government relative to such companies, and hold unrevoked a certificate of the secretary of the treasury of the United States, showing that such company is qualified to write bonds for the federal government. All such companies doing business in this state shall file quarterly a certificate from the secretary of the treasury, showing such qualification: Provided, That no surety company doing business in this state shall assume a liability on any one risk in an amount greater than 10 per cent of its capital and surplus, unless the same shall be reinsured in some other solvent company in such an amount as shall reduce its liability on said risk to 10 per cent of its capital and surplus: Provided further, That any company failing or refusing to comply with all the provisions of this section shall be disqualified from doing business in this state, and its license shall be revoked by the department of commerce and industry.

Requirement of federal law: The federal statutes referred to (2 U. S. Comp. St. 2315) require the appointment of resident agents for service of process; the deposit of a copy of charter and statement of assets and liabilities with the attorney general of the United States, who shall issue a certificate of authority; the subsequent filing of quarterly statements with the attorney general, and fix the federal jurisdiction of suits against the company.

§ 5114. [2950] Company estopped to plead ultra vires. Any company giving any bond or recognizance under sections 5109-5113 shall be estopped in any proceeding to enforce the liability which it shall have assumed to incur to deny its corporate power to execute such instrument or assume such liability. ARTICLE 12.

INTERPRETATION.

§ 5121. Definitions. In this chapter, unless the context otherwise requires:

"Company" or "insurance company," "corporation" or "insurance corporation" shall include all corporations, associations, partnerships or individuals engaged as principals in the insurance business, excepting fraternal and benevolent orders and societies.

"Domestic" designates those companies incorporated or formed under the laws of this state.

"Foreign," when used without limitations, designates those companies incorporated or formed under authority other than that of the state of Idaho.

"Insurance" is a contract where one party, called the "insurer," for a consideration undertakes to pay money or its equivalent, or to do an act valuable to another party, called the "insured," or to his "beneficiary," upon the happening of the hazard or peril insured against, whereby the party insured or his beneficiary suffers loss or injury.

"Reinsurance" means a contract by which an insurer procures a third party to insure it against loss or liability by reason of such original insurance.

Hist. '11, c. 228, § 1, p. 732; am. '13, c. 97, § 1, p. 386; compiled and reen. C. L. 220:216; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56; obsolete part of section omitted.

CHAPTER 202.

RECIPROCAL OR INTERINSURANCE CONTRACTS.

Hist. Interinsurance regulations seem to have been first treated in '11, c. 228, § 87, latter part, pp. 769-70, but omitted in the amendment of said section, '13, c. 31, p. 129.

§ 5123. Contracts authorized: Subscribers defined. Individuals, partnerships and corporations of this state, hereby designated subscribers are hereby authorized to exchange reciprocal or interinsurance contracts with each other, or with individuals, partnerships and corporations of other states and countries, providing indemnity among themselves from any loss which may be insured against under other provisions of the laws, excepting life insurance. ['13, c. 166, § 1, p. 535.]

§ 5124. Attorney in fact may execute. Such contracts may be executed by an attorney in fact, agent or other representative, herein designated attorney, duly authorized and acting for such subscribers. ['13, c. 166, § 2, p. 535.]

§ 5125. Declaration must be filed with department. Such subscribers so contracting among themselves shall, through their attorney, file with the department of commerce and industry a declaration, verified by the oath of such attorney, setting forth:

1. The name or title of the office at which such subscribers propose to exchange such indemnity contracts. Said name or title shall not be so similar to any other name or title previously adopted by a similar organization or by any insurance corporation or association as in the opinion of the department is calculated to result in confusion or deception.
2. The kind or kinds of insurance to be effected or exchanged.
3. A copy of the form of policy contract or agreement under or by which such insurance is to be effected or exchanged.
4. A copy of the form of power of attorney or other authority of such attorney under which such insurance is to be effected or exchanged.
5. The location of the office or offices from which such contracts or agreements are to be issued.
6. The applications have been made for indemnity upon at least 100 separate risks aggregating not less than $1,500,000 as represented by executed contracts or bona fide applications to become concurrently effective, or, in case of liability or compensation insurance, covering a total pay roll of not less than $1,500,000.

7. That there is on deposit with such attorney and available for the payment of losses a sum not less than $25,000.

Hist. '13, c. 166, § 3, p. 535, reen. C. L. 221:3; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5126. Authority of commissioner to accept service of process. Concurrently with the filing of the declaration provided for by the terms of section 5125, the attorney shall file with the department of commerce and industry an instrument in writing executed by him for said subscribers, conditioned that upon the issuance of certificate of authority provided for in section 5132, service of process may be had upon the commissioner of commerce and industry in all suits in this state arising out of such policies, contracts or agreements, which service shall be valid and binding upon all subscribers exchanging at any time reciprocal or interinsurance contracts through such attorney.

Three copies of such process shall be served and the commissioner of commerce and industry shall file one copy, forward one copy to said attorney, and return one copy with his admission of service.

Hist. '13, c. 166, § 4, p. 536, reen. C. L. 221:4; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5127. Statements of risks and responsibility. There shall be filed with the department of commerce and industry by such attorney a statement under oath of such attorney, showing the maximum amount of indemnity upon any single risk, and such attorney shall, whenever and as often as the same shall be required, file with the department a statement, verified by his oath, to the effect that he has examined the commercial rating of such subscribers as shown by the reference book of a commercial agency having at least 100,000 subscribers, and that from such examination or from other information in his possession it appears that no subscriber has assumed on any single risk an amount greater than 10 per cent of the net worth of such subscriber.

Hist. '13, c. 166, § 5, p. 536, reen. C. L. 221:5; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5128. Reserve. There shall at all times be maintained as a reserve a sum in cash or convertible securities equal to 50 per cent of the aggregate net annual deposits collected and credited to the accounts of the subscribers on policies having one year or less to run and pro rata on those for longer periods. Net annual deposits shall be construed to mean the advance payments of subscribers after deducting therefrom the amounts specifically provided in the subscribers' agreements, for expenses. Said sum shall at no time be less than $25,000, and if at any time 50 per cent of the aggregate deposits so collected and credited shall not equal that amount, then the subscribers, or their attorney for them, shall make up any deficiency. ['13, c. 166, § 6, p. 536.]

§ 5129. Annual statement. Such attorney shall annually, on or before the 1st day of March, make report to the department of commerce and industry showing that the financial condition of affairs at the office where such contracts are issued is in accordance with the standard of solvency herein provided for, and the department may in its discretion make such an examination as may be necessary to verify the statements contained in said report: Provided, however, That such attorney shall not be required to furnish the names and addresses of any subscribers.

Hist. '13, c. 166, § 7, p. 537, reen. C. L. 221:7; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5130. Power of corporations to exchange insurance. Any corporation now or hereafter organized under the laws of this state shall, in addition to the rights, powers and franchises specified in its articles of incorporation have full power and authority to exchange insurance contracts of the kind and character herein mentioned. The right to exchange such contracts is hereby declared to be incidental to the purposes for which such corporations are organized and as much granted as the rights and powers expressly conferred. ['13, c. 166, § 8, p. 537.]

Hist. '13, c. 166, § 8, p. 537, reen. C. L. 221:8.

§ 5131. Penalty for acting as attorney in fact without authority. Any attorney who shall, except for the purpose of applying for certificate of authority as herein provided, exchange any contracts of indemnity of the kind and character specified in this chapter, or directly or indirectly solicit or negotiate any application for same without first complying with the foregoing provisions, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be subjected to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1000. ['13, c. 166, § 9, p. 537.]

§ 5132. Annual certificate of authority. Each attorney by or through whom are issued any policies of or contracts for indemnity of the character referred to in this chapter shall procure from the department of commerce and industry annually a certificate of authority stating that all the requirements of this chapter have been complied with, and upon such compliance and the payment of the fee and taxes required by this chapter, the department of commerce and industry shall issue such certificate, which certificate shall expire annually upon the 31st day of March. In case of a breach of any of the conditions imposed by the provisions of this chapter, the department of commerce and industry may revoke the certificate of authority issued hereunder.

CHAPTER 203.

FRATERNAL BENEFIT SOCIETIES.

Hist. The law herein embodied was preceded by '01, p. 165, c. 3, reen. R. C. §§ 2889-2904.

§ 5136. Fraternal benefit societies defined. Any corporation, society, order or voluntary association without capital stock, organized and carried on solely for the mutual benefit of its members and their beneficiaries, and not for profit, and having a lodge system with ritualistic form of work and representative form of government, and which shall make provision for the payment of benefits in accordance with section 5140, and any mutual life association whose membership is limited to a secret fraternity, profession or guild and which elects its officers and directors by direct vote of its members, either in person or by proxy, is hereby declared to be a fraternal benefit society. ['17, c. 108, p. 387.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Application to accident benefit societies: § 5192.

§ 5137. Lodge system defined. Any society having a supreme governing or legislative body and subordinate lodges or branches, by whatever name known, into which members shall be elected, initiated and admitted in accordance with its constitution, laws, rules, regulations and prescribed ritualistic ceremonies, which subordinate lodges or branches shall be required by the laws of such societies to hold regular or stated meetings at least once each month, shall be deemed to be operating on the lodge system. ['11, c. 225, § 2, p. 710.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Application to accident benefit societies: § 5192.

§ 5138. Representative form of government defined. Any such society shall be deemed to have a representative form of government when it shall provide in its constitution and laws for a supreme legislative or governing body, composed of representatives elected either by the members, or by delegates elected directly or indirectly by the members, together with such other members as may be prescribed by its constitution and laws: Provided, That the elective members shall constitute a majority in number and have not less than two-thirds of the votes, nor less than the votes required to amend its constitution and laws: And, Provided further, That the meetings of the supreme or governing body, and the election of officers, representatives or delegates shall be held as often as once in four years. The members, officers, representatives or delegates of a fraternal benefit society shall not vote by proxy. ['11, c. 225, § 3, p. 710.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Application to accident benefit societies: § 5192.

§ 5139. Exemptions. Except as herein provided, such societies shall be governed by this chapter and shall be exempt from all provisions of the insurance laws of this state, not only in governmental relations with the state but for every other purpose, and no law hereafter enacted shall apply to them, unless they be expressly designated therein. ['11, c. 225, § 4, p. 711.]

§ 5140. Benefits. Every society transacting business under this chapter shall provide for the payment of death benefits, and may provide for the payment of benefits in case of temporary physical disability, either as the result of disease, accident or old age: Provided, The period of life at which the payment of benefits for disability on account of old age shall commence shall not be under 70 years, and may provide for monuments or tombstones to the memory of its deceased members and for the payment of funeral benefits. Such society shall have the power to give a member, when permanently disabled or on attaining the age of 70 years, all or such portion of the face value of his certificate as the laws of the society may provide: Provided, That nothing in this chapter contained shall be so construed as to prevent the issuing of benefit certificates for a term of years less than the whole of life which are payable upon the death or disability of the member occurring within the term for which the benefit certificate may be issued. Such society shall, upon written application of the member, have the power to accept a part of the periodical contributions in cash, and charge the remainder, not exceeding one-half of the periodical contribution, against the certificate, with interest payable or compounded annually at a rate not lower than 4 per cent per annum: Provided, That this privilege shall not be granted except to societies which have readjusted or may hereafter readjust their rates or contributions, and to contracts affected by such readjustment. ['11, c. 225, § 5, subd. 1, p. 711.]

ing or descending, father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, stepfather, stepmother, stepchildren, children by legal adoption, or to a person or persons dependent upon the member: Provided, That if after the issuance of the original certificate, the member shall become dependent upon an incorporated charitable institution, he shall have the privilege, with the consent of the society, to make such institution his beneficiary. Within the above restrictions each member shall have the right to designate his beneficiary, and, from time to time, have the same changed in accordance with the laws, rules or regulations of the society, and no beneficiary shall have or obtain any vested interest in the said benefit until the same has become due and payable upon the death of said member: Provided, That any society may, by its laws, limit the scope of beneficiaries within the above classes. § 5145. Funds: Minimum contributions. Any society may create, maintain, invest, disburse and apply an emergency, surplus or other similar fund in accordance with its laws. Unless otherwise provided in the contract, such funds shall be held, invested and disbursed for the use and benefit of the society, and no member or beneficiary shall have or acquire individual rights therein or become entitled to any apportionment or the surrender of any part thereof, except as provided in section 5141. The funds from which benefits shall be paid and the funds from which the expenses of the society shall be defrayed shall be derived from periodical or other payments by the members of the society and accretions of said funds: Provided, That no society, domestic or foreign, shall hereafter be incorporated or admitted to transact business in this state which does not provide for stated periodical contributions sufficient to provide for meeting the mortuary obligations contracted, when valued upon the basis of the national fraternal table of mortality as adopted by the national fraternal congress August 23, 1899, or any higher standard with interest assumption not more than 4 per cent per annum, nor write or accept members for temporary or permanent disability benefits except upon tables based upon reliable experience, with an interest assumption not higher than 4 per cent per annum. § 5146. Same: Computation of deferred liabilities. Deferred payments or instalments of claims shall be considered as fixed liabilities on the happening of the contingency upon which such payments or instalments are hereafter to be paid. Such liability shall be the present value of such future payments or instalments upon the rate of interest and mortality assumed by the society for valuation, and every society shall maintain a fund sufficient to meet such liability regardless of proposed future collections to meet any such liabilities. ['11, c. 225, § 9, subd. 2, p. 713.]

§ 5147. Investments. Every society shall invest its funds only in securities permitted by the laws of this state for the investment of the assets of life insurance companies: Provided, That any foreign society permitted or seeking to do business in this state, which invests its funds in accordance with the laws of the state in which it is incorporated, shall be held to meet the requirements of this chapter for the investment of funds. ['11, c. 225, § 10, p. 713.]

Hist. '11, c. 225, § 10, p. 713, reen. C. L. 222:12.

§ 5148. Distribution of funds. Every provision of the laws of the society for payment by members of such society, in whatever form made, shall distinctly state the purpose of the same, and the proportion thereof which may be used for expense, and no part of the money collected for mortuary or disability purposes, or the net accretions of either or any of said funds, shall be used for expenses. § 5149. Articles of incorporation. Seven or more persons, citizens of the United States, and a majority of whom are citizens of this state, who desire to form a fraternal benefit society, as defined by this chapter, may make and sign (giving their addresses), and acknowledge before some officer competent to take acknowledgment of deeds, articles of incorporation, in which shall be stated:

1. The proposed corporate name of the society, which shall not so closely resemble the name of any society or insurance company already transacting business in this state as to mislead the public or to lead to confusion.

2. The purpose for which it is formed, which shall not include more liberal powers than are granted by this act: Provided, That any lawful social, intellectual, educational, charitable, benevolent, moral or religious advantages may be set forth among the purposes of the society, and the mode in which its corporate powers are to be exercised.

3. The names, residences and official titles of all the officers, trustees, directors or other persons who are to have and exercise the general control and management of the affairs and funds of the society for the first year or until the ensuing election at which all such officers shall be elected by the supreme legislative or governing body, which election shall be held not later than one year from the date of the issuance of the permanent certificate. Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Application to societies showing increased deficiency: § 5177.

§ 5151. Duration of preliminary certificate. No preliminary certificate granted under the provisions of this section shall be valid after one year from its date, or after such further period, not exceeding one year, as may be authorized by the department of commerce and industry, upon cause shown, unless the 500 applicants herein required have been secured and the organization has been completed as herein provided, and the articles of incorporation and all proceedings thereunder shall become null and void in one year from the date of said preliminary certificate, or at the expiration of said extended period, unless such society shall have completed its organization and commenced business as herein provided.

Hist. '11, c. 225, part of § 12, p. 716, reen. C. L. 222:16; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Application to societies showing increased deficiency: § 5177.

§ 5152. Completion of organization: Minimum membership and insurance. Upon receipt of said certificate from the department of commerce and industry, said society may solicit members for the purpose of completing its organization and shall collect from each applicant the amount of not less than one regular monthly payment, in accordance with its table of rates as provided by its constitution and laws, and shall issue to each such applicant a receipt for the amount so collected. But no such society shall incur any liability other than for such advanced payments, nor issue any benefit certificates nor pay or allow, or offer or promise to pay or allow, to any person any death or disability benefit until actual bona fide applications for death benefit certificates have been secured upon at least 500 lives for at least $1000 each, and all such applicants for death benefits shall have been regularly examined by legally qualified practicing physicians, and certificates of such examinations have been duly filed and approved by the chief medical examiner of such society, nor until there shall be established 10 subordinate lodges or branches into which said 500 applicants have been initiated, nor until there has been submitted to the department of commerce and industry, under oath of the president and secretary, or corresponding officers of such society, a list of such applicants, giving their names, addresses, date examined, date approved, date initiated, name and number of the subordinate branch of which each applicant is a member, amount of benefits to be granted, rate of stated periodical contributions which shall be sufficient to provide for meeting the mortuary obligations contracted, when valued for death benefits upon the basis of the national fraternal congress table of mortality, as adopted by the national fraternal congress August 23, 1899, or any higher standard, at the option of the society, and for disability benefits by tables based upon reliable experience, and for combined death and permanent total disability benefits by tables based upon reliable experience, with an interest assumption not higher than 4 per cent per annum, nor until it shall be shown to the department of commerce and industry by the sworn statement of the treasurer, or corresponding officer of such society, that at least 500 applicants have each paid in cash at least one regular monthly payment as hereinbefore provided per $1000 of indemnity to be affected, which payments, in the aggregate, shall amount to at least $2500, all of which shall be credited to the mortuary or disability fund on account of such applicants, and no part of which may be used for expenses.

§ 5154. Final certificate of authority. The department of commerce and industry may make such examination and require such further information as it deems advisable, and upon presentation of satisfactory evidence that the society has complied with all the provisions of law, the department shall issue to such society a certificate to that effect. Such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the existence of such society at the date of such certificate. The department shall cause a record of such certificate to be made and a certified copy of such record may be given in evidence with like effect as the original certificate.

§ 5157. Prior corporations preserved: Amendments. Any incorporated society engaged in transacting business in this state on May 3, 1911, may exercise all of the rights conferred by this chapter, and all of the rights, powers and privileges theretofore exercised or possessed by it under its charter or articles of incorporation not inconsistent with this chapter. Any such society may amend its articles of incorporation from time to time in the manner provided therein or in its constitution and laws, and all such amendments shall be filed with the department of commerce and industry and shall become operative upon such filing, unless a later time be provided in such amendments or in its articles of incorporation, constitution or laws.

Hist. '11, c. 225, § 13, p. 716; compiled and reen. C. L. 222:22; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5158. Mergers and transfers. No domestic society shall merge with or accept the transfer of the membership or funds of any other society unless such merger or transfer is evidenced by a contract in writing, setting out in full the terms and conditions of such transfer or merger, and filed with the department of commerce and industry of this state, together with a sworn statement of the financial condition of each of said societies by its president and secretary, or corresponding officers, and a certificate of such officers, duly verified under oath of said officers of each of the contracting societies, that such merger or transfer has been approved by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the supreme legislative or governing body of each of said societies.

Upon the submission of said contract, financial statements and certificates, the department of commerce and industry shall examine the same, and, if the department shall find such financial statements to be correct and the said contract to be in conformity with the provisions of this section, and that such merger or transfer is just and equitable to the members of each of said societies, it shall approve said merger or transfer, issue the certificate of the department to that effect and thereupon the said contract of merger or transfer shall be of full force and effect.

In case such contract is not approved, the fact of its submission and its contents shall not be disclosed by the department of commerce and industry.

ing April: Provided, however, That license shall continue in full force and effect until the new license be issued or specifically refused. A duly certified copy or duplicate of such license shall be prima facie evidence that the licensee is a fraternal benefit society within the meaning of this chapter. [C. L. 222:24.]

Hist. '11, c. 225, § 15, p. 717; compiled and reen. C. L. 222:24.

§ 5160. Admission of foreign societies. No foreign society shall transact any business herein without a license from the department of commerce and industry. Any foreign society desiring admission to this state shall have the qualifications required of domestic societies organized under this chapter and have its assets invested as required by the laws of the state, territory, district, country or province where it is organized.

Any such society shall be entitled to a license to transact business within this state upon filing with the department a duly certified copy of its charter or articles of association; a copy of its constitution and laws, certified by its secretary or corresponding officer; a power of attorney to the commissioner of commerce and industry as hereinafter provided; a statement of its business under oath of its president and secretary, or corresponding officers, in the form required by the department, duly verified by an examination made by the supervising insurance official of its home state or other state satisfactory to the department of commerce and industry; a certificate from the proper official in its home state, province or country that the society is legally organized; a copy of its contract, which must show that benefits are provided for by periodical or other payments by persons holding similar contracts, and upon furnishing the department such other information as it may deem necessary to a proper exhibit of its business and plan of working, and upon showing that its assets are invested in accordance with the laws of the state, territory, district, province or country where it is organized, the department shall issue a license to such society to do business in this state until the 1st day of the succeeding April and such license shall, upon compliance with the provisions of this chapter, be renewed annually, but in all cases to terminate on the 1st day of the succeeding April: Provided, however, That license shall continue in full force and effect until the new license be issued or specifically refused.

§ 5163. Appointment of commissioner as agent to accept service of process. Every society, whether domestic or foreign, hereafter applying for admission, shall, before being licensed, appoint in writing, the commissioner of commerce and industry and his successors in office to be its true and lawful attorney, upon whom all legal process in any action or proceeding against it shall be served, and in such writing shall agree that any lawful process against it which is served upon such attorney shall be of the same legal force and validity as if served upon the society, and that the authority shall continue in force so long as any liability remains outstanding in this state.

Copies of such appointment, certified by said commissioner, shall be deemed sufficient evidence thereof and shall be admitted in evidence with the same force and effect as the original thereof might be admitted. Service shall only be made upon such attorney, must be made in duplicate upon the commissioner, or, in his absence, upon the person in charge of his office, and shall be deemed sufficient service upon such society: Provided, however, That no such service shall be valid or binding against any such society when it is required thereunder to file its answer, pleading or defense in less than 30 days from the date of mailing the copy of such service to such society. When legal process against any such society is served upon said commissioner he shall forthwith forward by registered mail one of the duplicate copies prepaid and directed to its secretary or corresponding officer. Legal process shall not be served upon any such society except in the manner provided herein.

§ 5165. No personal liability. Officers and members of the supreme, grand or any subordinate body of any such incorporated society shall not be individually liable for the payment of any disability or death benefit provided for in the laws and agreement of such society, but the same shall be payable only out of the funds of such society and in the manner provided by its laws. ['11, c. 225, § 19, p. 720.]

§ 5166. By-laws may not be waiver. The constitution and laws of the society may provide that no subordinate body, nor any of its subordinate officers or members, shall have the power or authority to waive any of the provisions of the laws and constitution of the society, and the same shall be binding on the society and each and every member thereof and on all beneficiaries of members. ['11, c. 225, § 20, p. 720.]

§ 5168. Amendment of constitution and laws. Every society transacting business under this chapter shall file with the department of commerce and industry a duly certified copy of all amendments of or additions to its constitution and laws within 90 days after the enactment of the same. Printed copies of the constitution and laws as amended, changed or added to, certified by the secretary or corresponding officer of the society, shall be prima facie evidence of the legal adoption thereof.

§ 5169. Annual report. Every society transacting business in this state shall annually, on or before the 1st day of March, file with the department of commerce and industry, in such form as it may require, a statement, under oath, of its president and secretary or corresponding officers of its condition and standing on the 31st day of December next preceding, and of its transactions for the year ending on that date and also furnish such other information as the department may deem necessary to a proper exhibit of its business and plan of working. The department may at other times require any further statement it may deem necessary to be made relating to such society.

§ 5170. Annual valuation report. In addition to the annual report herein required, each society shall annually report to the department of commerce and industry a valuation of its certificates in force on December 31, last preceding, excluding those issued within the year for which the report is filed, in cases where the contributions for the first year, in whole or in part, are used for current mortality and expenses.

Such valuation shall be certified by a competent accountant or actuary, or, at the request and expense of the society, verified by the actuary of the department of insurance of the home state of the society, and shall be filed with the department within 90 days after the submission of the last preceding annual report.

Hist. '11, c. 225, parts of § 23, p. 720; compiled and reen. C. L. 222:35; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Valuation on accumulation basis: § 5178.

§ 5171. Methods of computing valuation. Such report of valuation shall show, as contingent liabilities, the present midyear value of the promised benefits provided in the constitution and laws of such society under certificates then subject to valuation; and, as contingent assets, the present midyear value of the future net contributions provided in the constitution and laws as the same are in practice actually collected.

At the option of any society, in lieu of the above, the valuation may show the net value of the certificates subject to valuation hereinbefore provided, and said net value, when computed in case of monthly contributions, may be the mean of the terminal values for the end of the preceding and of the current insurance years.

The legal minimum standard of valuation for all certificates, except for disability benefits, shall be the national fraternal congress table of mortality as adopted by the national fraternal congress August 23, 1899, or, at the option of the society, any higher table, or, at its option, it may use a table based upon the society's own experience of at least 20 years and covering not less than 100,000 lives, with interest assumption not less than 4 per centum per annum. Each such valuation report shall set forth clearly and fully the mortality and interest basis and the method of valuation.

Any society providing for disability benefits shall keep the net contributions for such benefits in a fund separate and apart from all other benefit and expense funds and the valuation of all other business of the society: Provided, That where a combined contribution table is used by a society for both death and permanent total disability benefits, the valuation shall be according to tables of reliable experience, and in such case a separation of the funds shall not be required.

The valuation herein provided for shall not be considered or regarded as a test of the financial solvency of the society, but each society shall be held to be legally solvent so long as the funds in its possession are equal to or in excess of its matured liabilities. § 5172. Members to receive report. A report of such valuation and an explanation of the facts concerning the condition of the society thereby disclosed shall be printed and mailed to each beneficiary member of the society not later than June 1 of each year, or, in lieu thereof, such report of valuation and showing of the society's condition as thereby disclosed may be published in the society's official paper and the issue containing the same mailed to each beneficiary member of the society. § 5173. By-laws to provide extra assessments to cover deficiencies. The laws of such society shall provide that if the stated periodical contributions of the members are insufficient to pay all matured death and disability claims in full and to provide for the creation and maintenance of the funds required by its laws, additional, increased or extra rates of contributions shall be collected from the members to meet such deficiency; and such laws may provide that, upon the written application or consent of the member, his certificate may be charged with its proportion of any deficiency disclosed by valuation, with interest not exceeding 5 per centum per annum. § 5174. Standard of deficiency fixed as of December 31, 1917. If the valuation of the certificates, as hereinbefore provided, on December 31, 1917, showed that the present value of future net contributions, together with the admitted assets, was less than the present value of the promised benefits and accrued liabilities, such society shall hereafter maintain said financial condition at each succeeding triennial valuation in respect of the degree of deficiency as shown in the valuation as of December 31, 1917. § 5176. Further increased deficiency: Society to be dissolved or suspended. If the next succeeding triennial valuation after the receipt of such notice shall show that the society has failed to maintain the condition required herein, the department of commerce and industry may, in the absence of good cause shown for such failure, institute proceedings for the dissolution of such society, in accordance with the provisions of section 5186, or in case of a foreign society, its license may be cancelled in the manner provided in this chapter.

§ 5177. Increased deficiency: Status of new members. Any such society shown by any triennial valuation subsequent to December 31, 1917, not to have maintained the condition herein required, shall, within two years thereafter, make such improvement as to show a percentage of deficiency not greater than as of December 31, 1917, or thereafter, as to all new members admitted, be subject, so far as stated rates of contributions are concerned, to the provisions of sections 5149, 5150, 5151, 5152, 5153, 5154, 5155, 5156, applicable in the organization of new societies: Provided, That the net mortuary or beneficiary contributions and funds of such new members shall be kept separate and apart from the other funds of the society. If such required improvement is not shown by the succeeding triennial valuation, then the said new members may be placed in a separate class and their certificates valued as an independent society in respect to contributions and funds. § 5178. Valuation on accumulation basis. In lieu of the requirements of sections 5169, 5170, 5171, 5172, 5173, 5174, 5175, 5176, 5177, any society accepting in its laws the provisions of this section may value its certificates on a basis, herein designated "accumulation basis," by crediting each member with the net amount contributed for each year and with interest at approximately the net rate earned and by charging him with his share of the losses for each year, herein designated "cost of insurance," and carrying the balance, if any, to his credit. The charge for the cost of insurance may be according to the actual experience of the society applied to a table of mortality recognized by the law of this state, and shall take into consideration the amount at risk during each year, which shall be the amount payable at death less the credit to the member.

Except as specifically provided in its articles of law or contracts no charge shall be carried forward from the first valuation hereunder against any member for any past share of losses exceeding the contribution and credit.

If, after the first valuation, any member's share of losses for any year exceeds his credit including the contribution for the year, the contribution shall be increased to cover his share of the losses. Any such excess share of losses chargeable to any member may be paid out of a fund or contributions especially created or required for such purpose. ['13, c. 184, § 3, part of subd. 23b, p. 591.]

Hist. '13, c. 184, § 3, part of subd. 23b, p. 591, reen. C. L. 222:43.

§ 5179. Valuation on tabular basis. Any member may transfer to any plan adopted by the society with net rates on which tabular reserves are maintained and on such transfer shall be entitled to make such application of his credit as provided in the laws of the society.

Certificates issued, rerated or readjusted on a basis providing for adequate rates with adequate reserves to mature such certificates upon assumptions for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this state shall be valued on such basis, herein designated the "tabular basis": Provided, That if on the first valuation under this section a deficiency in reserve shall be shown for any such certificate, the same shall be valued on the accumulation basis. § 5180. Deficiencies: How met. Whenever in any society having members upon the tabular basis and upon the accumulation basis, the total of all costs of insurance provided for any year shall be insufficient to meet the actual death and disability losses for the year, the deficiency shall be met for the year from the available funds after the setting aside all credits in the reserve; or from increased contributions or by an increase in the number of assessments applied to the society as a whole or to classes of members as may be specified in its laws. Saving from a lower amount of death losses may be returned in like manner as may be specified in its laws. ['13, c. 184, § 3, part of subd. 23c, p. 592.]

§ 5181. Separate classes of membership authorized. Any fraternal society chartered or transacting business in this state is hereby authorized and empowered to establish or maintain separate classes of membership, each class having a separate form of contract of similar general plan and character in its purpose; the assets or mortuary collections secured from the members of each class respectively shall be carried and maintained separately for such class, and the required reserve of such accumulation of such class, if contract therefor provides for such a fund, shall be set apart and held specifically and separately for the use and benefit of such particular class, and shall not thereafter be mingled with the assets or mortuary collections of any other class of the society. § 5182. Statement of credits and amounts required for tabular reserve. A table showing the credits to individual members for each age and year of entry and showing opposite each credit the tabular reserve required on the whole life or other plan of insurance specified in the contract, according to assumptions for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this state and adopted by the society, shall be filed by the society with each annual report and also be furnished to each member before July 1 of each year.

In lieu of the aforesaid statement there may be furnished to each member within the same time a statement giving the credit for such member and giving the tabular reserve and level rate required for a transfer carrying out the plan of insurance specified in the contract. No table or statement need be made or furnished where the reserves are maintained on the tabular basis.

For this purpose, individual bookkeeping accounts for each member shall not be required and all calculations may be made by actuarial methods. ['13, c. 184, § 3, parts of subds. 23b and 23c, pp. 591-3.]

§ 5183. Surplus not prohibited. Nothing herein contained shall prevent the maintenance of such surplus over and above the credits on the accumulation basis and the reserves on the tabular basis as the society may provide by or pursuant to its laws, nor be construed as giving to the individual member any right or claim to any such reserve or credit other than in manner as expressed in the contract and its laws; nor as making any such reserve or credits a liability in determining the legal solvency of the society. § 5184. Fees. The department of commerce and industry shall collect in advance from fraternal and benevolent societies the following licenses and fees:

For society's annual license	$ 5.00
For filing society's annual statement	25.00
For filing certified copy of society's articles of incorporation	10.00
For filing society's power of attorney for service of process	2.00
For receiving and forwarding certified copy of summons or other process served upon the commissioner, to be paid by the party requiring such service	2.00

§ 5185. Examination of domestic societies. The department of commerce and industry shall have the power of visitation and examination into the affairs of any domestic society. The department may employ assistants for the purpose of such examination, and the department or any person it may appoint, shall have free access to all the books, papers and documents that relate to the business of the society, and may summon and qualify as witness under oath and examine its officers, agents and employees or other persons in relation to the affairs, transactions and conditions of the society.

The expense of such examination shall be paid by the society examined, upon statement furnished by the department, and the examination shall be made at least once in three years.

§ 5186. Proceedings to dissolve delinquent or insolvent society. Whenever, after examination, the department of commerce and industry is satisfied that any domestic society has failed to comply with any provisions of this chapter, or is exceeding its powers, or is not carrying out its contracts in good faith, or is transacting business fraudulently, or whenever any domestic society, after the existence of one year or more, shall have a membership of less than 400, or shall determine to discontinue business, the department may present the facts relating thereto to the attorney general, who shall, if he deem the circumstances warrant, commence an action in quo warranto in a court of competent jurisdiction, and such court shall thereupon notify the officers of such society of a hearing, and if it shall then appear that such society should be closed, said society shall be enjoined from carrying on any further business, and some person shall be appointed receiver of such society, and shall proceed at once to take possession of the books, papers, moneys and other assets of the society and shall forthwith, under the direction of the court, proceed to close the affairs of the society and to distribute its funds to those entitled thereto.

No such proceedings shall be commenced by the attorney general against any such society until after notice has been duly served on the chief executive officers of the society and a reasonable opportunity given to it, on a date to be named in said notice, to show cause why such proceedings should not be commenced.

No application for injunction against, or proceedings for the dissolution of, or the appointment of a receiver for any such domestic society or branch thereof shall be entertained by any court in this state unless the same is made by the attorney general.

§ 5190. Revocation of license. When the department of commerce and industry, on investigation, is satisfied that any foreign society transacting business under this chapter has exceeded its powers, or has failed to comply with any provision of this chapter, or is conducting business fraudulently, or is not carrying out its contracts in good faith, the department shall notify the society of its findings, and state in writing the grounds of its dissatisfaction and after reasonable notice require said society, on a date named, to show cause why its license should not be revoked. If on the date named in said notice such objections have not been removed to the satisfaction of the said department, or the society does not present good and sufficient reasons why its authority to transact business in this state should not at that time be revoked, it may revoke the authority of the society to continue business in this state. All decisions and findings of the department made under the provisions of this section may be reviewed by proper proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction, as provided in sections 5160, 5161, 5162.

§ 5191. Application of chapter: Exempt societies. Nothing contained in this chapter shall be construed to affect or apply to grand or subordinate lodges of Masons, Odd Fellows or Knights of Pythias, exclusive of the insurance department of the Supreme Lodge Knights of Pythias, and the Junior Order of United American Mechanics exclusive of the beneficiary degree or insurance branch of the National Council Junior Order United American Mechanics, or societies which limit their membership to any one hazardous occupation, nor to similar societies which do not issue insurance certificates, nor to an association of local lodges of a society now doing business in this state which provides death benefits not exceeding $300 to any one person, or disability benefits not exceeding $300 in any one year to any one person, or both, nor to any contracts of reinsurance business on such plan in this state, nor to domestic societies which limit their membership to the employees of a particular city or town, designated firm, business house or corporation, nor to domestic lodges, orders or associations of a purely religious, charitable and benevolent description, which do not provide for a death benefit of more than $100 or for disability benefits of more than $150 to any one person in any one year: Provided always, That any such domestic order or society which has more than 500 members and provides for death or disability benefits, and any domestic lodge, order or society which issues to any person a certificate providing for the payment of benefits, shall not be exempt by the provisions of this section, but shall comply with all the requirements of this chapter. The department of commerce and industry may require from any society such information as will enable the department to determine whether such society is exempt from the provisions of this chapter.

No society which is exempt by the provisions of this section from the requirements of this chapter shall give or allow, or promise to give or allow, to any person any compensation for procuring new members.

CHAPTER 204.

FRATERNAL BENEFIT SOCIETIES: DEATH BENEFITS OF CHILDREN.

Comp. leg. The law herein contained is practically a copy of the uniform law of the national fraternal congress, which law in January, 1919, was in effect in 23 states of the Union.

§ 5198. Death benefit of children. Any fraternal benefit society authorized to do business in this state and operating on the lodge plan, may provide in its constitution and by-laws, in addition to other benefits provided for therein, for the payment of death or annuity benefits upon the lives of children between the ages of 2 and 18 years at next birthday, for whose support and maintenance a member of such society is responsible. Any such society may at its option organize and operate branches for such children and membership in local lodges and initiation therein shall not be required of such children, nor shall they have any voice in the management of the society. The total benefits payable as above provided shall in no case exceed the following amounts at ages at next birthday at time of death, respectively as follows: Two, $34; three, $40; four, $48; five, $58; six, $140; seven, $168; eight, $200; nine, $240; ten, $300; eleven, $380; twelve, $460; thirteen to fifteen, $520; and sixteen to eighteen years, where not authorized by law, $600. ['19, c. 175, § 2, p. 550.]

§ 5199. Benefit certificates: Contributions. No benefit certificate as to any child shall take effect until after medical examination or inspection by a licensed medical practitioner, in accordance with the laws of the society, nor shall any such benefit certificate be issued unless the society shall simultaneously put in force at least 500 such certificates, on each of which at least one assessment has been paid, nor where the number of lives represented by such certificate falls below five hundred. The death benefit contributions to be made upon such certificate shall be based upon the standard industrial mortality table or the English life table No. 6 and a rate of interest not greater than 4 per cent per annum, or upon a higher standard; provided that contributions may be waived or returns may be made from any surplus held in excess or reserve and other liabilities, as provided in the by-laws, and, provided further that extra contributions shall be made if the reserves hereafter provided for become impaired. ['19, c. 175, § 3, p. 551.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Contributions to be kept as separate funds: § 5200. Separation of assets, funds and liabilities: § 5201.

§ 5200. Same: Surrender on children being admitted to benefit membership. Any society entering into such whole family insurance agreements, shall maintain on all such contracts the reserve required by the standard of mortality and interest adopted by the society for computing contributions as provided in section 5199, and the funds representing the benefit contributions and all accretions thereon shall be kept as separate and distinct funds, independent of the other funds of the society and shall not be liable for nor used for the payment of the debts and obligations of the society other than the benefits herein authorized; provided, that a society may provide that when a child reaches the minimum age, for initiation into membership in such society, any benefit certificate issued hereunder may be surrendered for cancellation and exchanged for any other form of certificate issued by the society, provided that such surrender will not reduce the number of lives insured in the branch below 500, and upon the issuance of such new certificate any reserve upon the original certificate herein provided for shall be transferred to the credit of the new certificate. Neither the person who originally made application for benefits on account of such child, nor the beneficiary named in such original certificates, nor the person who paid the contribution, shall have any vested right in such new certificate, the free nomination of a beneficiary under the new certificate being left to the child so admitted to benefit membership. ['19, c. 175, § 4, p. 551.]

§ 5201. Separation of assets and liabilities under law. An entirely separate financial statement of the business transactions and of assets and liabilities arising therefrom shall be made in its annual report to the department of commerce and industry by any society availing itself of the provisions thereof. The separation of assets, funds and liabilities required hereby shall not be terminated, rescinded or modified, nor shall the funds be diverted for any use other than as specified in section 5199, as long as any certificates issued hereunder remain in force, and this requirement shall be recognized and enforced in any liquidation, reinsurance, merger or other change in the condition of the status of the society.

Hist. '19, c. 175, § 5, p. 552; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5202. Payments to general fund. Any society shall have the right to provide in its laws and the certificate issued hereunder for special payment on account of the expense or general fund, which payments shall, or shall not be mingled with the general fund of the society as its constitution and by-laws may provide. ['19, c. 175, § 6, p. 552.]

§ 5203. Termination of membership of person taking out certificate. In the event of the termination of membership in the society by the person responsible for the support of any child, on whose account a certificate may have been issued, as provided herein, the certificate may be continued for the benefit of the estate of the child, provided the contributions are continued, or for the benefit of any other person responsible for the support and maintenance of such child, who shall assume the payment of the required contributions. ['19, c. 175, § 7, p. 552.]

§ 5204. Certain provisions of law not applicable to child members. It is further provided that any of the provisions and requirements of chapter 203 specifying the qualification of membership to such societies, providing for the election, initiation and admission of members and the privilege or requirements of participating in the government and management of the parent society shall not apply to the provisions of this chapter regarding the admission of children to the benefits of such societies. ['19, c. 175, § 8, p. 552.]

TITLE XXXIX. BANKING.

CHAPTER 205.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY AS SUCCESSOR TO THE STATE BANK DEPARTMENT AND STATE BANK COMMISSIONER.

Hist. This law was first enacted in '01, p. 175, codified in R. C. §§ 189-94, 2968-3010. It was superseded though not expressly repealed by '11, c. 124, p. 386, which as subsequently amended was embodied in C. L. c. 223. The law provided for the organization of the state banking department and the appointment of a state bank commissioner and deputies.

'19, c. 8, § 51, p. 69, repealed C. L. 223:1-9; § 38 of the same act (§ 351 herein) abolished the banking department and the offices of the state bank commissioner and his deputies, and § 28 (§ 284 herein) vested their powers and duties in the department of commerce and industry.

The section notes "Compiled upon authority '19, c. 8," etc., indicate that the substitutions of offices and officials authorized by that act have been made accordingly; the text of preexisting law not being changed except in so far as necessary in making such substitutions.

Section 5211 relating to the board of appeal has been omitted on authority '19, c. 8, § 38 (§ 351 herein).

ARTICLE 1.

§ 5205. Records not public. The department of commerce and industry shall keep proper books and records of all acts, matters and things done by it under the provisions of this chapter as records of its office, but the same shall not be subject to public inspection, except as in this chapter otherwise provided.

Hist. '05, p. 175, part of § 42, reen. R. C. § 3008; am. '11, c. 124, § 9, pp. 386, 388; am. '15, c. 81, § 1, p. 195, reen. C. L. 223:10; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5206. Reports. The department of commerce and industry shall receive and place on file in the office of the department the reports to be made by the banks and trust companies under this chapter; prepare and furnish, on demand, to all the banks and trust companies required to report blank forms for such statements or reports as may be by law required of them; make on or before the 31st day of December of each year a report to the governor of this state containing a copy of the published abstract of the last report furnished by each bank and trust company under jurisdiction of the department, and any other proceedings had or done by the department under this chapter, showing generally the condition of the banking business of this state, and such other matters in connection with such general banking business as, in its opinion, may be of interest to the public, with a detailed statement, verified by oath, of all moneys, fees, etc., received by it during the same period, and shall publish at least 250 copies of such report in pamphlet form for distribution.

§ 5207. Penalty for disclosure of official confidential information. Neither the department of commerce and industry nor any of its deputies or clerks shall disclose to any person any fact or information obtained in the course of business of the department, except in the following cases:

1. When by the terms of this chapter it is made the duty of the department to make public records and publish the same.
2. When the department is required by law to take special action regarding the affairs of any bank or trust company.
3. When called as a witness in any criminal proceeding or trial in a court of justice.
4. When in the case of an insolvent bank it is necessary or advisable, in the discretion of the department, for the good of the public or of the depositors.
5. When, in the discretion of the department, it is advisable to disclose any such information to the United States comptroller of the currency or a national bank examiner.

Any violation of this section shall subject the offender to prosecution for felony in any court of competent jurisdiction, and upon conviction thereof, to punishment by a fine not exceeding $1000, with imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, until such fine is paid, and such conviction shall subject the offender to a forfeiture of his office or employment.

§ 5209. Rules and regulations. The department of commerce and industry, by and with the approval of the governor and attorney general, shall have power to make such rules and regulations for the government of the banks and trust companies of this state, doing business under this chapter, as may, in the judgment of the department, seem wise and expedient: Provided, That no rule or regulation shall in any way conflict with any of the laws made for the control of such banks and trust companies under this chapter.

Hist. '11, c. 124, § 55, p. 403, reen. C. L. 223:14; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5210. Duties of attorney general. The attorney general of the state shall have charge and control of the actions, suits or proceedings begun by the department of commerce and industry under authority of this chapter, but may, in his discretion, require any county attorney to conduct any litigation growing out of this chapter before the district court in any county.

Hist. (See '05, p. 175, § 48, reen. R. C. § 3010) '11, c. 124, § 88, p. 413, reen. C. L. 223:15; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

ARTICLE 2.

ORGANIZATION OF BANKING CORPORATIONS.

§ 5212. Definition of banks and banking. Any person, firm, association, copartnership, company or corporation, domestic or foreign (except national banks), having a place of business within this state where credits are opened by the deposit or collection of money or currency, subject to be paid or remitted upon draft, check or order, and where money is advanced or loaned on stock, bonds, bullion, bills of exchange or promissory notes, or where stock, bonds, bullions, bills of exchange or promissory notes are received for discount or for sale, shall be regarded as a bank or bankers and as doing a banking business under the provisions of this chapter. ['11, c. 124, § 10, p. 388.]

Hist. '05, p. 175, § 7, reen. R. C. § 2968; am. '11, c. 124, § 10, p. 388, reen. C. L. 223:17.

Cited: McTamany v. Day (1912) 23 I. 95, 128 P. 653.

§ 5213. How incorporated: Capital required. Banking corporations may be formed under the general corporation laws of this state for the purpose of conducting and carrying on a banking business and also to establish offices of loans and deposit to be known as savings banks, or to establish banks, having departments for both classes of business, upon the terms and conditions and subject to the liabilities prescribed in this chapter. No banking corporation shall have less than five directors, and every such corporation shall, before it transacts any banking business, file with the department of commerce and industry a certified copy of its articles of incorporation. It shall be unlawful for any corporation, partnership, firm or individual, except as herein provided, to transact a banking business, unless such corporation, partnership, firm or individual has property of cash value as follows: In cities, villages and communities having a population of less than 2000 inhabitants, $15,000; in cities, villages and communities having a population of less than 3000 and more than 2000, $20,000; in cities having a population of less than 5000 and more than 3000, $25,000; in cities having a population of less than 10,000 and more than 5000, $30,000; in cities having a population of 10,000 and less than 25,000, $50,000; in cities of over 25,000 population, $100,000. Such property shall be in money, well secured paper, bank furniture, fixtures or the necessary bank building, including the lot or lots on which the building is situated, which said lot or lots shall be unincumbered: Provided, Not less than 50 per cent of the paid in capital must be in actual cash: Provided further, That it shall be unlawful for any person subscribing for stock to give the bank his or her note in payment or part payment of said bank stock.

§ 5216. Same: Filing. Articles of incorporation must be filed in the office of the county recorder of the county in which the principal business of the corporation is to be transacted, and a copy thereof certified by the county recorder shall be filed with the secretary of state. A like certified copy of said articles of incorporation shall also be filed with the department of commerce and industry.

Hist. '11, c. 124, § 14, p. 390, reen. C. L. 223:21; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5217. Same: Amendment. Every corporation or copartnership doing a banking business must, before filing any amendment to its articles of incorporation or copartnership, secure the approval of the department of commerce and industry thereto. Before such amendment shall take effect a certified copy thereof must be filed with the department.

§ 5219. Delinquent stock. When any stockholder or his assignee shall fail to pay any instalment on his stock, when the same is required by the preceding section to be paid, the directors of such bank must sell the delinquent stock of such delinquent stockholder at public sale, having first given the delinquent stockholder 20 days' notice, personally or by mail, at his last known address. If no bidder can be found who will pay for such delinquent stock the amount due thereon, with costs incurred, the amount previously paid on such delinquent stock shall be forfeited to the bank and such stock shall be sold as the directors may order within six months from the time of such forfeiture, and if not sold, it shall be cancelled and held as unissued capital stock of the bank. If sold before cancellation, any surplus over the amount due on stock to said bank, less all costs incurred thereon, with interest for the time delinquent, shall be returned to the original stockholder, his heirs or assigns. If such cancellation shall reduce the paid capital stock of the bank below the minimum required by law, the said capital shall, within 30 days thereafter, be increased to the required amount by the original subscription, in default of which the department of commerce and industry shall take charge of said bank and proceed as provided for under sections 5292 and 5293.

§ 5224. Purposes for which trust companies may incorporate. Such corporations may be created for the purpose of establishing a bank of deposit and discount, or both of deposit and discount, and any one or more of the following purposes:

1. To conduct a business of receiving money on deposit and allowing interest thereon, and of buying and selling exchange, gold and silver coins of all kinds; of loaning money upon real estate and personal property and upon collateral and personal securities at a rate of interest not exceeding that allowed by law; also buying, selling and discounting negotiable paper of all kinds, as well as all kinds of commercial paper.

2. To act as fiscal or transfer agent of any state, municipality, body politic or corporation, and in such capacity to receive and disburse money; to transfer, register and countersign certificates of stocks, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness, and to act as agent of any corporation, foreign or domestic, for any lawful purpose.

3. To receive deposits or trust moneys, securities and other personal property from any person or corporation, and to loan money on real or personal securities.

4. To lease, hold, purchase and convey any and all real property necessary to the transaction of its business, or which it shall acquire in satisfaction or partial satisfaction of debts due the corporation by any of its debtors; which shall be alienated in good faith, within five years from the date of its acquisition.

5. To act as trustee under any mortgage or bond issued by any municipality, body politic or corporation, and accept and execute any other municipal or corporate trust, not inconsistent with the laws of this state.

6. To accept trust from and execute trust for married women in respect to their separate property, and to be their agents in the management of such property, or to transact any business in relation thereto.

7. To act under order or appointment of any court of record as guardian, receiver or trustee of the estate of the minor, and as depository of any moneys paid into court, whether for benefit for any such minor or other person, corporation or party.

8. To take, accept and execute any and all such legal trusts, duties and powers in regard to the holding, management and disposition of any estate, real or personal, and the rents and profits thereof, or the sale thereof, as may be granted or confided to it by any court of record or by any person, corporation, municipality or other authority; and it shall be accountable to all parties in interest for the faithful discharge of every such trust, duty or power which it may accept.

9. To take, accept and execute any and all such trusts and powers of whatever nature or description as may be conferred upon or intrusted or committed to it by any person or persons, or any body politic, corporation or other authority, by grant, assignment, transfer, device, bequest or otherwise, which may be intrusted or committed or transferred to it or vested in it by order of any court of record, and to receive, take and hold any property or estate, real or personal, which may be the subject of any such trust.

10. To purchase, invest in and sell stocks, bills of exchange, bonds, mortgages and other securities; and when moneys or securities for moneys are borrowed or received on deposit, or for investment, the bonds or obligations of the company may be given therefor.

11. To act as executor under the last will or administrator of the estate of any deceased person, or as guardian of any infant, insane person, idiot or habitual drunkard, or trustee for any convict in the penitentiary under appointment of any court of record having jurisdiction of the estate of such deceased person, infant, insane person, idiot, habitual drunkard or convict. § 5225. Capital stock. The amount of capital stock of any trust company shall not be less than $50,000, which capital must be fully paid up in lawful money of the United States. ['11, c. 124, part of § 21, p. 393.]

Hist. '11, c. 124, part of § 21, p. 393, reen. '13, c. 172, § 2, p. 546, reen. C. L. 223:30.

§ 5226. Directors. The property or business of the corporation shall be controlled and managed by a board of directors of not less than five in number, one of whom shall be a bona fide resident of this state. Every director of such corporation must be the owner, in his own right, of stock not hypothecated, therein to the amount of at least $500 par value. He shall take and subscribe an oath that he will faithfully and diligently perform the duties of such office, and will not knowingly violate or permit to be violated any provision of this chapter. Such oath shall be transmitted to the department of commerce and industry and filed in the office of the department.

ARTICLE 4.

SAVINGS BANKS.

§ 5227. Powers: Regulations. Any bank which shall designate its business as that of a savings bank existing under the laws of this state shall have power to carry on the business of banking, as prescribed and limited in this chapter, and may receive money on savings deposits, and such deposits shall be repaid to the depositors and their lawful representatives when required at such time or times and with such interest as the regulations of the bank from time to time prescribe. A pass book shall be issued to each depositor, containing the rules and regulations prescribed by the bank, governing such deposits, in which shall be entered each deposit made by, and each payment made to such depositor, and no payment made to such depositor and no payment or check against any such savings account shall be made unless accompanied by and entered in the pass book issued therefor, except for good cause and assurance satisfactory to the bank officers; but nothing in this section shall prevent savings banks from issuing time certificates of deposit or certificates of deposit specifically issued subject to the rules and regulations governing saving deposits.

Every savings bank, and any other bank or trust company with a savings department, may require from such depositors 60 days' notice on all withdrawals of $50 or over. ['11, c. 124, § 22, p. 393.]

§ 5228. Investment of savings deposits. It shall be lawful for any savings bank to invest its savings deposits only as follows and not otherwise:

1. In bonds or interest bearing notes or certificates of the United States, including bonds issued by federal farm loan banks.
2. In bonds or interest bearing evidence of indebtedness of this state.
3. In bonds or warrants or local improvement bonds or warrants of any city, town, county, school district or irrigation district of this state, issued pursuant to authority of law, but not exceeding 50 per cent of the capital and surplus of any savings bank, shall consist of bonds or warrants of any one city, town, county, school district or irrigation district.
4. In bonds or warrants of any state in the union or any city, town, county, school or irrigation district of any such state that has not for three years previous to such investment being made defaulted in payment of the interest on its legal funded debt, but not exceeding 50 per cent of the capital and surplus of any such bank shall be invested in the bonds of any one state or of any county or municipality outside of this state.
5. In notes or bonds secured by mortgage to such savings bank or by mortgage or deed of trust to any trust company under the laws of this state upon unincumbered real estate worth at least double the amount loaned thereon. Whenever buildings are included in the valuation of any real estate upon which a loan shall be made by such savings bank they shall be insured by the borrower for the benefit of such savings bank in some reliable company, and such policy of insurance shall be assigned to such savings bank, and it shall be lawful for such savings bank to renew such policy of insurance from year to year, in case the borrower neglects to do so, and charge the same to him.

6. In real estate subject to the provisions of section 5251, except that no savings bank hereafter established shall have more than 50 per cent of its capital invested in the lot and building in which the business of such savings bank may be carried on.

7. In dealing in exchange by purchasing and selling sight and time drafts and notes.

8. While awaiting opportunity for the judicious investment of funds deposited with such savings bank to loan the moneys so deposited upon well secured commercial paper or upon the security of stocks and other securities not exceeding 80 per cent of the cash market value thereof. ARTICLE 5.

SAVINGS BANK BONDS.

§ 5230. Bonds secured by mortgages. Every savings bank and trust company maintaining a savings department, having a paid up capital of not less than $100,000, may, in lieu of selling or negotiating the real estate mortgages in which its savings deposits have been invested, issue, sell, or otherwise turn to account, bonds or debentures of such denomination or denominations as it may deem proper, and secure the payment of the principal and interest thereof by such real estate mortgages, but it shall deposit such mortgages in trust, for the benefit of the purchasers and holders of such debentures and bonds, with the state treasurer of the state of Idaho, as trustee, and the aggregate amount of principal and interest, payable under such debentures or bonds, shall not exceed the aggregate of principal and interest payable under the mortgages deposited as security therefor, but the principal amount payable under any issue or series shall be not less than $20,000. ['13, c. 191, § 1, p. 633.]

Hist. '13, c. 191, § 1, p. 633, reen. C. L. 223:35.

§ 5231. Approval of mortgages: Exchange: Duty of department. The mortgages deposited as security for the payment of such debentures and bonds shall first have been approved for the investment of savings deposits by the department of commerce and industry, and such approval noted thereon. And the bank or trust company issuing such debentures or bonds may from time to time as the necessity therefor arises exchange or substitute for mortgages deposited with the state treasurer as herein provided, other real estate mortgages, approved as aforesaid: Provided, however, That the aggregate principal and interest payable under such mortgages shall never be less than the aggregate principal and interest payable under such debentures or bonds.

Hist. '13, c. 191, part of § 2, p. 634, reen. C. L. 223:36; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5232. Duties of state treasurer. The state treasurer is authorized to execute all necessary instruments, assignments, releases and certificates to carry out the provisions of this article, and to make such rules and regulations in relation thereto as he may from time to time deem necessary: Provided further, That the state of Idaho shall in no event and under no circumstances be liable for either principal or interest of such debentures, bonds or mortgages, or for the safe keeping thereof, or for any other act hereby authorized to be done. But the state treasurer shall be liable under his official bond for the safe keeping of the notes and mortgages deposited with him under this article, and for the certification or authentication by him of bonds and debentures in excess of the amount hereby authorized to be issued or certified against the mortgages deposited as aforesaid, and for all moneys paid to him hereunder, as such trustee. ['13, c. 191, part of § 2, p. 634.]

Hist. '13, c. 191, part of § 2, p. 634, reen. C. L. 223:37.

§ 5233. Collection of pledged securities. The savings bank or trust company issuing such bonds or debentures shall not be liable thereunder or for the payment thereof, either principal or interest, but the same shall be paid out of the mortgages deposited as security therefor, anything in such bonds or debentures to the contrary notwithstanding; but the institution issuing the same shall use due diligence in collecting and enforcing the payment of the amount due under such mortgages, and shall be liable only for its negligence in so doing; and it shall faithfully account for and pay over to the holders of such debentures or bonds all moneys collected under such mortgages to the extent required to fully pay and discharge the principal and interest payable under such bonds or debentures; and the state treasurer, as trustee for the holders of such bonds or debentures, may, in his discretion and upon the necessary costs and expenses first being advanced, foreclose the mortgages, or any of them, upon which default has been made, according to the terms thereof, deposited as security for any such bonds or debentures; and pending such action or proceedings by the state treasurer the authority of the savings bank or trust company in the premises shall be suspended. ['13, c. 191, § 3, p. 634.]

§ 5234. Fees of state treasurer. The state treasurer shall be entitled to collect 20 cents for each debenture or bond authenticated or certified by him as having been issued under the provisions of this article, and one-fourth of 1 per cent of all interest, and one-eighth of 1 per cent of all principal paid through his office on such bonds or debentures: Provided, however, That the interest and principal of such bonds or debentures shall be payable at the place therein designated. ['13, c. 191, § 4, p. 635.]

ARTICLE 6.

SAVINGS DEPARTMENTS OF TRUST COMPANIES.

§ 5235. Application of article. A trust company organized prior to May 3, 1911, under chapter 194, and maintaining a savings department or conducting a savings bank within the meaning of the state banking law on March 13, 1913, shall, in the management and maintenance of such savings department, be subject to all the provisions of the state banking law applicable to savings banks organized under such state banking law, except as the same may conflict with the provisions hereof: Provided, That such trust company did prior to May 7, 1913, file with the state bank commissioner a certified copy of its charter or articles of incorporation, with the amendments thereto, if any, and the affidavit of the treasurer, cashier or president thereof, showing its paid up capital in an amount not less than that required for savings banks organized under the state banking law, and such other information as was required by law to be embodied in the reports to the state bank commissioner by savings banks. No charter, other than that provided for by the law under which it was incorporated, or certificate or license from the state bank commissioner, shall be required of any such trust company. [C. L. 223:40.]

Hist. (See R. C. § 2969) Compiled from '13, c. 187, §§ 1, 2, pp. 619-20; compiled and reen. C. L. 223:40.

§ 5236. Investment of funds: Approved securities. It shall be lawful for such trust company to invest its savings deposits only as follows, and not otherwise:

1. In bonds or interest bearing notes or certificates of the United States, including bonds issued by federal farm loan banks.
2. In bonds or interest bearing evidences of indebtedness of this state.
3. In bonds or warrants or local improvement bonds or warrants of any city, town, county, school district or irrigation district in this state, issued pursuant to authority of law but not exceeding 40 per cent of the capital and surplus and not exceeding 20 per cent of the savings deposits of any such trust company shall consist of bonds or of warrants of any one city, town, county, school district or irrigation district.
4. In bonds or warrants of any state in the union or any city, town, county, school or irrigation district of any such state that has not for three years previous to such investment being made defaulted in payment of the interest on its legal funded debt, but not exceeding 40 per cent of the capital and surplus and not exceeding 20 per cent of the savings deposits of any such trust company shall be invested in the bonds of any one state or of any county or municipality outside of this state.
5. In notes or bonds secured by mortgage to such trust company or by mortgage or deed of trust to any trust company under the laws of this state upon unincumbered real estate worth at least double the amount loaned thereon. Whenever buildings are included in the valuation of any real estate upon which a loan shall be made by such trust company they shall be insured by the borrower for the benefit of such trust company in some reliable company and such policy of insurance shall be assigned to such trust company, and it shall be lawful for such trust company to renew such policy of insurance from year to year, in case the borrower neglects to do so, and charge the same to him.
6. In real estate subject to the provisions governing such investments by savings banks organized under the state banking law. But no such trust company or corporation shall have more than 50 per cent of its capital invested in the title plant, abstract books and lot and building in which the business of such trust company may be carried on.
7. While awaiting opportunity for the judicious investment of funds deposited with such trust company, to loan the moneys so deposited upon well secured commercial paper or upon the security of stocks and other securities not exceeding 80 per cent of the cash market value thereof. ['17, c. 10, § 1, p. 12.]

Hist. '13, c. 187, § 3; am. '17, c. 10, § 1, p. 12, reen. C. L. 223:41.

§ 5237. Cash reserve. Every such trust company shall have on hand at all times, in actual cash in its vaults, not less than 5 per cent of its savings deposits. ['13, c. 187, § 4, p. 621.]

Hist. '13, c. 187, § 4, p. 621, reen. C. L. 223:42.

§ 5238. Investments impressed with trust. All loans and investments of savings and trust deposits shall be held solely for the repayment of savings and trust depositors, and shall not be liable for, pledged as security for, or used to pay any other obligation or liability of such trust company until after the payment in full of all such depositors. ['13, c. 187, § 5, p. 621.]

ARTICLE 7.
GENERAL REGULATIONS.

§ 5239. Authorization necessary to do business. No bank or trust company shall transact any business, except such as incidental or necessarily preliminary to its organization, until it has been regularly authorized by the department of commerce and industry to commence the business of banking.

Hist. (See R. C. §§ 2971, 2975) '11, c. 124, § 27, p. 395, reen. C. L. 223:44; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 5240. Certificate of authority. Whenever articles of incorporation are filed with the department of commerce and industry, as herein provided, and the bank or trust company transmitting the same notifies the department that its capital stock has been duly paid in and whether such bank or trust company has complied with all the provisions of this chapter required before the bank or trust company shall be authorized to commence business, the department of commerce and industry shall, within 30 days, examine into the condition of such bank or trust company, ascertaining whether or not the capital has been paid in and whether such bank or trust company has complied with all the provisions of the law required to entitle it to engage in the business of banking. If, upon such examination, it appears that such bank or trust company is lawfully entitled to commence business, the department of commerce and industry shall forthwith give to such bank or trust company a certificate, under its official seal, that such bank or trust company is authorized to commence business. If the said department has reason to believe that the stockholders have formed the same for any other than the legitimate business contemplated by this chapter, it may withhold the certificate herein mentioned: Provided, That the department of commerce and industry may withhold the issuance of such certificate to a bank or trust company seeking to engage in business in a town which, in its judgment, does not justify or warrant a new or additional bank.

Hist. (See R. C. § 2975) '11, c. 124, § 28, p. 395; am. '17, c. 51, § 3, p. 112, reen. C. L. 223:45; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56; proviso allowing appeal to board of appeal omitted as obsolete.

§ 5241. Fees for issuing charters. The department of commerce and industry shall collect from each bank and trust company a fee for the issue of charter, which fee shall be regulated according to the authorized capital of such bank or trust company as follows:

For all banks and trust companies having an authorized capital of $15,000 and less than $25,000	$25.00
$ 25,000 and under $ 50,000	30.00
50,000 and under 100,000	35.00
100,000 and under 200,000	40.00
200,000 and under 350,000	45.00
350,000 and under 500,000	50.00
500,000 and upward	60.00

§ 5242. Place of meetings. All meetings of the stockholders of every incorporated bank or trust company doing business under this chapter shall be held at the office of the corporation at its principal place of business within this state. Meetings of the board of directors of the corporation, or of its executive committee, shall be held at the principal place of business of the corporation in this state: Provided, That when so provided for in the articles of incorporation or amended articles of incorporation, or by-laws, or by resolution of the board of directors, meetings of the board of directors and of the executive committee may be held for the transaction of any business of the corporation at any place within this state, other than at its principal place of business. Hist. '11, c. 124, § 30, p. 396; am. '13, c. 172, § 4, p. 547, reen. C. L. 223:47.

§ 5243. By-laws. Every corporation formed under this chapter must, within one month after filing articles of incorporation, adopt a code of by-laws for its government, not inconsistent with the laws of congress and of this state. The assent of the stockholders representing a majority of all subscribed capital stock is necessary to adopt by-laws if they are adopted at a meeting called for that purpose; and if such meeting be called two weeks' notice of the same by advertisement in some newspaper published in the county in which the principal place of business of the corporation is located, or if none be published therein, then a paper published in an adjoining county, must be given by order of the acting president. The written assent of the holders of two-thirds of the stock subscribed shall be effectual to adopt a code of by-laws without a meeting for that purpose. A copy of the by-laws and of any subsequent amendments thereto must be filed in the office of the department of commerce and industry within 30 days after the adoption thereof.

§ 5244. Branch banks prohibited. No banking corporation or trust company shall maintain any branch bank, receive deposits or pay checks, except over the counter of and in its own banking house. And, Provided, That nothing in this section shall prohibit ordinary clearing house transactions between banks.

Corporations created under the terms of this chapter shall not be authorized to engage in the business at more than one place, which shall be designated in their charters. ['11, c. 124, § 32, p. 397.]

§ 5245. Stock: Transfers. The shares of stock of such incorporated bank or trust company shall be deemed personal property, and shall be transferred on the books of the bank or trust company in such manner as the by-laws thereof shall direct. All transfers of stock shall be certified to the department of commerce and industry immediately; but no such bank or trust company shall accept, as collateral, or be the purchaser of its own capital stock, except in cases where the taking of such collateral, or such purchase, shall be necessary to prevent loss upon a debt previously contracted in good faith, and in such case such stock must be sold by the bank or trust company within six months from the time it was acquired. ['11, c. 124, § 33, p. 397.]

Construed: This section does not impose any penalty or forfeiture for its violation, but if the bank violates it by taking its own capital stock as a pledge, the pledgor cannot, after the bank becomes insolvent, successfully plead the provisions of this section to defeat the foreclosure of his pledge. Meholin v. Carlson (1910) 17 I. 742, 107 P. 755, 134 A. S. R. 286.

§ 5246. Stock book. A book shall be provided and kept by every bank and trust company, in which shall be entered the names and residences of the stockholders thereof, the number of shares held by each, the time when such person became a stockholder, and also all transfers of stock, stating the time when made, the number of shares and by whom transferred. In all actions, suits and proceedings said book shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated. ['11, c. 124, § 34, p. 397.]

§ 5247. Liability of stockholders. The stockholders of every incorporated bank or trust company doing a banking business shall be liable to the creditors of such bank or trust company to the amount of their stock at par value thereof, in addition to the stock held by them; but persons holding stock as administrators, executors, guardians or trustees, or as collateral security, or in pledge, shall not be personally liable as stockholders, but the assets and funds in the hands of such trustees constituting the trust shall be liable to the same extent as the testator or intestate, ward or person interested in such trust fund would be if living or competent to act, and the person pledging such stock shall be deemed a stockholder and liable under this section. Such liability may be enforced by an action at law or suit in equity by any such bank or trust company in process of liquidation, or by any receiver or other person winding up the affairs of such bank or trust company, or other person succeeding to the legal rights of such bank or trust company. § 5248. Right of examination by stockholders. No stockholder of any bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of this state who is not a director shall have the right to inspect the books and records of such bank or trust company showing its transactions with any of its customers, but any such stockholder shall have the right to inspect during business hours the general statement book showing the general assets and liabilities of such bank or trust company. ['13, c. 172, § 10, p. 549.]

§ 5249. Board of directors. The affairs and business of the bank or trust company shall be managed and controlled by a board of not less than five directors, who shall be elected by the stockholders at their regular stated annual meetings.

No person shall be eligible to serve as a director of any bank or trust company organized or existing under the laws of this state unless he shall [be] the owner in his own right of stock therein to the amount of at least $500, par value.

Any vacancy in the board of directors shall be filled by the board and any director so appointed shall hold office until the next election. The directors of every bank and trust company shall hold a regular meeting at least every three months and complete records of such meetings entered in the minute book and signed by both the chairman and secretary.

Any director, officer or other person who shall participate in any violation of the laws of this state relative to banks or banking shall be liable for all damages which said bank or trust company, its stockholders, depositors or creditors shall sustain in consequence of such violation. Every director shall take and subscribe an oath that he will diligently and honestly perform his duty in such office and will not knowingly violate or permit a violation of any provision of the banking law, and such oath of office shall be transmitted to the department of commerce and industry. The officers of the bank or trust company shall be elected by the board of directors and hold their offices for one year and until their successors are elected and qualified unless sooner removed by the board of directors.

The board shall require the cashier and any and all officers and employees having charge of funds of the bank or trust company to give a good and sufficient bond in some surety company authorized to do business in this state, to be approved and held by them in the minimum amount of $5000.

§ 5250. Examining committee. There shall be appointed by the board of directors of every incorporated bank or trust company doing business under this chapter a committee of not less than three members, whose duty it shall be to examine, every six months, into the affairs of their bank or trust company, count its cash, carefully look over all loans and discounts and securities and compare its assets and liabilities with the accounts of the ledgers, ascertain whether the accounts are carefully kept and if the condition of the bank or trust company corresponds therewith; and whether the bank or company is in a sound condition; the result of which examination shall be reported to the board of directors at the next regular meeting thereafter and said report made part of the bank's records, and a copy of the report transmitted to the department of commerce and industry within 10 days.

The board of directors as a whole may act as a committee above provided for.

§ 5251. Real estate holdings. A bank or trust company may purchase, acquire, hold and convey real estate for the following purposes only:

1. Such as shall be necessary for the convenient transaction of its business, including with its banking offices other apartments to rent as a source of income: Provided, however, That no bank or trust company shall invest in a banking building and lot and furniture and fixtures an amount greater than 50 per cent of the capital and surplus of such bank or trust company.

2. Such as shall be conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of business.

3. Such as it shall purchase at sale on judgments, decrees or mortgage foreclosure under securities held by it, but a bank or trust company shall not bid at such sale a larger amount than is necessary to satisfy its debts and costs.

4. No real estate acquired in the cases contemplated in the second and third subdivisions preceding shall be held for a longer time than five years, except extension is granted by the department of commerce and industry. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent a bank or trust company from loaning moneys upon real estate securities as provided by law or a trust company holding and conveying real estate in trust as herein provided. Real estate shall be conveyed under the corporation seal of the bank or company and the hand of the president or vice president and cashier or assistant cashier.

§ 5258. Loans to officers. It is unlawful for a corporation transacting a banking business in this state to loan to a director, officer or employee thereof or for a director, officer or employee thereof to borrow from such corporation any of its funds, except subject to the following limitations:

1. The indebtedness of an officer, other than a director, or of an employee, shall not exceed 5 per cent of the paid up capital stock and surplus of the corporation.

2. The combined indebtedness of directors, officers and employees shall not exceed 50 per cent of the paid up capital stock and surplus of the corporation.

3. No such loan shall be made without first being approved by a majority of the board of directors at a meeting in the minutes of which such approval is recorded in detail.

And if the directors of any such corporation knowingly permit any of the directors, officers or employees thereof to borrow its funds in violation of this section or in an excessive amount or in a dishonest manner or in a manner incurring great risk of loss to such corporation, every director who participated in and assented to the same is liable personally for all damage which the corporation or its shareholders or any other person may sustain by reason of such loan. § 5259. Loans to officials of department prohibited. It shall be unlawful for the department of commerce and industry, its commissioner, deputies or clerks or either of them to borrow money, directly or indirectly, from any bank or trust company doing business under the provisions of this chapter. Any violation of this section shall be punished according to section 5284.

§ 5271. Surplus funds: Dividends. The board of directors of any bank or trust company may declare a dividend from so much of its net profits after providing for all expenses, losses, interest and taxes accrued or due from said bank or trust company as they shall deem expedient; but before any such dividend is declared not less than one-tenth of the net profits of the bank or trust company for the preceding half year, or for such period as covered by the dividend, shall be carried to a surplus fund, until such surplus fund shall amount to 20 per cent of the paid in capital stock. Any losses sustained by any bank or trust company in excess of its undivided profits may be charged to its surplus account: Provided, That its surplus fund shall thereafter be reimbursed from its earnings, and no dividend shall be declared or paid by any such bank or trust company until its surplus fund shall be fully restored to the amount required by the law. Interest unpaid, although due or accrued, on any debts owing to the bank or trust company shall not be included in the calculation of its profits previous to a dividend. ['11, c. 124, § 51, p. 402.]

Recovery of dividends illegally paid: It is the duty of the receiver of an insolvent bank to recover for the benefit of the creditors, dividends declared by the directors and paid contrary to this provision. McTamany v. Day (1912) 23 I. 95, 103, 128 P. 563.

§ 5272. Dividends: Record. All dividends shall be declared at a meeting of the board of directors. A full and complete record of the proceedings and business of all such meetings shall be spread upon the bank's minute book; such record shall show the disposition of profits in detail, by indicating all poor or worthless items charged out and the amount of same, the amount of expenses charged out, the amount carried to surplus fund, if any, and the amount of dividend, and shall also indicate the amount of the net undivided profits remaining. Within 10 days after such meeting the president or cashier shall transmit to the department of commerce and industry a certified copy of such record.

INSOLVENT AND FAILING BANKS.

§ 5285. Depositors are preferred creditors. In the event of insolvency or bankruptcy of any person, firm, copartnership or corporation maintaining, operating or conducting a bank or a trust company doing a banking business, or doing business within the meaning of this chapter, depositors of such bank or trust company shall have the first and prior lien on all the assets of such bank or trust company, and in the distribution of such assets or the proceeds thereof, the same shall first be applied to satisfy the amount due such depositors. [C. L. 223:90.]

Hist. '05, p. 175, § 47, reen. R. C. § 2990; am. '11, c. 124, § 65, p. 405; compiled and reen. C. L. 223:90.

Secured creditors on same footing: A preference is given to depositors of an insolvent bank over all other creditors, and such depositors are to be classed on an equal footing. Under this statute distribution of assets to depositors must be made ratably, and depositor can be given any advantage by reason of collateral or other security which he may hold from the bank for his deposit. Blackman v. Pettengill (1913) 25 I. 307, 137 P. 182.

Trust funds: State has preferred lien against general assets of insolvent bank for its trust funds commingled therewith. Otherwise, if such funds are stolen or dissipated. S. v. Bruce (1909) 17 I. 1, 102 P. 831, 134 A. S. R. 245.

Where money is loaned by one bank to another upon false representations which amount to fraud upon the bank loaning the money, the contract of loan may be rescinded upon the ground of fraud, and such loan becomes a trust fund in the hands of the bank or its assignee, and like any other fund if it can be traced and if capable of identification it may be recovered from the assignee of the bank, and is a prior claim as against the general creditors. § 5286. Creditors of private banks can not attach. No creditor or creditors of any individual banker or of individual members of any copartnership doing a banking business in this state shall be permitted to attach or seize under writ of attachment or execution or to hold liable for such individual indebtedness any of the assets of the bank until all the depositors and creditors of such bank have been fully paid. § 5287. Voluntary liquidation. Any bank or trust company organized under the provisions of this chapter may go into liquidation and be closed by a vote of its stockholders owning two-thirds of its capital. Whenever a vote is taken to go into liquidation, it shall be the duty of the board of directors to cause notice of this fact to be certified, under the seal of the bank or company, by its president, cashier or treasurer to the department of commerce and industry, and publication thereof, notifying creditors to present their claims against the bank or trust company for payment, shall be made once in each week for four successive weeks in a newspaper published in the city, village or county in which the bank or trust company is located, or if no newspaper is there published, then in the newspaper published at the nearest county seat.

§ 5289. Consolidation. Any bank or trust company which is in good faith winding up its business for the purpose of consolidating with some other bank, may transfer its resources and liabilities to the bank with which it is in process of consolidation, but no consolidation shall be made without the consent of the department of commerce and industry, and not then to defeat or defraud any of the creditors in the collection of their debts against such banks or trust companies, or either of them.

§ 5290. Banks may place affairs in hands of department. Any incorporated bank or trust company doing business in this state under the laws cited in this chapter, may place its affairs and assets under the control of the department of commerce and industry by posting a notice on its front door as follows: "This institution in the hands of the department of commerce and industry." The posting of this notice or of a notice by the department that it has taken possession of any bank or trust company, shall be sufficient to place all its assets and property, of whatever nature, in the possession of the department, and shall operate as a bar to any attachment proceedings whatever.

Purpose of section: This section was enacted for the special purpose of protecting those who place their money on deposit in banking institutions, and the legislature clearly intended in enacting said section to make all the officers who have knowledge of the condition of the bank responsible for the acts of employees thereof in receiving deposits. S. v. Cramer (1911) 20 I. 639, 119 P. 30.

Applied: Where the vice president and business manager of a bank, with full knowledge that his banking institution is insolvent and will not be able to meet its obligations and repay its depositors in the ordinary and due course of business, permits or consents to such banking institution continuing to receive deposits through its regular employees, he is criminally liable under the provisions of this section as a principal and not as an accessory. Ib.

"Insolvent" defined: The word "insolvent" as applied to banking institutions, means that a bank is insolvent when its assets and property are of such a character and value or in such a condition that it is unable to meet the demands made upon it in the usual and ordinary course of banking business. S. v. Cramer (1911) 20 I. 639, 119 P. 30.

§ 5292. Impairment of capital: Duty of directors. In any case where the capital of the bank or trust company shall have become impaired or reduced below the amount required by law or the articles of incorporation, the board of directors of such bank or trust company shall have the power to make a pro rata assessment upon all of the stock of said bank or trust company to make good such deficiency, and may provide that the amount of such deficiency shall be due and payable at a time to be fixed by such board of directors, which time shall not be more than 10 days after the notice of said assessment; and if any stockholder shall fail or neglect to pay the amount of the assessment against his stock for 10 days after the same shall have become so due and payable, the directors of such bank or trust company may offer said stock for sale, and sell the same at public sale upon 10 days' notice to be given by posting copies of such notice of sale in five public places in the town, village or city where such bank or trust company is located. Upon such sale, the purchaser shall forthwith pay the amount of the assessment against said stock. The amount received from the sale of said stock, less the cost and expense of such sale, shall be paid to the original owner of the stock. ['11, c. 124, part of § 72, p. 407.]

§ 5293. Impairment of capital: Duty of department. Whenever the department of commerce and industry shall become satisfied that the capital of any bank or trust company is impaired, or reduced below the amount required by law or the articles of incorporation, or below the amount certified to the department as paid in, it shall have the power to require such bank or trust company, under its seal of office, to make good such impairment or deficiency. If any bank or trust company shall refuse or fail for 30 days after written notice to make good such impairment of its capital, the department of commerce and industry is hereby authorized and empowered to take charge of its affairs and to wind up its business, under the direction of the court in the judicial district in which the bank or trust company is located.

Constitutionality: These sections are not in conflict with Const. I, 13, or V, 2, 13, nor the 14th amendment of the federal constitution. S. v. Title Guaranty & Surety Co. (1915) 27 I. 752, 152 P. 189, aff. 240 U. S. 136, 60 L. ed. 566, 36 S. C. R. 345.

Mandatory: Where power is given by statute to public officers in permissive language it will be regarded as peremptory if the public interest or individual rights require that it should be so regarded. S. v. Title Guaranty & Surety Co. supra.

Impairment not insolvency: This section deals with conditions which the legislature evidently did not consider as reaching insolvency. S. v. Am. Surety Co. (1914) 26 I. 652, 145 P. 1097, Ann. Cas. 1916E 209.

§ 5294. Insolvent bank: Procedure. On becoming satisfied that any bank or trust company has unlawfully refused to pay its depositors in accordance with the terms on which such deposits were received, or that any bank or trust company has become insolvent, the department of commerce and industry may forthwith take possession of the books, records and assets of every description of such bank or trust company and hold the same, and no action or proceeding shall be commenced or maintained for the recovery of the possession of said books, records and assets, or to require a lien thereon except in the proceedings of the district court having jurisdiction over the winding up of the affairs of said bank or trust company. The department of commerce and industry shall at once proceed to collect all debts, dues and claims, and to sell or compound all doubtful debts, and to sell all real and personal property, on such terms as the court shall direct. Said department shall pay over all money by it received under the order of the court.

Constitutionality: The power conferred upon the bank commissioner by this statute to close a state bank, if on examination it is found insolvent, without awaiting judicial proceedings is constitutional. S. v. Title Guaranty etc. Co. (1915) 27 I. 752, 152 P. 189, aff. Title Guaranty etc. Co. v. State of Idaho (1916) 240 U. S. 136, 36 S. C. R. 345, 60 L. ed. 566.

Mandatory: If bank commissioner becomes satisfied that a bank has unlawfully refused to pay depositors or is insolvent, it becomes his mandatory duty to close the bank, and for failure to do so he is liable on his bond to depositors who lose money as a direct result of his neglect. S. v. Title Guaranty etc. Co. (1915) 27 I. 752, 152 P. 189, aff. 240 U. S. 136, 60 L. ed. 566, 36 S. C. R. 345.

Payment of dividends: The entire procedure of the payment of dividends by the receiver of an insolvent bank is left to the order of the court, bound by the requirements of law as generally applied and administered in such cases. Blackman v. Pettengill (1913) 25 I. 307, 137 P. 182.

§ 5295. Same: Duty of department. To carry out the provisions of sections 5292, 5293 and 5294, the commissioner of commerce and industry is hereby authorized, and it is made his duty, to take charge of such bank or trust company personally or by his deputy, or by a special deputy appointed by the department for that specific purpose; and the person so taking charge of the affairs of any such bank or trust company shall give a good and sufficient bond to be approved by the court. All expenses incident to such duties as are hereby imposed, including a per diem not to exceed $10, shall be paid under the order of the court out of the assets of the bank or trust company whose affairs are being administered, and the moneys so received shall, after providing for the compensation of a special deputy and all incidental expenses, be turned in to the state treasury. The compensation of a special deputy, as herein provided for, shall not exceed that allowed regularly appointed deputies connected with the department.

§ 5296. Banks temporarily embarrassed may resume. If the department of commerce and industry, upon taking charge of a bank or trust company as hereinbefore provided, shall discover that said bank or company is only temporarily embarrassed for want of available funds, and, that in its opinion, the bank or trust company assets are sufficient to pay its liabilties other than its surplus and undivided profits, leaving its capital unimpaired, or if the officers and stockholders of said bank or trust company will arrange to make good its capital, if impaired, it may permit the officers and directors of said bank or trust company to arrange with its depositors and creditors for extensions of time for payment of said depositors and creditors, and the resumption of business by said bank or trust company. And when said department shall be satisfied that the capital of said bank or trust company has been made good and that it is solvent, and has sufficient funds on hand to meet the demands to be made upon it in the ordinary way, and that it has arranged with its depositors and creditors for such extensions of time as will enable the bank or trust company to realize on its assets to meet such obligations, the department may at any time within 60 days after taking charge, permit said bank or trust company to resume business, and in such case shall issue a proper certificate to said bank or trust company for such purpose: Provided, however, That said bank or trust company shall pay all the expenses of the department of commerce and industry and its employees in so taking charge of and looking after the affairs of said bank and trust company during the time it has been under its control, including a per diem of $10, and the money so received by the department shall be turned in to the state treasury.

§ 5297. Forfeiture of charter. If the board of directors or a quorum thereof, of any bank or trust company knowingly violate, or knowingly permit any of the officers, agents or employees of the bank or trust company to violate any of the provisions of this chapter, and, after warning from the department of commerce and industry, shall fail to make good all loss and damage resulting from such acts or omissions, or continue such conduct, such conduct shall constitute a ground for a forfeiture of the charter and privileges of said bank or trust company, and it shall be the duty of the department, with the assent of the attorney general, to institute proceedings to enforce such forfeiture and to secure a dissolution and a winding up of the affairs of such bank or trust company.

Any bank or trust company which neglects and fails to open for business within one year from the date from which its charter was issued shall be deemed to have forfeited the charter and have no further legal existence.

EXAMINATION BY DEPARTMENT.

§ 5299. Examination. Every bank and trust company doing business under this chapter shall be subject to the inspection and supervision of the department of commerce and industry, as provided in this chapter.

It shall be the duty of the department of commerce and industry, and it shall have power, to examine twice each year, or whenever it shall deem it necessary, without previous notice, the cash, bills, collateral or securities, books of accounts, condition and affairs of each bank or trust company under the law. For this purpose, the department shall have authority to demand and inspect all books, papers, moneys, notes, bonds or evidences of debt of such bank or trust company and may examine on oath any of the officers, agents, clerks, customers or depositors of such bank or trust company, touching the affairs and business of such bank or trust company. Any wilful false swearing in any examination shall be deemed perjury. The department shall also ascertain whether each bank and trust company is conducting its business in the manner prescribed by law. In examination, the officers and clerks shall give any assistance required by the department.

Hist. (See R. C. §§ 3001-2) '11, c. 124, § 78, p. 410, reen. C. L. 223:104; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

Cross ref. Refusal to submit to examination: § 5278. Similar provision as to false swearing: § 5277.

Beneficiaries: The legislature in enacting this section, making it the duty of the bank commissioner to make an examination of state banks, imposed such duty for the benefit and protection of the depositors as well as the public. S. v. Am. Surety Co. (1914) 26 I. 652, 145 P. 1097, Ann. Cas. 1916E 209.

§ 5300. Fees for examinations. The department of commerce and industry shall collect from each bank and trust company, for each complete examination of its condition, an amount regulated according to the capital, surplus, undivided profits and assets of said bank or trust company, divided as to capital, surplus and undivided profits, and as to total assets, according to the following schedule, to wit:

For all banks and trust companies having a capital, surplus and undivided profits amounting to:

$ 10,000 and less than $25,000	$12.50
25,000 and under 50,000	16.00
50,000 and under 75,000	22.50
75,000 and under 100,000	32.50
100,000 and under 150,000	35.00
150,000 and under 200,000	37.50
200,000 and under 250,000	40.00
250,000 and under 500,000	42.50
500,000 and upwards	45.00

Together with the following additional charge according to the total assets of each bank or trust company as shown at the time of examination:

Under $50,000	$12.50
$ 50,000 and under $ 100,000	16.00
100,000 and under 150,000	22.50
150,000 and under 250,000	27.50
250,000 and under 350,000	30.00
350,000 and under 500,000	35.00
500,000 and under 750,000	37.50
750,000 and under 1,000,000	40.00
1,000,000 and under 1,500,000	45.00
1,500,000 and under 2,000,000	50.00
2,000,000 and under 3,000,000	55.00
And all banks with total assets of over $3,000,000	60.00

Provided, however, That no bank or trust company shall be required to pay for more than two regular examinations during any one year.

The department shall collect from each bank and trust company for each special examination of its condition which in its opinion is necessary, an amount sufficient to reimburse the department for the actual expenses incurred in connection therewith.

§ 5301. Directors to be advised of condition. The department of commerce and industry shall, after each examination, address a letter to the president or chairman of the board of directors, calling attention to the condition of the bank or company at the time of examination. Such letter from the department shall be read at the first meeting of the board of directors following its receipt and the bank or company's minute book shall show the receipt of such letter.

§ 5302. Reports of banks. Every bank and trust company shall make to the department of commerce and industry not less than four reports during each calendar year, at the times that reports are called for from national banks by the comptroller of the currency, according to the forms which he shall prescribe. Such reports shall be signed and verified by the oath or affirmation of one of the officers of such bank or trust company, and attested by at least two of the directors. Such reports shall exhibit in detail and under proper heads the resources and liabilities of the bank or trust company, at the close of the business at any past day by the department specified, within 10 days after the receipt of the request therefor from him. Such report shall be published in a newspaper in the village or city or county in which said bank or trust company is located, or in a paper published nearest to such town, and in the same form as made to the department. Proof of publication shall be furnished to said department within 30 days after receipt of the aforesaid call.

The department of commerce and industry shall also have the power to call for special reports from any bank or trust company whenever in its judgment the same is necessary to inform the department fully of the condition of such bank or trust company. It shall not be necessary for such bank or trust company to publish in a newspaper such special report.

§ 5303. Failure to transmit reports. Every bank or trust company failing to make and transmit to the department of commerce and industry any of the reports or proofs of publication as required by this chapter, shall, at the discretion of the department, be subject to a forfeiture of $10 for each day after the time required for making such reports. Whenever any bank or trust company fails or refuses to pay the forfeiture herein imposed for a failure to make and transmit such report, the department is hereby authorized to institute proceedings for the recovery of such forfeiture.

INTERPRETATION.

§ 5304. Application to private banks and previously existing corporations. The provisions of this chapter shall, as far as applicable, govern all private banks, and shall govern all incorporated state banks and trust companies, doing a banking business. The powers, privileges, duties and restrictions heretofore conferred and imposed upon any bank or trust company existing and doing business under the laws of this state, are hereby abridged, enlarged or modified as each particular case may require, to conform with the provisions of this chapter. CHAPTER 206.

REGULATION OF INVESTMENT COMPANIES.

(Blue Sky Law.)

Hist. '19, c. 8, § 38 (§ 351 herein) abolished the banking department and the offices of the state bank commissioner and his deputies, and § 28 of the same act (§ 284 herein) vested their powers and duties in the department of commerce and industry. The section notes "Compiled upon authority '19, c. 8," etc., indicate that the substitutions of offices and officials authorized by that act have been made accordingly; the text of pre-existing law not being changed except in so far as necessary in making such substitutions.

Cross ref. Department of commerce and industry to exercise powers of bank commissioner and mine inspector: § 284.

Comp. leg. This act is identical with Kan. '11, c. 133, with the exception of the provisions relating especially to mining corporations which were added by the Idaho statute. Kan. '11, c. 133, was later amended by '13, c. 144; and in '15, c. 164, both the '11 and '13 acts were repealed and a new law enacted.

The Blue Sky laws of Ohio ('13, Gen. Code 6373-1 to 6373-24) Michigan ('15, Act 46) and South Dakota ('15, c. 275) are similar to the Idaho statutes and were severally declared constitutional in Hall v. Geiger-Jones Co. 242 U. S. 539, 37 S. C. R. 217; Merrick v. Halsey & Co. 242 U. S. 568, 37 S. C. R. 227; and Caldwell v. Sioux Falls Stock Yards Co. 242 U. S. 559, 37 S. C. R. 224.

§ 5305. Definition of investment companies. Every corporation, every copartnership or company, and every association (other than state and national banks, trust companies, real estate mortgage companies dealing exclusively in real estate mortgage notes, and corporations not organized for profit), organized or which shall be organized in this state, whether incorporated or unincorporated, which shall sell or negotiate for the sale of any stocks, bonds or other securities of any kind or character other than bonds of the United States, the state of Idaho, or of some municipality of the state of Idaho, and notes secured by mortgages on real estate located in the state of Idaho, to any person or persons in the state of Idaho, other than those specifically exempted herein, shall be known for the purpose of this chapter as a domestic investment company. Every such investment company organized in any other state, territory or government, or organized under the laws of any other state, territory or government, shall be known for the purpose of this chapter as a foreign investment company. ['13, c. 117, § 1, p. 454.]

§ 5306. Documents to be filed: Fee. Before offering or attempting to sell any stocks, bonds or other securities of any kind or character other than those specifically exempted in section 5305, to any person or persons, or transacting any business whatever in this state, excepting that of preparing the documents hereinafter required, every such investment company, domestic or foreign, shall file in the office of the department of commerce and industry, together with a filing fee of $2.50, the following documents, to wit:

A statement showing in full detail the plan upon which it proposes to transact business. A copy of all contracts, bonds, or other instruments which it proposes to make with or sell to its contributors. A statement which shall show the name and location of the investment company, and an itemized account of its actual financial condition, and the amount of its property and liabilities, and such other information, touching its affairs as said department of commerce and industry may require.

If such investment company shall be a copartnership or an unincorporated association, it shall also file with the department of commerce and industry a copy of its articles of copartnership or association, and all other papers pertaining to its organization, and if it be a corporation organized under the laws of Idaho it shall also file with the department a copy of its articles of incorporation, constitution and by-laws, and all other papers pertaining to its organization.

If it shall be an investment company organized under the laws of any other state, territory or government, incorporated or unincorporated, it shall also file with the said department a copy of the laws of such state, territory or government under which it exists or is incorporated, and also a copy of its charter, articles of incorporation, constitution and by-laws and all amendments thereof which have been made and all other papers pertaining to its organization.

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Filing requisite for transaction of business: § 5310. Penalty: § 5317.

§ 5307. Papers verified. All of the above described papers shall be verified by the oath of a member of a copartnership or company, if it be a copartnership or company, or by the oath of a duly authorized officer, if it be an incorporated or unincorporated association. All such papers, however, as are recorded or are on file in any public office shall be further certified to by the officer of whose records or archives they form a part, as being correct copies of such records or archives. ['13, c. 117, § 3, p. 455.]

§ 5308. Consent of foreign investment company to be sued. Every foreign investment company shall also file its written consent, irrevocable, that actions may be commenced against it, in the proper court of any county in this state in which a cause of action may arise, by the service of process on the secretary of state, and stipulating and agreeing that such service of process on the secretary of state shall be taken and held, in all courts, to be as valid and binding as if due service had been made upon the company itself, according to the laws of this or any other state, and such instrument shall be authenticated by the seal of said foreign investment company and by the signature of a member of the copartnership or company, if it be a copartnership or company, or by the signatures of the president and secretary of the incorporated or unincorporated association, if it be an incorporated or unincorporated association, and shall be accompanied by a duly certified copy of the order or resolution of the board of directors, trustees or managers of the corporation authorizing the said secretary and president to execute the same. ['13, c. 117, § 4, p. 455.]

§ 5309. Duties of department of commerce and industry: Favorable and unfavorable reports. It shall be the duty of the department of commerce and industry to examine the statements and documents so filed, and if said department shall deem it advisable it shall make or have made a detailed examination of such investment company's affairs, which examination shall be at the expense of such investment company, as hereinafter provided.

If the department finds that such investment company is solvent, that its articles of incorporation or association, its constitution and by-laws, its proposed plan of business and proposed contract contain and provide for a fair, just and equitable plan for the transaction of business, and in its judgment promise a fair return on the stock, bonds and other securities by it offered for sale, the department shall issue to such investment company a statement reciting that such company has complied with the provisions of this chapter, that detailed information in regard to the company and its securities is on file in the office of the department of commerce and industry for public inspection and information, that such investment company is permitted to do business in this state, and such statement shall also recite in bold type that the department in no wise guarantees the securities to be offered for sale by such investment company.

But if said department finds that such articles of incorporation or association, charter, constitution and by-laws, plan of business or proposed contract contain any provision that it is unfair, unjust, inequitable or oppressive to any class of contributors, or if the department decides from its examination of its affairs that said investment company is not solvent and does not intend to do a fair and honest business, and in the department's judgment does not promise a fair return on the stocks, bonds or other securities by it offered for sale, then the department shall notify such investment company in writing of its findings, and it shall be unlawful for such company to do any further business in this state until it shall so change its constitution and by-laws, articles of incorporation or association, its proposed plan of business and proposed contract and its general financial condition in such manner as to satisfy the department of commerce and industry that it is solvent, and its articles of incorporation or association, its constitution and by-laws, its proposed plan of business and proposed contract provide for a fair, just and equitable plan for the transaction of business, and do, in the judgment of the department, promise a fair return on the stocks, bonds and other securities by it offered for sale.

Provided that all expenses paid or incurred and all fees or charges received or collected for any examination made under the provisions of this section shall be reported in detail by the department of commerce and industry and a full report and record thereof made in detail.

§ 5310. Filing documents requisite for transaction of business: Amendments. It shall not be lawful for any investment company, either as principal or agent, to transact any business, in form or character similar to that set forth in section 5305, except as is provided in section 5306, until it shall have filed the papers and documents above provided for. No amendment of the charter, articles of incorporation, constitution and by-laws of any such investment company shall become operative until a copy of the same has been filed with the department of commerce and industry as provided in regard to the original filing of charters, articles of incorporation, constitution and by-laws, nor shall it be lawful for any such investment company to transact business on any other plan than that set forth in the statement required to be filed by section 5306, or to make any contracts other than that shown in the copy of the proposed contract required to be filed by section 5306, until a written statement showing in full detail the proposed new plan of transacting business and a copy of the proposed new contract shall have been filed with the department, in like manner as provided in regard to the original plan of business and proposed contract, and the consent of the department obtained as to making such proposed new plan of transacting business and proposed new contract.

§ 5311. Agents. Any investment company may appoint one or more agents, but no such agent shall do any business for said investment company in this state until he shall first register with the department of commerce and industry as agent for such investment company, and for each of said registrations there shall be paid to the department of commerce and industry the sum of $1. Such registration shall entitle such agent to represent said investment company as its agent until the 1st day of March following, unless said authority is sooner revoked by the department; and such authority shall be subject to revocation at any time by the department for cause appearing to it sufficient.

§ 5312. Reports of investment companies. Every investment company, domestic or foreign, shall file at the close of business on December 31 and June 30 of each year, and at such other times as required by the department of commerce and industry, a statement verified by the oath of the copartnership or company, if it be a copartnership or company, or by the oath of a duly authorized officer, if it be an incorporated or unincorporated association, setting forth in such form as may be prescribed by the said bank commissioner, its financial condition and the amount of its assets and liabilities, and furnishing such other information concerning its affairs as said department may require. Each regular statement of December 31 and June 30 shall be accompanied by a filing fee of $2.50. Any investment company failing to file its report at the close of business December 31 or June 30 of each year within 10 days of that date, or failing to file any other or special report herein required within 30 days after receipt of request or requisition therefor, shall forfeit its right to do business in this state.

§ 5313. Accounts: How kept: Open for inspection. The general accounts of every investment company, domestic or foreign, doing business in this state, shall be kept by double entry, and such company, its copartners or managing officers, shall at least once in each month make a trial balance of such accounts, which shall be recorded in a book provided for that purpose; such trial balances and all other books and accounts of such company shall at all times during business hours, except on Sundays and legal holidays, be open to the inspection of stockholders and investors in said company or investors in the stocks, bonds or other securities by it offered for sale, and to the department of commerce and industry.

§ 5314. Examination by department. The department of commerce and industry shall have general supervision and control, as provided in this chapter, over any and all investment companies, domestic and foreign doing business in this state and all such investment companies shall be subject to examination by the department of commerce and industry at any time the department may deem it advisable and in the same manner as is now provided for the examination of state banks. The rights, powers, and privileges of the department in connection with such examinations shall be the same as are now provided with reference to examination of state banks; and such investment company shall pay a fee for each examination of not to exceed $5 for each day or fraction thereof, plus the actual traveling and hotel expenses of the examiner that he is absent from the capitol building for the purpose of making such examination, and the failure or refusal of any investment company to pay such fees upon the demand of the department while making such examination shall work a forfeiture of its right to do business in this state: Provided, That not more than two such examinations shall be charged for in any year: Provided further, That where examinations of more than one investment company in the same community shall be made the same week the actual traveling expenses of the examiner shall be pro rated between such companies.

TITLE XL.

CHAPTER 207.

PROPERTY AND OWNERSHIP.

ARTICLE 1.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 5325. [3056] Real property defined. Real property or real estate consists of:

1. Lands, possessory rights to land, ditch and water rights, and mining claims, both lode and placer.
2. That which is affixed to land.
3. That which is appurtenant to land. [R. S. § 2825.]

Buildings: A hotel building affixed to land and held and conveyed as real estate, with the land upon which it stands, is real estate within the meaning of this section, and its character as such cannot be changed by the attempted execution of a chattel mortgage purporting to cover the building apart from the land. Beeler v. C. C. Merc. Co. (1902) 8 I. 644, 70 P. 943, 60 L. R. A. 283, 1 Ann. Cas. 310.

Canal systems: Ditches and water rights are real estate under the provisions of this section. Ada County Farmers' Irr. Co. v. Farmers' Canal Co. (1898) 5 I. 793, 51 P. 990, 40 L. R. A. 485; Nelson Bennett Co. v. Twin Falls L. & W. Co. (1908) 14 I. 5, 93 P. 789; Brunzell v Stevenson (1917) 30 I. 202, 164 P. 89.

Water rights: A water right is real estate. Knowles v. New Sweden Irr. Dist. (1909) 16 I. 217, 225, 101 P. 81; Neilson v. Parker (1911) 19 I. 727, 115 P. 488; Nampa etc. Irr. Dist. v. Briggs (1915) 27 I. 84, 96, 147 P. 75; Bennett v. Twin Falls etc. Co. (1915) 27 I. 643, 150 P. 336.

And an appurtenance to the land irrigated by the use of such water. Taylor v. Hulett (1908) 15 I. 265, 97 P. 37, 19 L. R. A. (N. S.) 535; Paddock v. Clark (1912) 22 I. 498, 126 P. 1053.

Water permits: A permit to appropriate water is not real property. It is not an appropriation of the public waters of the state but merely the consent given by the state to construct and acquire real property. Speer v. Stephenson (1909) 16 I. 707, 102 P. 365; Marshall v. Niagara Springs O. Co. (1912) 22 I. 144, 125 P. 208; Tobey v. Bridgewood (1912) 22 I. 566, 127 P. 172; Basinger v. Taylor (1917) 30 I. 289, 164 P. 522.

A water right is real estate and must be conveyed as real estate, and where one has a valid water permit issued to him by the state engineer he cannot convey the water right secured thereby by simply handing the permit to a would-be purchaser. Gard v. Thompson (1912) 21 I. 485, 123 P. 497.

Shares in mutual irrigation company: While shares in irrigation company have been held to be personal property, ownership of shares in mutual irrigation company not organized for profit is but incidental to ownership of water right. Ireton v. Idaho Irr. Co. (1917) 30 I. 310, 164 P. 687.

§ 5326. [3057] Personal property defined. Every kind of property that is not real is personal. [R. S. § 2826.]

§ 5328. [3059] Interests in common. Every interest created in favor of several persons in their own right is an interest in common, unless acquired by them in partnership, for partnership purposes, or unless declared in its creation to be a joint interest, or unless acquired as community property. [R. S. § 2828.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 686; Kerr's C. ib.

Tenancy in common: Under this section and § 5372 the common law rule of joint tenancy has been abrogated, and every interest in real estate granted or devised to two or more persons, other than executors or trustees, constitutes a tenancy in common, unless expressly declared to the contrary. Powell v. Powell (1912) 22 I. 531, 126 P. 1058.

Incidents of cotenancy: A cotenant cannot take advantage of any defect in the common title by purchasing an outstanding title or encumbrance and assert it against his companions in interest. The legal title acquired by him is held in trust for the others if they choose within a reasonable time to claim the benefit of the purchase by contributing or offering to contribute their proportion of the purchase money. Wilson v. Linder (1912) 21 I. 576, 123 P. 487, Ann. Cas. 1913E 148, 42 L. R. A. (N. S.) 242.

A tenant in common is entitled to contribution for expenditures absolutely necessary for the benefit and preservation of the common property and to charge the cotenants with their proportion of the reasonable expenses incurred fairly and in good faith for the benefit of the common property. Keyser v. Morehead (1913) 23 I. 501, 130 P. 992.

§ 5329. [3061] Future interests: When vested. A future interest is vested when there is a person in being who would have a right, defeasible or indefeasible, to the immediate possession of the property upon the ceasing of the immediate or precedent interest. [R. S. § 2830.]

§ 5382. [3118] Grant of rents, reversions or remainders. Grants of rents or of reversions or of remainders are good and effectual without attornments of the tenants; but no tenant who, before notice of the grant, has paid rent to the grantor, must suffer any damage thereby. [R. S. § 2933.]

§ 5384. [3120] Covenants implied from grant. From the use of the word "grant" in any conveyance by which an estate of inheritance, possessory right, or fee simple is to be passed, the following covenants, and none other, on the part of the grantor, for himself and his heirs, to the grantee, his heirs and assigns, are implied, unless restrained by express terms contained in such conveyance:

1. That previous to the time of the execution of such conveyance, the grantor has not conveyed the same estate, or any right, title or interest therein, to any person other than the grantee.

2. That such estate is at the time of the execution of such conveyance free from incumbrances done, made or suffered by the grantor, or any person claiming under him. Such covenants may be sued upon in the same manner as if they had been expressly inserted in the conveyance. [R. S. § 2935.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 1113; Kerr's C. ib.

Construed: The word "grant" covenants that prior to the instant conveyance the grantor has not conveyed to any other, and that the property is free from encumbrance made or suffered by the grantor or any one claiming under him.

"Suffered" as used in this section implies reasonable control and it cannot be held to apply to an encumbrance not caused by the act of the party nor within his power to prevent.

An encumbrance is not contemplated by this section unless the grantor was under personal obligation to pay it.

Unless a grantee agrees to pay taxes levied prior to his acquisition of title same are not encumbrances herein.

Implied and express covenants should be construed together, unless it clearly appears that the express covenant was intended to restrict the implied. Polak v. Mattson (1912) 22 I. 727, 128 P. 89.

Implied covenants: The word "grant" in a conveyance is a covenant that the estate so conveyed is, at the time of the execution thereof, free from encumbrances done, made or suffered by the grantor or any person claiming under him, but is not a warranty of title or a covenant of quiet enjoyment against encumbrances. Warren v. Stoddart (1899) 6 I. 692, 59 P. 540; Moore v. Pooley (1909) 17 I. 57, 61, 104 P. 898.

Notice of encumbrance: Grantor not liable on warranties of title, where grantee knew of existing liens, charges against the land, but not against grantor personally. (Morgan, J. dissents) Urich v. McPherson (1915) 27 I. 319, 149 P. 295.

By the word "grant" the grantor agrees to hold the grantee harmless from any liens existing against the property at the time of the transfer, if filed and enforced. (Dis. op.) Urich v. McPherson, supra.

§ 5385. [3121] Incumbrances defined. The term "incumbrances" includes taxes, assessments, and all liens upon real property. [R. S. § 2936.]

§ 5386. [3122] Lineal and collateral warranties abolished. Lineal and collateral warranties, with all their incidents, are abolished; but the heirs and devisees of every person who has made any covenant or agreement in reference to the title of, in, or to any real property, are answerable upon such covenant or agreement to the extent of the land descended or devised to them, in the cases and in the manner prescribed by law . Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 1185; similar as amended: Kerr's C. ib.

Duty of officer: An officer taking an acknowledgment is not required to see the person sign the instrument nor to witness the instrument, but is required to ascertain whether or not the party acknowledges the instrument as his or her obligation or contract, and as having been executed by him or her. First Nat. Bk. of Hailey v. Glenn (1904) 10 I. 224, 77 P. 623.

§ 5393. [3129] Acknowledgment by married woman. The acknowledgment of a married woman to any instrument in writing shall be taken and certified to in the same manner and form as that of a single person, and must be substantially in the form prescribed by section 5395. ['07, p. 5, § 1.]

Hist. '07, p. 5, § 1, reen. R. C. § 3129, reen. C. L. ib.

Repeal: This section repealed R. S. §§ 2956 and 2960. The repealed sections provided that "the acknowledgment of a married woman to an instrument purporting to be executed by her must not be taken, unless she is made acquainted by the officer with the contents of the instrument on an examination without the hearing of her husband; nor certified, unless she thereupon acknowledges to the officer that she executed the instrument, and that she does not wish to retract such execution," and prescribed a corresponding form of certificate.

Decisions construing the repealed sections are as follows:

R. S. § 2956: Cited: Christenson v. Holnligsworth (1898) 6 I. 87, 53 P. 211.

Conveyance of husband: A conveyance of common property occupied by husband and wife is invalid where none of the requirements of this section are complied with by the officer taking the acknowledgment. Wilson v. Wilson (1899) 6 I. 597, 57 P. 708.

Sufficiency of acknowledgment: A certificate of acknowledgment which shows that the acknowledgment of the husband was taken separate and apart from the wife, and that the wife's acknowledgment was not taken separate and apart from the husband, is void. Co-op. Sav. & Loan Assn. v. Green (1897) 5 I. 661, 51 P. 770.

Where the contents of an instrument are explained to a married woman and she states that it is all right with her if it is with her husband, and that whatever he does or says is all right, the notary is justified in attaching his certificate of acknowledgment thereto. First Nat. Bk. of Hailey v. Glenn (1904) 10 I. 224, 77 P. 623.

Validity of certificate: Where a certificate of acknowledgment is regular in form, its validity will be sustained in the absence of clear and convincing proof that the provisions of this section were not complied with. Gray v. Law (1899) 6 I. 559, 57 P. 435.

R. S. § 2960: Cited: Co-op. etc. Assn. v. Green (1897) 5 I. 660, 51 P. 770; Gray v. Law (1899) 6 I. 559, 57 P. 435; First Nat. Bk. of Hailey v. Glenn (1904) 10 I. 224, 77 P. 623; Booth Merc. Co. v. Murphy (1908) 14 I. 212, 93 P. 777.

Substantial compliance sufficient: The certificate of acknowledgment need not follow the exact words of the statute, but it is sufficient if it substantially complies therewith. Christensen v. Hollingsworth, supra; N. W. & Pac. Hypotheek Bk. v. Rauch (1898) 5 I. 752, 51 P. 764; Curtis v. Bunnell etc. Co. (1898) 6 I. 298, 55 P. 659.

A certificate stating that the notary apprised the wife of the contents of the instrument, of her rights, and of the effect of signing the same, and that she did then freely and voluntarily, separate and apart from her husband, sign and acknowledge said instrument, is sufficient. N. W. & Pac. Hypotheek Bk. v. Rauch, supra.

§ 5412. Same: Record as notice. Any instrument affecting the title to real property which heretofore or on or before 60 days after the adjournment of the legislature of the state of Idaho for 1919, is copied into the proper book of record, kept in the office of any county recorder, imparts notice of its contents to subsequent purchasers and incumbrancers, notwithstanding any defect, omission or informality in the execution of the instrument, or in the certificate of acknowledgment thereof; but nothing herein affects the rights of previous purchasers or incumbrancers. Duly certified copies of the record of any such instrument may be read in evidence with like effect as copies of an instrument duly acknowledged and recorded, provided it be first shown that the original instrument was genuine. Harris v. Reed (1912) 21 I. 364, 121 P. 780.

Conveyance not acknowledged: Under the provisions of this section a recorded conveyance of real property which has not been acknowledged or proved and certified as required by law, does not impart constructive notice of its contents to subsequent purchasers and mortgagees. Harris v. Reed, supra.

Bona fide purchasers: One who has notice or knowledge of a previous sale of real property, or who has notice or knowledge of such facts and circumstances as would lead a reasonably prudent man to discover that a previous sale had been made, is not a purchaser in good faith within the meaning of this section; but one who purchases vacant property and procures an abstract of title which fails to show a previous conveyance, because the same was not recorded, and pays the purchase price without any knowledge of such previous conveyance, is a purchaser in good faith, and is entitled to the property as against the holder of the prior unrecorded deed. Froman v. Madden (1907) 13 I. 138, 88 P. 894.

§ 5425. [3161] Conveyance defined. The term "conveyance" as used in this chapter, embraces every instrument in writing by which any estate or interest in real property is created, alienated, mortgaged or incumbered, or by which the title to any real property may be affected, except wills. Effect of recording laws: It is possible for a subsequent purchaser to acquire a paramount title through the medium of the recording laws, relegating a prior purchaser to an action for damages against the vendor. Madden v. Caldwell Land Co. (1909) 16 I. 59, 100 P. 358, 21 L. R. A. (N. S.) 332.

The protection afforded by the recording acts is purely statutory and is not to be extended beyond their reasonable import. They do not apply where a title vests by virtue of law and not through a conveyance. Ewald v. Hufton, 31 I. 373, 173 P. 247.

§ 5426. [3162] Revocation of power to be recorded. No instrument containing a power to convey or execute instruments affecting real property, which has been recorded, is revoked by any act of the party by whom it was executed, unless the instrument containing such revocation is also acknowledged or proved, certified and recorded in the same office in which the instrument containing the power was recorded. Void transfers: An assignment in trust to secure a certain creditor by permitting him to keep sufficient proceeds to pay his debts, accompanied by a contemporaneous parol agreement, that any excess of such proceeds above the amount sufficient to pay the creditor shall belong to the grantor, is void as against creditors of the grantor. Johnson v. Sage (1896) 4 I. 758, 44 P. 641.

Valid transfers: A conveyance made by a decedent to his daughter, without intent to defraud and not in trust, does not come under the provisions of this section. Brown v. Perrault (1898) 5 I. 728, 51 P. 752.

§ 5433. [3169] Transfers in fraud of creditors. Every transfer of property, or charge thereon made, every obligation incurred, and every judicial proceeding taken, with intent to delay or defraud any creditor or other person of his demands, is void against all creditors of the debtor and their successors in interest, and against any person upon whom the estate of the debtor devolves in trust for the benefit of others than the debtor. Construed: This section substantially puts into our statutory law the long established rule of the common law upon the same subject. Capital L. Co. v. Saunders (1914) 26 I. 408, 143 P. 1178.

This section is intended to protect creditors against a debtor conveying his property away to any person, including his wife. Bk. of Orofino v. Wellman (1914) 26 I. 425, 143 P. 1169.

Void transfers: An assignment of property made partly for the reason that the assignor feels that his creditors may levy on the proceeds of the property, is void as against creditors of the assignor. Johnson v. Sage (1896) 4 I. 758, 44 P. 641. If a transfer is made with intent to evade payment of debts and such intent is known to the transferee, such transfer is void. Sears v. Lydon (1897) 5 I. 358, 49 P. 122.

Same: Evidence: Under this section a great latitude of inquiry on the issue of fraud is permissible, and any facts which tend to prove an intent to delay or defraud any creditor are pertinent and proper. Harkness v. Smith (1891) 3 I. 221, 28 P. 423.

Same: Pleading: In a suit to cancel a deed, as being made in fraud of creditors, the complaint is not sufficient if it alleges fraud and notice, in respect to the transaction, only as conclusions of law. Kerns v. Wash. W. Power Co. (1913) 24 I. 525, 135 P. 70.

§ 5434. [3170] Same: Delivery and change of possession. Every transfer of personal property other than a thing in action, and every lien thereon, other than a mortgage when allowed by law, is conclusively presumed, if made by a person having at the time the possession or control of the property, and not accompanied by an immediate delivery and followed by an actual and continued change of possession of the things transferred, to be fraudulent, and therefore void, against those who are his creditors while he remains in possession, and the successors in interest of such creditors, and against any persons on whom his estate devolves in trust for the benefit of others than himself, and against purchasers or incumbrancers in good faith subsequent to the transfer. [R. S. § 3021.]

Application: Where the property is not at the time of the sale in the possession or under the control of the vendor, this section has no application. Cornwall v. Mix (1893) 3 I. 687, 34 P. 893.

Held not to apply to sale of timber which had been cut into logs by purchaser but left on land of seller. In re McCarty (1914) 218 F. 717.

Where A purchases at execution sale stock belonging to B and leaves it in B's possession paying him to care for it, this section does not apply, and B's judgment creditors obtain no right against A in respect to stock. Sweeten v. Ezell (1917) 30 I. 154, 163 P. 612.

Scope of inquiry: The sole inquiry in this case is whether there has been an immediate delivery followed by actual and continued change of possession. No question of intent, bona fides or notice is relevant. Harkness v. Smith (1891) 3 I. 221, 28 P. 423.

Sufficiency of delivery: No fixed rule can be established as a test for determining what the "immediate delivery" or "actual possession" required by the statute mean, but the questions are matters of fact to be determined by the jury from the evidence in each particular case. Simons v. Daly (1903) 9 I. 87, 72 P. 507. The statute does not refer to the place where the goods are situated, but to actual and continual change of possession, and does not require the goods sold to be removed in all cases from the place where situated when sold. Hazard v. Cole (1869) 1 I. 276.

Where the property is at the time of sale in the custody of a third person and the sale is made in good faith, notice to the third person is sufficient to constitute a delivery. Lufkins v. Collins (1886) 2 I. 150, 7 P. 95.

Where horses pledged to secure a debt are at the time of the pledge in the possession of a third person who was to range the same for the winter, and the pledger tells such third person in the presence of all parties, to hold them for the pledgee, and such person takes the horses to the range and delivers them to the pledgee in the spring, the latter paying for their care during the winter, there is a sufficient delivery and change of possession to satisfy the statute. Murphy v. Braase (1893) 3 I. 544, 32 P. 208.

A worked on the ranch for B and had a room in B's house in town. B gave A a cream separator in settlement of a debt. A removed the separator from the ranch to his room in B's house. Held, that there was sufficient delivery and change of possession. Rapple v. Hughes (1904) 10 I. 338, 77 P. 722.

Where a retail dealer sells a wagon to a purchaser and receives the purchase price and thereupon writes a card containing the words "Sold to C. H. Trousdale," and places this notice on the wagon, and thereupon the wagon is left in the possession of the retailer, and before it is taken away by the purchaser a receiver takes charge of the property of the retailer, there is sufficient change of possession to meet the requirements of this section. Trousdale v. Winona Wagon Co. (1913) 25 I. 130, 136 P. 372.

Effect of retaking: Where there is an actual sale and delivery with change of possession, the subsequent act of the prior owner in wrongfully taking possession of the property does not defeat the purchaser's title as against a subsequent purchaser. Couch v. Montgomery (1899) 6 I. 669, 59 P. 16. But where property, without legal excuse, is replaced in the same apparent relation to the vendor after delivery, and there is no manifest and continued change of possession, the transfer is void. Harkness v. Smith (1891) 3 I. 221, 28 P. 423.

Insufficient delivery: Where the assignor retains the property under the same control and management the assignment is void as against creditors. Johnson v. Sage (1896) 4 I. 758, 44 P. 641.

L sold a quantity of wheat to H and M; before delivery or change of possession thereof, and 20 days after the sale, the wheat was levied upon under an execution issued in an action against L. Held, that the sale to H and M was void as to creditors. Hallett v. Parrish (1897) 5 I. 496, 51 P. 109.

Where a tenant holds personal property on the demised premises for his landlord and the latter assigns the same to a third person, who leaves it on the demised premises for the tenant to hold until a certain day, and the property is seized upon an execution before that day, there is, at the time of the execution, no such delivery and change of possession as to vest title in the third person. Coombs v. Collins (1899) 6 I. 536, 57 P. 310.

Seizure under attachment: An officer sued for wrongfully seizing property under an invalid writ of attachment, may protect himself from being mulcted in exemplary damages by showing that the goods seized under the writ were recently in the possession of the defendant, and that there was no such change of possession as is required by this section. Sears v. Lydon (1897) 5 I. 358, 49 P. 122.

Nondelivery: Effect: An alleged sale of personal property, not accompanied by an immediate delivery and followed by an actual and continued change of possession, is conclusively presumed to be fraudulent and void as against creditors of and purchasers from the vendor. Ahlstrom v. Tage, 31 I. 459, 174 P. 605.

§ 5435. [3171] Fraud is a question of fact. In all cases arising under the provisions of this title, except as otherwise provided in the last section, the question of fraudulent intent is one of fact, and not of law; nor can any transfer or charge be adjudged fraudulent solely on the ground that it was not made for a valuable consideration. [R. S. § 3022.]

Question of fact: The determination of what constitutes immediate change of possession and delivery is purely a question of fact to be determined by the jury, or the court in case a jury is waived, from all the evidence in the particular case. Rapple v. Hughes (1904) 10 I. 338, 77 P. 722.

The intent with which a transfer in fraud of creditors is made is not established so much by attempting to ascertain the actual intent in the mind of the debtor, but rather by the facts and circumstances under which the transfer was made and from which the law imputes a fraudulent motive. California etc. Min. Co. v. Manley (1905) 10 I. 786, 81 P. 50.

Voluntary transfers: A conveyance made for a mere nominal consideration, when attacked as fraudulent, will be subjected to the rules applicable to voluntary transfers. Ib.

§ 5436. [3172] Title of purchaser not impaired. The provisions of this chapter do not in any manner affect or impair the title of a purchaser for a valuable consideration, unless it appears that such purchaser had previous notice of the fraudulent intent of his immediate grantor, or of the fraud rendering void the title of such grantor. [R. S. § 3023.]

Bona fide transfers: The transfer of stock by a married woman, as authorized by R. S. § 2612, although procured by duress and coercion on the part of her husband, is good where the transferee is a bona fide holder for value, without notice or knowledge of such duress or coercion. Bryan v. Montandon (1898) 6 I. 352, 55 P. 650.

TITLE XLII.

CHAPTER 209.

HOMESTEADS.

Rule of construction: Homestead and exemption laws are construed liberally, as a protection of the unfortunate. Coughanour v. Hoffman's Estate (1887) 2 I. 290, 13 P. 231.

ARTICLE 1.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Cross ref. Proceedings in probate court for setting aside homestead: §§ 7564-7577. Assignment of homestead on dissolution of marriage: § 4650.

§ 5437. [3173] Definition of homestead. The word homestead as used in this title includes within its meaning: The dwelling house in which the claimant resides, and the land on which the same is situated and located as in this title provided; also the proceeds thereof in the event of a voluntary sale, and also the insurance thereon, if any, in the event of a loss. ['97, p. 10, § 1.]

Hist. '97, p. 10, § 1, reen. '99, p. 293, § 1, reen. R. C. § 3173, reen. C. L. ib.

Comp. leg.—Cal. See Civ. C. 1872, § 1237; similar: Kerr's C. ib.

Exemption in hotel: The fact that the homestead is occupied in whole or in part as a hotel, does not deprive it of any of the immunities prescribed by the statute, so long as it is used and occupied by the owner as a home and residence of himself and family, and it is within the limitations of the statute as to value. Kiesel v. Clemens (1899) 6 I. 444, 56 P. 84, 96 A. S. R. 278.

§ 5438. [3174] From what property selected. If the claimant be married, the homestead may be selected from the community property, or the separate property of the husband, or with the consent of the wife from her separate property. When the claimant is not married, but is the head of a family, the homestead may be selected from any of his or her property. [R. S. § 3036.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Different: Civ. C. 1872, § 1238; similar: Kerr's C. ib.

Hist. R. S. § 3037, reen. R. C. § 3175, reen. C. L. ib.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 1239; similar: Kerr's C. ib.

§ 5440. [3176] Exemption from execution. The homestead is exempt from execution or forced sale, except as in this title provided. [R. S. § 3038.]

Hist. (See '64, p. 575, § 1) R. S. § 3038, reen. R. C. § 3176, reen. C. L. ib.

Cited: Wright v. Westheimer (1891) 3 I. 232, 28 P. 430.

§ 5441. [3177] Same: To what judgments subject. The homestead is subject to execution or forced sale in satisfaction of judgments obtained:

1. Before the declaration of homestead was filed for record, and which constitute liens upon the premises; or in an action in which an attachment was levied upon the premises before the filing of such declaration.

2. On debts secured by mechanic, laborer or vendor's liens upon the premises.

3. On debts secured by mortgages upon the premises, executed and acknowledged by the husband and wife or by an unmarried claimant.

4. On debts secured by mortgages upon the premises, executed and recorded before the declaration of homestead was filed for record. [R. S. § 3039.]

Cited: Wright v. Westheimer (1891) 3 I. 232, 28 P. 430.

Lien against homestead: A judgment lien is not divested by the act of the defendant or his wife in subsequently filing a declaration of homestead on the premises subject to the lien. Smith v. Richards (1889) 2 I. 498, 21 P. 419.

Where a homestead is sold and the proceeds invested in another home, an attachment levied on the new home prior to filing declaration of homestead covering the new home is effectual to create a lien thereon. Wright v. Westheimer, supra.

A mortgage lien cannot be defeated by a declaration of homestead made after the lien attaches. Law v. Spence (1897) 5 I. 244, 48 P. 282.

§ 5442. [3178] Conveyance of homestead. The homestead of a married person can not be conveyed or incumbered unless the instrument by which it is conveyed or incumbered is executed and acknowledged by both husband and wife. [R. S. § 3040.]

Hist. (See '64, p. 575, § 2) R. S. § 3040, reen. R. C. § 3178, reen. C. L. ib.

Cross ref. Acknowledgment by married woman: § 5393.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 1242; Kerr's C. ib.

Rule of evidence: This and the following sections are in the nature of rules of evidence and are subject to the same principles as the statute of frauds, and the rules of equitable estoppel and waiver apply to oral sales of the homestead. Grice v. Woodworth (1904) 10 I. 459, 80 P. 912, 69 L. R. A. 584.

§ 5443. [3179] Abandonment of homestead. A homestead can be abandoned only by a declaration of abandonment, or a grant or conveyance thereof, executed and acknowledged:

1. By the husband and wife, if the claimant is married.
2. By the claimant, if unmarried. [R. S. § 3041.]

Hist. (See '64, p. 575, § 2) R. S. § 3041, reen. R. C. § 3179, reen. C. L. ib.

Ineffectual conveyance: An attempted conveyance of a homestead made by one spouse without the other joining therein is ineffectual to constitute abandonment. Mellen v. McMannis (1904) 9 I. 418, 75 P. 98.

§ 5444. [3180] Same: When effectual. A declaration of abandonment is effectual only from the time it is filed in the office in which the homestead was recorded. [R. S. § 3042.]

Hist. R. S. § 3042, reen. R. C. § 3180, reen. C. L. ib.

ARTICLE 2.

SALE OF THE HOMESTEAD ON EXECUTION.

§ 5445. [3181] Execution against homestead. When an execution for the enforcement of a judgment, obtained in a case not within the classes before enumerated, is levied upon the homestead, the judgment creditor may apply to the probate judge of the county in which the homestead is situated for the appointment of persons to appraise the value thereof. [R. S. § 3043.]

ARTICLE 3.

HOMESTEADS OF THE HEADS OF FAMILIES.

§ 5460. [3196] Value of homestead. Homesteads may be selected and claimed:

1. Of not exceeding $5000 in value by any head of a family.
2. Of not exceeding $1000 in value by any other person. [R. S. § 3058.]

§ 5461. [3197] Head of family defined. The phrase "head of a family" as used in this title includes within its meaning:

1. The husband or wife when the claimant is a married person.
2. Every person who has residing on the premises with him or her and under his or her care and maintenance either:

a. His or her minor child, or the minor child of his or her deceased wife or husband.

b. A minor brother or sister, or the minor child of a deceased brother or sister.

c. A father, mother, grandfather or grandmother.

d. The father, mother, grandfather or grandmother of a deceased husband or wife.

e. An unmarried sister, or any other of the relatives mentioned in this section who have attained the age of majority, and are unable to take care of or support themselves. [R. S. § 3059.]

§ 5462. [3198] Mode of selection. In order to select a homestead, the husband or other head of a family, or in case the husband has not made such selection, the wife, must execute and acknowledge, in the same manner as a conveyance of real property is acknowledged, a declaration of homestead, and file the same for record. [R. S. § 3070.]

Hist. (See '64, p. 575, § 1) R. S. § 3070, reen. R. C. § 3198, reen. C. L. ib.

Selection by widow: A widow having children dependent on her for support, may exercise her homestead right after the death of her husband, during the course of administration of his estate. Coughanour v. Hoffman's Estate (1887) 2 I. 290, 13 P. 231.

Insufficient declaration: A declaration of homestead which is not acknowledged and certified as required by statute, does not create a homestead right in the property. Burbank v. Kirby (1898) 6 I. 210, 55 P. 295, 96 A. S. R. 260.

§ 5463. [3199] Contents of declaration. The declaration of homestead must contain:

1. A statement showing that the person making it is the head of a family; or, when the declaration is made by the wife, showing that her husband has not made such declaration, and that she therefore makes the declaration for their joint benefit.
2. A statement that the person making it is residing on the premises, and claims them as a homestead.
3. A description of the premises.
4. An estimate of their actual cash value. [R. S. § 3071.]

Hist. (See '64, p. 575, § 1) R. S. § 3071, reen. R. C. § 3199, reen. C. L. ib.

Sufficiency of declaration: It is requisite that a declaration of homestead should contain substantially the statements set forth in section 3071 of the Revised Statutes, and where the declaration is made by the wife, the husband living, it should state that the husband "has not made such declaration, and that she therefore makes the declaration for their joint benefit." Wilcox v. Deere (1897) 5 I. 545, 51 P. 98.

A declaration of homestead which describes certain town lots, and also 160 acres of farm land, alleging that "on a portion of which the claimant with family is residing," is void for indefiniteness. Ib.

A declaration of homestead which states that the declarant is married and that he actually resides on the premises therein described with his family, which consists of a wife and two children, is sufficient, although it does not expressly state that the declarant is the head of a family. Mellen v. McMannis (1904) 9 I. 418, 75 P. 98.

§ 5464. [3200] Declaration must be recorded. The declaration must be recorded in the office of the recorder of the county in which the land is situated. [R. S. § 3072.]

tute a homestead. If the selection was made by a married person from the community property, the land, on the death of either of the spouses, vests in the survivor, subject to no other liability than such as exists or has been created under the provisions of this title; in other cases, upon the death of the person whose property was selected as a homestead, it shall go to his heirs or devisees, subject to the power of the probate court to assign the same for a limited period to the family of the decedent; but in no case shall it be held liable for the debts of the owner, except as provided in this title. [R. S. § 3073.]

TITLE XLIII. MINES AND MINING.

CHAPTER 210.

INSPECTOR OF MINES.

Comp. leg.. This chapter follows in a general way the Montana law. See Montana Codes, 1895. Pol. C. §§ 580-590.

§ 5470. Election, term and salary. The office of inspector of mines for the state of Idaho is hereby created, the same to be filled biennially at the general election, by the qualified electors of the state, as other offices. The inspector of mines shall hold his office for the term of two years and until his successor is elected and qualified. Before entering upon the discharge of his duties as such inspector of mines he shall file an official bond in the sum of $5000, conditioned for the faithful performance of his office, in form and manner as other official bonds of state officers. The inspector of mines shall receive as full compensation for his services a salary of $2400 per annum and his actual and necessary traveling expenses when traveling in the discharge of his official duties, not to exceed $1500 per annum. He shall also be provided with a stenographer, who shall receive a salary of not to exceed $900 per annum, and all necessary expenses for postage, stationery, printing and the compensation of deputies and other office expenses, not to exceed $1500 per annum, and such salaries, compensation and expenses shall be paid as the salaries and expenses of other state officers and employees are paid. ['11, c. 199, p. 663.]

Hist. '95, p. 160, §§ 1, 2, 13, reen. '99, p. 221, §§ 1, 2, 13; § 2 was amended by an act of the ninth session of the state legislature (H. B. 230) which, through some oversight, was omitted from the 1907 session laws; compiled and reen. R. C. § 199; am. '11, c. 199, p. 663, reen. C. L. 228:1.

§ 5471. Disqualifications: Oath of inspector. The inspector of mines shall not, at the time of his appointment or any time during his term of office, be an officer, director or employee in or of any mining corporation in this state, or in or of any milling corporation in the state engaged in the business of smelting or reducing ores. Such inspector shall devote his whole time to the duties of his office and shall take and subscribe to the following oath:

State of Idaho, county of....., ss.

I, of.....county, do solemnly swear that I will perform each and every duty required of me as inspector of mines for the state of Idaho; that I will, at all times while acting in my official capacity, fulfil the duties of such office according to law, and to the best of my skill and understanding; that I will never at any time while holding the office of inspector of mines disclose to any one, directly or indirectly, under any circumstances, any information relative to ore bodies, chutes, or deposits of ore, or the location, course or character of underground workings, or give my opinion founded on any examination made in the performance of my official duties relative to the value of any mine or mining property, unless by permission of the person or persons in charge of the same; to all of which I pledge my sacred honor. So help me God.

Nothing in said oath, however, shall be construed to prevent such mining inspector from making full and complete statistical reports as required by law. ['95, p. 160, § 2.]

§ 5473. Examination of mines. Said inspector shall have full power and authority, at all reasonable hours, to enter and examine any and all mines in this state, and shall have the right to enter into any and all mine stopes, levels, winzes, tunnels, shafts, drifts, crosscuts, workings and machinery, for the purpose of such examination; and the owner, lessor, lessee, agent, manager or other person in charge of such mine or mines, shall render the inspector such assistance as may be required by the inspector to enable him to make a full, thorough and complete examination of each and every part of such mine or mines, and whenever, as the result of the examination of any mine (whether such examination is made in consequence of a complaint, as hereinafter provided, or otherwise) the inspector shall find the same to be in an unsafe condition, he shall at once serve, or cause to be served, a written notice upon the owner, lessor, lessee, agent, manager or other person in charge of such mine, stating in detail in what particular or particulars the mine is dangerous or insecure, and shall require all necessary changes to be made, without delay, for the purpose of making said mine safe for the employees therein. Upon the neglect or refusal of any owner, lessor, lessee, agent, manager or other person in charge so notified to comply with the requirements stated in such notice so served, such owner, lessor, lessee, agent, manager or other person in charge of such mine, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and is punishable by a fine of not more than $500, and each day's continuance of such neglect or refusal shall be a separate offense, and in case of any criminal or civil proceedings at law against the party or parties so notified, on account of the loss of life, or bodily injury sustained by any employee subsequent to the service of such notice, and in consequence of a neglect or refusal to obey the inspector's requirement, a certified copy of the notice served by the inspector shall be prima facie evidence of the culpable negligence of the party or parties so notified. ['95, p. 160, § 4.]

§ 5474. Office: Records: Reports to inspector. The inspector of mines shall be provided with a properly furnished office at the state house in Boise City, Idaho, in which he shall carefully keep a complete record of all mines examined, showing the date of examination, the condition in which the mines were found, the manner and method of working, the extent to which the laws are obeyed, and what recommendations, if any, were ordered by the inspector.

It is hereby made the duty of the owner, lessor, lessee, agent, manager or other person in charge of each and every mine, of whatever kind or character, within the state, to forward to the inspector of mines at his office, not later than the 1st day of June in each year, a detailed report showing the character of the mine, the number of men then employed and the estimated maximum number of men to be employed therein during the ensuing year, the method of working such mine and the general condition thereof, and such owner, lessor, lessee, agent, manager or other person in charge of any mine within the state, must furnish whatever information relative to such mine as the inspector of mines may, from time to time, require for his guidance in the proper discharge of his official duties. Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Report of inspector: § 5480.

§ 5475. Complaints to inspector: Duty of inspector. Whenever the inspector of mines shall receive a formal complaint in writing, signed by three or more persons, setting forth that the mine in which they are employed is dangerous in any respect, he shall, in person, visit and examine such mine: Provided, Every such formal complaint shall in all cases specifically set forth the nature of the danger existing at the mine and shall describe, with as much certainty as is possible, how such danger, apparent or real, renders such mine dangerous, and shall set forth the time when such danger was first observed, and shall distinctly set forth whether or not any notice of such defect or danger has been given by the complainants, or any one else to their knowledge, to the superintendent or other person in charge of such mine, and if no such complaint has been made to such superintendent or other person in charge, the reason why it has not been made: Provided further, That all complaints shall be duly verified by the parties complaining, before some officer authorized by law to administer oaths. After such complaint shall have been received by the inspector of mines, it shall be the duty of such inspector to serve a certified copy thereof, but without the names of the complainants, upon the owner, lessor, lessee, agent, manager or other person in charge, and, as soon as possible after receiving such complaint to visit and examine such mine, and if from such examination he shall find such complaint to be just, he shall give notice in writing of the danger existing to the owner, lessor, lessee, agent, manager or other person in charge thereof, and in such notice may, in his discretion, order such mine or workings in which such danger exists, closed until such danger has been removed. The names of complainants complaining as in this section provided, shall not, under any circumstances, be divulged to any person by said inspector except such action be necessary in the administration of justice in the courts of the state. ['95, p. 160, § 6.]

§ 5476. Neglect of mine owner: Duty of attorney general. It shall be the duty of the inspector of mines upon the neglect or refusal of any owner, lessor, lessee, agent, manager or other person in charge of any mine or working, notified of the unsafe or dangerous condition of his mine, promptly to comply with the requirements of the notice served upon him, at once to notify the attorney general of such neglect or refusal, and the attorney general must thereupon immediately commence action in the name of the state against the party so notified for the recovery of the penalty mentioned in section 5473, in any court of competent jurisdiction, and the amount so recovered shall be paid into the general school fund of the state and constitute a part thereof. § 5477. Appointment of deputies. With the consent and approval of the governor, the inspector of mines may appoint such deputy inspectors as in his judgment may be necessary. Such deputy inspectors shall be allowed, as full compensation for all services, $5 per day for each day actually engaged in the performance of their duties. [R. C. § 206.]

§ 5478. Duty of inspector in case of accidents. Whenever a serious or fatal accident shall occur in any mine in the state of Idaho, it shall be the duty of the owner, lessor, lessee, agent, manager or other person in charge thereof, immediately and by the quickest means, to notify the inspector of mines or his deputy, as may be most convenient, of such accident; and upon receiving such notice the inspector or his deputy, or both, shall at once repair to the place of the accident and investigate fully the cause of such accident; and the inspector or his deputy shall be present at any coroner's inquest held over the remains of any person or persons killed in any such accident, and shall have power at such inquest to examine and cross-examine witnesses, and may have process to compel the attendance of necessary witnesses at such inquest. If the inspector or deputy inspector can not be immediately present in case of a fatal or serious accident occurring, it shall be the duty of the owner, lessor, lessee, agent, manager or other person in charge of the mine in which such accident has occurred, to have statements made and verified by those witnessing such accident (in case no person was present at the time of the accident, then the statement of those first present thereafter shall be taken), which statements shall be verified, and such verified statements shall be placed in the hands of the inspector or deputy inspector, upon the demand of such officer. Whenever any deputy inspector is present at any coroner's inquest and assists in the examination, he shall, at the conclusion thereof, at once prepare and forward to the inspector a full and detailed report of the accident, giving all information obtainable regarding the same. [R. C. § 207.]

Hist. '95, p. 160, § 10, reen. '99, p. 221, § 10, reen. R. C. § 207, reen. C. L. 228:9.

§ 5479. Duties of deputies. The duties of deputy inspectors shall only be such as are indicated in the preceding section; that is, to attend and act either with or in place of the inspector of mines in cases of accident, at the scene of such accident; and at coroner's inquests, and to make reports. [R. C. § 208.]

§ 5480. Report of inspector. The inspector of mines shall, on or before the 1st day of December of each year file with the governor of the state a printed report giving:

1. A list of all accidents that have occurred during the year, the nature and cause of the same, together with the persons killed and injured.

2. The number of mines visited or examined during the year; the number of mines in operation; the number of mines idle; the number of men employed; the wages paid, and the nationality of employees.

3. The name and location of each mine in the state, which has been examined and from which the inspector has received a report as provided in section 5474, and all data possible in regard to the manner of working the same, whether by shaft, tunnel, incline or otherwise; the condition of the hoisting machinery, boilers, whims, engines, cars, buckets, ropes and chains, used in the mines; also the appliances used for the extinguishing of fires; the manner and methods of working and timbering the shafts, drifts, inclines, stopes, winzes, tunnels and uprises through which persons pass to and fro while engaged in their daily labor; the character of the exits from the mine, the methods of ventilation, and the system of signals used in the mine.

4. The number and character of notices served, together with suggestions and recommendations made, and the manner in which such suggestions and recommendations were complied with.

5. The number of complaints received and actions thereon.

6. The number of prosecutions for neglect or refusal to comply with notices.

7. A summary of the reports received from mine owners and deputy inspectors.

8. A full statement containing all available statistical and other information calculated to exhibit the mineral resources of the state, and to promote the development of the same.

9. Generally, such other information and suggestions as may be deemed advisable. [R. C. § 209.]

CHAPTER 211.

BUREAU OF MINES AND GEOLOGY.

Hist. Section 4 of the act herein contained, providing an appropriation of $30,000 for 1919-21 has been omitted as temporary.

Comp. leg.—Ore. Similar: '13, c. 324, pp. 632-5.

§ 5481. State bureau of mines and geology: Creation: Board of control. There is hereby created a state bureau of mines and geology which shall be under the direction of the state board of control of the said bureau, consisting of the following members, to-wit:

The governor of the state of Idaho, who shall be ex officio chairman; the dean of the school of mines of the university of Idaho, who shall be ex officio secretary of the board; the state inspector of mines; the head of the department of geology of the university of Idaho; the president of the Idaho Mining Association; all of whom shall serve as members of the said board without pay: Provided, however, That the members of said board shall receive their actual and necessary traveling expenses while attending the meetings of the board. ['19, c. 54, § 1, p. 163.]

§ 5482. Same: Meetings: Office. The state bureau of mines and geology shall hold annual meetings at Boise, Idaho, on the first Monday of April of each year and such other meetings as it may determine upon. The chief office of said bureau and the office of its secretary shall be maintained at the university of Idaho. ['19, c. 54, § 2, p. 163.]

§ 5483. Same: Cooperation with federal agencies: Surveys: Bulletins. It shall be the duty of the said state bureau of mines and geology to conduct cooperative work with the United States bureau of mines in the investigation of mining and metallurgical problems of the state, the condition being that the federal expenditure for such purposes shall at least equal that of the state; to conduct cooperative work with the United States geological survey in completing the topographical mapping of the state, in hydrographic surveys or in other geological work deemed by the board advantageous to the development of the mineral or water power resources of the state, provided that the federal expenditure for such purposes shall be at least equal to that of the state; to conduct such geological and economic investigations or surveys of the mineral resources of the state as may be deemed by the board advantageous; and to publish from time to time such bulletins and reports of progress as the board may deem expedient. ['19, c. 54, § 3, p. 163.]

CHAPTER 212.

OPERATION AND EQUIPMENT OF MINES.

ARTICLE 1.

GENERAL SAFETY REGULATIONS.

§ 5485. Regulations for all operators. The rules, regulations and methods prescribed in sections 5486-5513 shall be observed and followed by each and every person, employee, firm or corporation operating mines within the state of Idaho. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 1.]

Hist. '09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 1, reen.

Fire Protection and Exits.

§ 5486. Fire protection for frame structures. Shafts or tunnels, which at the present time are covered with frame buildings, such as shaft houses, blacksmith shops, machine shops or engine rooms, shall be provided with fire protection. In all cases, dry hand grenade fire extinguishers shall be available at convenient points around the buildings, and water protection under sufficient natural pressure, with at least one hydrant, with hose and nozzle attachment, located outside of the building, shall be provided wherever water is available. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 2.]

§ 5487. Fire doors. Every working adit or crosscut tunnel entrance, where wooden buildings exist, at or near the portal of same, shall be provided with a fire door not less than 50 feet in from the earth portal of the tunnel. This door shall be hung and so adjusted that, upon being released, it will close of its own accord, either by its own weight, when hung from the top of the tunnel, or by means of suspended weights, when hung from the side. The door shall be held open by a rope passing over a pulley, terminating outside of any of the buildings at the mouth of the tunnel and shall be so fitted that, when closed, it will cut off the circulation of air as completely as possible. Where electric haulage is used in said adit or crosscut tunnel, a door consisting of two doors hung from the sides and closing tightly can be used.

If there be no other exit which can be reached from the underground workings connected with such entrance tunnel, then such entrance tunnel shall further be provided with a short raise and ladderway to the surface immediately inside of the fire door. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 3.]

C. L. 229:3.

§ 5488. More than one exit from underground workings. All mines employing underground more than 15 men, and where the vein has been driven on and stoping commenced, shall be provided with more than one exit, and where there is no such escapement raise or exit, work on such an outlet shall be commenced immediately, and be diligently carried on until completed. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 4.]

C. L. 229:4.

§ 5489. Shaft ladderways. Shafts sunk to a greater depth than 100 feet must have two or more compartments, one compartment to be used for a manway, and to be fitted with a good, substantial ladderway, provided with platforms or cross pieces at intervals of not to exceed 20 feet, and where practicable, the ladders should be in lengths of not to exceed 20 feet, and inclined at a convenient angle. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 5.]

C. L. 229:5.

§ 5490. Same: Exit. Where wooden buildings exist, at or near the collar of a shaft, and where there is no other exit which may be reached from this shaft, through underground workings, then the manway compartment of the shaft must be partitioned off from the other compartments, and provided with a trapdoor, over the manway compartment, at the surface, which must be kept closed or so arranged that it can be closed from a point outside of the building by the releasing of a rope, and said manway compartment shall in addition be connected with the surface by a short drift or raise starting at a point not less than 25 feet below the collar of the shaft and terminating outside of the building. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 6.]

C. L. 229:6.

§ 5491. Construction of buildings at entrance. The construction of new buildings, for mechanical plant, timber sheds, blacksmith shop or for any other purpose, over or at the entrance to a mine, shall be prohibited, excepting in high, snowy countries where a shed may be permitted between the buildings and the entrance to the mine, which can be rapidly destroyed in case of fire, but all frame buildings shall be placed at a distance of not less than 25 feet from the entrance. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 7.]

§ 5492. Protection of shafts and openings. The collar of all shafts shall be fixed and protected, so that persons and foreign objects can not fall into the shafts, and all openings in mines such as chutes, winzes, timber slides and mill holes, when not in use for any considerable length of time, shall be protected by a plank or guard rail, and all abandoned or unused surface shafts or raises to the surface shall be securely fenced off or covered. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 8.]

Hist. '09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 8, reen. C. L. 229:8.

Shafts and Hoists.

§ 5493. Shaft cages and buckets. It shall be unlawful for any person to sink or operate a vertical or steeply inclined shaft to a greater depth than 250 feet without having the same equipped with a mine cage, skip or bucket fitted with safety clutches.

Where a bucket is used the same must be attached to a fixed safety crosshead by two chains or cables. Loose heads for shaft buckets are strictly prohibited.

Where a cage or skip is used, it must be provided with a bonnet in addition to safety clutches. The bonnet must be made of boiler sheet iron of at least three-sixteenths inch thickness, and must cover the top of the cage in such manner as to afford the greatest protection to life and limb from any falling objects.

Where a cage and skip are used together, in the same compartment of the shaft, the bonnet may be dispensed with, if the skip is placed above the cage: Provided, This chapter does not apply to skips, cages or buckets used solely to hoist or lower materials. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 9.]

§ 5494. Same: Safety devices. All gallows frames shall be equipped with automatic chairs, or some other automatic device, placed in such a position as to catch the cage or skip, and prevent its falling, in case of overwinding and consequent breaking of the cable. ['15, c. 46, subd. 10, p. 133.]

Hist. '09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 10; am. '15, c. 46, subd. 10, p. 133, reen. C. L. 229:10.

§ 5495. Gallows frames. After a shaft has reached 200 feet in depth and stoping commenced, the gallows frame shall not be less than 40 feet in height between the collar of the shaft and sheave wheel. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 11.]

Hist. '09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 11, reen. C. L. 229:11.

§ 5496. Hoist indicator. Wherever a steam, electric, gas, air or water driven hoist is used, in the handling of men, in mines, it shall be equipped with an indicator, placed in clear view of the hoist engineer, and geared positively to the shaft or drum of the hoist, and so adjusted with dial or slide as to provide a target or indicator that will at all times show the exact location of the bucket, cage or skip. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 12.]

Hist. '09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 12, reen. C. L. 229:12.

§ 5497. Insulation of wires. Electric power cables, where used underground, shall be thoroughly insulated; and, where electric haulage is used underground, the trolley wires must be protected by inverted U-shaped guards, placed along the trolley wires, opposite any handloading chutes. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 13.]

Hist. '09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 13, reen. C. L. 229:13.

§ 5498. Hoist signal devices. Every shaft that is equipped with a bucket, cage or skip operated by a hoist shall be supplied with a pull bell, and also with an electric bell and flashlight signal, where practicable. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 14.]

Hist. '09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 14, reen. C. L. 229:14.

§ 5499. Hoist signal code. At all mines where hoisting apparatus is used in the state of Idaho the following code of bell signals shall hereafter be adopted and used:

One bell, hoist.

One bell, stop (if in motion).

Two bells, lower.

Three bells, hoist men (run slowly).

Four bells, blasting signal. Engineer must answer by raising bucket or cage a few feet and letting it back slowly; then one bell, hoist men away from blast.

Nine bells, danger signal (fire, accident or other danger), followed by the station call where the danger exists.

No other person other than the cager shall ring the signal bell except in case of absolute necessity, and then only after giving seven bells, thereby notifying the hoist engineer that someone other than the cager is ringing the bell.

§ 5500. Same: Posting. Every mining property using hoisting apparatus within the state of Idaho shall keep one copy of this entire code posted on the gallows frame, and a copy of the bell signals before the hoist engineer, and on each station. Signals to meet local demands and not in conflict with the above may be added by individual operators, but the same must be posted in clear and legible form in conjunction with the above code. § 5501. Same: Engineer to be advised when men are handled. It shall be unlawful for any cager or other person to ride upon a cage or skip except after having given a bell signal known by the engineer to be a signal for the handling of men. No private or short signals will be allowed when men are to be hoisted or lowered. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 17.]

ing a special signal, notifying the hoist engineer that some one other than the cager is ringing the bell. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 18.]

§ 5504. Riding in dangerous position unlawful. It shall be unlawful for any person, whether working for himself or whether he be in the employ of any other person, company or corporation, to ride upon the bail or cable of a hoisting bucket, cage or skip. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 20.]

Hist. '09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 20, reen.
C. L. 229:20.

§ 5505. Engineer to act only on signal. It shall be unlawful for any hoist engineer to raise or lower a bucket, cage or skip except upon bell signals. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 21.]

C. L. 229:21.

§ 5506. Hoist engineer must be qualified. When a man is being broken in as hoist engineer and when he is under the tutorage of a qualified hoist engineer, and a signal is given to hoist or lower men, the qualified hoist engineer there present must take charge of the hoist, the new man not being allowed to handle the hoist when men are on the cage or skip until he has qualified as a hoist engineer. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 22.]

C. L. 229:22.

§ 5507. Hoist engineer must attend exclusively to duty. It shall be unlawful for any hoist engineer, while on duty, to answer questions or converse with any one in any manner whatever, excepting such persons as may be assisting him in the operation of the hoist, and then only when necessary. When approached by any one desiring to converse with him, he shall bring the hoist to rest and descend from the bridge before answering any such inquiry, or entering into conversation. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 23.]

C. L. 229:23.

§ 5508. Speed regulations. It is unlawful for any person, company or corporation to hoist or lower men at a greater speed than 600 feet per minute; or to hoist or lower the men when going on or coming off of shift, after the cage has remained idle several hours, until one round trip has been made with the empty cage; and when a shaft is equipped with chairs at the several levels, the hoist engineer must slow up when passing stations when men are on the cage or skip. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 24.]

C. L. 229:24.

§ 5509. Drunkards and minors ineligible. No person addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors or under 21 years of age shall be employed as hoisting engineer, and no person under the influence of liquor shall be permitted under ground, either in the capacity of employee or otherwise. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 25.]

Hist. '09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 25, reen.
C. L. 229:25.

Explosives and Oils.

§ 5510. Storing of explosives. It shall be unlawful for any mining company or person to store more explosives in the underground workings of any mine where men are employed than is required for 24 hours' use, and it shall also be unlawful to store or thaw powder in any buildings used as a dwelling or in which men are employed in any capacity, excepting in the storing, thawing or removing of the same, and storage places for powder shall be situated not less than 200 feet distant from any dwelling or working place for men, unless some impregnable natural object intervenes, and then only in a properly designated building or an underground excavation to be used exclusively for that purpose, and conspicuously marked as such.

Powder thawers using fire, candles, lanterns or lights of any kind are hereby prohibited in mines employing more than 15 men. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 26.]

C. L. 229:26.

§ 5511. Tamping bars. No person, whether working for himself or in the employ of another person, company or corporation, while loading or charging a hole with nitroglycerine powder or other explosive, or in removing powder from same, shall use or employ any steel or iron bar; nor shall any mine manager, superintendent, foreman or shift boss, or other person having the management or direction of mine labor, allow or permit the use of steel, iron or other metal tamping bar by employees under his management or direction. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 27.]

C. L. 229:27.

§ 5512. Storage of oils. Oils and other inflammable materials shall be stored or kept at a safe distance from the mine buildings, and at a safe distance from the powder magazine, and their removal from said building for use shall be in such quantities as are necessary to meet the requirements of one day only. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 28.]

Hist. '09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 28, reen.
C. L. 229:28.

Enforcement.

§ 5513. Penalties for violations. Any person, firm or corporation operating mines within the state of Idaho who shall fail, neglect or refuse to comply with any provisions of this article relating to the duties of employees shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined and the sum of not more than $300 or imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

And any employee in any mine who shall fail, neglect or refuse to comply with any of the requirements of this article relating to the duties of employees shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined the sum of not more than $300 or imprisonment for not more than six months, or both such fine and imprisonment. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 29.]

C. L. 229:29.

§ 5514. Duty of prosecuting attorney. It shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney of the proper county to prosecute the violation of the provisions of this article, upon the furnishing of the necessary information by or at the direction of the inspector of mines. ['09, c. 266, S. B. 160, § 30.]

Hist. '09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 30, reen.
C. L. 229:30.

§ 5515. Publication of regulations. It shall be the duty of the state inspector of mines to have printed a sufficient number of copies of this article for distribution. ['09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 31.]

Hist. '09, p. 266, S. B. 160, § 31, reen. C. L. 229:31.

DUST PREVENTION.

§ 5516. Dust prevention apparatus: Operator must furnish. It shall be unlawful for any owner, operator or person in charge of any underground mine to cause to be drilled or bored by machinery a hole or holes in any stope or raise in ground that causes dust from drilling, unless said machinery is equipped with a water jet or spray or other means equally efficient to prevent the escape of dust. ['17, c. 86, § 1, p. 302.]

Hist. '17, c. 86, § 1, p. 302, reen. C. L. 229:32.

§ 5517. Same: Employee must use. Where machinery used for drilling or boring holes in stopes or raises is equipped as required by the preceding section it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to drill or bore a hole in said stope or raise without using said applicance for the prevention of dust. ['17, c. 86, § 2, p. 302.]

Hist. '17, c. 86, § 2, p. 302, reen. C. L. 229:33.

§ 5518. Penalty for violation. Any person who violates either of the two preceding sections, or any owner, operator or person in charge of any underground mine who hires, contracts with or causes any person to violate the two preceding sections shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, or by imprisonment in the county jail not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. ['17, c. 86, § 3, p. 302.]

§ 5519. Definitions. The words "person," "operator," "owner" and "person in charge," wherever used in this article, shall be deemed to include corporations and associations existing under or authorized by the laws of either the United States, the laws of the territories, the laws of any state or the laws of any foreign country. ['17, c. 86, § 4, p. 302.]

LOCATION OF MINING CLAIMS.

ARTICLE 1.

LODE CLAIMS.

§ 5520. [3206] Dimensions of lode claims. Mining claims hereafter located upon veins or lodes of quartz or other rock in place bearing any of the metals or other valuable deposits mentioned in section 2320 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, may extend to 300 feet on each side of the middle of the vein or lode: Provided, That when the locators have set stakes, posts or monuments described in the following section, to indicate the line of the vein, ledge or lode, such stakes, posts or monuments must be taken, for the purpose of such location, to mark correctly the line thereof, and such line must not afterward be changed so as to affect rights acquired, or interfere with any locations made, subsequent thereto. ['95, p. 25, § 1.]

Cited: Ambergis Min. Co. v. Day (1906) 12 I. 108, 85 P. 109; Nicholls v. Lewis & Clark M. Co. (1910) 18 I. 224, 109 P. 846, 28 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1029.

§ 5521. [3207] Location monument and notice. The locator, at the time of making the discovery of such vein or lode, must erect a monument at such place of discovery, upon which he must place his name, the name of the claim, the date of discovery and distance claimed along the vein each way from such monument. Within 10 days from the date of discovery he must mark the boundaries of his claim by establishing at each corner thereof and at any angle in the side lines, a monument, marked with the name of the claim and the corner or angle it represents; also at the time of so marking his boundaries he must post at his discovery monument his notice of location in which must be stated: First, the name of the locator; second, the name of the claim; third, the date of discovery; fourth, the direction and distance claimed along the ledge from the discovery; fifth, the distance claimed on each side of the middle of the ledge; sixth, the distance and direction from the discovery monument to such natural object or permanent monument, if any such there be, as will fix and describe in the notice itself the location of the claim, and seventh, the name of the mining district, county and state. When from any cause, a monument can not be safely planted at the true corner or angle, it may be placed as near thereto as practicable, and so marked as to indicate the place of such corner or angle. Monuments may be made of any such material or form as will readily give notice, and when of posts or trees, they must be hewn and marked upon the side facing toward the discovery, and must be at least four inches square or in diameter. Monuments must be at least four feet high above the ground, and trees must be so hewn as to readily attract attention. At the time the locator so marks the boundaries of his claim he may do so in any direction that will not interfere with rights or claims which existed prior to his discovery. ['99, p. 440, § 1.]

Hist. (See '81, p. 262, §§ 2, 3) R. S. § 3101; am. '95, p. 25, § 2, reen. '99, p. 237, § 2; am. '99, p. 440, § 1, reen. R. C. § 3207, reen. C. L. ib.

Necessity of discovery: A vein or lode must be discovered before a valid location can be made thereon; one cannot locate a quartz claim on porphyry, granite, limestone or quartzite unless he has previously discovered a vein or lode. (Con. op.) Ambergis Min. Co. v. Day (1906) 12 I. 108, 85 P. 109.

Location by agent: An agent for the locator may do the things required by this section in locating a claim. Dunlap v. Pattison (1895) 4 I. 473, 42 P. 504, 95 A. S. R. 140.

Sufficiency of notice: The location notice must describe the claim by reference to some natural object or permanent monument which will identify the claim and will furnish a reasonable certainty that the locus of the claim has not been, and cannot well be changed; the reference must be such as will enable a skilled engineer to identify the claim without reference to contiguous claims, the location of which are uncertain, and the courses and distances from the permanent monument to the discovery stakes or corner stakes, must be stated with reasonable accuracy. Brown v. Levan (1896) 4 I. 794, 46 P. 661.

A location which is tied to a natural object or permanent monument, described as the mouth of Big Canyon, and which fixes the discovery stake at 600 feet from such monument, without indicating the direction from the point of discovery is void. Clearwater Short Line Ry. v. San Garde (1900) 7 I. 106, 61 P. 137.

A located mining claim is a natural object or landmark, or fixed object which may be referred to in the location notice. Morrison v. Regan (1902) 8 I. 291, 67 P. 955.

Where a location certificate contains a reference to a landmark, it should not be declared insufficient upon the mere inspection of the certificate and in the absence of evidence, unless it clearly fails to identify the claim. Ib.

A location notice describing the claim as "Commencing at this stake and notice which is situated about 300 feet in a northwesterly direction from the Minnesota mine; that it is an extension of the Red Jacket mine and running thence along the vein or lode in an easterly direction to a similar stake and notice," is sufficient. Ib.

Where the location of a mining claim is made in good faith, the court will not hold the locator to a very strict compliance with the law in respect to his location notice. If by any reasonable construction, in view of the surrounding circumstances the language employed in the description will impart notice to subsequent locators, it is sufficient. The natural objects or permanent monuments referred to in the statutes may be on the ground located, or off, as the case may be. Bismark M. Co. v. North Sunbeam Co. (1908) 14 I. 516, 95 P. 14.

If by any reasonable construction in view of the surrounding circumstances, the language employed in the description will impart notice to subsequent locators, such notice of location is sufficient. Snowy Peak M. Co. v. Tamarack etc. Co. (1910) 17 I. 630, 107 P. 60.

The intent of the law is to require the locator to make his location so definite and certain that from the location notice and the stakes and monuments on the ground the limits and boundaries of the claim may be readily ascertained, and so definite and certain as to prevent the changing or floating of the claim. Flynn Group Mining Co. v. Murphy (1910) 18 I. 266, 109 P. 851, 138 A. S. R. 201.

The location notice is not required to describe the exterior boundaries of the claim. Ib.

The sufficiency of the description of the property or the tie to a natural object or permanent monument is open to explanation by other evidence than the notices to show whether or not the property could be definitely identified from such description. Humphreys v. Idaho Gold etc. Co. (1912) 21 I. 126, 120 P. 823, 40 L. R. A. (N. S.) 817.

A description which is so erroneous as to be delusive and misleading renders the location void. Swanson v. Koeniger (1913) 25 I. 361, 137 P. 891.

Actual notice: If the locator had actual notice that the ground in controversy had been located, as well as constructive notice by an examination of the recorded notice, no technicalities will be resorted to to sustain his relocation of the same ground. Flynn Group Mining Co. v. Murphy, supra.

Marking exterior boundaries: It takes more than the posting of a discovery notice to constitute a valid location. It is just as essential that the exterior boundaries be marked. Nicholls v. Lewis & Clark M. Co. (1910) 18 I. 224, 109 P. 846, 28 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1029.

Excessive location: Where an excessive mineral location has been made through mistake, while the locator was acting in good faith, the location will be void only as to the excess; but where the locator has purposely included within his exterior boundaries an excessive area with the fraudulent intent of holding the entire area under one location, such location is void; or if made so large that the location cannot be deemed the result of innocent error or mistake, fraud may be presumed. Nicholls v. Lewis & Clark M. Co. supra; Flynn Group M. Co. v. Murphy, supra.

Adverse possession: Under U. S. R. S. § 2332 the claimant to mineral lands who has been in the open, exclusive adverse possession of a claim for a continuous period equal to that required by the local statute of limitations governing adverse possession of real estate, is relieved of the necessity of making proof of posting and recording a notice of location and such other proofs as are usually furnished by the county recorder. Humphreys v. Idaho Gold M. etc. Co. supra.

§ 5522. [3208] Shaft must be sunk. Within 60 days after such location, the locator or his assigns must sink a shaft upon the lode to the depth of at least 10 feet from the lowest part of the rim of such shaft to the surface, and of not less than 16 square feet area. Any excavation which shall cut such vein 10 feet from the lowest part of the rim of such shaft and which shall measure 160 cubic feet in extent shall be considered a compliance with this provision. Any located claim upon which work has been done in compliance with the above requirements is not, unless abandoned, subject to relocation for a period of 90 days from and after the date of location. ['95, p. 25, § 3.]

Hist. '95, p. 25, § 3, reen. '99, p. 237, § 3, reen. R. C. § 3208, reen. C. L. ib.

Time essential: The work required to be done must be performed within the time limited as a condition precedent to the vesting of the title; a neglect in this respect can not be cured by the performance of the work after the time limited, but before the institution of an adverse claim. Kramer v. Settle (1873) 1 I. 485.

Fencing: Neither the government of the United States nor the state of Idaho has enacted any statute requiring the locator of a mining claim to fence the same or in any way protect or inclose any pits, shafts or excavations on such claim against livestock. Strong v. Brown (1914) 26 I. 1, 140 P. 773, Ann. Cas. 1916E, 482, 52 L. R. A. (N. S.) 140.

§ 5523. [3209] Notice must be recorded. Within 90 days after the location of the claim the locator or his assigns must file for record in the office of the county recorder of the county, or of the deputy recorder of the mining district in which the claim is situated, a substantial copy of his notice of location. ['95, p. 25, § 4.]

Hist. '95, p. 25, § 4, reen. '99, p. 237, § 4, reen. R. C. § 3209, reen. C. L. ib.

Notice is prima facie evidence: The location notice or certificate, when recorded, is prima facie evidence of all the facts the statute requires it to contain, and which are therein sufficiently set forth. Bismark Min. Co. v. North Sunbeam Co. (1908) 14 I. 516, 95 P. 14.

Adverse possession: Under U. S. R. S. § 2332, a claimant to mineral lands who has been in adverse possession for a continuous period equal to that required by the local statute of limitations is relieved of the necessity of making proof of recording a notice of location. Humphreys v. Idaho Gold etc. Co. (1912) 21 I. 126, 120 P. 823, 40 L. R. A. (N. S.) 817.

§ 5524. [3210] Record of additional certificate. If at any time the locator of any mining claim heretofore or hereafter located, or his assigns, shall apprehend that his original certificate was defective, erroneous, or that the requirements of the law had not been complied with before filing, or shall be desirous of changing the surface boundaries, or of taking any part of an overlapping claim which has been abandoned, or in case the original certificate was made prior to the passage of this law, and he shall be desirous of securing the benefits of this chapter, such locator or his assigns may file an additional certificate subject to the conditions of this chapter, and to contain all that this chapter requires an original certificate to contain: Provided, That such amended location does not interfere with the existing rights of others at the time when such amendment is made. ['95, p. 25, § 5.]

Amended locations: An amended location may be made by any one having authority to make the same, and such authority need not be in writing. Morrison v. Regan (1902) 8 I. 291, 67 P. 955.

The proviso of this section that amended locations do not interfere with the existing rights of others at the time of amendment, only applies to changes of boundaries or to cases where part of an overlapping claim which has been abandoned is taken in, and does not apply to amended locations by which the surface boundaries are not changed, or where no part of an overlapping claim is taken in. Morrison v. Regan (1902) 8 I. 291, 67 P. 955.

An amended certificate may cure a defective or erroneous original certificate and relates back to the date of the original certificate, unless such original is absolutely void, or where the rights of others have intervened between the date of the original and amended locations. Ib.

Amended locations, where they do not interfere with existing rights, relate back to the date of the original locations. Bismark M. Co. v. North Sunbeam Co. (1908) 14 I. 516, 95 P. 14.

§ 5525. Affidavit of performance of labor: Fee: As evidence. Within 60 days after any time set or period allowed for the performance of labor, or making improvements upon any lode or placer claim, the person in whose behalf such work or improvement is performed, or some person for him, must make and record an affidavit in substance as follows:

State of Idaho, county of....., ss.

Before me, the subscribed, personally appeared....., who being first duly sworn says, that at least..... dollars worth of work or improvements were performed or made upon.....claim, situate in.....mining district, county of....., state of Idaho:

That such expenditure was made by, for, or at the expense of....., owner of said claim, for the purpose of holding said claim; all stakes, monuments or trees marking boundaries of said claim are in proper place and position.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this.....day of....., 19.....

The fee for administering the oath and recording the foregoing affidavit, when taken before any county recorder or deputy mineral recorder, shall be 50 cents: Provided, however, That any number of claims in the same mining district, belonging to the same person or persons, association or corporation, may be included in one affidavit without the additional charge. The fee for recording the same when the oath is taken before any other officer authorized to administer oaths shall be 50 cents.

Such affidavit, or a certified copy thereof in case the original is lost, shall be prima facie evidence of the performance of such labor. The failure to file such affidavit shall be considered prima facie evidence that such labor has not been done. ['13, c. 72, § 1, p. 308.]

Hist. R. S. § 3101; am. '99, p. 237, § 6; am. '99, p. 440, § 2, reen. R. C. § 3211; am. '13, c. 72, § 1, p. 308, reen. C. L. § 3211.

Cited: Empire Copper Co. v. Henderson (1908) 15 I. 635, 99 P. 127.

Correction of affidavit: If a mistake is made in such notice, it may be corrected by oral evidence. The fact as to whether the work was done is the main question, and not its method of proof. Bismark M. Co. v. North Sunbeam Co. (1908) 14 I. 516, 95 P. 14.

Prima facie evidence overcome: When the prima facie evidence is met and overcome by positive evidence that the labor had not been performed, it then devolves upon the respondent to show by evidence of a positive aud affirmative nature other than the affidavit that the work had actually been performed. Dickens-West M. Co. v. Crescent etc. Co. (1914) 26 I. 153 141 P. 566.

§ 5526. [3212] Location of abandoned claim. The location of abandoned claims shall be done in the same manner as if the location were of a new claim; but the locator may, instead of sinking a new discovery shaft, sink the original discovery shaft 10 feet deeper than it was at the time of his location, or he may drive the open cut, or tunnel, 10 feet further along the course of the lead, lode or vein, and must erect new posts or monuments. ['95, p. 25, § 7.]

Hist. '95, p. 25, § 7, reen. '99, p. 237, § 7, reen. R. C. § 3212, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5527. [3213] Notice must claim only one location. No location notice shall claim more than one location, whether the location is made by one or several locators, and if it purport to claim more than one location it is absolutely void. ['95, p. 25, § 8.]

Hist. '95, p. 25, § 8, reen. '99, p. 237, § 8, reen. R. C. § 3213, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5528. [3214] Security to surface owners: Injunction. When the right to mine is in any case separate from the ownership or right of occupancy of the surface ground, the owners or rightful occupants of the surface ground may demand satisfactory security from the miners, and if it be refused or not given, may enjoin such miners from working such ground until such security is given. The court granting the writ of injunction shall fix the amount and nature of the security. ['95, p. 25, § 10.]

Hist. '95, p. 25, § 10, reen. '99, p. 237, § 10, reen. R. C. § 3214, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5529. [3215] Appointment of deputy recorders. For the convenience of prospectors and locators, the county recorders of the several counties must appoint a deputy at any place where they may deem it necessary, and at all places more than 20 miles distant from an existing office, whenever 10 or more mining locators interested petition for the appointment of a deputy. Upon failure of any recorder to appoint a deputy for 10 days after the petition in writing has been presented to him, the resident miners in such district may appoint, temporarily, one of their number to act as recorder for the district, whose record shall be as valid as if made by the deputy, and must be entered by the recorder as hereinafter required: Provided, That whenever at any time afterward, the recorder has appointed a deputy for such district or place, the authority of the person elected by the resident miners ceases. ['95, p. 25, § 9.]

Hist. (See '81, p. 262, § 4); R. S. § 3103; am. '95, p. 25, § 9, reen. '99, p. 237, § 9, reen. R. C. § 3215, reen. C. L. ib.

Appointment of subdeputy: A deputy recorder has no power to appoint another deputy to act in his place, and an affidavit sworn to before the deputy so appointed by him would be void. Van Buren v. McKinley (1901) 8 I. 93, 66 P. 936.

§ 5530. [3216] Affidavit of locators. At or before the time of presenting a location notice for record, whether it be for a quartz or placer claim, one of the locators named in the same must make and subscribe an affidavit, in writing on or attached to the notice, substantially in the following form to wit:

State of Idaho, county of.....,ss.

I, ..., do solemnly swear that I am a citizen of the United States of America (or have declared my intentions to become such), and that I am acquainted with the mining ground described in this notice of location, and herewith called the.....ledge, lode or claim; that the ground and claim therein described or any part thereof has not, to the best of my knowledge and belief, been located according to the laws of the United States and this state, or if so located, that the same has been abandoned or forfeited by reason of the failure of such former locators to comply in respect thereto with the requirements of said laws, and (in the case of quartz claims) that I have opened new ground to the extent or depth of 10 feet as required by the laws of Idaho.

Validity of section: This section in requiring an affidavit to a location notice prescribes a reasonable regulation and is not in conflict with U. S. R. S. § 2322. Van Buren v. McKinley (1901) 8 I. 93, 66 P. 936.

Necessity of affidavit: The affidavit as required by this section is necessary to a valid location. Ib.

Who may make affidavit: An agent or attorney in fact may locate a mining claim for his principal and may make the affidavit required by this section. Dunlap v. Pattison (1895) 4 I. 473, 42 P. 504, 95 A. S. R. 140.

§ 5531. [3217] Manner of recording notices: Fees. The location notice herein required to be recorded must be recorded by the deputy appointed for the district, or the person appointed for that purpose as above provided (when the legal fee therefor is tendered) in a book kept for that purpose. Said book must be indexed, with the names of all the locators arranged in alphabetical order, according to the family or surname of each. The fee to be tendered for making such record, administering the oath to the locator and certifying the same, for indexing the names appearing on the notice, and to include recording the notice by the recorder as hereinafter required, and the indexing by said recorder, is $2, which fee must be equally divided between the recorder and the deputy or the person acting under an election as hereinbefore provided, and no other additional sum of money must be demanded or received by either of them, for any services connected with the recording of any location notice made pursuant to the requirements of this chapter. ['95, p. 25, § 14.]

§ 5532. [3218] Transmission of notices to county recorder. The deputy recorder of mining claims of each district, or the person elected as hereinbefore provided to make the record in case of the failure of the recorder to appoint a deputy, must, at least once in each month, transmit to the recorder at the county seat, all the notices of location filed with him for record and not previously transmitted, which must at once be recorded by said recorder, in a book to be kept in his office, to be known as the book of mining claims. The names of all persons appearing in every notice of location must be indexed by the recorder, said names being arranged in said index in alphabetical order, according to the first letter of the surname of said locators. § 5533. [3219] Same: Transmission to deputies. It shall be the duty of the county recorder of the several counties of this state, within 14 days after receiving them, to transmit to the deputy mining recorder of the district wherein the claims located are situated, all location notices, both quartz and placer, which shall not have been already recorded in the office of the deputy mining recorder. It shall be the duty of such deputy mining recorder to record in his records all such notices received by him, and he shall receive as compensation therefor from the recorder sending them, one-half the fee authorized by law to be charged for the recording of mining claims. After recording such notices the deputy mining recorder shall return the same to the county recorder. [R. C. § 3219.]

§ 5534. [3220] Seal of deputies: Limitation on powers. The deputy recorders provided for in this chapter are not, by virtue of the provisions hereof, authorized to perform any other than the special duties herein specified. They must keep an official seal, and the records in their custody are public records, but the seal of a deputy recorder must not be attached to any paper except for the purpose of authenticating certificates attached to transcripts of the records in his custody as deputy recorder. ARTICLE 2.

PLACER CLAIMS.

§ 5535. [3221] Location of placer claims. Placer claims, as mentioned in section 2329 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, may be located for the purpose of mining deposits and precious stones after the discovery of such deposits. ['95, p. 25, § 11.]

§ 5536. [3222] Monuments: Notice: Excavation: Record of notice. The locator of any placer mining claim located for the purpose of mining placer deposits or precious stones must, at the time of making the location, place a substantial post or monument, as is required in the location of quartz claims, at each corner of the location, and must also post on one of the same a notice of location containing the date of the location, the name of the locator, the name and dimensions of the claim, the mining district (if any) and county in which the same is situated; and must also give the distance and direction from said post or monument to such natural object or permanent monument, if any such there be, as will fix and describe in the notice itself the location of the claim. Within 15 days after making the location, the locator must make an excavation upon the claim of not less than 100 cubic feet, for the purpose of prospecting the same. Within 30 days after the location, the locator must file for record in the office of the recorder of the county, or the deputy recorder of the mining district in which the claim is situated, a substantial copy of his copy of notice of location, to which must be attached an affidavit such as is required in case of quartz claims. CHAPTER 214.

RIGHTS OF WAY AND EASEMENTS FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF MINES.

§ 5537. [3223] Right of way for mining purposes. The owner, locator or occupant of a mining claim, whether patented under the laws of the United States or held by location or possession, may have and acquire a right of way for ingress and egress, when necessary in working such mining claim, over and across the lands or mining claims of others, whether patented or otherwise. [R. S. § 3130.]

Purpose for which taken: This chapter designates the purposes for which mining property may be taken. Unless mining property is being applied or held for the same or a more necessary public use which will be defeated thereby it may be taken in aid of that industry under the power of eminent domain for one or more of those purposes designated and none other. Marsh M. Co. v. Inland Empire M. & M. Co. (1916) 30 I. 1, 165 P. 1128.

The fact that land sought to be condemned is held as a mining claim for prospective public use does not protect it from being condemned for public use. (Dis. op.) Marsh M. Co. v. Inland Empire M. & M. Co. Ib.

§ 5538. [3224] Same: For railroads, ditches and tunnels. When any mine or mining claim is so situated, that for the more convenient enjoyment of the same a road, railroad or tramway therefrom, or ditch or canal to convey water thereto, or a ditch, flume, cut or tunnel to drain or convey the waters or tailings therefrom, or a tunnel or shaft, may be necessary for the better working thereof, which road, railroad, tramway, ditch, canal, flume, cut, shaft or tunnel, may require the use or occupancy of lands or mining grounds, owned, occupied or possessed by others than the person or persons or body corporate, requiring an easement for any of the purposes described, the owner, claimant or occupant of the mine or mining claim first above mentioned, is entitled to a right of way, entry and possession for all the uses and privileges for such road, railroad, tramway, ditch, canal, flume, cut, shaft or tunnel, in, upon, through and across such other lands or mining claims, upon compliance with the provisions of this chapter. [R. S. § 3131.]

§ 5539. [3225] Action to condemn right of way. When the owner, claimant or occupant of any mine or mining claim desires to work the same, and it is necessary, to enable him to do so successfully and conveniently, that he have a right of way for any of the purposes mentioned in the foregoing sections, if such right of way can not be acquired by agreement with the claimant or owner of the lands or claims over, under, through, across or upon which he seeks to acquire such right of way, he may commence an action in the district court in and for the county in which such right of way, or some part thereof, is situated, by filing a verified complaint containing a particular description of the character and extent of the right sought, a description of the mine or claim of the plaintiff, and of the mine or claim and lands to be affected by such right of way or privilege, with the name of the occupant or owner thereof. He may also set forth any tender of compensation that he may have made, and demand the relief sought. ['99, p. 350, § 1.]

§ 5541. [3227] Appointment of commissioners. At any time after the service of the summons the plaintiff may upon 10 days' notice to the defendant, apply to the district court or the judge thereof for the appointment of commissioners to assess the damages resulting from the grant of such right of way. If upon the hearing of such motion, and the affidavits and proofs offered by the respective parties, the judge shall be of the opinion that the plaintiff has made a prima facie case entitling him to the relief demanded in the complaint, or any part thereof, he shall appoint three commissioners, who must be disinterested persons, residents of the county, to assess the damages resulting to the claims, mines or lands of the defendant. But if such commissioners are not applied for and appointed, or their award is not approved by the judge or court, or if an appeal is taken from their award as hereinafter provided, the action shall be tried and determined by the court, and the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure applicable thereto shall govern the proceedings therein as in other civil actions. Either party shall be entitled to a jury trial and may move for a new trial and appeal as in other cases. ['99, p. 350, § 3.]

[3231] Appeal from commissioners' award. Appeals from the assessment of damages made by the commissioners may be made and prosecuted in the proper district court by any party interested, at any time within 10 days after the filing of the report of the commissioners. A written notice of such appeal must be served upon the appellee in the same manner as summons is served in civil actions. The appellant must file with the clerk of the court to which the appeal is taken, a bond with sureties to be approved by the clerk in the amount of the assessment appealed from in favor of the appellee, conditioned that the appellant will pay any costs that may be awarded to the appellee, and abide any judgment that may be rendered in the cause. § 5547. [3233] Effect of appeal: Bond and deposit of damages. The prosecution of an appeal from the award of the commissioners or from the judgment of the district court does not hinder, delay or prevent the plaintiff from exercising all the rights and privileges granted by the award or judgment, if he deposit with the clerk of the district court the full amount of the damages awarded or adjudged the defendant, and execute and deliver to the clerk a bond with sufficient sureties to be approved by the clerk, in an amount to be fixed by the judge of the district court, conditioned to pay to the defendant any additional amount, over and above the amount so deposited that the defendant may recover, and all costs to which he may be entitled under the provisions of this chapter. At any time after such deposit and before the final determination of the action the defendant may, upon demand, receive from the clerk the amount so deposited, but his acceptance of the same or any part thereof, shall bar any further prosecution of the appeal, and shall be deemed an acquiescence and consent to the award and judgment, and the defendant shall not be entitled to any costs subsequent to the judgment. MINING TUNNELS.

§ 5550. [3236] Right to cross located claim. Any person or company who has or who may hereafter have a tunnel or crosscut, the mouth of which is located upon his own ground or upon ground in his lawful occupation, shall have the right to drive and continue the same through and across any located or patented claim in front of the mouth of the tunnel, but not to follow or drive upon any vein belonging to the owner of such claim. Constitutionality and validity: This act, in granting to owners of ground having a tunnel located thereon, the right to run the same through the claims of others on payment of actual damages is not subject to the objection of depriving any person of property without due process of law. Baillie v. Larson (1905) 138 F. 177.

The enactment of this law is authorized by United States Revised Statutes § 2338 (U. S. Comp. St. 1901, p. 1436) providing that, as a condition of sale of mineral lands, the local legislature of any state may prescribe rules for working mines, involving easements, drainage and other necessary means to their complete development. Ib.

§ 5551. [3237] Owner of intersected claim may inspect tunnel. Each tunnel or crosscut may be driven and worked for the purpose of drainage and for the purpose of reaching and working mining ground of the tunnel owner beyond the intersected claim. The owner or owners of any vein or any claim or claims so intersected, or his duly authorized agent, shall have the right to enter such tunnel upon application to the owner or owners or person in charge of said tunnel, without resorting to any process of law, for the purpose of making a survey and inspecting such vein or veins as may be crossed within the boundary lines of such intersected claim, and if the owner or owners of such tunnel shall, by bulkheading, damming back, or in any manner prevent the inspection or survey herein provided for, or if such owner or owners shall in any manner prevent the natural drainage of water from such intersected claim or claims without the consent of the owner or owners thereof. it shall work a forfeiture of all rights granted under the preceding section. § 5552. [3238] Title to ore taken from intersected claim. If any ore, the property of the owner of the claim intersected or crossed, be extracted in driving such tunnel, it shall be the property of the owner of the vein from which it was taken and the owner of the tunnel shall be liable for all actual damages or injury done to the owner of the claim crossed by his tunnel. ['99, p. 442, § 3.]

PROCEEDING BY LIENHOLDER UPON UNPATENTED MINING CLAIM TO PREVENT FORFEITURE.

§ 5554. Order for performance of assessment work. Whenever a judgment, attachment or mortgage creditor has a lien upon unpatented mining claims in this state and the annual assessment work required by the provisions of section 2324 of the Revised Statutes of the United States has not been performed upon such mining claims by the 1st day of December in any year, the judgment, attachment or mortgage creditor may apply to the court having jurisdiction for an order allowing such judgment, attachment or mortgage creditor to perform such annual assessment work upon such unpatented mining claims in order to prevent a forfeiture of such mining claims and to preserve the lien of the judgment, attachment or mortgage until the final issuance of sheriff's deed. ['11, c. 174, § 1, p. 568.]

§ 5555. Cost of assessment a lien. Upon the making of such order the judgment, attachment or mortgage creditor shall be authorized and empowered to incur all the expenses necessary in the performance of the annual assessment work upon such mining claims, and upon filing in the court in which such action is pending a verified statement of such expenses, the cost thereof shall be taxed in the action, suit or proceeding and become and be a lien upon said premises, and execution may issue therefor against said premises: Provided, That no deficiency judgment shall be entered against the owner of said mining property for any portion of such expense if the proceeds of the sale thereof are insufficient to satisfy the same. TITLE XLIV. WATER RIGHTS AND IRRIGATION.

Hist. Two acts passed in 1881 were the basis of the irrigation law of the state for a number of years. The act of Feb. 10, 1881 (Laws '81, p. 267) regulated the appropriation of water, requiring the posting of notices at the point of diversion and the recording of the same as in the case of mining claims, and prescribing the manner of procuring rights of way by proceedings before the county commissioners. The act of Feb. 7 (Laws '81, p. 273) regulated the distribution of water through water masters whose election and duties were therein provided for. The provisions of these two acts were substantially perpetuated in R. S., Civ. C., Title 9 (§§ 3155-3205).

A new act covering the appropriation of water and providing for fixing water rates by the district court was enacted in 1895 (Laws '95, p. 174). This act was in part reenacted and in part repealed by the act of Feb. 25, 1899 (Laws '99, p. 380) which added several new provisions to the law and gave to the county commissioners jurisdiction to fix water rates. The appropriation provisions of the 1899 law were repealed by Laws '03, p. 223, which, for the first time, departed from the old system of posting and recording notices of appropriation, placing the matter in the hands of the state engineer. The act of 1903, with such sections of the 1899 and earlier laws as are still in force, comprise the basis of this title, which has been frequently amended since the enactment of the R. C.

'19, c. 8, § 38, p. 65 (§ 351 herein) abolished the office of state engineer, and § 37 of the same act (§ 350 herein) vested his powers and duties in the department of reclamation. The section notes "Compiled upon authority '19, c. 8," etc., indicate that the substitutions of offices and officials authorized by that act have been made accordingly; the text of the preexisting law not being changed except in so far as necessary in making substitutions.

Cross ref. Other provisions bearing on the irrigation laws may be found as follows: Const. XV: water rights. Title XXVI, reclamation of arid lands: cc. 135-142. Title XXXIII, irrigation districts: cc. 175-178. Title XXXIV, drainage districts: c. 179; adjudication of water rights: § 6749 et seq; penal provisions of the irrigation law: § 8529 et seq. Water and canal corporations and water users' associations: § 4842 et seq.

Comp. leg. The present Idaho appropriation law is based on the statutes of Wyoming and Colorado. The first 12 sections follow the "Wyoming system." See R. S. Wyo. 1889, § 917 et seq. Under the "Colorado system," for the purpose of adjudicating the priority rights to the use of water, the courts have original jurisdiction. Mill's Ann. Stat. Colo. c. 1, p. 149, § 2399. In this respect the Idaho law follows that of Colorado. Under the Wyoming system such jurisdiction is vested in a board of control. Rev. St. (Wyo.) 1899, § 857 et seq.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 5556. [3240] Nature of property in water. Water being essential to the industrial prosperity of the state, and all agricultural development throughout the greater portion of the state depending upon its just apportionment to, and economical use by, those making a beneficial application of the same, its control shall be in the state, which, in providing for its use, shall equally guard all the various interests involved, All the waters of the state, when flowing in their natural channels, including the waters of all natural springs and lakes within the boundaries of the state are declared to be the property of the state, whose duty it shall be to supervise their appropriation and allotment to those diverting the same therefrom for any beneficial purpose, and the right to the use of any of the waters of the state for useful or beneficial purposes is recognized and confirmed; and the right to the use of any of the public waters which have heretofore been or may hereafter be allotted or beneficially applied, shall not be considered as being a property right in itself, but such right shall become the complement of, or one of the appurtenances of, the land or other thing to which, through necessity, said water is being applied; and the right to continue the use of any such water shall never be denied or prevented from any other cause than the failure on the part of the user thereof to pay the ordinary charges or assessments which may be made to cover the expenses for the delivery of such water. Constitutionality: This section is in harmony with Const. XV, 7. Adams v. Twin Falls-Oakley L. & W. Co. (1916) 29 I. 357, 161 P. 322.

Rights to ditches: Possessory rights to ditches and to the use of water may each have an existence independent of the other. A ditch may be conveyed, reserving the water right, or the water may be conveyed, reserving the ditch. Ada Co. Farmers' Irr. Co. v. Farmers' Canal Co. (1898) 5 I. 793, 51 P. 990.

Nature of water right: The clause of this section which provides that the right of the water user shall not be considered as being a property right in itself but shall become a complement, or one of the appurtenances, of the land on which the water is applied, does not deprive or divest the right to the use of water of any of the qualities or elements of property it otherwise might have. (Con. op. Sullivan, J. dis.) Hard v. Boise City Irr. etc. Co. (1904) 9 I. 589, 76 P. 331.

Remedies for nonpayment of maintenance: For user's default in payment of maintenance, water company may proceed either under this section or under § 3288. Adams v. Twin Falls-Oakley L. & W. Co. (1916) 29 I. 357, 161 P. 322.

Contractual provision empowering company to refuse delivery of water during default by user in payment other than for maintenance is contrary to public policy and void. Ib.

§ 5557. Measurement of water. A cubic foot of water per second of time shall be the legal standard for the measurement of water in this state, and it shall be the duty of the department of reclamation to devise a simple, uniform system for the measurement and distribution of water.

Courts must recognize standard: This section is the measurement of water which should be recognized by the court in entering a decree of distribution of water. A decree for all the water of a stream is void for uncertainty. Lee v. Hanford (1912) 21 I. 327, 121 P. 558.

Beneficial use, time: An appropriator of water for irrigation purposes, after conducting the water to the point of intended use, has a reasonable length of time to apply it to such intended use. Hall v. Blackman (1902) 8 I. 272, 68 P. 19; Bennett v. Nourse (1912) 22 I. 249, 257, 125 P. 1038.

§ 5560. Use of natural channels: Measurement of commingled water. The water appropriated may be turned into the channel of another stream and mingled with its water, and then reclaimed; and water may be turned into any ditch, natural channel or waterway from reservoirs or other sources of water supply, and such water may be substituted or exchanged for an equal amount of water diverted from the stream, creek or river into which such water flows, or any tributary thereof, but in reclaiming the water so mingled, or diverting water in lieu thereof from any such stream, creek, river or tributary, the amount of water to which prior appropriators may be entitled shall not be diminished, and due allowance shall be made for loss by evaporation and seepage. ['11, c. 149, p. 454.]

Riparian rights repudiated: A prior appropriator of water has a right to the use thereof which is superior to the claim of a riparian proprietor not based upon appropriation but on the doctrine of riparian rights. (Berry, J. dissents) Drake v. Earhart (1890) 2 I. 750, 23 P. 541.

Priorities: The first appropriation of water for useful or beneficial purposes gives the prior right thereto, and the right once vested will be protected and upheld unless abandoned. Malad Valley Irr. Co. v. Campbell (1888) 2 I. 411, 18 P. 52; Geertson v. Barrack (1892) 3 I. 344, 29 P. 42; Dunniway v. Lawson (1898) 6 I. 28, 51 P. 1032. The doctrine of priority must be applied although its application may be harsh and unjust in the particular case. Kirk v. Bartholomew (1892) 3 I. 367, 29 P. 40.

The right of a prior appropriator of water to the use of the same to the extent of his appropriation is not defeated by his having, through mistake, used a portion of the water on land belonging to another. Mahoney v. Neiswanger (1899) 6 I. 750, 59 P. 561.

Extent of right: One who first appropriated all the waters of a creek, and since the appropriation continually used the same for the purpose of irrigating his lands, is entitled to all of said waters, to the extent of the capacity of his ditches, necessary to the proper irrigation of his lands, as against subsequent locators. Hillman v. Hardwick (1891) 3 I. 255, 28 P. 438.

Date of priority: When two persons as partners appropriated water sufficient to irrigate 480 acres of land, owned by them as tenants in common, in 1872, and actually irrigated 200 acres of land until 1886, when they severed their interests, one taking the uncultivated portion and the other the cultivated, the rights of each to their respective shares of water appropriated by them jointly, dates from 1872. Hall v. Blackman (1902) 8 I. 272, 68 P. 19.

Where one settled on unsurveyed lands and, during the year of such settlement, opened up an old ditch which had been constructed and used by a previous settler, put in a headgate and conveyed waters of a stream 150 feet to and upon the lands claimed by him, and in the following year extended the ditch so as to better distribute the water over his claim, the water right so acquired dates from the time when the water was actually delivered upon the ground for the use of which it was diverted, and the priority thereby acquired was not broken by a subsequent sale of the claim, ditch and water right, and transfer of possession to the vendee. Brown v. Newell (1906) 12 I. 166, 85 P. 385.

Protection of right: Where the prior appropriation and right to the use of water is established, the appropriator is entitled to have sufficient of the unappropriated waters flow down to his point of diversion to supply his right, and an injunction against an interference therewith is proper protective relief. Moe v. Harger (1904) 10 I. 302, 77 P. 645.

Decree establishing priority: Where priority of appropriation, the amount of water appropriated and the beneficial use thereof have been established, the court, in its decree establishing such facts, cannot go further and dictate the manner in which the appropriator shall use the water, so long as it is adapted to a beneficial purpose. McGiness v. Stanfield (1898) 6 I. 372, 55 P. 1020.

State engineer's permits subject to prior rights: The state engineer has no right, power or authority to interfere with vested rights or to grant a permit for the appropriation and diversion of the water of a stream, which has already been diverted and applied to a beneficial use. Lockwood v. Freeman (1908) 15 I. 395, 98 P. 295; Nielson v. Parker (1911) 19 I. 727, 115 P. 488.

Subterranean waters: The first appropriator of subterranean waters is the first in right. Bower v. Moorman (1915) 27 I. 162, 147 P. 496.

§ 5562. [3246] Same: Waste, seepage and spring waters. All ditches now constructed or which may hereafter be constructed for the purpose of utilizing seepage, waste or spring water of the state, shall be governed by the same laws relating to priority of right as those ditches, canals and conduits constructed for the purpose of utilizing the waters of running streams. ['99, p. 380, § 23.]

Waste water: If waste water only is furnished by a canal company to an applicant, under a sale thereof or a rental therefor, the same becomes a dedication only of such waste water; hence, the user thereof can maintain an action against the canal company only to compel it to furnish him with such waste water, if any; he cannot compel the canal company to furnish a perpetual supply of water, such as is required to be furnished to an original appropriator. Gerber v. Nampa etc. Irr. Dist (on rehearing, 1909) 16 I. 22, 100 P. 80.

Appropriation of water in canals: There is a priority among consumers from a canal analogous to that which exists among appropriators from a natural stream, and the rights of later applicants for water are subordinate to those of prior consumers, which, when exercised in full, exhaust the carrying capacity of the canal. Gerber v. Nampa etc. Irr. Dist. (1911) 19 I. 765, 774, 116 P. 104.

Seepage water: Seepage water from a canal having its source in a watershed other than that in which the seepage occurs is subject to appropriation under this section. Breyer v. Baker, 31 I. 387, 171 P. 1135.

§ 5563. [3247] Change in point of diversion. The person entitled to the use of water may change the place of diversion, if others are not injured by such change; and may extend the conduit by which the diversion is made to places beyond that where the first use was made. ['99, p. 380, § 11.]

Hist. (See R. S. § 3157) '99, p. 380, § 11, reen. R. C. § 3247, reen. C. L. ib.

Change in diversion or use: A person entitled to the use of water may change the place of diversion or place of use so long as others are not injured by the change. Hard v. Boise City Irr. etc. Co. (1904) 9 I. 589, 76 P. 331; Bennett v. Nourse (1912) 22 I. 249, 125 P. 1038; Hall v. Blackman (1912) 22 I. 539, 126 P. 1045; Basinger v. Taylor (1917) 30 I. 289, 164 P. 522. But the the change cannot be made if others are injured thereby. Walker v. McGiness (1902) 8 I. 540, 69 P. 1003; Hill v. Standard Min. Co. (1906) 12 I. 223, 85 P. 907; Montpelier M. Co. v. Montpelier (1911) 19 I. 212, 113 P. 741; Hall v. Blackman (1912) 22 I. 556, 126 P. 1047.

Such change does not work a forfeiture or is not an abandonment of such right. Joyce v. Rubin (1913) 23 I. 296, 130 P. 793.

Extent of right: The right to change the place of diversion includes cases in which the use of the water amounts to its absorption, or is such as to imply notice to subsequent appropriators that such change may reasonably be expected, but excludes appropriations to be used at a specific place for the purpose of operating machinery and other works, where the water is used and then returned to the stream practically undiminished in quantity, when such change will damage a subsequent appropriator. Last Chance Min. Co. v. Bunker Hill etc. Min. Co. (1892) 49 F. 430.

Transfer of rights: Users of water from a ditch or canal acquire a property right therein which they may transfer to other lands under such ditch or canal, or may sell and transfer to a purchaser who may also transfer the same to other lands under the ditch and canal, so long as the change does not interfere with the rights of others. (Sullivan, C. J. dissents) Hard v. Boise City Irr. etc. Co. 1904) 9 I. 589, 76 P. 331.

Approval of state engineer: A change made without the approval of the state engineer does not forfeit the right. Joyce v. Rubin (1913) 23 I. 296, 130 P. 793.

This section is not in conflict with § 5582. But an appropriator who relies upon a statutory appropriation through a state engineer's permit, must apply to the state engineer to change the place of use. Washington S. Sugar Co. v. Goodrich (1915) 27 I. 26, 147 P. 1073.

§ 5564. [3248] Change in course of ditch prohibited when. Whenever any ditch or canal has been constructed for the purpose of conveying water and selling the same for irrigating purposes, it is unlawful for the owner or owners of said ditch or canal to change the line of said ditch or canal so as to prevent or interfere with the use of water from said ditch or canal, by any one who, prior to the proposed change, had used water for irrigating purposes from said ditch or canal. water, whose right relative to the quantity of water they shall be entitled to divert by means of such works shall have been established by any decree of court, shall be entitled to such quantity measured at the point of diversion, subject, however, to all prior rights. ['99, p. 380, § 32.]

§ 5566. [3250] Domestic purposes defined. The phrase "domestic purposes" as contained in this title shall be construed to include water for the household, and a sufficient amount for the use of domestic animals kept with and for the use of the household. ['99, p. 380, part of § 12.]

CHAPTER 218.

APPROPRIATION OF WATER.

ARTICLE 1.

PERMITS, CERTIFICATES AND LICENSES.

§ 5568. [3252] Water rights acquired under chapter. All rights to divert and use the waters of this state for beneficial purposes shall hereafter be acquired and confirmed under the provisions of this chapter. And after the passage of this title all the waters of this state shall be controlled and administered in the manner herein provided. [R. C. § 3252.]

Hist. '03, p. 223, § 41; am. R. C. § 3252, reen. C. L. ib.

Cited: Sandpoint Water & Light Co. v. Panhandle etc. Dev. Co. (1905) 11 I. 405, 83 P. 347; (in brief of counsel) King v. Chamberlin (1911) 20 I. 504.

Appropriation by user: There are two methods by which one may acquire a water right. One may obtain a prior right to the use of water of a stream where he actually diverts and applies the same to a beneficial use, although he may never have applied to the state engineer for a permit to do so. Nielson v. Parker (1911) 19 I. 727, 115 P. 488; Youngs v. Regan (1911) 20 I. 275, 118 P. 499; Furey v. Taylor (1912) 22 I. 603, 127 P. 676; Crane Falls etc. Co. v. Snake River etc. Co. (1913) 24 I. 63, 133 P. 655; Wash. S. Sugar Co. v. Goodrich (1915) 27 I. 26, 147 P. 1073; (dis. op.) Basinger v. Taylor (1917) 30 I. 289, 164 P. 522.

Water may be appropriated without a compliance with the steps provided by the statute, but in such case it requires actual application to a beneficial use to complete the appropriation; the right is limited to the amount so applied, and with date of priority determined by such application to beneficial use.

The claimant seeking a decree to confirm his right to the use of water by appropriation must present to the court sufficient evidence to enable it to make definite and certain findings as to the amount of water actually diverted and applied, as well as the amount necessary for the beneficial use claimed. Reno v. Richards, 32 I. —, 178 P. 81.

Riparian owners subject to law: Riparian owners who desire to appropriate public waters for a beneficial use must comply with the provisions of the law the same as those who are not riparian owners. Idaho etc. Co. v. Stephenson (1909) 16 I. 418, 101 P. 821.

Repeal: This section repealed prior appropriation acts which provided in substance for the posting and recording of a notice and the commencement and completion of diversion works within a reasonable time. For the purpose of historical reference, the following notes of decisions under the old appropriation law are given:

Date of appropriation: One who posts and records his notice of intention to appropriate water, and within 60 days thereafter commences work on his diversion works, and continues the prosecution of the same with reasonable diligence, is entitled to have his appropriation date from the posting of notice, and his right is prior and superior to the rights of any subsequent appropriator claiming either by posting notice and compliance with the statute or by the natural diversion and application of the water. Sandpoint W. & L. Co. v. Panhandle etc. Co. (1905) 11 I. 405, 83 P. 347.

Mode of appropriation: A person desiring to appropriate water may do so either by naturally diverting the water and applying it to a beneficial use, or he may pursue the statutory method of posting and recording his notice and commencing to prosecute his work within the statutory time. Ib.

Beneficial application of water: The appropriator is entitled to a reasonable time within which to get his land in cultivation and to make application of the water to the land, and what constitutes a reasonable time is a question of fact dependent upon the circumstances in each particular case. Conant v. Jones (1893) 3 I. 606, 32 P. 250.

A party who appropriated water to run a sawmill, but failed, for 14 years after posting his notice, to erect or put into operation such sawmill, failed to proceed with reasonable diligence and lost his right to the water appropriated. Stickney v. Hanrahan (1907) 7 I. 424, 63 P. 189.

§ 5569. Application to appropriate water. For the purpose of regulating the use of the public waters and of establishing by direct means the priority right to such use, any person, association or corporation hereafter intending to acquire the right to the beneficial use of the waters of any natural streams, springs or seepage waters, or lakes or other public waters in the state of Idaho, shall, before commencing the construction, enlargement or extension or change in the point of diversion of the ditch, canal, or other distributing works, or performing any work in connection with said construction or proposed appropriation or the diversion of any waters into a natural channel, make an application to the department of reclamation for a permit to make such appropriation. Such application must set forth:

1. The name and post-office address of the applicant.
2. The source of the water supply.
3. The nature of the proposed use.
4. The location and description of the proposed ditch, channel or other work and the amount of water to be diverted and used.
5. The time required for the completion of construction of such works, which in no case shall exceed five years from the date of approval of the application.
6. The time required for the complete application of the water to the proposed use, which must be within six years after the date set for the completion of such works.

Whenever it is desired to appropriate and store flood or winter flow waters, the applicant shall specify in acre feet the quantity of such flood or winter flow waters which he intends to store, but for irrigation purposes he shall not claim more than five acre feet of water per acre of land to be irrigated, nor, in the event of the filing of an application claiming both normal flow and flood water and winter flow water, shall the total amount of water claimed exceed the equivalent of a continuous flow during the irrigation season of more than one cubic foot per second for each 50 acres of land to be irrigated, or more than five acre feet of stored water for each acre of land to be irrigated.

The application shall be accompanied by a plan and map in duplicate of the proposed works for the diversion and application of the water to a beneficial use, showing the character, location and dimensions of the proposed reservoirs, dams, canals, ditches, pipe lines and all other works proposed to be used by them in the diversion of the water, and the area and location of the lands proposed to be irrigated.

If such application is filed by a corporation it shall state (1) the amount of its capital stock, how much thereof has been actually paid in, and the names and places of residence of its directors, and (2) the financial resources of the corporation or person making the application, and the means by which the funds necesssary to construct the proposed works are to be provided. If for the generation of power or any other purpose than irrigation or domestic use, the purpose for which it is proposed to be used, the nature, location, character, capacity and estimated cost of the works, and whether the water used is to be and will be returned to the stream, and if so, at what point on the stream.

In case the proposed right of use is for agricultural purposes, the application shall give the legal subdivisions of the land proposed to be irrigated, with the total acreage to be reclaimed as near as may be: Provided, That no one shall be authorized to divert for irrigation purposes more than one cubic foot of water per second of the normal flow for each 50 acres of land to be so irrigated, or more than five acre feet of stored water per annum for each acre of land to be so irrigated, unless it can be shown to the satisfaction of the department of reclamation that a greater amount is necessary: Provided further, That the plan of irrigation submitted shall provide for the distribution of water to within not more than one mile of each legal subdivision of the land proposed to be reclaimed by the use of such water: Provided also, That in the case of all ditches designed to have a capacity of 10 cubic feet per second or less, such map showing the location of such ditch, and the place of use of such water, or the location of the lands to be irrigated, may be upon blanks furnished by the department of reclamation.

No application shall be accepted and filed by the department of reclamation until the applicant shall have deposited with the department a filing fee of $1, if the quantity of water claimed is one cubic foot or less per second, and if the quantity of water claimed is in excess of one cubic foot per second, the fee to be so deposited by the applicant shall be increased 10 cents for each additional cubic foot or fraction thereof: Provided, That where flood and winter flow water for storage purposes is claimed, the fee to be paid by applicant on the filing of the application shall be $1, if the quantity claimed is 250 acre feet, or less, and if the quantity of water claimed is in excess of 250 acre feet the fee to be paid by the applicant shall be increased 10 cents for each additional 250 acre feet or fraction thereof. The department of reclamation shall make and keep in a suitable book a record of all filing fees received in connection with applications for permits to appropriate public waters, and said record shall set out:

1. The name of the applicant.
2. The number of the application.
3. The quantity of water filed on.
4. The amount of the fee received; and,
5. The date of receipt of said fee.

Provided further, That rights initiated prior to the enactment of this amendment, so far as it pertains to flood and winter flow waters, shall not be affected thereby.

Contents of application: An application under this section is required to state facts which can only be secured by entrance to the place where the appropriation is made, and survey of the premises and surroundings at the point of diversion and place of improvement, and also a survey of the realty to be taken for dams and ditches to be used in appropriating the water to a beneficial use. Marshall v. Niagara Springs O. Co. (1912) 22 I. 144, 125 P. 208.

Private ponds: The law does not purport to deal with private waters, such as private ponds, artificial lakes or wells owned by private persons and formed by collecting and impounding surface waters. King v. Chamberlin (1911) 20 I. 504, 512, 118 P. 1099.

Percolating waters: It can make no difference that the waters collecting and forming what is known as a spring are seepage and percolating waters, rather than from a well-defined subterranean stream, so long as such waters gravitate to and collect at a certain and definite point, and there constitute a volume of water known and designated as a spring. In either case such waters found upon the public domain are subject to location and appropriation for any useful or beneficial purposes. Le Quime v. Chambers (1908) 15 I. 405, 98 P. 415, 21 L. R. A. (N. S.) 76.

Percolating or subterranean waters are subject to appropriation. Bower v. Moorman (1915) 27 I. 162, 147 P. 496.

Change of diversion: Where a person made application under this section, before or after its amendment in 1913, to appropriate water, and a permit was granted, but he subsequently desired to change the point of diversion, it was necessary for him to comply substantially with § 5582. Washington S. Sugar Co. v. Goodrich (1915) 27 I. 26, 147 P. 1073.

§ 5570. Same: Examination: Permit: Commencement of work: Bond. On receipt of the application, which shall be of a form prescribed by the department of reclamation, it shall be the duty of that department to make an indorsement thereon of the date of its receipt, and to make a record of such receipt in some suitable book in its office. It shall be the duty of the department to examine said application and ascertain if it sets forth all the facts necessary to show the location, nature and amount of the proposed use. If upon such examination the application is found defective, it shall be the duty of the department of reclamation to return the same for correction within 30 days from the receipt of such application, and the date of such return, with the reason therefor, shall be indorsed on the application, and a record made thereof in a book kept for recording the receipt of such applications. A like record shall be kept of the date of the return of corrected applications, but such corrected applications shall be returned to the department of reclamation within a period of 60 days from the date indorsed thereon by the department: Provided, That if it be returned after such period of 60 days, such corrected application shall be treated in all respects as an original application. All applications which shall comply with the provisions of this chapter and with the regulations of the department of reclamation shall be numbered consecutively, and shall be recorded in a suitable book kept for that purpose, and it shall be the duty of the department to approve all applications, made in proper form, which contemplate the application of water to a beneficial use.

The approval of an application shall be indorsed thereon, and a record made of such indorsement in the department of reclamation. The application so indorsed shall constitute a permit, and shall be returned to the applicant, and he shall be authorized, on receipt thereof, to proceed with the construction of the necessary works for the diversion of such water, and to take all steps required to apply the water to a beneficial use and to perfect the proposed appropriation. In its indorsement of approval on any application the department shall require that actual construction work shall be completed within a period of five years from the date of such approval, and that one-fifth of such work of construction shall be done within one-half the period of time allowed for the completion of such works. The department may limit the application to a less period of time for the completion of such works than is asked for, and likewise the perfecting of the proposed right for a less period than is named in the application, and such indorsement shall give the date when such work shall be completed, also the date when beneficial application of the water to be diverted by such works shall be made for the purpose intended.

Provided, however, That in cases where the applicant is prevented from proceeding with his work by his failure to obtain necessary consent or final approval or rejection from the federal government because of the pendency of an application for right of way or other matter within the jurisdiction of the United States, or by litigation of any nature which might bring his title to said water in question, the department of reclamation upon proper showing of the existence of any such condition, and being convinced that said applicant is proceeding diligently and in good faith, shall extend the time so that the time caused by such delays shall be added to the time given in the original permit for each and every action required.

Any applicant feeling himself aggrieved by the indorsement made by the department of reclamation upon his application may appeal therefrom to the district court of the county in which the point of diversion of the proposed appropriation shall be situated. Such appeal shall be taken within 60 days from the return of the application by the department of reclamation, and shall be perfected when the applicant shall have filed in the office of the clerk of such district court a copy of the application, certified by the department of reclamation as a true copy, together with the petition to such court, setting forth the appellants's reason for appeal. Such appeal shall be heard and determined upon such competent proof as shall be adduced by the appellant, and such like proofs as shall be adduced by the department or some person duly authorized in its behalf.

The maps accompanying such applications must contain the name of the proposed work, and, when it is possible, the number of the permit. They must in addition, have the name or names of the applicant or applicants, and when the proposed works have a capacity of more than 25 second feet, a certificate of the surveyor giving the date of the survey, his name and post office address. It shall be the duty of the department of reclamation to examine these maps or plats, and to ascertain if they agree with the description contained in the application, and when found to agree, to approve the same, file one copy in its office and return the other, approved, to the party filing them.

Every holder of a permit which shall be issued under the terms and conditions of an application filed hereafter appropriating 25 cubic feet or less per second must, within 60 days from the date upon which said permit issues from the office of the department of reclamation, commence the excavation or construction of the works by which he intends to divert the water ,and must prosecute the work diligently and uninterruptedly to completion, unless temporarily interrupted through no fault of the holder of such permit by circumstances over which he has no control.

Every holder of a permit which shall be issued under the terms and conditions of an application filed hereafter, appropriating more than 25 cubic feet per second must, within 60 days from the date upon which the said permit issues from the office of the department of reclamation, file with the department a bond in an amount to be fixed by the department, not exceeding $10,000, in form and sufficiency of sureties to be approved by the deaprtment, conditioned upon faithfully carrying to completion the works of diversion as specified in said permit; the amount of the bond to be fixed by the department within the limits hereinbefore prescribed.

The holder of any permit who shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section within the time or times specified shall be deemed to have abandoned all right under his permit.

Permit defined: The permit is not an appropriation of the public waters of the state, but is the consent of the state given in the manner provided by law to construct and acquire real property. The permit gives the applicant an inchoate right, which will ripen into a legal and complete appropriation only upon the completion of the works and the application of the water to a beneficial use. Speer v. Stephenson (1909) 16 I. 707, 102 P. 365; Marshall v. Niagara Springs O. Co. (1912) 22 I. 144, 125 P. 208; Basinger v. Taylor (1917) 30 I. 289, 164 P. 522

Granting of permit secures no rights to holder, but compliance with conditions of permit initiates right to use water, which right becomes vested and dates back to the issuance of the permit Washington S. Sugar Co. v. Goodrich (1915) 27 I. 26, 147 P. 1073.

Vested rights: The state engineer, by granting a subsequent water permit, cannot interfere in any manner with vested rights of prior appropriators. Lockwood v. Freeman (1908) 15 I. 395, 98 P. 295; Nielson v. Parker (1911) 19 I. 727, 115 P. 488; Gard v. Thompson (1912) 21 I. 485, 123 P. 497.

Trespass: The mere fact that the state engineer grants a permit in no way confers any right to enter upon private land for the purpose of making an appropriation. Marshall v. Niagara Springs O. Co. (1912) 22 I. 144, 125 P. 208.

In order to initiate the right to appropriate water under this section, at a point upon land belonging to the state, if it is necessary for the applicant to enter upon land owned by the state for the purpose of making the necessary examination and surveys, maps and plans required in order to make a proper application to the state engineer for a permit, by so entering such party would be a trespasser upon said land, under § 1578 R. C.. Tobey v. Bridgewood (1912) 22 I. 566, 127 P. 172.

Conveyance of water right: A water right is real estate and must be conveyed as real estate, and where one has a valid water permit issued to him by the state engineer he cannot convey the water right secured thereby by simply handing the permit to a would-be purchaser. Gard v. Thompson, supra.

§ 5571. Amended application and permit. Whenever application has been made for a permit to appropriate water for irrigation, or whenever a permit has been issued and the applicant or permit holder desires to change the place of intended use of the water or correct the description of the lands to be irrigated, he shall file a request therefor with the department of reclamation, which shall thereupon note the application on the record of the original application or permit, and shall issue a new permit, noting the amendment therein, and specifying that it is issued as an amendment to the original. The right to the use of water under the amended permit shall date from the time of the original permit: Provided, An additional amount of water is not asked for, and except where the rights of others are adversely affected by such changes, in which case it shall date from the filing of the application for the amendment.

§ 5572. Diversion of private waters. The department of reclamation is hereby prohibited from issuing or granting permits to divert or appropriate the waters of any lake not exceeding five acres in surface area at high water mark, pond, pool or spring in this state, which is located or situated wholly or entirely upon the lands of a person or corporation, except to the person or corporation owning said land, or with his or its written permission, executed and acknowledged as required for the conveyance of real estate.

Hist. '11, c. 230, § 1, p. 782, reen. C. L. § 3255a; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

§ 5573. Same: Applicants must show right of way. All applications to the department of reclamation for permits to divert or appropriate the waters of any lake, pond, pool or spring shall state whether such lake, pond, pool or spring is wholly or entirely upon the land of any person or corporation other than the applicant, and, in the event that it is, such application shall state that the applicant has the written permission from such owner, executed and acknowledged as required by the provisions of the preceding section to divert or appropriate such water.

Hist. '11, c. 230, § 2, p. 783, reen. C. L. § 3255b; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

§ 5574. Proof of completion. On or before the date set for the completion of works for the diversion and application of water under any permit, the holder of such permit, or his assigns, shall be prepared to submit proof of the completion of such works to the department of reclamation. Such holder of such permit shall first notify the department that he is prepared to submit such proof of completion of such works. Such notice to the department shall be given by registered mail at least 60 days before the date set for the completion of such works, and shall be on a form furnished by such department, and shall state:

1. The name of the person or corporation holding the permit under which such works are constructed.
2. The post office address of such person or the place of business of such corporation.
3. The number of such permit, and the date set for the completion of such works under the same.
4. The use for which said water is intended.
5. Whether or not such works will be fully completed on the date set for such completion and the amount of water which such works are capable of conducting to the place of intended use in accordance with the plans of the same accompanying the application for such permit.
6. If for irrigation, the amount and description of the lands for which said water is available according to such plans.

In case of all canals or other works designed to divert and carry more than 50 cubic feet per second of water, the facts set forth in such notice to the department of reclamation shall be certified to by a well known and competent irrigation engineer.

Upon receipt of such notice by the department of reclamation the department shall immediately order its publication for a period of four weeks in some newspaper designated by the person sending such notice and published in the county in which such works are situated. Such published notice shall also state the date when such proof of completion shall be submitted to the department, and the place where the same shall be submitted, and such publication shall be at the expense of the person making such proof.

Such person or persons establishing such proof of completion may offer the affidavits of competent engineers in relation to the grades, dimensions and capacity of such works, and the amount and location of land to which water can be delivered for irrigation. The department of reclamation may, in the case of canals designed to divert 50 cubic feet per second or more, demand that profiles and cross sections, showing the grade and the finished condition of such works, be filed with it in support of the claims which may be made in relation to the finished condition of such works, by the person or persons holding such permit. And in the case of works capable of diverting, on the date set for such completion, the full amount of water for which such works were intended, the department shall have authority to order the water turned into such works for the purpose of measuring the same.

Provided, That under all permits claiming six and four-tenths feet of water or less, but not otherwise, the permit holder may make such proof of completion without publication of notice by filing with the department of reclamation on or before the date set for completion of works, or within 10 days thereafter, an affidavit setting forth the following information:

1. The name of the person or corporation holding the permit under which such works are constructed.
2. The post office address of such person or the place of business of such corporation.

3. The number of such permit and the date set for the completion of such works under the same.

4. The use for which said water is intended.

5. Whether or not such works will be fully completed on the date set for such completion and the amount of water which such works are capable of conducting to the place of intended use.

Constitutionality: This section does not vest judicial power in the state engineer in violation of Const. V, 2. Boise Irr. etc. Co. v. Stewart (1904) 10 I. 38, 77 P. 25, 321.

§ 5575. Department of reclamation to report on work: Issuance of certificate. On or before the date set for receiving such proof of completion, in all cases where the amount of water claimed under the permit exceeds six and four-tenths cubic feet per second, but not otherwise, the department of reclamation shall make or cause to be made a full inspection and examination of the works constructed, and shall make or cause to be made a report on their condition, ascertaining and stating whether or not they conform to the terms of the application and permit, and are capable of diverting the amount of water intended, and the department shall ascertain how much water such works are capable of diverting and conducting to the place of intended use at the time of such proof of completion. The department shall issue a certificate to the holder of such permit or his assigns, which certificate shall set forth:

1. The name of the holder of the permit under which the works are constructed.

2. The number of such permit.

3. The date of the application for the same.

4. The post office address of such holder.

5. The condition of such works.

6. The purpose for which they were constructed.

7. The quantity of water which can be diverted by the same and conducted to the place of intended use.

8. And if such water is to be used for irrigation, a description of the lands for which water is made available by such works.

The department of reclamation shall file such report and make a record in books kept in its office for the purpose of all the facts in relation to the condition of such works, and their capacity on the date of such proof of completion.

Whenever it shall be desired to enlarge or extend existing works, or complete works not completed on the date set for such completion, all applications for a permit to make such enlargement, extension or completion shall be filed with the department of reclamation, the same as for original construction, and the priority of all rights resulting from such enlargement, extension or completion shall relate to such application.

Constitutionality: This section does not vest judicial power in the state engineer in violation of Const. V, 2. Boise Irr. etc. Co. v. Stewart (1904) 10 I. 38, 77 P. 25, 321.

§ 5576. Appeal from department's decision. Whenever any person or persons feel themselves aggrieved by the determination of the department of reclamation in relation to the question of completion of works constructed under a permit issued by the department, such person or persons may appeal to the courts: Provided, That such appeal shall be taken within 60 days from the date of the certificate relating to such completion by such department, and shall be perfected when the appellant shall have filed in the office of the clerk of the district court a copy of the certificate, certified by the department as a true copy, together with the petition to such court setting forth the appellant's reason for appeal. Such appeal shall be heard and determined upon such competent proof as shall be adduced by the appellant, and such like proofs as shall be adduced by the department of reclamation or some person authorized in its behalf.

§ 5577. Proof of application to beneficial use. On or before the date set for the beneficial use of waters diverted under the provisions of this chapter, which in no case shall be more than six years from the date set for the completion of any canal or other works designed to divert and conduct the public waters of the state to a place of use, or the date for the enlargement or extension or the completion of works for such purpose, the person or persons using such water shall submit proof that they have used such water for the beneficial purpose for which the diversion of such water was intended. Such user of such water shall first notify the department of reclamation that he is prepared to prove that such water has been beneficially applied to the purpose for which it was intended. Such notice to the department shall state:

1. The name and post office address of such user.
2. The use to which such water has been applied.
3. The amount used.
4. The place of such use, and if for irrigation, the description by legal subdivisions of the land so irrigated.
5. The name of the canal or ditch or other works by which such water is conducted to such place of use.
6. The relation or understanding upon which the right to take water from such works is based.
7. The source of supply from which such water is diverted; and,
8. The date of the priority which such user is prepared to establish.

Such notice and such written proof as may be required to be submitted by such user shall be upon forms furnished by the department of reclamation, and such statements shall be sworn to by such user and be supported by the affidavits of two disinterested witnesses.

Upon receipt of such notice by the department of reclamation the department shall order its publication in some newspaper designated by such user and published in the county in which the major portion of such land is situated, for a period of four weeks, and shall fix a date when such proof shall be submitted and name a place where such proof will be received. Such date shall be subsequent to the completion of such publication, and the department shall, on or before the date set for such final proof, examine, or cause to be examined:

1. The place where such water is used, and, if the use is for irrigation, he shall ascertain the area and location of the land irrigated and the nature of all the improvements which have been made as a direct result of such use.

2. The capacities of the ditches or canals or other means by which such water is conducted to such place of use, and the quantity of water which has been beneficially applied for irrigation or other purposes.

The department or the person making such examination under the direction of the department shall also, on the date set for such final proof, receive the written statements made by the person or persons submitting such proof, and the affidavits of the witnesses, which statements and affidavits, together with a report of the investigation which the department is instructed to make, shall be forwarded at once to the department: Provided, That whenever several of such final proofs shall be offered from the same locality, the department shall arrange, whenever practicable, to have such notices for publication combined, and to have such examinations made by the same person and on the same date, as near as may be, with a view of minimizing the expense of taking such proofs, and such publication shall be at the expense of the person or persons submitting such proof: Provided also, That whenever irrigation systems cover more than 25,000 acres, that proof of beneficial use may be made at any time within a period of 10 years from the date set for the completion of the works, and in all such cases, proof of beneficial use may be made by the persons, company or corporation constructing the irrigation works on behalf of the project, and in such cases, the lands upon which the water has been used need not be described by legal subdivisions, but may be described generally as the lands under the irrigation system, and it shall only be necessary to show in such cases that the quantity of water beneficially applied for irrigation has been applied within the limits of the project.

§ 5578. Same: Extension of time. Whenever a less period of time than the maximum prescribed in the preceding section has been granted by the department of reclamation for making proof of beneficial use, upon a satisfactory showing being made by the permit holder, the department can extend the time for making such proof of beneficial use, but in no case shall such extension or extensions, including the original time granted, exceed the maximum prescribed in the preceding section. The department shall grant no extension unless the application therefor be filed with it prior to the date upon which the proof of beneficial use was required to be made under the original terms of the permit, or within 30 days after such date.

Hist. '13, c. 47, § 1, p. 154; am. by implication '15, c. 94, § 1, p. 216; adding a proviso extending the maximum period to 10 years in some cases; compiled and reen. C. L. § 3260a; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

§ 5579. Issuance of license. Priority. Upon receipt by the department of reclamation of all the evidence in relation to such final proof, it shall be the duty of the department to carefully examine the same, and if the department is satisfied that the law has been fully complied with and that the water is being used at the place claimed and for the purpose for which it was originally intended, the department shall issue to such user or users a license confirming such use. Such license shall be issued under the seal of the office of the department of reclamation, and shall state the name and post office address of such user, the purpose for which such water is used, the quantity of water which may be used, which in no case shall be an amount in excess of the amount that has been beneficially applied. If such use is for irrigation, such license shall give a description, by legal subdivisions, of the land which is irrigated by such water. Such license shall bear the date of the application for, and the number of, the permit under which the works from which such water is taken were constructed; the date of the completion of such works; the capacity of such works on such date of completion; the date when proof of beneficial use of such water was made, and also the date of the priority of the right confirmed by such license, which shall be the date of the application for the permit for the construction of the works from which such water is taken, and to which such right relates. All the licenses which relate to the same permit and which bear the same date of priority shall be numbered alike, and shall belong to the same class, and all the rights relating to the same sources of supply shall be numbered numerically in the order of the priority of such rights: Provided, That whenever proof of the beneficial application of water shall be offered subsequent to the date stated in the permit, or in any authorized extension thereof, when such beneficial application shall be made, such proof shall be taken, and if satisfactory to the department of reclamation, a license shall be issued by the department the same as though such proof had been made before such date fixed for such beneficial application, but the priority of the right established by such proof shall not date back to the date of the application for the permit to which such right would relate under the provisions of this chapter, but shall bear a date which shall be subsequent to the date of such application, a time equal to the difference between the date set in such permit, or extension thereof, for such beneficial application of such water and the date of such proof: Provided, however, That upon irrigation projects where the canals constructed cover an area of 25,000 acres or more, the license issued shall be issued to the persons, association, company or corporation owning the project, and final proof may be made by such owners for the benefit of the entire project and it shall not be necessary to give a description of the land by legal subdivisions but a general description of the entire area under the canal system shall be sufficient, and the water diverted and the water right acquired thereby shall relate to the entire project and the diversion of the water for the beneficial use under the project at any time within a period of 10 years shall be sufficient proof of beneficial use without regard as to whether each and every acre under the project is irrigated or not.

§ 5580. Effect of license. Such license shall be binding upon the state as to the right of such licensee to use the amount of water mentioned therein, and shall be prima facie evidence as to such right; and all rights to water confirmed under the provisions of this chapter, or by any decree of court, shall become appurtenant to, and shall pass with a conveyance of, the land for which the right of use is granted. The right to continue the beneficial use of such waters shall never be denied nor prevented for any cause other than the failure, on the part of the user or holder of such right, to pay the ordinary charges or assessments which may be made or levied to cover the expenses for the delivery or distribution of such water, or for other reasons set forth in this title: Provided, That when water is used for irrigation, no such license or decree of the court allotting such water shall be issued confirming the right to the use of more than one second foot of water for each 50 acres of land so irrigated, unless it can be shown to the satisfaction of the department of reclamation in granting such license, and to the court in making such decree, that a greater amount is necessary, and neither such licensee nor any one claiming a right under such decree, shall at any time be entitled to the use of more water than can be beneficially applied on the lands for the benefit of which such right may have been confirmed, and the right to the use of such water confirmed by such license shall always be held subject to the local or community customs, rules and regulations which may be adopted from time to time by a majority of the users from a common source of supply, canal or lateral from which such water may be taken, when such rules or regulations have for their object the economical use of such water.

License and water right: The license is prima facie evidence of a water right, but no certificate issued by state engineer prior to the license is made prima facie evidence of a water right. Basinger v. Taylor (1917) 30 I. 289, 164 P. 522.

§ 5581. Fees of department. Upon the issuance of a certificate by the department of reclamation in relation to the completion of any canal, ditch or other works constructed under the provisions of this chapter, a fee, to cover the expense of the examination of such works, shall be paid to the department by the person or persons submitting the proof of such completion. For all ditches or canals having a capacity of 10 cubic feet per second or less, such fees shall be $5. For all ditches or canals having a capacity of more than 10 cubic feet per second, such fee shall be at the rate of 30 cents for each second foot of such capacity. For examining the ditches and lands of the user at the time of making final proof of the application of water, a fee of $2 shall be paid to the department, at the time of making such proof, for each legal subdivision of 40 acres or fraction thereof to which such water may have been applied. For examining the ditches or other works and the place where such water is used, when such use is not for irrigation, a fee of $5 shall be paid the department at the time of making such examination and taking the proof of such use: Provided, That in the case of water used for irrigation, where two or more users whose lands join or who take water from the same common lateral, join in the publication of the notice of their intention to make such proof of application, a fee of $1 for each legal subdivision of 40 acres or fraction thereof receiving such water shall be paid to the department at the time of making such proof. For making certified copies of any papers on file in his office, the department shall charge a fee at the rate of 20 cents per folio. All fees received by the department of reclamation under the provisions of this chapter shall be recorded in a fee book, and shall at once be turned over to the state treasurer and placed in the general fund of the state.

Construed: While the conduit through which the water user diverts the water may not strictly be a ditch or canal, nevertheless he is liable for a fee based on the capacity of his diversion works. Idaho etc. Co. v. Stephenson (1909) 16 I. 418, 101 P. 821.

§ 5582. Abandonment: Change of place of use: Appeal from department's decision. All rights to the use of water acquired under this chapter or otherwise shall be lost and abandoned by a failure for the term of five years to apply it to the beneficial use for which it was appropriated, and when any right to the use of water shall be lost through nonuse or abandonment such rights to such water shall revert to the state and be again subject to appropriation under this chapter: Provided, That any person owning any land to which water has been made appurtenant, either by a decree of the court or under the provisions of this chapter, may voluntarily abandon the use of such water in whole or in part on the land which is receiving the benefit of the same and transfer the same to other land. Such person desiring to change the place of use of such water shall first make application to the department of reclamation, stating fully in such application the reason for making such transfer. Such application shall describe the land, the use of water on which it is to be abandoned and shall describe the land to which it is desired to have such right transferred, and if such water is to be conducted to such land through another canal or lateral or from a different point of diversion than the one described in the license or decree of the court confirming such right, such facts shall be fully set out in such application, and, if the department shall require it, a plat showing the location of such land and ditches or canals or points of diversion shall be furnished by such applicant, and upon receipt of such application the department shall examine the same and shall, provided no one shall be injured by the transfer, issue to each such applicant, under the seal of its office, a certificate authorizing such transfer, which certificate shall state the name of the applicant and shall contain a copy of the license or an abstract of the decree confirming the right to the use of the water upon the land from which it is desired to transfer such right and a description of the land to which such right is transferred. A fee of $1 shall be paid to the department by such applicant for such certificate of transfer issued by it and such application shall be recorded by the department in a book kept for that purpose, and the department shall not thereafter divert to or upon the lands, the water for which has been so abandoned, any of such water, but shall divert such water from such stream so that it may be used on the lands to which such right has been transferred: Provided further, That any person or persons who are owners by decrees of court or by appropriation of a water right and who have, with reasonable diligence, annually increased the beneficial use of the water covered by such water right or who do hereafter with reasonable diligence annually increase the beneficial use of the water held under such water right shall not be subject to the penalties of abandonment and loss by nonuse of such water right, as provided in this section.

Any person or persons feeling themselves aggrieved by the determination of the department of reclamation in issuing or refusing, upon application for permission to change the place of use of water, to issue a certificate authorizing such transfer, may, within 60 days from the date of such refusal, appeal to the district court for the county in which the land is situated to which such water is appurtenant. Such appeal shall be perfected when the appellant shall have given written notice of such appeal to the department of reclamation and shall have filed in the office of the clerk of the district court a copy of the application for change of place of use, certified by the department as a true copy and having indorsed thereon the order of the department refusing to grant a certificate authorizing such transfer, together with a petition to such court setting forth the appellant's reason for such appeal and evidence of service of notice of appeal on the department. Such appeal shall be heard and determined upon such competent proof as shall be adduced by the appellant, and such like proofs as shall be adduced by the department of reclamation or some person duly authorized in its behalf. § 5583. Protest against license: Appeal from decision. Any person desiring to protest against the statements made by the person or persons submitting proof of the beneficial application of water in the published notice of their intention to submit such proof, shall file a statement with the department of reclamation on or before the date set for such proof, stating clearly the reason for such protest, and stating the reason, if any, why a license should not be issued confirming the right claimed. Such protest shall be based solely upon the statements in such notice and shall be sworn to by such protestant.

In issuing a license confirming any right to use water for beneficial purposes, the department of reclamation shall be governed in its actions by the records relating to works from which such water is taken which may be on file in the office of the department, and by the reports of the examination of such works, the place where such water is used, and the extent of such use. Such license may confirm such claim in whole or in part, or such license may be refused, such determination depending upon the extent to which such claim is supported by such records, and such examination of the conditions relating to such use made on the ground under the authority of the department. If the department shall refuse to issue a license, the reasons for such refusal shall be recorded in a book kept for the purpose: Provided, That any one feeling himself aggrieved by the statements contained in the license issued by the department, or the refusal of the department to issue such license, may appeal therefrom to the district court of the county in which the place of use of the water claimed shall be situated. Such appeal shall be taken within 60 days from the date of such license or the refusal to issue such license, and shall be perfected when the appellant shall have filed in the office of the clerk of such district court a copy of the license, or, if such license shall not have been issued, a copy of the statement made by the department giving the reasons why such license was not issued, a copy of the protests against the issuing of such license filed with the department, and a copy of the report of the examination of the place of use of such water made under the authority of the department, and of other documentary proof in relation to such use which may be filed in the office of the department. Such copies of licenses, reports, protests and other proof shall be certified by the department as true copies. Such copies shall be filed in the office of such clerk together with a petition to such court setting forth the appellant's reason for appeal. Such appeal shall be heard and determined upon such competent proof as shall be adduced by the appellant, and such like proofs as shall be adduced by the department of reclamation or some person duly authorized in its behalf.

ARTICLE 2.

CANCELLATION OF PERMITS.

Hist. The act forming the basis of this article repealed a prior law, '03, p. 223, § 3, am. '07, p. 532, § 1, reen. R. C. § 3256.

§ 5584. Permits contestible: By whom. If the holder of a permit to appropriate the public waters shall fail to comply with the requirements of his permit as to the commencing of work or the filing of bond thereunder, or the completion of one-fifth of the construction work within one-half the time allowed for the entire completion of such construction work, or shall fail to complete the entire construction work within the time specified in his permit, said permit may be cancelled and voided by the department of reclamation as hereinafter provided at the instance of any person or persons holding any permit for the diversion of water from the same stream, such permit post dating the permit which is sought to be cancelled.

Hist. '09, p. 299, H. B. 223, § 1, reen. C. L. § 3265a; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

Constitutionality: The act, of which this is the first section, does not vest in the state engineer judicial power and is not in conflict with Const. II, 1, or V, 2. Speer v. Stephenson (1909) 16 I. 707, 102 P. 365.

Time limits: If work is not commenced within the time specified in the permit for water, issued by the state engineer, or if one-fifth of the work is not completed within the time therein limited, the failure cannot be cured by extending the time for making proof of the beneficial use of the water attempted to be appropriated. Wash. S. Sugar Co. v. Goodrich (1915) 27 I. 26, 147 P. 1073.

§ 5585. Petition for cancellation. Any person as above specified desiring the cancellation of a permit shall file with the department of reclamation a petition clearly setting forth the facts upon which he bases his prayer for cancellation, plainly stating wherein the holder of the permit, which is sought to be cancelled, has failed to comply with the law and with the requirements of his permit.

Hist. '09, p. 299, H. B. 223, part of § 2, reen. C. L. § 3265b; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Suit to quiet title: § 5591.

§ 5586. Notice of contest. Upon receipt of such petition, the department of reclamation shall issue a notice, naming the petitioner as contestant and all persons, shown by the records of the department of reclamation to have any claim of title or interest in the permit sought to be cancelled as contestees, and requiring all contestees to appear at the office of the department on a day to be specified therein, which day shall be not less than 60 nor more than 90 days from the date of the notice, and show cause, by affidavit, if any there be, why said permit should not be cancelled. Such notice shall be sent by registered mail, addressed to every person named therein at his last known post office address.

Hist. '09, p. 299, H. B. 223, part of § 2, reen. C. L. § 3265c; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

Notice of contest: Due process: This provision that permits shall be recorded in the office of the state engineer and requiring notice of contest must be sent by registered mail to the last known post office address of all persons shown by the records to have an interest is sufficient notice and due process. Speer v. Stephenson (1909) 16 I. 707, 725, 102 P. 365.

§ 5587. Hearing. On the day set for the hearing the contestant and such contestees as have filed the affidavit hereinbefore required of them, shall file such affidavits in support of their respective allegations as they may desire, and the department of reclamation may require such additional evidence and may make or cause to be made by an engineer whom the department may designate, such personal examination of the work done under the permit in question, as the department may deem necessary to enable it to render a fair decision: Provided, That before making or causing such examination to be made the department shall estimate the cost of such examination and shall require the contestant to deposit a sum equal to such estimate and if after the making of such examination it is found that the amount so deposited is in excess of the cost of such examination the department shall return such excess to the contestant. For the purpose of producing additional testimony in making investigations, the department may continue the hearing to such time, not exceeding 30 days, as would seem to it advisable.

§ 5588. Department's decision: Notice thereof. After receipt of the affidavits and other evidence introduced, and the report of any engineer designated by the department to inspect the works, the department of reclamation shall as soon as practicable render its decision and on the day of rendition give notice thereof by registered mail to the contestant and all contestees whether they have appeared in the proceedings or not, at the last known post office address, which notice shall state that any party aggrieved by the decision shall have 90 days from the date of the notice in which to commence action or appeal as hereinafter provided for, in the district court of the county in which the intended diversion point under the permit sought to be cancelled is located.

Hist. '09, p. 299, H. B. 223, part of § 2, reen. C. L. § 3265e; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

§ 5589. Proceedings in district court. Any party aggrieved by said decision may within 90 days from the date of said notice, appeal to the proper district court as hereinbefore defined from the decision of the department of reclamation, or may commence an action in said court for the determination of the questions involved in the proceedings before the department.

Hist. '09, p. 299, H. B. 223, part of § 3, reen. C. L. § 3265f; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

Effect of state engineer's decision: The action of the state engineer in deciding to cancel or in refusing to cancel a permit is not conclusive upon the parties, and may be reviewed in the district court upon appeal or may be questioned in a direct proceeding in the district court, and the court in considering such matter is in no way controlled or concluded by the action of the state engineer. Speer v. Stephenson (1909) 16 I. 707, 102 P. 365.

Limitation of actions: The only effect given by the statute to the action of the state engineer in cancelling or refusing to cancel a permit is that such action is thereby fixed as a time from which the statute of limitations begins to run within which an action may be brought in the district court, or an appeal taken from the action of the state engineer, involving the questions involved in the contest before the state engineer. Ib.

§ 5590. Appeal. In case the party aggrieved shall appeal the same shall be taken in the manner following:

He shall, within the time prescribed for the taking of such appeal, file notice with the department of reclamation, stating that he appeals from the said decision to the said court, naming it, and notifying all parties in the proceedings before the department of reclamation to appear at the next term of the said district court, stating the date thereof, to show cause why the said decision of the department shall not be vacated and annulled. The party appealing shall, at the same time, pay to the department of reclamation a fee of $3 for the transmission of all papers, maps and proceedings before the said department to said district court. The department of reclamation shall thereupon transmit all papers in the proceedings before it to the clerk of the proper district court. The clerk of the district court shall demand a fee of $7 from the appellant before filing said papers and in case the same is not paid upon demand, he shall return said papers to the department which shall proceed as though no appeal had been taken.

The appellant shall forthwith, after filing said notice of appeal, deliver personally, or send by registered mail, a copy of said notice to each person who appeared in the proceedings before the department, and serve said notice personally, or by publication on all parties who did not so appear. Said personal service or service by publication shall be made in the same manner as is or may be provided by law for the service of summons in a civil action, and the order for such publication shall be made by the judge of the court to which the appeal is taken or by the probate judge of the county. Proof of service of such notice, either by affidavit or written admission, shall be filed on or before the first day of the term to which said appeal is taken. If through insufficiency of time, or for any other reason satisfactory to the judge of said district court, it is made to appear that the appellant has not had sufficient time to perfect his appeal, or has been unable, after due diligence, to complete service of his notice of appeal, personally or by publication, prior to the first day of said term of court, the said judge may continue the cause to the next term of said court, and order an alias notice of appeal specifying the first day of said next term as the time of appearance, and said notice shall be served personally or by publication in all respects as the original on parties not served with said original. Service shall be deemed complete, when the date of the service or the date of the last publication occurs at least 10 days prior to the first day of the term, to which said appeal is taken.

The court shall set the appeal for hearing on a day to be fixed by him and the same shall be heard on the papers transmitted by the department of reclamation. Judgment shall be rendered affirming or reversing said decision, and the papers, together with the decision of the court, shall be returned by the clerk to the department of reclamation, which shall be governed in its final disposition of said contest by the said judgment.

§ 5591. Suit to quiet title. In case the party aggrieved by the decision of the department of reclamation elects to bring suit instead of appealing, he shall file in the proper district court a complaint in the nature of a suit to quiet title, either to or against the permit in controversy, as the case may be, within 90 days from the date of said notice of decision by the said department. The clerk, on the filing of said complaint, shall forthwith notify the department of reclamation of the fact that said complaint has been filed, and on receipt of said notice the department shall make a note of the fact on its records, and desist from proceeding further in the case until judgment is rendered in such suit. Said suit and all proceedings had therein shall be prosecuted and conducted in the same manner as in actions to quiet title to real estate, the necessary changes in the pleadings being made. The party aggrieved by the decision of the department shall be plaintiff and all other parties to the proceedings before the department of reclamation, whether they have appeared in such proceedings or not, shall be defendants. Maps and similar exhibits but not affidavits used before the department may be introduced in evidence on being identified as having been so used in said proceedings. On the rendition of judgment a copy thereof shall be certified to the department of reclamation, which shall conform its records thereto.

The action provided for in this section may be brought without first proceeding in the office of the department of reclamation in the manner prescribed in section 5585.

Hist. '09, p. 299, H. B. 223, § 4, reen. C. L. § 3265h; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

Indispensable parties: All parties whose claims are adverse to the plaintiffs, whether they appear before the state engineer or not are indispensable parties and must be made defendants in an action under this section. Wash. S. Sugar Co. v. Goodrich (1915) 27 I. 26, 147 P. 1073.

§ 5592. Appeal to supreme court. Either party to an appeal from the department of reclamation, or to an action to quiet title as hereinbefore provided for, may appeal to the supreme court of the state of Idaho from the judgment of the district court within 60 days from the date of the said judgment and not afterward.

Hist. '09, p. 299, H. B. 223, § 5, reen. C. L. § 3265i; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

§ 5593. Record of cancellation. In case the decision of the department of reclamation shall be adverse to the contestee and in case no appeal has been taken and no action commenced in the district court within 90 days from said notice of decision, as hereinbefore provided for, said department shall cause to be spread upon the record copy of the permit in question an order of cancellation, which order shall be final and shall determine said permit to be cancelled and voided, by reason of the facts established on the hearing of the contest.

Hist. '09, p. 299, H. B. 223, § 6; compiled and reen. C. L. § 3265j; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65; Speer v. Stephenson (1909) 16 I. 707, 729, 102 P. 365.

§ 5594. Cancellation of permits at instance of department. Whenever the department of reclamation shall deem it advisable to clear the records of its office of permits, the owners of which have failed or neglected to comply with the law and the requirements of said permits as to the date of commencing of work or the filing of bond thereunder, or the completion of one-fifth of the construction work within one-half the time allowed for the completion of such construction work, or the final completion of such construction work, and has reason to believe that any permit or permits are subject to cancellation, as in this article provided, the department shall prepare and mail by registered mail to the holder of each permit which it believes subject to cancellation and which it desires to cancel a notice fully describing the permit in question, with the date of issuance thereof, point or points of diversion, and setting forth in clear and concise manner the reasons why the cancellation of said permit is proposed. Said notice shall be mailed to the last known post office address of the holder of said permit and shall require said permit holder to show cause before the department of reclamation on or before a date therein set, which shall be not less than 30 days from the mailing of said notice, why said permit should not be cancelled.

Any party aggrieved by the decision of the department under the provisions of this section may appeal to the district court in the manner provided in sections 5589-5591.

On failure to appear and make such showing on or before the date set or on failure, in the opinion of the department, to make sufficient showing, said permit may be cancelled. In lieu of the mailing of said notice by registered mail, service of the same may be made as provided by the laws of Idaho for the service of a summons in civil actions.

ARTICLE 3.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR USE OUTSIDE STATE.

Use beyond state borders: Prior to the passage of this act there was no authority for the diversion and appropriation of the waters of this state for application to a beneficial use in another state. Walbridge v. Robinson (1912) 22 I. 236, 125 P. 812, 43 L. R. A. (N. S.) 240.

Interstate adjudication: The rights, as between states, to share in the waters of an interstate stream, is a matter for adjustment between the states, and individual users cannot raise a question about the use of such water in another state out of the territorial jurisdiction of the court. Vineyard etc. Co. v. Twin Falls Salmon River etc. Co. (1917) 245 F. 9.

§ 5595. Appropriation for use in Oregon. Whenever it shall be desired to appropriate the public waters of the state of Idaho for use in the state of Oregon, the department of reclamation shall grant a permit upon proper application therefor, provided the department be satisfied that the interests of the state of Idaho will not be materially injured by such use of its public waters in the state of Oregon, and provided the intending appropriator shall file with his application for permit a certificate from the proper officer or official of the state into which the water is to be diverted, showing to the satisfaction of the department of reclamation that the intended appropriation would be beneficial, and that the project for which the intended appropriation is required is feasible.

Hist. '15, c. 111, § 2, p. 254, reen. C. L. § 3265o.

§ 5597. Proof of completion of works. Proof of completion of works under such permit shall be made in accordance with the laws of the state of Idaho relative to proof of completion under a permit to appropriate the public waters of the state of Idaho, as to all works of diversion under such permit lying within the state of Idaho: Provided, That the department of reclamation shall issue no certificate of completion under such proof until it shall have received from the officer or official mentioned in section 5595 a certificate to the effect that the proper public records of such sister state show the works to have been completed under said permit, said certificate to show in second feet the capacities of the various conduits constructed and to show in acre feet the capacities of reservoir, if any there be, constructed in such sister state under said permit.

Hist. '15, c. 111, § 3, p. 254, reen. C. L. § 3265p; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

§ 5598. License. The department of reclamation shall issue a license in accordance with the laws of the state of Idaho relative to the issuance of license under a permit, whenever the department shall receive a certificate from the officer or official mentioned in section 5595, to the effect that the proper public records of such sister state show that beneficial use has been made of the waters sought to be appropriated under said permit, said certificate to show the extent of such use in second-feet. If such use is for irrigation, such certificate shall give a description by legal subdivisions of the land which is irrigated by such water. If such use is for power purposes, such certificate shall describe the location of the point of use.

§ 5599. Idaho laws controlling. Appropriations of water made under the provisions of this article shall be subject to the laws of the state of Idaho relative to administration, control and distribution of public waters, so long as said waters appropriated in accordance herewith shall remain within the state of Idaho: Provided further, That such rights in their entirety shall be subject to all laws of the state of Idaho which have been or may be passed from time to time relative to the appropriation and control of public waters, to the end that such rights may be upon a parity with water rights within the state of Idaho. ['15, c. 111, § 5, p. 255.]

Hist. '15, c. 111, § 5, p. 255, reen. C. L. § 3265r.

§ 5600. Rules and regulations. The department of reclamation is empowered to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to the proper administration of the provisions of this article.

Hist. '15, c. 111, § 6, p. 255; compiled and reen. C. L. § 3265s; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

Reciprocal legislation: Oregon '11, c. 224, p. 404.

§ 5603. Appropriation for use in Wyoming. The department of reclamation shall, under the laws of this state, allow the appropriation of water in this state for beneficial use in the state of Wyoming only when, under the laws of the latter, water may be lawfully diverted therein for beneficial use in the state of Idaho. Upon any stream flowing across the state boundary a right of appropriation, having the point of diversion and the place of use in the state of Wyoming and recognized by the laws of that state, shall have the same force and effect as if the point of diversion and the place of use were in this state: Provided, That the laws of that state give like force and effect to similar rights acquired in this state.

SURVEY OF WATER APPROPRIATIONS.

§ 5604. Department to examine streams. It shall be the duty of the department of reclamation to proceed, as soon as may be, to make an examination of the streams of the state (beginning with those whose waters have not yet been allotted), and the works diverting water therefrom, said examination to include the measurement of the discharge of said streams and the carrying capacity of the various ditches and canals diverting water therefrom; an examination of the irrigated lands, and an approximate measurement of the lands irrigated or susceptible of irrigation from the various ditches and canals, which said observations and measurements shall be reduced to writing and made a matter of record in its office, and it shall be the duty of the department of reclamation to make, or cause to be made, a map or plat on a scale of not less than one inch to the mile, showing, with substantial accuracy, the course of the stream, the location of each ditch or canal diverting water therefrom, and the legal subdivisions of land which have been irrigated, and it shall also note on such map the lands which are susceptible of irrigation from the ditches and canals already constructed. Such examination shall be made as rapidly as possible to include all the streams used for irrigation in the state. The department of reclamation shall indicate on such map the lands the water rights for which have been adjudicated by the courts, noting on each tract the number of the priority of such rights, and whenever an application for a permit to appropriate water from a stream shown on such map shall be allowed, such department shall indicate on such map the line of such canal or ditch or other works, and indicate by appropriate colors the lands to be irrigated by such works, and shall note thereon the number of such permit. Whenever proof is made that water has been beneficially applied from such works to any of such lands, and license shall be issued for the same as in this chapter provided, the number of such license so issued shall be at once noted on such map on the subdivision of such lands to which such license shall relate, and all these and other facts relating to the development of irrigation on such stream shall be carefully posted on such map.

Constitutionality: It is the duty of the state engineer to examine streams and diversion works, beginning with streams the waters of which have not been adjudicated by decree of court. The work to be done by the engineer under this section is to be paid for by the state and is partly for the purpose of making a permanent record of the water appropriations and rights to the use thereof. The section is constitutional. Boise Irr. etc. Co. v. Stewart (1904) 10 I. 38, 77 P. 25, 321.

CHAPTER 219.

DISTRIBUTION OF WATER AMONG APPROPRIATORS.

ARTICLE 1.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 5605. [3268] Water divisions: Establishment and boundaries. For the purpose of administering and controlling the public waters, the state of Idaho is hereby divided into three water divisions denominated water division No. 1, water division No. 2, water division No. 3.

Water division No. 1 shall consist of all lands within this state drained by the Snake river and its tributaries as far west as American Falls, and all lands within this state drained by Bear river and its branches, and by other streams flowing on the slope of the Salt Lake basin.

Water division No. 2 shall consist of all lands within this state drained by Snake river and its tributaries on the south side from Bruneau river, and by the Snake river and its tributaries on the north side from American falls to and including the Malad river, also all lands within this state drained by the streams flowing toward and sinking near the northern edge of the Snake river plains, and the lands in this state drained by the Salmon river and its tributaries as far west as the south fork of said river.

Water division No. 3 shall consist of all lands within this state drained by the Snake river and its tributaries on the south side from the mouth of the Bruneau river to and including the Owyhee river, and by the Snake river and its tributaries on the north side from the mouth of the Malad river to and including the Clearwater river, excepting that portion of the water shed of the Salmon river included in water division No. 2, and all that portion of the state lying north of the water shed of said Clearwater river. § 5606. Department of reclamation to supervise water distribution. It shall be the duty of the department of reclamation to have immediate direction and control of the distribution of water from all of the streams to the canals and ditches diverting therefrom. The department must execute the laws relative to the distribution of water in accordance with rights of prior appropriation.

The department of reclamation shall, in the distribution of water from the streams to the canals, be governed by this title.

Hist. First paragraph: '15, c. 34, § 4, p. 106. The act repealed R. C. § 3270, together with other sections providing for a water commissioner to distribute the water in each of the divisiins defined in § 5605. Second paragraph: '03, p. 223, § 32, reen. R. C. § 3283; am. '15, c. 34, § 17, p. 112; reen. C. L. § 3270; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

§ 5607. Same: Rules and regulations. The department of reclamation shall provide such rules and regulations in relation to making of proof of completion of works constructed under the provisions of this title, and of the proof of application of the water as provided for in this title, and shall also devise all needful rules for the distribution of water from the streams, as shall be necessary to carry out the laws in accordance with the priorities of the rights of the users thereof.

ARTICLE 2.

WATER DISTRICTS AND WATER MASTERS.

§ 5608. Creation of water districts. The department of reclamation shall divide the state into water districts in such manner that each public stream and tributaries, or independent source of water supply, shall constitute a water district: Provided, That any stream or water supply, when the distance between the extreme points of diversion thereon is more than 40 miles, may be divided into two or more water districts: Provided, That any stream tributary to another stream may be constituted into a separate water district when the use of the water therefrom does not affect or conflict with the rights to the use of the water of the main stream: Provided, That any stream may be divided into two or more water districts, irrespective of the distance between the extreme points of diversion, where the use of the waters of such stream by appropriators in one district does not affect or conflict with the use of the waters of such stream by appropriators outside such district: Provided, That this section shall not apply to streams or water supplies whose priorities of appropriation and use have not been adjudicated by the courts having jurisdiction thereof.

Hist. '03, p. 223, § 23; am. '07, p. 532, § 2, reen. R. C. § 3274; am. '09, p. 326, H. B. 68, § 1; am. '15, c. 34, § 9, p. 106, reen. C. L. § 3274; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

When section not applicable: On streams "whose priorities of appropriation and use have not been adjudicated by the courts having jurisdiction thereof" there can be no legal organization of a water district and no persons claiming to be officers of such a district have any authority to determine priorities and amounts or to interfere with the irrigation works of any user. Marsters et al. v. U. S. (1916) 236 F. 663, 149 C. C. A. 659.

§ 5609. Selection and duties of water master. There shall be held on the first Monday in March in each year, commencing at 2 o'clock p. m., a meeting of all persons owning or having the use of an adjudicated right, in the waters of the stream or water supply comprising such district. Such meeting shall be held at some place within the water district, convenient to a majority of those entitled to vote thereat, which place shall be designated by the department of reclamation, and the department shall, between January 1 and February 1 of each year, file such designation with the county auditor of the county or counties within which such water district is situated and shall notify by mail all persons, companies or corporations known by it to own or claim the use of the waters of such district.

At such meeting there shall be elected a water master for such water district, and such other regular assistants as such meeting shall deem necessary, and such meeting shall prior to the election of such water master and assistants fix the compensation to be paid them, such compensation not to exceed $7 per day during the time actually engaged in the performance of their duties. At such meeting each person present owning or having the use for the ensuing irrigation season of any adjudicated right equal to 10 inches of water in the stream or water supply comprising such water district, shall be entitled to one vote. Such meeting shall choose a chairman and secretary and shall determine the manner and method of electing water masters and assistants. Within five days after such meeting the chairman and secretary shall forward a certified copy of the minutes of such meeting to the department of reclamation: Provided, That a corporation shall be considered a person for the purpose of this section and shall cast its vote by some one to be designated by the corporation: Provided, That each stockholder in said corporation shall be entitled to as many votes as he shall have units of 10 miners' inches of water, regularly adjudicated, in the stream or water supply comprising such water district: Provided, That should said meeting not be held, or should said water master not be chosen or his compensation fixed as above provided, then the department of reclamation must appoint such water master and fix his compensation not exceeding $5 per day.

The department of reclamation may remove any water master whenever such water master fails to perform his duty as water master, upon complaint in that respect being made to the department in writing, by three persons owning or having the right to the use of an adjudicated right in such district: Provided, That upon investigation the department finds such charge to be true, and the department may appoint a successor for the unexpired term.

Before entering upon the duties of his office, said water master shall take and subscribe an oath before some officer authorized by the laws of the state to administer oaths, to faithfully perform the duties of his office, and shall file with the clerk of the district court in the county in which said water master resides, said oath and his official bond in the penal sum of $500, with not less than two sureties, to be approved by the judge of the probate court of the county in which he resides and conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office.

§ 5610. Reports of water masters. All water masters shall make reports to the department of reclamation as often as may be deemed necessary by said department; said reports shall contain the following information: The amount of water necessary to supply all of the ditches, canals and reservoirs of the district; the amount of water actually coming into the district to supply such ditches, canals or reservoirs; whether such supply is on the increase or decrease; what ditches, canals and reservoirs are at times without their proper supply, and the probability as to what the supply will be during the period before the next report will be required, and such other information as the department may suggest. Said department shall carefully file and preserve such reports and shall from them ascertain what ditches, canal and reservoirs are, and what are not, receiving their proper supply of water, and if it shall appear that in any district of that division, any ditch, canal or reservoir is receiving water whose priority postdates that of the ditch, canal or reservoir in another district as ascertained from its register, it shall at once order such postdate ditch, canal or reservoir shut down, and the water given to the elder ditch, canal or reservoir, its orders being directed at all times to the enforcement of priority of appropriation, according to its tabulated statement of priorities, to the whole division, and without regard to the district within which the ditches, canals or reservoirs may be located. The reports of water masters to the department of reclamation shall be filed and kept in the office of the department.

§ 5611. Distribution of water. It shall be the duty of said water master to distribute the waters of the public stream, streams or water supply, comprising his water district, among the several ditches taking water therefrom according to the prior rights of each respectively, in whole or in part, and to shut and fasten, or cause to be shut or fastened, under the direction of the department of reclamation, the headgates of the ditches heading from such stream, streams or water supply, when in times of scarcity of water it is necessary so to do in order to supply the prior rights of others in such stream, or water supply: Provided, That any person or corporation claiming the right to the use of the waters of the stream or water supply comprising a water district, but not owning or having the use of an adjudicated right therein, shall, for the purpose of distribution, during the scarcity of water, be held to have a right subsequent to the adjudicated rights in such stream or water supply, and the water master shall close all headgates of ditches having no adjudicated right if necessary to supply adjudicated rights in such stream or water supply.

Cited: Marsters v. U. S. (1916) 236 F. 663, 149 C. C. A. 659.

Decree governs water master: The water master cannot be required to go beyond the provisions of the decree to ascertain whether or not the same is supported by the findings or whether there is a conflict between the findings and decree, but he can look only to the decree for his instructions as to the amount of water to be distributed to each claimant. Stethem v. Skinner (1905) 11 I. 374, 82 P. 451.

§ 5612. Water master's term of service. Said water masters shall not begin their work until they have been called upon by three or more owners or managers of ditches or persons controlling ditches, in the several districts, by application in writing, stating that there is a necessity for the use and control of the waters of such district, and they shall not continue performing services after the necessity therefor shall cease, which shall be determined by the department of reclamation, and in no event after the 1st of November of each year.

Hist. '03, p. 223, § 27, reen. R. C. § 3278; am. '09, p. 326, H. B. 68, § 1; am. '15, c. 34, § 13, p. 109, reen. C. L. § 3278; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, 37, p. 65.

Mandatory: This provision is mandatory and the water master cannot recover for services as such water master unless the services were rendered after such written application has been presented to him. Walker v. Elmore Co. (1909) 16 I. 696, 102 P. 389.

§ 5613. Water master may employ assistants. Said water master shall have power, in case of emergency, with the approval of the department of reclamation, to employ suitable assistants to aid him in the discharge of his duties, who shall take the same oath as the water master, and shall obey his instructions, and shall be entitled to not exceed $3 per day for every day they are employed, to be paid upon certificates of the department in the same manner as provided for the payment of water masters: Provided, That not more than one assistant shall be appointed to each 15 miles of the stream whose waters have been allotted.

§ 5614. Compensation of water masters. Water masters herein provided for shall each be entitled to pay at the rate of not to exceed $4 per day for each day he shall be actually employed in the duties of his office. Said water master shall make up a sworn statement which shall be approved by the department of reclamation, and shall show the number of days said water master has devoted to the distribution of such water, and the number of days his assistant or assistants have devoted to the same purpose, and such statement shall also show the volume of water, stated in cubic feet per second, he has by virtue of the allotment of said waters delivered to each user each day, and shall describe the lands to which said water was so delivered. The pay for the services of said water master and his assistants shall be a charge against the land of the users to which said water was so delivered, the expense for said services being first divided between all classes as to priority of allotment or decree, in the proportion which the number of days such water is received by all users in the same class of priority of allotment or decree bears to the whole number of days said water master is engaged in distributing said water; the amount charged to each user in the same class of priority of allotment or decree bearing the same proportion to the amount charged to all users in the same class of priority of allotment or decree as the volume of water delivered to each user bears to the whole amount delivered to all of like class of priority of allotment or decree, by the said water master and his assistants. This statement, which shall show the proper distribution of the said expenses among the various users, shall be filed with the auditor and recorder of the county or counties in which the said water was delivered: Provided, That when any portion of the allotted waters is distributed by said water master to the canal of any duly organized canal company, the amount of the expense chargeable for such services shall be a charge against such canal and the account of such charge to be paid by the county in the manner herein provided shall be charged as a tax against such canal, which tax shall be collected in the manner provided by law for the collection of other taxes, and no canal in this state shall be exempt from the payment of such tax.

There is an apparent conflict as to water master's pay between this and § 5609.

§ 5615. [3281] Same: Payment and collection from water users. A bill, based upon such statement, for the services performed by the said water master and his assistants, shall be presented at a regular meeting of the board of county commissioners, who shall order a warrant issued to said water master or his assistants on the current expense fund of the county. The auditor and recorder of said county shall add the amounts charged to the land of the users, and to such ditches to which said water was delivered, to the taxes of said land or ditches as may be levied for the following year, which shall be collected along with other taxes, and turned into the current expense fund of the county. ARTICLE 3.

HEADGATES AND MEASURING DEVICES.

§ 5616. Appropriators required to maintain. The appropriators or users of any public waters of the state of Idaho shall maintain to the satisfaction of the department of reclamation suitable headgates and controlling works at the point where the water is diverted, which shall be of such construction that it can be locked and kept closed by the water master or other officer in charge, and shall also be of such construction as to regulate the flow of water at the diversion point and such appropriator shall construct and maintain, when required by the department, a rating flume or other measuring device at such point as is most practical in such canal or ditch for the purpose of assisting the water master or department in determining the amount of water that may be diverted into said ditch from the stream. Plans for such headgates, rating flumes or other measuring devices shall be approved by the department of reclamation.

Hist. '99, p. 223, § 31, reen. R. C. § 3282; am. '13, c. 68, p. 305; am. '15, c. 34, § 16, p. 111; am. '17, c. 53, part of § 1, p. 122, reen. C. L. § 3282; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

§ 5617. Duty of department to construct: Lien of cost. If any appropriator or user of public waters neglects or refuses to put in such headgates, controlling works or measuring devices as, in the judgment of the department of reclamation, will provide for the proper measurement, control and distribution of the water, then the department shall give to the owner or user of such works 10 days' notice to remedy the defects in accordance with the requirements set out in said notice. Such notice may be given by registered mail, and in case of the failure or refusal of the owner or user of said works to comply therewith, then said headgates, rating flumes, measuring devices or controlling works may be put in under the direction of the department of reclamation at the expense of the owner or user of said works and the cost and expense thereof, together with the expenses of supervision by the department, shall be a lien upon the works or irrigation system for the improvement of which such headgates, rating flumes, measuring devices or controlling works are put in. The department of reclamation shall make up a statement showing the amount of the cost and expense, the purpose thereof and necessity therefor and shall file the same with the county recorder within 90 days from the completion of the work. Such lien shall be filed for the benefit of the person doing the work or furnishing the material therefor. Attorney's fees shall be allowed by the court upon the foreclosure of such lien.

Hist. '99, p. 223, § 31, reen. R. C. § 3282; am. '13, c. 68, p. 305; am. '15, c. 34, § 16, p. 111; am. '17, c. 53, part of § 1, p. 122, reen. C. L. § 3282a; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

§ 5618. Collection of lien as tax. In case, however, the department of reclamation shall deem it undesirable to secure the enforcement of the payment of the cost and expenses of the improvement in the manner hereinbefore mentioned it may file the statement of costs and expenses hereinbefore mentioned with the county recorder for presentation to the board of county commissioners of the county in which the works or a portion of them are located and the said board of county commissioners shall pay the same to the department of reclamation by a warrant drawn on the current expense fund of the county and shall add the amount of the cost and expenses, as shown by the department's certificate, to the taxes of the owner or owners of the canal or ditch whereon the improvement is made. Said board of county commissioners shall cause a notice of the amount of the claim to be sent by registered mail to the owner or owners of the ditch or canal system, and in case said payment is not made, then a penalty of 10 per cent shall be added to the amount and the entire amount shall be collected with the taxes of the owner or owners of the canal or ditch system, and the amount shall be a lien against the property the same as state and county taxes. No canal in this state shall be exempt from the payment of such tax.

§ 5619. Payment before filing of claim. The owner or owners or users of water through said irrigation works may pay the amount of the costs and charges, together with interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum from the date of the completion of the improvement, to the department of reclamation at any time prior to the filing of the lien or the filing of the claim with the county recorder. The department shall issue a receipt for any payment so made and shall remit the same to the state treasurer, who shall place said money in the fund hereinbefore mentioned.

§ 5620. Measuring devices above reservoirs. Any person, firm or corporation using the channel of any stream or streams or any tributary of such stream or streams in this state as an impounding reservoir shall place therein at a point above and as near as practicable to the backwater of such reservoir such system or device as the department of reclamation may require for measuring the flow of water at such point and in accordance with plans and specifications which shall be furnished by the department. Hist. '17, c. 53, part of § 3, p. 124, reen. C. L. § 3282d; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

Hist. '17, c. 53, part of § 3, p. 124, reen. C. L. § 3282e; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

§ 5622. Cost of measuring devices. The cost and expenses incurred in the two preceding sections of this article set forth, if constructed by the department of reclamation, shall be paid pro rata by the several users of water in such district as hereinbefore provided in this article.

Hist. '17, c. 53, part of § 3, p. 124, reen. C. L. § 3282f; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

§ 5623. Continuing appropriation. There is hereby appropriated out of any money in the general fund of the treasury in the state of Idaho for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this article the sum of $5,000, to be a perpetual fund, and the department of reclamation shall draw vouchers on such fund for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE 4.

DISTRIBUTION OF STORED WATER.

§ 5624. Conveyance of stored water through natural channel: Appointment of special deputy. Whenever the owner of a reservoir shall desire to use the bed of a stream, or a natural water course, for the purpose of carrying stored water, he shall in writing notify the department of reclamation, giving the date when it is proposed to discharge the water, its volume in acre feet, and in cubic feet per second at the point of discharge, and the persons and ditches entitled to its use. The department shall then appoint a special deputy whose duty it shall be to adjust the headgates of all ditches not entitled to the stored water, and in such manner that those having the right to the use of such water shall secure the volume to which they are entitled. For the purpose of delivering such stored water the deputy appointed by the department of reclamation may employ such number of assistants as, with the approval of the department, he may deem necessary. The owner of any reservoir proceeding under the provisions of this section shall pay to the special deputy and to each assistant a sum not exceeding $5 per diem for each day consumed in the adjusting of headgates and the delivery of water as hereinbefore provided.

C. L. § 3282h; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 37, p. 65.

§ 5625. Same: Penalty for interference. After the special deputy and his assistants shall have adjusted the headgates of all ditches, the owners of which are not entitled to the use of such stored water as provided in the preceding section and before such stored water shall have passed the headgates so adjusted, any person who shall raise or tamper with any such headgate in such manner as to misappropriate any portion of such water to his own use and benefit whether he be the owner of such headgate or not, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $250, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not less than 30 days nor more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Whenever the special deputy or any assistant shall discover any person in the act of committing a misdemeanor declared in this section, he shall arrest such person and turn him over to the sheriff of the county in which the misdemeanor was committed and he shall also file with the county attorney of such county an affidavit setting out the facts with reference to the commission of such misdemeanor. CHAPTER 220.

DISTRIBUTION TO CONSUMERS.

§ 5626. Appointment of water master. It shall be the duty of those owning or controlling any ditch, canal or lateral to appoint a superintendent or water master, whose duty it shall be to measure the water from such ditch, canal or lateral through the outlet of those entitled thereto, according to his or her pro rata share: Provided, That any vicinity or neighbborhood, the inhabitants of which use the waters of any ditch, canal or lateral for the purpose of irrigation, or have or claim a common right to the waters of any ditch or lateral for such purposes, provided the waters so claimed or used have not been allotted to the individual users thereof, shall constitute a water district.

Any one or more of said joint owners so using the water of any ditch, canal or lateral as aforesaid, when the appointment of a water master can not be agreed upon, may petition the judge of the district court in whose district the ditch, canal or lateral may be located for the appointment of a water master for said ditch, canal or lateral, and shall set forth in said petition the facts of his or her ownership in said ditch, canal or lateral; the ownership and interest of all other joint owners; the location and length of said ditch, canal or lateral, and requesting said district court to appoint a water master to take charge of the same. Upon due notice being given to all of the water users under said ditch, canal or lateral, and after hearing before said court, it shall be the duty of the judge of said district court if he deem it necessary or equitable in order that the rights of all water users under said ditch, canal or lateral may be protected, to appoint a water master for the ditch, canal or lateral described in the petition. Said water master to receive such compensation as the court in his judgment may deem adequate, and shall be paid in the same manner as is provided for the payment of water masters under chapter 219, and shall perform the same duties and have the same power and authority as other water masters appointed or elected in accordance with the provisions of this code. § 5627. [3285] Injuring ditch or headgate. Any person who, without the consent of the water master of the district, diverts any water from the ditch or channel where it was placed, or caused, or left to run by the water master or his deputies, or who shuts or opens any ditch, gate or dam with intent so to divert any water, and thereby deprive any person of the use of the same during any part of the time he is entitled to such use, or who, without the consent of the water master, cuts any ditch or the banks thereof, or breaks or destroys any gate or flume, is liable in a civil action to any person injured thereby in three times the actual damage sustained in consequence of any such wrongful act or acts. § 5628. [3286] Water companies to furnish headgates and measuring devices. Any person, association or corporation delivering or distributing water under any fixed annual charge or rental shall provide the necessary gates and measuring devices to render possible and practicable a measurement of the quantity of water being delivered to any consumer (or number of consumers using a common lateral or distributing ditch); and the price charged for the annual use of the water so distributed shall be in proportion to the quantity of water delivered from the works of such person, association or corporation. Such measuring devices shall be of such a character, and provided with such gauges or scales, that the quantity of water being delivered at any time can be ascertained by inspection; and shall be of such general plan as shall meet with the approval of the department of reclamation, which shall inspect any such devices whenever possible to ascertain their character, and the department shall furnish such general information and instructions to any consumer, or the water master of any number of consumers of water, as may be necessary to enable him to ascertain the quantity of water flowing through any such measuring device.

§ 5629. [3287] Division of land into classes by priority. When any ditch, canal or reservoir delivering or distributing water to several users has one or more rights or priorities by reason of enlargements made from time to time, the right of the land being irrigated by such works shall be divided into classes; rights of the first class belonging to those lands reclaimed between the dates of the first and second priorities or rights of such works; rights of the second class belonging to those lands reclaimed between the dates of the second and third priorities of such works; rights of any other class being determined in like manner; but all the rights belonging to the same class shall be equal and subject alike to the regulations of their respective class. Constitutionality: This section does not contravene Const. XV, 3, 5. Brose v. Directors Nampa etc. Irr. Dist (1913) 24 I. 116, 132 P. 799.

Purpose of section: Under the statute it is intended that the irrigation company shall make such classification upon such information as it may be able to obtain, and in fairness, and in accordance with the terms of the statute. Brose v. Directors of Nampa etc. Irr. Dist. (1911) 20 I. 281, 118 P. 504.

The board must classify the land the best it can under such evidence it has or may be able to obtain. Brose v. Directors of Nampa etc. Irr. Dist. (1913) 24 I. 116, 132 P. 799.

Effect on rights of water users: Any classification made by an irrigation company under the provisions of this section can in no way affect or control the question of priorities between users, and in no way prohibits or limits any user of water in having the question of priority between users settled and adjudicated in the proper court of the state. Brose v. Directors of Nampa etc. Irr. Dist. (1911) 20 I. 281, 118 P. 504.

The canal company is not given the right to ultimately decide the question of priority as between water users; that power remains with the court, and the adjustment of land into classes is not permanent unless the water users decide so. Brose v. Directors of Nampa etc. Irr. Dist. (1913) 24 I. 116, 132 P. 799.

§ 5630. [3288] Point of delivery. Any person, association or corporation which may contract to deliver a certain quantity of water to any party or parties, shall deliver the same to such party or parties, together with a reasonable and necessary allowance for loss by evaporation and seepage, at some convenient point on the main ditch, canal or reservoir of said person, association or corporation, or on any branch or lateral thereof belonging to the owner or owners of such ditch, canal or reservoir. Duty of canal company: It is the duty of a canal company to keep its ditches and canals in repair and to turn the water for the consumer out of its main canal or lateral at such place as will be most convenient for the consumer and cause least waste by seepage and evaporation. Niday v. Barker (1909) 16 I. 73, 101 P. 254.

§ 5631. Amount and lien of rental or maintenance. The amount to be paid by said party or parties for the delivery of said water, which amount may be fixed by contract, or may be as provided by law, is a first lien upon the land for the irrigation of which said water is furnished and delivered. But if the title to said tract of land is in the United States or the state of Idaho, then the said amount shall be a first lien upon any crop or crops which may be raised upon said tract of land, which said lien shall be recorded and collected as provided by law for other liens in this state. And any mortgage or other lien upon such tracts of land that may hereafter be given shall in all cases be subject to the lien for price of water as provided in this section. Private contracts authorized: This section clearly authorizes parties to contract with reference to the delivery of water and to fix and determine the amount to be charged as an annual maintenance fee therefor. Jackson v. Indian Creek etc. Irr. Co. (1909) 16 I. 340, 101 P. 814.

Preferential rate: A canal company, not a common carrier, may allow a valid preferential maintenance rate. (Sullivan, C. J. dissents) Nampa etc. Irr. Dist. v. Briggs (1915) 27 I. 84, 102, 121, 147 P. 75.

Alternative remedy: For user's default in payment of maintenance, water company may proceed either under this section or under § 3240. Adams v. Twin Falls-Oakley L. & W. Co. (1916) 29 I. 357, 161 P. 322.

§ 5632. Duties of consumers: Appointment of manager of distributing lateral. Where two or more parties take water from said ditch, canal or reservoir at the same point, to be conveyed to their respective premises for any distance through the same lateral or distributing ditch, such parties shall, on or before April 1 of each year, select some person to have charge during the succeeding season of the distribution of water from such lateral, whose duty it shall be to ascertain and see that the amount of water to which each of the parties interested is entitled is properly apportioned and distributed. It shall be his further duty to see that the said person, association or corporation, contracting to furnish such water shall deliver the amount as provided in section 5630, and in case of dispute between such person and the said person, association or corporation as to the quantity of water to be delivered, or the amount actually delivered, the matter shall be referred to the department of reclamation. The parties entitled to said water shall keep their ditches and laterals in good condition for carrying and distributing the same. In case the parties entitled to the use of water as in this section stated shall neglect or refuse to perform the duties imposed upon them by this section, they shall have no cause for damage against the person, association or corporation furnishing said water for failure to properly furnish and distribute the same.

Action to compel delivery: An applicant for the use of water who has complied with the provisions of this act and who is refused water, although the company has sufficient unsold water to supply him, is entitled to a writ of mandate to compel the delivery of water. Bardsley v. Boise Irr. Co. (1901) 8 I. 155, 67 P. 428. But the complaint must allege a demand and must tender compensation or security for the payment of the charges for delivery; it is insufficient to allege that the plaintiff offered to secure the payment of such charges. Ib.

Remedies of water company: This section does not repeal § 5659, and a water company which delivers water to a consumer without demanding prepayment of the charges therefor may sue at law to recover the amount of such charges already earned by it, but cannot shut off the consumer's water because he refuses to make payment. Shelby v. Farmers' etc. Ditch Co. (1905) 10 I. 723, 80 P. 222.

Illegal contracts: Contracts whereby an irrigation company agrees to furnish more water than it has ability to furnish are illegal. Gerber v. Nampa etc. Irr. Dist. (1909) 16 I. 1, 11, 100 P. 80.

Where a party is entitled to water from a ditch company and does everything that the constitution and laws of the state require him to do in order to get it, the water company is bound to deliver him the water and cannot require him to sign a special contract binding him to do things which the law does not require him to do in order to get the water. Green v. Byers (1909) 16 I. 178, 101 P. 79.

Under this section any water company or corporation is forbidden to contract or sell more water than it is entitled to and must not sell more water than it has. S. v. Twin Falls etc. Co. (1916) 30 I. 41, 166 P. 220.

§ 5637. [3290] Application for water. Any person or persons owning or controlling land which has or has not been irrigated from any such canal, shall on or before January 1 of any year, inform the owner or person in control of such canal whether or not he desires the water from said canal for the irrigation of land during the succeeding season, stating also the quantity of water needed. In distributing water from any such canal, ditch or conduit during any season, preference shall be given to those applications for water for land irrigated from said canal the preceding season, and a surplus of water, if any there be, shall be distributed to the lands in the numerical order of the applications for it. But no demand for the purchase of a so-called perpetual water right, or any contract fixing the annual charges or the quantity of water to be used per acre, shall be imposed as a condition precedent to the delivery of water annually as provided in this chapter; but the consumer of water shall be the judge of the amount and the duty of the water required for the irrigation of his land; and the annual charges to be made and to be fixed under the further provisions of this title, shall hereafter be based upon the quantity of water delivered to consumers, and shall not in any case depend upon the number of acres irrigated by means of such amount of water delivered. Application: This section has no application to a case where all prior applications for water have been supplied and the ditch company still has water for rental and distribution, and in such case an applicant may enforce the delivery of water, although he did not make his application prior to January 1. Helphry v. Perrault (1906) 12 I. 451, 86 P. 417.

§ 5638. [3291] Sale or rental constitutes a dedication. Whenever any waters have been or shall be appropriated or used for agricultural or domestic purposes under a sale, rental or distribution thereof, such sale, rental or distribution shall be deemed an exclusive dedication to such use upon the tract of land for which such appropriation or use has been secured, and, whenever such waters so dedicated shall have once been sold, rented or distributed to any person who has settled upon or improved land for agricultural purposes with the view of receiving the benefit of such water under such dedication, such person, his heirs, executors, administrators, successors or assigns, shall not thereafter be deprived of the annual use of the same when needed for agricultural or domestic purposes upon the tract of land for which such appropriation or use has been secured, or to irrigate the land so settled upon or improved, upon payment therefor, and compliance with such equitable terms and conditions as to the quantity used and times of use as may be prescribed by law. "Domestic purposes" shall not be construed to include any manner of land irrigation. Any person, association or corporation violating any of the provisions of this section, shall be liable for all damage to any party or parties injured thereby, which damage shall be determined by the proper court. § 5639. [3292] Consumer's title not affected by transfer of ditch. When any payment is made under the terms of a contract, by means of which payment a perpetual right to the use of water necessary to irrigate a certain tract of land is secured, said water right shall forever remain a part of said tract of land, and the title to the use of said water can never be affected in any way by any subsequent transfer of the canal or ditch property or by any foreclosure or any bond, mortgage or other lien thereon; but the owner of said tract of land, his heirs or assigns, shall forever be entitled to the use of the water necessary to properly irrigate the same, by complying with such reasonable regulations as may be agreed upon, or as may from time to time be imposed by law. And said payment for said water right shall be a release of any bond or mortgage upon the canal property of the person or company from whom such right is purchased or their successors or assigns, to the amount of such water right thus purchased and paid for, and said person or company from whom such water right is purchased shall furnish to the party or parties purchasing such right a release, or a good and sufficient bond for a release, from said mortgage or bonded indebtedness to the amount of the water right thus purchased. Construed: This section was intended to apply to such water rights as are described in Const. XV, 4; that is, a water right only where there has been an actual application of the water to the land for a beneficial use. Hewitt v. Great Western etc. Co. (1911) 20 I. 235, 118 P. 296.

Perpetual water rights superior to prior and subsequent liens: Upon the purchase and payment of a permanent water right such water right thereafter is in no way affected by the lien of any mortgage given by the company from whom such water right is purchased, or by any foreclosure of any such mortgage, whether given before or after the sale of such water right. Hewitt v. Great Western etc. Co. (1911) 20 I. 235, 118 P. 296.

§ 5640. [3293] Liability for waste of water. No person entitled to the use of water from any such ditch or canal, must, under any circumstances, use more water than good husbandry requires for the crop or crops that he cultivates; and any person using an excess of water, is liable to the owner of such ditch or canal for the value of such excess; and in addition thereto, is liable for all damages sustained by any other person, who would have been entitled to the use of such excess water, as fixed by this section. Economical use is public policy: The duty of careful and economical use of water is one that by statute as well as public policy is imposed upon every water user. S. v. Twin Falls C. Co. (1911) 21 I. 410, 121 P. 1039, appeal dismissed 235 U. S. 690, 35 S. C. R. 205, 59 L. ed. 427.

Law a part of contracts: By reading this section into a water contract, the water user is entitled to receive the amount of water specified in his contract to the extent necessary to irrigate the crop or crops which he cultivates in accordance with the usages of good husbandry. He is not entitled to receive a greater amount than is necessary to irrigate his crops, nor in any event a greater amount than that specified in the contract. (On rehearing) S. v. Twin Falls etc. Co. (1916) 30 I. 41, 77, 166 P. 220.

Waste water: Where it is necessary in order sufficiently and economically to irrigate land to divert and apply more water than the soil will absorb, the excess so diverted is not waste within meaning of this and § 8529. What constitutes waste, as contemplated by these sections depends upon the circumstances of each case and is a question of fact. Beasley v. Engstrom (1917) 31 I. 14, 168 P. 1145.

§ 5641. [3294] Application to county commissioners. The county commissioners of each county now organized, and of each county to be hereafter organized in this state, shall, at their regular session in January of each year and at such other sessions as they in their discretion may deem proper, hear and consider all applications which may be made to them by any party or parties interested in either furnishing or delivering for compensation, or by any person or persons using or consuming, water for irrigation or other beneficial purpose or purposes from any ditch, canal or conduit, the whole or any part of which shall be in such county, which application shall be supported by such affidavit as the applicant or applicants may present, showing reasonable cause for such board of county commissioners to proceed to fix a maximum rate of compensation for water thereafter delivered from such ditch, canal or conduit within such county: Provided, That when any ditch, canal or conduit shall extend into two or more counties, the county commissioners of each of such counties shall fix the maximum rate for water used in that county. Rates fixed by contract: While the county commissioners are authorized, by this section, to fix water rates, the legislature has by § 5630 also authorized parties to enter into a contract with reference to the rate to be charged; and such contract when made, before the commissioners have established any rates, will be enforced. Jackson v. Indian Creek etc. Irr. Co. (1909) 16 I. 430, 101 P. 814.

Private contracts granting water rights at fixed prices entered into prior to act of March 7, 1895 ('95, p. 174), the first legislation providing for fixing rates, were not affected by such act or subsequent legislation. Boise City I. & L. Co. v. Turner (1905) 176 F. 373.

Change of rates: A rate once adjudged reasonable, must be presumed to have remained reasonable until such time as such rate is changed in conformity with the statute. Green v. Jones (1912) 22 I. 560, 126 P. 1051.

At any time after the expiration of one year from the time rates were established any party in interest may petition the board to fix a new rate. Ib.

§ 5642. [3295] Setting date for hearing. Every such board of county commissioners shall, upon examination of such affidavit or affidavits, or from the oaths of witnesses thereto, if they find that the facts sworn to show the application to be in good faith, and that there are reasonable grounds to believe that unjust rates of compensation are, or are likely to be, charged or demanded for water from such ditch, canal or conduit, enter an order fixing a day not sooner than 10 days thereafter, nor later than 20 days (a special meeting may be called for that purpose), when they will hear all parties interested in such water works aforesaid, or in procuring water therefrom, for any of the said purposes as well as all documentary or oral evidence or depositions taken according to law, touching said ditch or other water works aforesaid, and the cost of furnishing water therefrom. § 5643. [3296] Service of notice of hearing. At the time so fixed all persons interested as aforesaid, on either side of the controversy, in lands which may be irrigated by such ditch or other water works aforesaid, may appear by themselves or by their agents or attorneys, and said commissioners shall then proceed to take action in the matter of fixing such rates of compensation for the delivery of water: Provided, The applicant or applicants, if the application be made by a party or parties as aforesaid desirous of procuring water, shall, within 10 days from the time of entering the said order fixing the hearing, cause a copy of such order, duly certified, to be delivered to the owner or owners of such ditch, canal or conduit or to the president, secretary, or agent of the company, if it be owned by a corporation or association having such officers; if any such owner cannot be found, a copy shall be left at the usual place of business of the company of which he is such officer, or at his residence if such company have no place of business. And if such ditch or water works aforesaid shall be owned by several owners, not being an incorporated company, it shall be sufficient to serve such notice by delivering a copy to a majority of them. If the applicant be the owner or party controlling such ditch, canal or conduit, such notice shall be given by causing printed copies of such order in handbill form, in conspicuous type, to be posted securely in 10 or more places throughout the county and section watered by such ditch or other water works aforesaid, if the water be used for irrigation. The person or persons making such services or posting such printed copies shall make affidavit of the manner in which the same has been done, which affidavit shall be filed with the board of county commissioners. Depositions mentioned in the preceding section to be used before said commissioners shall be taken by any officer in the state authorized by law to take depositions, upon reasonable notice being given to the opposite party of the time and place of taking the same. § 5644. [3297] Conduct of hearing: Order: Appeal. Said board of commissioners may adjourn or postpone any hearing from time to time as may be found necessary; but when in session they shall hear and examine all legal testimony or proofs offered by any party interested as aforesaid, as well as concerning the original cost and present value of the works and structure of such ditch, canal or conduit, as well as the cost and expense of maintaining and operating the same, and all matters which may affect the establishment of reasonable maximum rates for water to be furnished and delivered therefrom, and they may issue subpoenas for witnesses, which subpoenas shall be served in the same manner in which subpoenas are served in civil cases; and said board may also issue subpoenas for the production of all books and papers required before them. The district court of the proper county, or the judge thereof in vacation, may, in case of refusal to obey the subpoenas of the board of county commissioners, compel obedience thereto, or punish for refusal to obey after hearing as in cases of attachment for contempt of such district court. Upon hearing and considering all the evidence and facts and matters involved in the case, said board of county commissioners shall enter an order describing the ditch, canal or conduit, or other water works in question, with sufficient certainty, and fixing a just and reasonable maximum rate of compensation for water thereafter delivered from such ditch or other water works as last aforesaid, within the county in which such commissioners act; and such rate shall not be changed within one year from the time when such rate shall be so fixed: Provided, That an appeal may be taken to the district court from any act, order or proceeding of the board by any person or corporation aggrieved thereby, as in other cases under the general statute of the state of Idaho, governing appeals from an order or proceeding of the board of county commissioners. Appeal: This section expressly confers jurisdiction upon the district court to hear appeals from orders of boards of county commissioners fixing water rates. Rust v. Stewart (1901) 7 I. 558, 64 P. 222.

The intent of this provision is that a water rate, once established, is to remain in force until the establishment of a new one in conformity with law. Green v. Jones (1912) 22 I. 560, 126 P. 1051.

§ 5645. [3298] Matters considered in fixing rate. In fixing the rates at which water shall be furnished, the board of commissioners shall take into consideration the cost of the works, the expense of keeping the same in repair, and all other conditions that affect the cost of delivering the same. Whenever it shall appear to the board of county commissioners from competent evidence that any consumer or consumers of water distributed through any ditch or canal, is entitled to the distribution or use of any water therefrom, at not to exceed a proportionate amount of the actual cost of maintenance and operation of said ditch or canal, they shall, upon request of such person or persons so entitled, fix the rate per cubic foot per second to be charged to such consumer or consumers for the current year. RIGHTS OF WAY.

§ 5646. [3299] Rights of land owners to water. All persons, companies and corporations owning or claiming any lands situated on the banks or in the vicinity of any stream, are entitled to the use of the waters of such stream for the purpose of irrigating the land so held or claimed. [R. S. § 3180.]

Riparian rights repudiated: In the dissenting opinion in Drake v. Earhart, supra, Justice Berry cited this section in support of the application of the doctrine of riparian rights to the irrigation law, but the majority of the court, without citing this section, declared in effect that the doctrine of riparian rights has no place in the jurisprudence of this state.

§ 5647. [3300] Right to right of way. When any such owners or claimants to land have not sufficient length of frontage on a stream to afford the requisite fall for a ditch, canal or other conduit on their own premises for the proper irrigation thereof, or where the land proposed to be irrigated is back from the banks of such stream, and convenient facilities otherwise for the watering of said lands cannot be had, such owners or claimants are entitled to a right of way through the lands of others, for the purposes of irrigation: Provided, That in the making, constructing, keeping up and maintenance of such ditch, canal or conduit, through the lands of others, the person, company or corporation, proceeding under this section, and those succeeding to the interests of such person, company or corporation, must keep such ditch, canal or other conduit in good repair, and are liable to the owners or claimants of the lands crossed by such work or aqueduct for all damages occasioned by the overflow thereof, or resulting from any neglect or accident (unless the same be unavoidable) to such ditch or aqueduct. [R. S. § 3181.]

§ 5648. [3301] Same. Where the owners of any spring, or the appropriators thereof, or of any stream, desire to conduct the waters thereof to any lands for purposes of irrigation, or to any city or town for the use of the inhabitants thereof, or to any factory, or to any distant place, with the intent to apply the same to a beneficial use, and to accomplish such object it is necessary to cross with ditches, flumes or other conduit, the lands owned or occupied by others than the owners or appropriators of such spring or stream, the right of way over and across the lands of others for conducting said water may be acquired in the manner above provided. [R. S. § 3185.]

§ 5649. [3302] Same: Over state lands. The right of way over and upon any and all lands owned or controlled by the state of Idaho is hereby granted to any and all persons for the purpose of constructing and maintaining any ditch, canal, conduit or other works for the diversion or carrying of water for any beneficial use: Provided, That no property shall be taken under the provisions of this section until a just compensation shall be paid therefor, to be ascertained in the manner prescribed by law for the taking of private property for a public use. Condemnation of state lands: This section, taken in conjunction with R. S. § 5212, authorizes an action in the district court to condemn state lands for a public use. Hollister v. State (1903) 9 I. 8, 71 P. 541.

A right of way over state land can only be acquired after just compensation shall be paid therefor, to be ascertained in the manner prescribed by law. Tobey v. Bridgewood (1912) 22 I. 566, 127 P. 172.

§ 5650. [3303] Right of way for riparian proprietors. All persons, companies and corporations owning or having the possessory title or right to lands adjacent to any stream, have the right to place in the channel or upon the banks or margin of the same, rams or other machines for the purpose of raising the waters thereof to a level above the banks, requisite for the flow thereof to and upon such adjacent lands; and the right of way over and across the lands of others, for conducting said waters, may be acquired in the manner prescribed in the following section. [R. C. § 3303.]

Nature of right: This section gives a mere license to use an appropriate method for raising water, but the method or means adopted does not attach as an appurtenance to the appropriation of the water as against other appropriators. Schodde v. Twin Falls L. & W. Co. 161 F. 43, 88 C. C. A. 207, aff. 224 U. S. 107, 56 L. ed. 686, 32 S. Ct. 470.

The license given by this section does not confer any power to appropriate, without reference to beneficial use, the entire volume of a river or its current, to the destruction of the rights of others to make appropriations of the unused water. Schodde v. Twin Falls L. & W. Co. (1912) 224 U. S. 107, 56 L. ed. 686, 31 S. Ct. 470, aff. 161 F. 43, 88 C. C. A. 207, 41 L. R. A. (N. S.) 101.

§ 5651. [3304] Right of eminent domain. In case of the refusal of the owners or claimants of any lands, through which any ditch, canal or conduit is proposed to be made or constructed, to allow passage thereof, the person or persons desiring the right of way may proceed as in the law of eminent domain. Whenever the owner or owners of any parcel or parcels of land desire to construct a drain for the purpose of carrying off surplus water, and they cannot agree among themselves or with the parties who own land below through which it is expedient to carry the drain in order to reach a natural waterway, then proceedings may be had in the same manner as in cases of eminent domain affecting irrigating works of diversion, and the right of way for such drains shall be regarded as equal to that of irrigation canals. § 5658. Bridges over ditches. All owners of any ditch, canal or conduit, or any other means for conveying water, shall build substantial bridges not less than 16 feet wide, and with boards not less than two inches in thickness (unless the same shall be on a county or state road, when such boards shall not be less than three inches thick), at all places where any county or state road crosses the same, or any road kept open and used by any neighborhood of people for their benefit and convenience. In case of neglect or refusal of such owners to build such bridges as above required, after a notice of 10 days being given by the said board of county commissioners of the proper county, said board shall proceed to the construction of the same, and shall collect the cost thereof together with the costs of suit: Provided, That after any bridge shall have been constructed across any ditch, canal or conduit on any county or state road in accordance with the provisions of this section, it shall thereafter be maintained at the public expense. § 5659. [3311] Repair of community ditches. Where a ditch is common property, or there is a common right to the use of the water of a ditch without payment therefor, and any labor or materials are necessary for the repair or cleaning of the ditch, or any gate or flume thereon or thereunto belonging, the water master of the district may make a fair pro rata assessment of labor or materials against the inhabitants of the district claiming the use of such water, according to the benefits received by each; and if any person so assessed neglects or refuses, for the period of three days after notice so to do from the water master or his deputy, to furnish his just proportion of the necessary labor or materials, according to such assessment, he must pay his pro rata in cash, to be recovered, with costs, in an action by the water master in his own name. CHAPTER 225.

UNIFORM SALES LAW.

Note: This act was recommended to the state for adoption by the conference of commissioners on uniform state laws in August, 1906. In 1918 it had been adopted by 19 jurisdictions in the United States.

Hist. The act was adopted in Idaho '19, c. 149, p. 443, effective Jan. 1, 1920, and is here given as adopted, a few minor changes due to clerical errors having been made to conform to the uniform draft.

A prior law on the subject of sales is found in R. C. §§ 3324-31, reen. C. L. §§ 3324-31, repealed by the law herein contained.

ARTICLE 1.

FORMATION OF THE CONTRACT.

§ 5673. Contracts to sell and sales. 1. A contract to sell goods is a contract whereby the seller agrees to transfer the property in goods to the buyer for a consideration called the price.

2. A sale of goods is an agreement whereby the seller transfers the property in goods to the buyer for a consideration called the price.

3. A contract to sell or a sale may be absolute or conditional.

4. There may be a contract to sell or a sale between one part owner and another. ['19, c. 149, § 1, p. 445.]

§ 5674. Capacity: Liabilities for necessaries. Capacity to buy and sell is regulated by the general law concerning capacity to contract, and to transfer and acquire property.

Where necessaries are sold and delivered to an infant, or to a person who by reason of mental incapacity or drunkenness is incompetent to contract, he must pay a reasonable price therefor.

Necessaries in this section mean goods suitable to the condition in life of such infant or other person, and to his actual requirements at the time of delivery. ['19, c. 149, § 2, p. 445.]

Formalities of the Contract.

§ 5675. Form of contract or sale. Subject to the provisions of this law and of any statute in that behalf, a contract to sell or a sale may be made in writing (either with or without seal), or by word of mouth, or partly in writing and partly by word of mouth, or may be inferred from the conduct of the parties. ['19, c. 149, § 3, p. 445.]

§ 5676. Statute of frauds. A contract to sell or a sale of any goods or choses in action of the value of $500 or upwards shall not be enforceable by action unless the buyer shall accept part of the goods or choses in action so contracted to be sold or sold, and actually receive the same, or give something in earnest to bind the contract, or in part payment, or unless some note or memorandum in writing of the contract or sale be signed by the party to be charged or his agent in that behalf.

2. The provisions of this section apply to every such contract or sale, notwithstanding that the goods may be intended to be delivered at some future time or may not at the time of such contract or sale be actually made, procured, or provided, or fit or ready for delivery, or some act may be requisite for the making or completing thereof, or rendering the same fit for delivery; but if the goods are to be manufactured by the seller especially for the buyer and are not suitable for sale to others in the ordinary course of the seller's business, the provisions of this section shall not apply.

3. There is an acceptance of goods within the meaning of this section when the buyer, either before or after delivery of the goods, expresses by words or conduct his assent to becoming the owner of those specific goods. ['19, c. 149, § 4, p. 445.]

Subject Matter of Contract.

§ 5677. Existing and future goods. 1. The goods which form the subject of a contract to sell may be either goods, owned or possessed by the seller, or goods to be manufactured or acquired by the seller after the making of the contract to sell, in this law called "future goods."

2. There may be a contract to sell goods, the acquisition of which by the seller depends upon a contingency which may or may not happen.

3. Where the parties purport to effect a present sale of future goods, the agreement operates as a contract to sell the goods. ['19, c. 149, § 5, p. 446.]

§ 5678. Undivided shares. 1. There may be a contract to sell or a sale of an undivided share of goods. If the parties intend to effect a present sale, the buyer by force of the agreement, becomes an owner in common with the owner or owners of the remaining shares.

2. In the case of fungible goods, there may be a sale of an undivided share of a specific mass, though the seller purports to sell and the buyer to buy a definite number, weight or measure of the goods in the mass, and though the number, weight or measure of the goods in the mass is undetermined. By such a sale the buyer becomes owner in common of such a share of the mass as the number, weight or measure bought bears to the number, weight or measure of the mass. If the mass contains less than the number, weight or measure bought, the buyer becomes the owner of the whole mass and the seller is bound to make good the deficiency from similar goods unless a contrary intent appears. ['19, c. 149, § 6, p. 446.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Property does not pass until goods are ascertained: § 5689.

§ 5679. Destruction of goods sold. 1. Where the parties purport to sell specific goods, and the goods without the knowledge of the seller have wholly perished at the time when the agreement is made, the agreement is void.

2. Where the parties purport to sell specific goods, and the goods without the knowledge of the seller have perished in part or have wholly or in a material part so deteriorated in quality as to be substantially changed in character, the buyer may at his option treat the sale—

a. As avoided, or

b. As transferring the property in all of the existing goods or in so much thereof as have not deteriorated, and as binding the buyer to pay the full agreed price if the sale was indivisible, or to pay the agreed price for the goods in which the property passes if the sale was divisible. ['19, c. 149, § 7, p. 447.]

§ 5680. Destruction of goods contracted to be sold. 1. Where there is a contract to sell specific goods, and subsequently, but before the risk passes to the buyer, without any fault on the part of the seller or the buyer, the goods wholly perish, the contract is thereby avoided.

2. Where there is a contract to sell specific goods, and subsequently, but before the risk passes to the buyer, without any fault of the seller or the buyer, part of the goods perish or the whole or material part of the goods so deteriorate in quality as to be substantially changed in character, the buyer may at his option treat the contract,—

a. As avoided, or

b. As binding the seller to transfer the property in all of the existing goods or in so much thereof as have not deteriorated, and as binding the buyer to pay the full agreed price if the contract was indivisible, or to pay the agreed price for so much of the goods as the seller, by the buyer's option, is bound to transfer if the contract was divisible. ['19, c. 149, § 8, p. 447.]

The Price.

§ 5681. Definition and ascertainment of price. 1. The price may be fixed by the contract, or may be left to be fixed in such manner as may be agreed, or it may be determined by the course of dealing between the parties.

2. The price may be made payable in any personal property.

3. Where transferring or promising to transfer any interest in real estate constitutes the whole or part of the consideration for transferring or for promising to transfer the property in goods, this law shall not apply.

4. Where the price is not determined in accordance with the foregoing provisions the buyer must pay a reasonable price. What is a reasonable price is a question of fact dependent on the circumstances of each particular case. ['19, c. 149, § 9, p. 447.]

§ 5682. Sale at a valuation. 1. Where there is a contract to sell or a sale of goods at a price or on terms to be fixed by a third person, and such third person without fault of the seller or the buyer, cannot or does not fix the price or terms, the contract or the sale is thereby avoided; but if the goods or any part thereof have been delivered to and appropriated by the buyer he must pay a reasonable price therefor.

2. Where such third person is prevented from fixing the price or terms by fault of the seller or the buyer, the party not in fault may have such remedies against the party in fault as are allowed by articles 4 and 5 of this chapter. ['19, c. 149, § 10, p. 448.]

Conditions and Warranties.

§ 5683. Effect of conditions. 1. Where the obligation of either party to a contract to sell or a sale is subject to any condition which is not performed, such party may refuse to proceed with the contract or sale or he may waive performance of the condition. If the other party has promised that the condition should happen or be performed, such first mentioned party may also treat the nonperformance of the condition as a breach of warranty.

2. Where the property in the goods has not passed, the buyer may treat the fulfillment by the seller of his obligation to furnish goods as described and as warranted expressly or by implication in the contract to sell as a condition of the obligation of the buyer to perform his promise to accept and pay for the goods. ['19, c. 149, § 11, p. 448.]

§ 5684. Definition of express warranty. Any affirmation of fact or any promise by the seller relating to the goods is an express warranty if the natural tendency of such affirmation or promise is to induce the buyer to purchase the goods, and if the buyer purchases the goods relying thereon. No affirmation of the value of the goods, nor any statement purporting to be a statement of the seller's opinion only shall be construed as a warranty. ['19, c. 149, § 12, p. 448.]

§ 5685. Implied warranties of title. In a contract to sell or a sale, unless a contrary intention appears, there is:

1. An implied warranty on the part of the seller that in case of a sale he has a right to sell the goods, and that in case of a contract to sell he will have a right to sell the goods at the time when the property is to pass.

2. An implied warranty that the buyer shall have and enjoy quiet possession of the goods as against any lawful claims existing at the time of the sale.

3. An implied warranty that the goods shall be free at the time of the sale from any charge or encumbrance in favor of any third person, not declared or known to the buyer before or at the time when the contract or sale is made.

4. This section shall not, however, be held to render liable a sheriff, auctioneer, mortgagee, or other person professing to sell by virtue of authority in fact or law goods in which a third person has a legal or equitable interest. ['19, c. 149, § 13, p. 449.]

§ 5686. Implied warranty in sale by description. Where there is a contract to sell or a sale of goods by description there is an implied warranty that the goods shall correspond with the description and if the contract or sale be by sample, as well as by description, it is not sufficient that the bulk of the goods corresponds with the sample if the goods do not also correspond with the description. ['19, c. 149, § 14, p. 449.]

§ 5687. Implied warranties of quality. Subject to the provisions of this law and of any statute in that behalf, there is no implied warranty or condition as to the quality or fitness for any particular purpose of goods supplied under a contract to sell or a sale, except as follows:

1. Where the buyer, expressly or by implication, makes known to the seller the particular purpose for which the goods are required, and it appears that the buyer relies on the seller's skill or judgment (whether he be the grower or manufacturer or not), there is an implied warranty that the goods shall be reasonably fit for such purpose.
2. Where the goods are bought by description from a seller who deals in goods of that description (whether he be the grower or manufacturer or not), there is an implied warranty that the goods shall be of merchantable quality.
3. If the buyer has examined the goods, there is no implied warranty as regards defects which such examination ought to have revealed.
4. In the case of a contract to sell or a sale of a specified article under its patent or other trade name, there is no implied warranty as to its fitness for any particular purpose.
5. An implied warranty or condition as to quality or fitness for a particular purpose may be annexed by the usage of trade.
6. An express warranty or condition does not negative a warranty or condition implied under this law unless inconsistent therewith. ['19, c. 149, § 15, p. 449.]

Sale by Sample.

§ 5688. Implied warranties in sale by sample. In the case of a contract to sell or a sale by sample:
1. There is an implied warranty that the bulk shall correspond with the sample in quality.
2. There is an implied warranty that the buyer shall have a reasonable opportunity of comparing the bulk with the sample, except so far as otherwise provided in section 5719, paragraph 3.
3. If the seller is a dealer in goods of that kind, there is an implied warranty that the goods shall be free from any defect rendering them unmerchantable which would not be apparent on reasonable examination of the sample. ['19, c. 149, § 16, p. 450.]

Sale by sample: (This citation was to C. L. § 3325) If the goods furnished are not up to the standard of sample the purchaser must use reasonable diligence in apprising the vendor, and make his objection and refuse to accept further goods of the kind. ARTICLE 2.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY AS BETWEEN SELLER AND BUYER.

§ 5689. No property passes until goods are ascertained. Where there is a contract to sell unascertained goods no property in the goods is transferred to the buyer unless and until the goods are ascertained, but property in an undivided share of ascertained goods may be transferred as provided in section 5678. ['19, c. 149, § 17, p. 450.]

§ 5690. Property in specific goods passes when parties so intend.
1. Where there is a contract to sell specific or ascertained goods, the property in them is transferred to the buyer at such time as the parties to the contract intend it to be transferred.
2. For the purpose of ascertaining the intention of the parties, regard shall be had to the terms of the contract, the conduct of the parties, usages of trade and the circumstances of the case. ['19, c. 149, § 18, p. 450.]

§ 5691. Rules for ascertaining intention. Unless a different intention appears, the following are rules for ascertaining the intention of the parties as to the time at which the property in the goods is to pass to the buyer.

Rule 1. Where there is an unconditional contract to sell specific goods, in a deliverable state, the property in the goods passes to the buyer when the contract is made and it is immaterial whether the time of payment, or the time of delivery, or both, be postponed.

Rule 2. Where there is a contract to sell specific goods and the seller is bound to do something to the goods, for the purpose of putting them into a deliverable state, the property does not pass until such thing be done.

Rule 3. 1. When goods are delivered to the buyer "on sale or return," or on other terms indicating an intention to make a present sale, but to give the buyer an option to return the goods instead of paying the price, the property passes to the buyer on delivery, but he may revest the property in the seller by returning or tendering the goods within the time fixed in the contract, or, if no time has been fixed, within a reasonable time.

2. When goods are delivered to the buyer on approval or on trial or on satisfaction, or other similar terms, the property therein passes to the buyer:

a. When he signifies his approval or acceptance to the seller or does any other act adopting the transaction.

b. If he does not signify his approval or acceptance to the seller, but retains the goods without giving notice of rejection, then if a time has been fixed for the return of the goods, on the expiration of such time, and, if no time has been fixed, on the expiration of a reasonable time. What is a reasonable time is a question of fact.

Rule 4. 1. Where there is a contract to sell unascertained or future goods by description, and goods of that description and in a deliverable state are unconditionally appropriated to the contract, either by the seller with the assent of the buyer, or by the buyer with the assent of the seller, the property in the goods thereupon passes to the buyer. Such assent may be expressed or implied, and may be given either before or after the appropriation is made.

2. Where, in pursuance of a contract to sell, the seller delivers the goods to the buyer, or to a carrier or other bailee (whether named by the buyer or not) for the purpose of transmission to or holding for the buyer, he is presumed to have unconditionally appropriated the goods to the contract, except in the cases provided for in the next rule and in section 5692. This presumption is applicable, although by the terms of the contract, the buyer is to pay the price before receiving delivery of the goods, and the goods are marked with the words "collect on delivery" or their equivalents.

Rule 5. If the contract to sell requires the seller to deliver the goods to the buyer, or at a particular place, or to pay the freight or cost of transportation to the buyer, or to a particular place, the property does not pass until the goods have been delivered to the buyer or reached the place agreed upon. ['19, c. 149, § 19, p. 451.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Delivery to carrier on behalf of buyer: § 5718.

§ 5692. Reservation of right of possession or property when goods are shipped. 1. Where there is a contract to sell specific goods, or where goods are subsequently appropriated to the contract, the seller may, by the terms of the contract or appropriation, reserve the right of possession or property in the goods until certain conditions have been fulfilled. The right of possession or property may be thus reserved notwithstanding the delivery of the goods to the buyer or to a carrier or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer.

2. Where goods are shipped, and by the bill of lading the goods are deliverable to the seller or his agent, or to the order of the seller or of his agent, the seller thereby reserves the property in the goods. But if, except for the form of the bill of lading, the property would have passed to the buyer on shipment of the goods, the seller's property in the goods shall be deemed to be only for the purpose of securing performance by the buyer of his obligations under the contract.

3. Where goods are shipped, and by the bill of lading the goods are deliverable to the order of the buyer or of his agent, but possession of the bill of lading is retained by the seller or his agent, the seller thereby reserves a right to the possession of the goods as against the buyer.

4. Where the seller of goods draws on the buyer for the price and transmits the bill of exchange and bill of lading together to the buyer to secure acceptance or payment of the bill of exchange, the buyer is bound to return the bill of lading if he does not honor the bill of exchange, and if he wrongfully retains the bill of lading, he acquires no added right thereby. If, however, the bill of lading provides that the goods are deliverable to the buyer or to the order of the buyer, or is indorsed in blank, or to the buyer by the consignee named therein, one who purchases in good faith, for value, the bill of lading, or goods from the buyer will obtain the property in the goods, although the bill of exchange has not been honored, provided that such purchaser has received delivery of the bill of lading indorsed by the consignee named therein, or of the goods without notice of the facts making the transfer wrongful. ['19, c. 149, § 20, p. 452.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Rules for ascertaining intention: § 5691.

§ 5693. Sale by auction. In case of sale by auction:

1. Where goods are put up for sale by auction in lots, each lot is the subject of a separate contract of sale.

2. A sale by auction is complete when the auctioneer announces its completion by the fall of the hammer, or in other customary manner. Until such announcement is made, any bidder may retract his bid; and the auctioneer may withdraw the goods from sale unless the auction has been announced to be without reserve.

3. A right to bid may be reserved expressly by or on behalf of the seller.

4. Where notice has not been given that a sale by auction is subject to a right to bid on behalf of the seller, it shall not be lawful for the seller to bid himself or to employ or induce any person to bid at such sale on his behalf, or for the auctioneer to employ or induce any person to bid at such sale on behalf of the seller or knowingly to take any bid from the seller or any person employed by him. Any sale contravening this rule may be treated as fraudulent by the buyer. ['19, c. 149, § 21, p. 453.]

§ 5694. Risk of loss. Unless otherwise agreed, the goods remain at the seller's risk until the property therein is transferred to the buyer, but when the property therein is transferred to the buyer the goods are at the buyer's risk whether delivery has been made or not, except that:

1. Where delivery of the goods has been made to the buyer, or to a bailee for the buyer, in pursuance of the contract and the property in the goods has been retained by the seller merely to secure performance by the buyer of his obligations under the contract, the goods are at the buyer's risk from the time of such delivery.

2. Where delivery has been delayed through the fault of either buyer or seller the goods are at the risk of the party in fault as regards any loss which might not have occurred but for such fault. ['19, c. 149, § 22, p. 453.]

Transfer of Title.

§ 5695. Sale by a person not the owner. 1. Subject to the provisions of this law, where goods are sold by a person who is not the owner thereof, and who does not sell them under the authority or with the consent of the owner, the buyer acquires no better title to the goods than the seller had, unless the owner of the goods is by his conduct precluded from denying the seller's authority to sell.

2. Nothing in this law, however, shall affect:

a. The provisions of any factors' acts, recording acts, of [or] any enactment enabling the apparent owner of goods to dispose of them as if he were the true owner thereof.

b. The validity of any contract to sell or sale under any special common law or statutory power of sale or under the order of a court of competent jurisdiction. ['19, c. 149, § 23, p. 454.]

Hist. Bracketed word inserted to correct to original draft of uniform law.

§ 5696. Sale by one having a voidable title. Where the seller of goods has a voidable title thereto, but his title has not been avoided at the time of the sale, the buyer acquires a good title to the goods, provided he buys them in good faith, for value, and without notice of the seller's defect of title. ['19, c. 149, § 24, p. 454.]

§ 5697. Sale by seller in possession of goods already sold. Where a person having sold goods continues in possession of the goods, or of negotiable documents of title to the goods, the delivery or transfer by that person, or by an agent acting for him, of the goods or documents of title under any sale, pledge, or other disposition thereof, to any person receiving and paying value for the same in good faith and without notice of the previous sale, shall have the same effect as if the person making the delivery or transfer were expressly authorized by the owner of the goods to make the same. ['19, c. 149, § 25, p. 454.]

§ 5698. Creditors' rights against sold goods in sellers' possession. Where a person having sold goods continues in possession of the goods, or of negotiable documents of title to the goods and such retention of possession is fraudulent in fact or is deemed fraudulent under any rule of law, a creditor or creditors of the seller may treat the sale as void. ['19, c. 149, § 26, p. 454.]

§ 5699. Definition of negotiable documents of title. A document of title in which it is stated that the goods referred to therein will be delivered to the bearer, or to the order of any person named in such document is a negotiable document of title. ['19, c. 149, § 27, p. 455.]

§ 5700. Negotiation of negotiable documents by delivery. A negotiable document of title may be negotiated by delivery:

1. Where by the terms of the document the carrier, warehouseman or other bailee issuing the same undertakes to deliver the goods to the bearer, or order of a specified person, and such person or a subsequent indorsee of the document has indorsed it in blank or to a bearer.

Where by the terms of a negotiable document of title the goods are deliverable to bearer or where a negotiable document of title has been indorsed in blank or to bearer, any holder may indorse the same to himself or to any other specified person, and in such case the document shall thereafter be negotiated only by the indorsement of such indorsee. ['19, c. 149, § 28, p. 455.]

§ 5701. Negotiation of negotiable documents by indorsement. A negotiable document of title may be negotiated by the indorsement of the person to whose order the goods are by the terms of the document deliverable. Such indorsement may be in blank, to bearer or to a specified person. If indorsed to a specified person, it may be again negotiated by the indorsement of such person in blank, to bearer or to another specified person. Subsequent negotiation may be made in like manner. ['19, c. 149, § 29, p. 455.]

§ 5702. Negotiable documents of title marked "not negotiable." If a document of title which contains an undertaking by a carrier, warehouseman or other bailee to deliver the goods to the bearer, to a specified person or order, or to the order of a specified person, or which contains words of like import, has placed upon it the words "not negotiable," "nonnegotiable" or the like, such a document may nevertheless be negotiated by the holder and is a negotiable document of title within the meaning of this law. But nothing in this law contained shall be construed as limiting or defining the effect upon the obligations of the carrier, warehouseman, or other bailee issuing a document of title of placing thereon the words "not negotiable," "nonnegotiable," or the like. ['19, c. 149, § 30, p. 455.]

§ 5704. Who may negotiate a document. A negotiable document of title may be negotiated:

1. By the owner thereof, or
2. By any person to whom the possession or custody of the document has been intrusted by the owner, if, by the terms of the document the bailee issuing the document undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of the person to whom the possession or custody of the document has been intrusted, or if at the time of such intrusting the document is in such form that it may be negotiated by delivery. ['19, c. 149, § 32, p. 456.]

Hist. "The" substituted for "of" before "bailee" to correct to uniform bill.

§ 5705. Rights of persons to whom document has been negotiated. A person to whom a negotiable document of title has been duly negotiated acquires thereby:

1. Such title to the goods as the person negotiating the document to him had or had ability to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value and also such title to the goods as the person to whose order the goods were to be delivered by the terms of the document had or had ability to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value, and
2. The direct obligation of the bailee issuing the document to hold possession of the goods for him according to the terms of the document as fully as if such bailee had contracted directly with him. ['19, c. 149, § 33, p. 456.]

§ 5706. Rights of persons to whom document has been transferred. A person to whom a document of title has been transferred, but not negotiated, acquires thereby, as against the transferor, the title to the goods, subject to the terms of any agreement with the transferor.

If the document is nonnegotiable, such person also acquires the right to notify the bailee who issued the document of the transfer thereof, and thereby to acquire the direct obligation of such bailee to hold possession of the goods for him according to the terms of the document.

Prior to the notification of such bailee by the transferor or transferee of a nonnegotiable document of title, the title of the transferee to the goods and the right to acquire the obligation of such bailee may be defeated by the levy of an attachment or execution upon the goods by a creditor of the transferor, or by a notification to such bailee by the transferor or a subsequent purchaser from the transferor of a subsequent sale of the goods by the transferor. ['19, c. 149, § 34, p. 456.]

§ 5708. Warranties on sale of document. A person who for value negotiates or transfers a document of title by indorsement or delivery, including one who assigns for value a claim secured by a document of title unless a contrary intention appears, warrants:

1. That the document is genuine.
2. That he has a legal right to negotiate or transfer it.
3. That he has knowledge of no fact which would impair the validity or worth of the document, and

§ 5709. Indorser not a guarantor. The indorsement of a document of title shall not make the indorser liable for any failure on the part of the bailee who issued the document or previous indorsers thereof to fulfill their respective obligations. ['19, c. 149, § 37, p. 457.]

§ 5710. When negotiation not impaired by fraud, mistake or duress. The validity of a negotiation of a negotiable document of title is not impaired by the fact that the negotiation was a breach of duty on the part of the person making the negotiation, or by the fact that the owner of the document was induced by fraud, mistake or duress to intrust the possession or custody thereof to such person, if the person to whom the document was negotiated or a person to whom the document was subsequently negotiated paid value therefor, without notice of the breach of duty, or fraud, mistake or duress. ['19, c. 149, § 38, p. 457.]

chaser in good faith for value would bind the owner and a negotiable document of title is issued for them they can not thereafter, while in the possession of such bailee, be attached by garnishment or otherwise or be levied upon under an execution unless the document be first surrendered to the bailee or its negotiation enjoined. The bailee shall in no case be compelled to deliver up the actual possession of the goods until the document is surrendered to him or impounded by the court. ['19, c. 149, § 39, p. 458.]

§ 5712. Creditors' remedies to reach negotiable documents. A creditor whose debtor is the owner of a negotiable document of title shall be entitled to such aid from courts of appropriate jurisdiction by injunction and otherwise in attaching such document or in satisfying the claim by means thereof as is allowed by law or in equity in regard to property which cannot readily be attached or levied upon by ordinary legal process. ['19, c. 149, § 40, p. 458.]

ARTICLE 3.

PERFORMANCE OF THE CONTRACT.

§ 5713. Seller must deliver and buyer accept goods. It is the duty of the seller to deliver the goods, and of the buyer to accept and pay for them, in accordance with the terms of the contract to sell or sale. ['19, c. 149, § 41, p. 458.]

§ 5714. Delivery and payment are concurrent conditions. Unless otherwise agreed, delivery of the goods and payment of the price are concurrent conditions; that is to say, the seller must be ready and willing to give possession of the goods to the buyer in exchange for the price and the buyer must be ready and willing to pay the price in exchange for possession of the goods. ['19, c. 149, § 42, p. 458.]

§ 5715. Place, time and manner of delivery. 1. Whether it is for the buyer to take possession of the goods or for the seller to send them to the buyer is a question depending in each case on the contract, express or implied, between the parties. Apart from any such contract expressed or implied, or usage of trade to the contrary, the place of delivery is the seller's place of business if he have one, and if not his residence; but in case of a contract to sell or a sale of specific goods, which to the knowledge of the parties when the contract or the sale was made were in some other place, then that place is the place of delivery.

2. Where by a contract to sell or a sale the seller is bound to send the goods to the buyer, but no time for sending them is fixed, the seller is bound to send them within a reasonable time.

3. Where the goods at the time of the sale are in possession of a third person, the seller has not fulfilled his obligation to deliver to the buyer unless and until such third person acknowledges to the buyer that he holds the goods on the buyer's behalf; but as against all others than the seller the buyer shall be regarded as having received delivery from the time when such third person first has notice of the sale. Nothing in this section, however, shall affect the operation of the issue or transfer of any document of title to goods.

4. Demand or tender of delivery may be treated as ineffectual unless made at a reasonable hour. What is a reasonable hour is a question of fact.

5. Unless otherwise agreed, the expenses of and incidental to putting the goods into a deliverable state must be borne by the seller. ['19, c. 149, § 43, p. 458.]

§ 5716. Delivery of wrong quantity. 1. Where the seller delivers to the buyer a quantity of goods less than he contracted to sell, the buyer may reject them, but if the buyer accepts or retains the goods so delivered, knowing that the seller is not going to perform the contract in full, he must pay for them at the contract rate. If, however, the buyer has used or disposed of the goods delivered before he knows that the seller is not going to perform his contract in full, the buyer shall not be liable for more than the fair value to him of the goods so received.

2. Where the seller delivers to the buyer a quantity of goods larger than he contracted to sell, the buyer may accept the goods included in the contract and reject the rest or he may reject the whole. If the buyer accepts the whole of the goods so delivered he must pay for them at the contract rate.

3. Where the seller delivers to the buyer the goods he contracted to sell mixed with goods of a different description not included in the contract, the buyer may accept the goods which are in accordance with the contract and reject the rest, or he may reject the whole.

4. The provisions of this section are subject to any usage of trade, special agreement, or course of dealing between the parties. ['19, c. 149, § 44, p. 459.]

§ 5717. Delivery in instalments. 1. Unless otherwise agreed, the buyer of goods is not bound to accept delivery thereof by instalments.

2. Where there is a contract to sell goods to be delivered by stated instalments, which are to be separately paid for, and the seller makes defective deliveries in respect of one or more instalments, or the buyer neglects or refuses to take delivery of or pay for one or more instalments, it depends in each case on the terms of the contract and the circumstances of the case, whether the breach of contract is so material as to justify the injured party in refusing to proceed further and suing for damages for breach of the entire contract, or whether the breach is severable, giving rise to a claim for compensation, but not to a right to treat the whole contract as broken. ['19, c. 149, § 45, p. 460.]

§ 5718. Delivery to a carrier on behalf of the buyer. 1. Where, in pursuance of a contract to sell or a sale, the seller is authorized or required to send the goods to the buyer, delivery of the goods to a carrier, whether named by the buyer or not, for the purpose of transmission to the buyer is deemed to be a delivery of the goods to the buyer, except in the cases provided for in section 5691, rule 5, or unless a contrary intent appears.

2. Unless otherwise authorized by the buyer, the seller must make such contract with the carrier on behalf of the buyer as may be reasonable having regard to the nature of the goods and the other circumstances of the case. If the seller omit so to do, and the goods are lost or damaged in course of transit, the buyer may decline to treat the delivery to the carrier as a delivery to himself, or may hold the seller responsible in damages.

3. Unless otherwise agreed, where goods are sent by the seller to the buyer under circumstances in which the seller knows or ought to know that it is usual to insure, the seller must give such notice to the buyer as may enable him to insure them during their transit, and, if the seller fails to do so, the goods shall be deemed to be at his risk during such transit. ['19, c. 149, § 46, p. 460.]

§ 5719. Right to examine the goods. 1. Where goods are delivered to the buyer, which he has not previously examined, he is not deemed to have accepted them unless and until he has had a reasonable opportunity of examining them for the purpose of ascertaining whether they are in conformity with the contract.

2. Unless otherwise agreed, when the seller tenders delivery of goods to the buyer, he is bound, on request, to afford the buyer a reasonable opportunity of examining the goods for the purpose of ascertaining whether they are in conformity with the contract.

3. Where goods are delivered to a carrier by the seller, in accordance with an order from or agreement with the buyer, upon the terms that the goods shall not be delivered by the carrier to the buyer until he has paid the price, whether such terms are indicated by marking the goods with the words "collect on delivery," or otherwise, the buyer is not entitled to examine the goods before payment of the price in the absence of agreement permitting such examination. ['19, c. 149, § 47, p. 461.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Implied warranties in sale by sample: § 5688.

§ 5720. What constitutes acceptance. The buyer is deemed to have accepted the goods when he intimates to the seller that he has accepted them, or when the goods have been delivered to him, and he does any act in relation to them which is inconsistent with the ownership of the seller, or when, after the lapse of a reasonable time, he retains the goods without intimating to the seller that he has rejected them. ['19, c. 149, § 48, p. 461.]

§ 5721. Acceptance does not bar action for damages. In the absence of express or implied agreement of the parties, acceptance of the goods by the buyer shall not discharge the seller from liability in damages or other legal remedy for breach of any promise or warranty in the contract to sell or the sale. But, if after acceptance of the goods, the buyer fail to give notice to the seller of the breach of any promise or warranty within a reasonable time after the buyer knows, or ought to know such breach, the seller shall not be liable therefor. ['19, c. 149, § 49, p. 461.]

§ 5722. Buyer is not bound to return goods wrongfully delivered. Unless otherwise agreed, where goods are delivered to the buyer, and he refuses to accept them, having the right so to do, he is not bound to return them to the seller, but it is sufficient if he notifies the seller that he refuses to accept them. ['19, c. 149, § 50, p. 461.]

§ 5723. Buyer's liability for failing to accept delivery. When the seller is ready and willing to deliver the goods, and requests the buyer to take delivery, and the buyer does not within a reasonable time after such request take delivery of the goods, he is liable to the seller for any loss occasioned by his neglect or refusal to take delivery, and also for a reasonable charge for the care and custody of the goods. If the neglect or the refusal of the buyer to take delivery amounts to a repudiation or breach of the entire contract, the seller shall have the right against the goods and on the contract hereinafter provided in favor of the seller when the buyer is in default. ['19, c. 149, § 51, p. 462.]

ARTICLE 4.

RIGHTS OF UNPAID SELLER AGAINST THE GOODS.

Cross ref. Express reference to this article: Sale at a valuation: § 5682.

§ 5724. Definition of unpaid seller. 1. The seller of goods is deemed to be an unpaid seller within the meaning of this law:

a. When the whole of the price has not been paid or tendered.

b. When a bill of exchange or other negotiable instrument has been received as conditional payment, and the condition on which it was received has been broken by reason of the dishonor of the instrument, the insolvency of the buyer, or otherwise.

2. In this part of this law the term "seller" includes an agent of the seller to whom the bill of lading has been indorsed, or a consignor or agent who has himself paid, or is directly responsible for, the price, or any other person who is in the position of a seller. ['19, c. 149, § 52, p. 462.]

§ 5725. Remedies of an unpaid seller. 1. Subject to the provisions of this law, notwithstanding that the property in the goods may have passed to the buyer, the unpaid seller of goods, as such, has:

a. A lien on the goods or right to retain them for the price while he is in possession of them.

b. In case of the insolvency of the buyer, a right of stopping the goods in transitu after he has parted with the possession of them.

c. A right of resale as limited by this law.

d. A right to rescind the sale as limited by this law.

2. Where the property in goods has not passed to the buyer, the unpaid seller has, in addition to his other remedies, a right of withholding delivery similar to and coextensive with his rights of lien and stoppage in transitu where the property has passed to the buyer. ['19, c. 149, § 53, p. 462.]

Unpaid Seller's Lien.

§ 5726. When right of lien may be exercised. 1. Subject to the provisions of this law, the unpaid seller of goods who is in possession of them is entitled to retain possession of them until payment or tender of the price in the following cases, namely:

a. Where the goods have been sold without any stipulation as to credit.

b. Where the goods have been sold on credit, but the term of credit has expired.

c. Where the buyer becomes insolvent.

2. The seller may exercise his right of lien notwithstanding that he is in possession of the goods as agent or bailee for the buyer. ['19, c. 149, § 54, p. 463.]

§ 5727. Lien after part delivery. Where an unpaid seller has made part delivery of the goods, he may exercise his right of lien on the remainder, unless such part delivery has been made under such circumstances as to show an intent to waive the lien or right of retention. ['19, c. 149, § 55, p. 463.]

§ 5728. When lien is lost. 1. The unpaid seller of goods loses his lien thereon:

a. When he delivers the goods to a carrier or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer without reserving the property in the goods or the right to the possession thereof.

b. When the buyer or his agent lawfully obtains possession of the goods.

c. By waiver thereof.

2. The unpaid seller of goods, having a lien thereon, does not lose his lien by reason only that he has obtained judgment or decree for the price of the goods. ['19, c. 149, § 56, p. 463.]

Stoppage in Transitu.

§ 5729. Seller may stop goods on buyer's insolvency. Subject to the provisions of this law, when the buyer of goods is or becomes insolvent, the unpaid seller who has parted with the possession of the goods has the right of stopping them in transitu, that is to say, he may resume possession of the goods at any time while they are in transit, and he will then become entitled to the same rights in regard to the goods as he would have had if he had never parted with the possession. ['19, c. 149, § 57, p. 463.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: When goods are in transit: § 5730.

§ 5730. When goods are in transit. 1. Goods are in transit within the meaning of section 5729:

a. From the time when they are delivered to a carrier by land or water, or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer, until the buyer, or his agent in that behalf, takes delivery of them from such carrier or other bailee.

b. If the goods are rejected by the buyer, and the carrier or other bailee continues in possession of them, even if the seller has refused to receive them back.

2. Goods are not longer in transit within the meaning of section 5729.

a. If the buyer, or his agent in that behalf, obtains delivery of the goods before their arrival at the appointed destination.

b. If, after the arrival of the goods at the appointed destination, the carrier or other bailee acknowledges to the buyer or his agent that he holds the goods on his behalf and continues in possession of them as bailee for the buyer or his agent; and it is immaterial that a further destination for the goods may have been indicated by the buyer.

c. If the carrier or other bailee wrongfully refuses to deliver the goods to the buyer or his agent in that behalf.

3. If goods are delivered to a ship chartered by the buyer, it is a question depending on the circumstances of the particular case, whether they are in the possession of the master as a carrier or as agent of the buyer.

4. If part delivery of the goods has been made to the buyer, or his agent in that behalf, the remainder of the goods may be stopped in transitu, unless such part delivery has been made under such circumstances as to show an agreement with the buyer to give up possession of the whole of the goods. ['19, c. 149, § 58, p. 464.]

§ 5731. Ways of exercising the right to stop. 1. The unpaid seller may exercise his right of stoppage in transitu either by obtaining actual possession of the goods or by giving notice of claim to the carrier or other bailee in whose possession the goods are. Such notice may be given either to the person in actual possession of the goods or to his principal. In the latter case, the notice, to be effectual, must be given at such time and under such circumstances that the principal, by the exercise of reasonable diligence may prevent a delivery to the buyer.

2. When notice of stoppage in transitu is given by the seller to the carrier, or other bailee in possession of the goods, he must redeliver the goods to, or according to the directions of, the seller. The expenses of such delivery must be borne by the seller. If, however, a negotiable document of title representing the goods has been issued by the carrier or other bailee, he shall not be obliged to deliver or justified in delivering the goods to the seller unless such document is first surrendered for cancellation. ['19, c. 149, § 59, p. 464.]

Resale by the Seller.

§ 5732. When and how resale may be made. 1. Where the goods are of a perishable nature, or where the seller expressly reserves the right of resale in case the buyer should make default, or where the buyer has been in default in the payment of the price an unreasonable time, an unpaid seller having a right of lien or having stopped the goods in transitu may resell the goods. He shall not thereafter be liable to the original buyer upon the contract to sell or the sale or for any profit made by such resale, but may recover from the buyer damages for any loss occasioned by the breach of the contract or the sale.

2. Where a resale is made, as authorized in this section, the buyer acquires a good title as against the original buyer.

3. It is not essential to the validity of a resale that notice of an intention to recall the goods be given by the seller to the original buyer. But where the right to resell is not based on the perishable nature of the goods or upon an express provision of the contract or the sale, the giving or failure to give such notice shall be relevant in any issue involving the question whether the buyer had been in default an unreasonable time before the resale was made.

4. It is not essential to the validity of a resale that notice of the time and place of such resale should be given by the seller to the original buyer.

5. The seller is bound to exercise reasonable care and judgment in making a resale, and subject to this requirement may make a resale either by public or private sale. ['19, c. 149, § 60, p. 465.]

Rescission by the Seller.

§ 5733. When and how the seller may rescind the sale. 1. An unpaid seller having a right of lien or having stopped the goods in transitu, may rescind the transfer of title and resume the property in the goods, where he expressly reserved the right to do so in case the buyer should make default, or where the buyer has been in default, in the payment of the price an unreasonable time. The seller shall not thereafter be liable to the buyer upon the contract to sell or the sale, but may recover from the buyer damages for any loss occasioned by the breach of the contract or the sale.

2. The transfer of title shall not be held to have been rescinded by an unpaid seller until he has manifested by notice to the buyer or by some other overt act an intention to rescind. It is not necessary that such overt act should be communicated to the buyer, but the giving or failure to give notice to the buyer of the intention to rescind shall be relevant in any issue involving the question whether the buyer had been in default an unreasonable time before the right of recission was asserted. ['19, c. 149, § 61, p. 465.]

§ 5734. Effect of sale of goods subject to lien or stoppage in transitu. Subject to the provisions of this law, the unpaid seller's right of lien or stoppage in transitu is not affected by any sale, or other disposition of the goods which the buyer may have made, unless the seller has assented thereto.

If, however, a negotiable document of title has been issued for goods, no seller's lien or right of stoppage in transitu shall defeat the right of any purchaser for value in good faith to whom such document has been negotiated, whether such negotiation be prior or subsequent to the notification to the carrier, or other bailee who issued such document, of the seller's claim to a lien or right of stoppage in transitu. ['19, c. 149, § 62, p. 466.]

ARTICLE 5.

ACTIONS FOR BREACH OF THE CONTRACT.

Cross ref. Express reference to this article: Sale at a valuation: § 5682.

Remedies of the Seller.

§ 5735. Action for the price. 1. Where, under a contract to sell or a sale, the property in the goods has passed to the buyer, and the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to pay for the goods according to the terms of the contract or the sale, the seller may maintain an action against him for the price of the goods.

2. Where, under a contract to sell or a sale, the price is payable on a day certain, irrespective of delivery or of transfer of title, and the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to pay such price, the seller may maintain an action for the price, although the property in the goods has not passed, and the goods have not been appropriated to the contract. But it shall be a defense to such an action that the seller at any time before judgment in such action has manifested an inability to perform the contract or the sale on his part or an intention not to perform it.

3. Although the property in the goods has not passed, if they cannot readily be resold for a reasonable price, and if the provisions of section 5736, paragraph 4, are not applicable, the seller may offer to deliver the goods to the buyer, and, if the buyer refuses to receive them, may notify the buyer that the goods are thereafter held by the seller as bailee for the buyer. Thereafter the seller may treat the goods as the buyer's and may maintain an action for the price. ['19, c. 149, § 63, p. 466.]

§ 5736. Action for damages for nonacceptance of the goods. 1. Where the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to accept and pay for the goods, the seller may maintain an action against him for damages for nonacceptance.

2. The measure of damages is the estimated loss directly and naturally resulting, in the ordinary course of events, from the buyer's breach of contract.

3. Where there is an available market for the goods in question, the measure of damages is, in the absence of special circumstances, showing proximate damage of a greater amount, the difference between the contract price and the market or current price at the time or times when the goods ought to have been accepted, or, if no time was fixed for acceptance, then at the time of the refusal to accept.

4. If, while labor or expense of material amount are necessary on the part of the seller to enable him to fulfill his obligations under the contract to sell or the sale, the buyer repudiates the contract or the sale, or notifies the seller to proceed no further therewith, the buyer shall be liable to the seller for no greater damages than the seller would have suffered if he did nothing towards carrying out the contract or the sale after receiving notice of the buyer's repudiation or countermand. The profit the seller would have made if the contract or the sale had been fully performed shall be considered in estimating such damages. ['19, c. 149, § 64, p. 467.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Action for price: § 5735.

§ 5737. When seller may rescind contract or sale. Where the goods have not been delivered to the buyer, and the buyer has repudiated the contract to sell or sale, or has manifested his inability to perform his obligations thereunder, or has committed a material breach thereof, the seller may totally rescind the contract or the sale by giving notice of his election so to do to the buyer. ['19, c. 149, § 65, p. 467.]

Remedies of the Buyer.

§ 5738. Action for converting or detaining goods. 1. Where the property in the goods has passed to the buyer and the seller wrongfully neglects or refuses to deliver the goods, the buyer may maintain any action allowed by law to the owner of goods of similar kind when wrongfully converted or withheld. ['19, c. 149, § 66, p. 468.]

§ 5739. Action for failing to deliver goods. 1. Where the property in the goods has not passed to the buyer, and the seller wrongfully neglects or refuses to deliver the goods, the buyer may maintain an action against the seller for damages for nondelivery.

2. The measure of damages is the loss directly and naturally resulting in the ordinary course of events, from the seller's breach of contract.

3. Where there is an available market for the goods in question, the measure of damages, in the absence of special circumstances showing proximate damages of a greater amount, is the difference between the contract price and the market or current price of the goods at the time or times when they ought to have been delivered, or, if no time was fixed, then at the time of the refusal to deliver. ['19, c. 149, § 67, p. 468.]

§ 5740. Specific performance. Where the seller has broken a contract to deliver specific or ascertained goods, a court having the powers of a court of equity may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the buyer, by its judgment or decree direct that the contract shall be performed specifically, without giving the seller the option of retaining the goods on payment of damages. The judgment or decree may be unconditional, or upon such terms and conditions as to damages, payment of the price and otherwise, as to the court may seem just. ['19, c. 149, § 68, p. 468.]

§ 5741. Remedies for breach of warranty. 1. Where there is a breach of warranty by the seller, the buyer may, at his election:

a. Accept or keep the goods and set up against the seller, the breach of warranty by way of recoupment in diminution or extinction of the price.

b. Accept or keep the goods and maintain an action against the seller for damages for the breach of warranty.

c. Refuse to accept the goods, if the property therein has not passed, and maintain an action against the seller for damages for the breach of warranty.

d. Rescind the contract to sell or the sale and refuse to receive the goods, or if the goods have already been received return them or offer to return them to the seller and recover the price or any part thereof which has been paid.

2. When the buyer has claimed and been granted a remedy in any one of these ways, no other remedy can thereafter be granted.

3. Where the goods have been delivered to the buyer, he cannot rescind the sale if he knew of the breach of warranty when he accepted the goods, or if he fails to notify the seller within a reasonable time of the election to rescind, or if he fails to return or to offer to return the goods to the seller in substantially as good condition as they were in at the time the property was transferred to the buyer. But if deterioration or injury of the goods is due to the breach of warranty, such deterioration or injury shall not prevent the buyer from returning or offering to return the goods to the seller and rescinding the sale.

4. Where the buyer is entitled to rescind the sale and elects to do so, the buyer shall cease to be liable for the price upon returning or offering to return the goods.

If the price or any part thereof has already been paid, the seller shall be liable to repay so much thereof as has been paid, concurrently with the return of the goods, or immediately after an offer to return the goods in exchange for repayment of the price.

5. Where the buyer is entitled to rescind the sale and elects to do so, if the seller refuses to accept an offer of the buyer to return the goods, the buyer shall thereafter be deemed to hold the goods as bailee for the seller, but subject to a lien to secure the repayment of any portion of the price which has been paid, and with the remedies for the enforcement of such lien allowed to an unpaid seller by section 5725.

6. The measure of damages for breach of warranty is the loss directly and naturally resulting, in the ordinary course of events, from the breach of warranty.

7. In the case of breach of warranty of quality, such loss, in the absence of special circumstances showing proximate damage of a greater amount, is the difference between the value of the goods at the time of delivery to the buyer and the value they would have had if they had answered to the warranty. ['19, c. 149, § 69, p. 468.]

§ 5742. Interest and special damages. Nothing in this law shall affect the right of the buyer or the seller to recover interest or special damages in any case where by law interest or special damages may be recoverable, or to recover money paid where the consideration for the payment of it has failed. ['19, c. 149, § 70, p. 470.]

ARTICLE 6.

INTERPRETATION.

§ 5743. Variation of implied obligations. Where any right, duty or liability would arise under a contract to sell or a sale by implication of law, it may be negatived or varied by express agreement or by the course of dealing between the parties, or by custom, if the custom be such as to bind both parties to the contract or the sale. ['19, c. 149, § 71, p. 470.]

§ 5744. Rights may be enforced by action. Where any right, duty or liability is declared by this law, it may, unless otherwise by this law provided, be enforced by action. ['19, c. 149, § 72, p. 470.]

§ 5745. Rule for cases not provided for. In any case not provided for in this law, the rules of law and equity, including the law merchant, and in particular the rules relating to the law of principal and agent and to the effect of fraud, misrepresentation, duress or coercion, mistake, bankruptcy, or other invalidating cause, shall continue to apply to contracts to sell and to sales of goods. ['19, c. 149, § 73, p. 470.]

§ 5746. Interpretation shall give effect to purpose of uniformity. This law shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the laws of those states which enact it. ['19, c. 149, § 74, p. 470.]

§ 5747. Provisions not applicable to mortgages. The provisions of this law relating to contracts to sell and to sales do not apply, unless so stated, to any transaction in the form of a contract to sell or a sale which is intended to operate by way of mortgage, pledge, charge, or other security. ['19, c. 149, § 75, p. 470.]

§ 5748. Definitions. 1. In this law, unless the context or subject matter otherwise requires:

"Action" includes counterclaim, set-off and suit in equity.

"Buyer" means a person who buys or agrees to buy goods or any legal successor in interest of such person.

"Defendant" includes a plaintiff against whom a right of set-off or counterclaim is asserted.

"Delivery" means voluntary transfer of possession from one person to another.

"Divisible contract to sell or sale" means a contract to sell or a sale in which by its terms the price for a portion or portions of the goods less than the whole is fixed or ascertainable by computation.

"Document of title to goods" includes any bill of lading, dock warrant, warehouse receipt or order for the delivery of goods, or any other document used in the ordinary course of business in the sale or transfer of goods, as proof of the possession or control of the goods, or authorizing or purporting to authorize the possessor of the document to transfer or receive, either by indorsement or by delivery, goods represented by such document.

"Fault" means wrongful act or default.

"Fungible goods" means goods of which any unit is from its nature or by mercantile usage treated as the equivalent of any other unit.

"Future goods" means goods to be manufactured or acquired by the seller after the making of the contract of sale.

"Goods" include all chattels personal other than things in action and money. The term includes emblements, industrial growing crops, and things attached to or forming part of the land which are agreed to be severed before sale or under contract of sale.

"Order" in sections of this law relating to documents of title means an order by indorsement on the document.

"Person" includes a corporation or partnership or two or more persons having a joint or common interest.

"Plaintiff" includes defendant asserting a right of set-off or counterclaim.

"Property" means the general property in goods, and not merely a special property.

"Purchaser" includes mortgagee and pledgee.

"Purchases" includes taking as a mortgagee or as a pledgee.

"Quality of goods" includes their state or condition.

"Sale" includes a bargain and sale as well as a sale and delivery.

"Seller" means a person who sells or agrees to sell goods, or any legal successor in the interest of such person.

"Specific goods" means goods identified and agreed upon at the time a contract to sell or a sale is made.

"Value" is any consideration sufficient to support a simple contract. An antecedent or preexisting claim, whether for money or not, constitutes value where goods or documents of titles are taken either in satisfaction or as security therefor.

2. A thing is done "in good faith" within the meaning of this law when it is in fact done honestly, whether it be done negligently or not.

3. A person is insolvent within the meaning of this law who either has ceased to pay his debts in the ordinary course of business or can not pay his debts as they become due, whether he has committed an act of bankruptcy or not, and whether he is insolvent within the meaning of the federal bankruptcy law or not.

4. Goods are in a "deliverable state" within the meaning of this law when they are in such a state that the buyer would under the contract, be bound to take delivery of them. ['19, c. 149, § 76, p. 470.]

Hist. "Dock warranty" changed to "dock warrant" to correct obvious error.

§ 5749. Law does not apply to existing sale or contract to sell. None of the provisions of this law shall apply to any sale, or to any contract to sell, made prior to the taking effect of this law. ['19, c. 149, § 77, p. 472.]

§ 5750. No repeal of uniform warehouse receipt law or uniform bills of lading law. Nothing in this law or in any repealing clause thereof shall be construed to repeal or limit any of the provisions of the law to make uniform the law of warehouse receipts, or of the law to make uniform the law of bills of lading. ['19, c. 149, § 78, p. 472.]

§ 5751. Name of law. This law may be cited as the uniform sales law. ['19, c. 149, § 81, p. 473.]

Hist. Latter part of section omitted as temporary.

CHAPTER 226.

BULK SALES LAW.

Hist. '03, p. 11, §§ 1-4, reen. R. C. §§ 3332-5; repealed '19, c. 110, p. 392, and a new law, herein contained, enacted, which is in the nature of an amendment to that repealed.

Comp. leg.—Wash. See Bal. Ann. C. (Sup.) § 3102.

Constitutionality: This act ('03, p. 11), which provides for "sales of goods in bulk," is a constitutional and valid law. It does not constitute class legislation within the inhibition of the constitution, and is a proper and reasonable exercise of the state's police power. Boise Assn. of Credit Men v. Ellis (1914) 26 I. 438, 144 P. 6, L. R. A. (N. S.) 1915E 917.

§ 5752. Vendor to make statement of indebtedness. It shall be the duty of every person who shall bargain for or purchase any portion of the stock of goods, wares or merchandise in bulk, or fixtures otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular and usual prosecution of the seller's business or an entire stock of merchandise in bulk for cash or on credit or any portion of the property, furniture, fixtures, or equipment or supplies of a hotel, restaurant, barber shop or any place of business wherein the furniture, fixtures, or equipment are used in carrying on said business, otherwise than in the regular course of trade before paying to the vendor or his agent or representative or delivering to the vendor or his agent or representative any part of the purchase price thereof, or any promissory note or other evidence of same, to demand and receive from such vendor or his agent, or if the vendor or agent be a corporation, then from the president, vice president, secretary, or managing agent of such corporation, a sworn statement in writing substantially as hereinafter provided of the names and addresses of all the creditors of said vendor to whom said vendor may be indebted, together with the amount of the indebtedness due or owing or to become due or owing, by said vendor, to each of said creditors, and it shall be the duty of said vendor or his agent to furnish such statement which shall be verified by oath to substantially the following effect:

State of Idaho, county of....., ss.

Before me personally appeared (vendor or agent as the case may be) who being by me first duly sworn, on his oath, did depose and say that the foregoing statement contains the names of all the creditors (name of vendor), together with their addresses, and that the amounts set opposite each of said respective names is the amount now due and owing or which shall become due and owing by (vendor) to such creditors, and that there are no creditors holding claims due or which shall become due for or on account of goods, wares, or merchandise purchased upon credit or for the purchase price of fixtures or equipment, or for services performed, or on account of money borrowed to carry on the business of which said goods, fixtures, equipment, or supplies are a part, other than as set forth in said statement and in this affidavit, that are within the personal knowledge of affiant.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this.....day of....., A. D. 19.....

§ 5753. Liability of vendee. Whenever any person shall bargain for the purchase in bulk of any portion of a stock of merchandise or fixtures otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular and usual prosecution of the seller's business or an entire stock of merchandise in bulk or the property, furniture, fixtures, equipment or supplies of a hotel or restaurant, barber shop or other place of business wherein the furniture, fixtures, and equipment are used in carrying on said business, otherwise than in the regular course of trade, for cash or on credit, and shall pay any part of the price, or execute and deliver to the vendor thereof, or his agent, or to any person for his use, any promissory note or other evidence of indebtedness, or give credit, whether or not evidenced by promissory note or other evidence of indebtedness, for said purchase price or any part thereof, without at least five days previously thereto having demanded of and received from said vendor or from his agent the statement provided for in section 5752 and verified as therein provided, and without notifying also at least five days previously thereto, personally or by registered mail, every creditor as shown upon said verified statement of said proposed sale or transfer, with the price thereof, the person to whom said sale or transfer is made, and the time and conditions of payment, and without paying or seeing to it that the purchase money of the said property is applied to the payment of the bona fide claims of the creditors of the vendor as shown upon said verified statement, share and share alike, unless otherwise provided for by the statutes designating priority of payments, such sale or transfer shall be fraudulent and void, and said vendee shall be personally liable to any creditor or to all creditors of said vendor for their proportionate share of the purchase price of said business, whether the same has been paid by vendee to vendor or not. ['19, c. 110, § 2, p. 393.]

Fixtures: (Before amendment) A stock of goods, wares and merchandise, when sold in bulk, does not by implication include the fixtures as a part of the sale. Boise Assn. of Credit Men v. Ellis (1914) 26 I. 438, 144 P. 6, L. R. A. (N. S.) 1915E. 917.

§ 5754. False statement constitutes perjury. Any vendor of any portion of a stock of merchandise or fixtures otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular and usual prosecution of the seller's business or an entire stock of merchandise in bulk or the property, fixtures, equipment, or supplies of a hotel or restaurant, barber shop or other business, wherein the furniture, fixtures, equipment or supplies are used in carrying on said business, or any person who is acting for or on behalf of any such vendor, who shall knowingly or wilfully make or deliver or cause to be made or delivered, a statement as provided for in section 5752 which shall not include the names of all of the creditors of such vendor, with the correct amount due and to become due to each of them, or which shall contain any false or untrue statement, shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished accordingly. ['19, c. 110, § 3, p. 394.]

Cross ref. Penalty for perjury: § 8168.

§ 5755. Waiver of creditors. If the vendor of any portion of a stock of merchandise or fixtures otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular and usual prosecution of the seller's business or an entire stock of merchandise in bulk or the property, fixtures, equipment, or supplies of a hotel or restaurant, barber shop, or other business wherein the furniture, fixtures or equipment are used in carrying on said business in bulk, produces and delivers a written waiver of the provisions of this chapter, from at least a majority in number and amount of his credtors, as shown by said verified statement, then in that case the provisions of this chapter shall not apply. ['19, c. 110, § 4, p. 394.]

§ 5756. Application of law. Sellers, or vendors and purchasers under this title, shall include corporations, associations, copartnerships and individuals, but nothing contained in this title shall apply to sales or transfers by executors, administrators, receivers, or assignees, under a voluntary assignment for the benefit of creditors, trustees in bankruptcy or any public officer under judicial process. ['19, c. 110, § 5, p. 395.]

TITLE XLVI. PARTNERSHIP.

CHAPTER 227.

SPECIAL PARTNERSHIP.

Cross ref. '19, c. 151, p. 474 (§ 5782-5812 herein) the uniform limited partnership law, repealed these sections in part. Section 30 of this act is in part as follows: "A limited or special partnership formed under any statute of this state prior to the adoption of this act, until or unless it becomes a limited partnership under this act, shall continue to be governed by the provisions of sections 3336 to 3360, inclusive, of chapter 245 of Compiled Laws, except that such partnership shall not be renewed unless so provided in the original agreement." Section 31 is as follows: "Except as affecting existing limited partnerships to the extent set forth in section 30, sections 3336 to 3360, inclusive, of chapter 245 of Compiled Laws are hereby repealed."

§ 5757. [3336] How formed. A special partnership may be formed by two or more persons in the manner and with the effect prescribed in this chapter, for the transaction of any business except banking or insurance. [R. S. § 3270.]

§ 5759. [3338] Certificate of partners. Persons desirous of forming a special partnership must severally sign a certificate stating:

1. The name under which the partnership is to be conducted.
2. The general nature of the business intended to be transacted.
3. The names of all the partners, and their residences, specifying which are general and which are special partners.
4. The amount of capital which each special partner has contributed to the common stock.
5. The periods at which such partnership will begin and end. [R. S. § 3272.]

§ 5775. [3354] Liability of special partners. The contribution of a special partner to the capital of the firm, and the increase thereof, is liable for its debts, but he is not otherwise liable therefor, except as follows:

1. If he has wilfully made or permitted a false or materially defective statement in the certificate of the partnership, the affidavit filed therewith, or the published announcement thereof, he is liable as a general partner to all creditors of the firm.
2. If he has wilfully interfered with the business of the firm, except as permitted in this chapter, he is liable in like manner; or,
3. If he has wilfully joined in or assented to an act contrary to any of the provisions of this chapter, he is liable in like manner. [R. S. § 3288.]

CHAPTER 228.

LIMITED PARTNERSHIP LAW.

Note: This act was recommended to the states for adoption by the conference of commissioners on uniform state laws in August, 1916. In 1918 it had been adopted by four jurisdictions in the United States.

Hist. The act was adopted in Idaho '19, c. 151, p. 474, effective Jan. 1, 1920.

A prior law on this subject is found in §§ 5757-81. As the act herein contained repealed these sections in part only, they have been retained in this compilation.

§ 5782. Limited partnership defined. A limited partnership is a partnership formed by two or more persons under the provisions of section 5783, having as members one or more general partners and one or more limited partners. The limited partners as such shall not be bound by the obligations of the partnership. ['19, c. 151, § 1, p. 474.]

§ 5783. Formation. 1. Two or more persons desiring to form a limited partnership shall

a. Sign and swear to a certificate, which shall state.

(1) The name of the partnership.

(2) The character of the business.

(3) The location of the principal place of business.

(4) The name and place of residence of each member; general and limited partners being respectively designated.

(5) The term for which the partnership is to exist.

(6) The amount of cash and a description of and the agreed value of the other property contributed by each limited partner.

(7) The additional contributions, if any, agreed to be made by each limited partner and the times at which or events on the happening of which they shall be made.

(8) The time, if agreed upon, when the contribution of each limited partner is to be returned.

(9) The share of the profits or the other compensation by way of income which each limited partner shall receive by reason of his contribution.

(10) The right, if given, of a limited partner to substitute an assignee as contributor in his place, and the terms and conditions of the substitution.

(11) The right, if given, of the partners to admit additional limited partners.

(12) The right, if given, of one or more of the limited partners to priority over other limited partners, as to contributions or as to compensation by way of income, and the nature of such priority.

(13) The right, if given, of the remaining general partner or partners to continue the business on the death, retirement or insanity of a general partner, and

(14) The right, if given, of a limited partner to demand and receive property other than cash in return for his contribution.

b. File for record the certificate in the office of the recorder of the county in which the principal place of business of the partnership is situated, in a book to be kept for that purpose, open to public inspection. If the partnership has places of business situated in different counties, a copy of the certificate, certified by the recorder in whose office it is recorded, must be recorded in like manner in the office of the recorder in every such county.

2. A limited partnership is formed if there has been substantial compliance in good faith with the requirements of paragraph 1. ['19, c. 151, § 2, p. 474.]

Cross ref. Express references to this section: Limited partnership defined: § 5782; requirements for amendment and for cancellation of certificate: § 5806; provision for existing limited partnership: § 5811.

§ 5784. Business which may be carried on. A limited partnership may carry on any business which a partnership without limited partners may carry on, except banking and insurance. ['19, c. 151, § 3, p. 475.]

§ 5785. Character of limited partner's contribution. The contributions of a limited partner may be cash or other property, but not services. ['19, c. 151, § 4, p. 476.]

§ 5786. A name not to contain surname of limited partner: Exceptions. 1. The surname of a limited partner shall not appear in the partnership name, unless

a. It is also the surname of a general partner, or

b. Prior to the time when the limited partner became such the business had been carried on under a name in which his surname appeared.

2. A limited partner whose name appears in a partnership name contrary to the provisions of paragraph 1 is liable as a general partner to partnership creditors who extend credit to the partnership without actual knowledge that he is not a general partner. ['19, c. 151, § 5, p. 476.]

§ 5787. Liability for false statements in certificate. If the certificate contains a false statement, one who suffers loss by reliance on such statement may hold liable any party to the certificate who knew the statement to be false.

a. At the time he signed the certificate, or

b. Subsequently, but within a sufficient time before the statement was relied upon to enable him to cancel or amend the certificate, or to file a petition for its cancellation or amendment as provided in section 5806, paragraph 3. ['19, c. 151, § 6, p. 476.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Assignment of limited partner's interest: § 5800.

§ 5788. Limited partner not liable to creditors. A limited partner shall not become liable as a general partner unless, in addition to the exercise of his rights and powers as a limited partner, he takes part in the control of the business. ['19, c. 151, § 7, p. 476.]

§ 5789. Admission of additional limited partners. After the formation of a limited partnership, additional limited partners may be admitted upon filing an amendment to the original certificate in accordance with the requirements of section 5806. ['19, c. 151, § 8, p. 476.]

§ 5790. Rights, powers and liabilities of a general partner. A general partner shall have all the rights and powers and be subject to all the restrictions and liabilities of a partner in a partnership without limited partners, except that without the written consent or ratification of the specific act by all the limited partners, a general partner or all of the general partners have no authority to

1. Do any act in contravention of the certificate.

2. Do any act which would make it impossible to carry on the ordinary business of the partnership.

3. Confess a judgment against the partnership.

4. Possess partnership property, or assign their rights in specific partnership property, for other than a partnership purpose.

5. Admit a person as a general partner.

6. Admit a person as a limited partner, unless the right so to do is given in the certificate.

7. Continue the business with partnership property on the death, retirement or insanity of a general partner, unless the rights so to do is given in the certificate. ['19, c. 151, § 9, p. 476.]

§ 5791. Rights of a limited partner. 1. A limited partner shall have the same right as a general partner to

a. Have the partnership books kept at the principal place of business of the partnership, and at all times to inspect and copy any of them.

b. Have on demand true and full information of all things affecting the partnership, and a formal account of partnership affairs whenever circumstances render it just and reasonable, and

c. Have dissolution and winding up by decree of court.

2. A limited partner shall have the right to receive a share of the profits or other compensation by way of income, and to the return of his contribution as provided in sections 5796 and 5797. ['19, c. 151, § 10, p. 477.]

§ 5792. Status of person erroneously believing himself a limited partner. A person who has contributed to the capital of a business conducted by a person or partnership erroneously believing that he has become a limited partner in a limited partnership, is not, by reason of his exercise of the rights of a limited partner, a general partner with the person or in the partnership carrying on the business, or bound by the obligations of such person or partnership; provided that on ascertaining the mistake he promptly renounces his interest in the profits of the business, or other compensation by way of income. ['19, c. 151, § 11, p. 477.]

§ 5793. One person both general and limited partner. 1. A person may be a general partner and a limited partner in the same partnership at the same time.

2. A person who is a general, and also at the same time a limited partner, shall have all the rights and powers and be subject to all the restrictions of a general partner; except that, in respect to his contribution, he shall have the rights against the other members which he would have had if he were not also a general partner. ['19, c. 151, § 12, p. 477.]

§ 5794. Loans and other business transactions with limited partner. 1. A limited partner also may loan money to and transact other business with the partnership, and, unless he is also a general partner, receive on account of resulting claims against the partnership, with general creditors, a pro rata share of the assets. No limited partner shall in respect to any such claims

a. Receive or hold as collateral security any partnership property, or

b. Receive from a general partner or the partnership any payment, conveyance, or release from liability, if at the time the assets of the partnership are not sufficient to discharge partnership liabilities to persons not claiming as general or limited partners.

2. The receiving of collateral security, or a payment, conveyance, or release in violation of the provisions of paragraph 1 is a fraud on the creditors of the partnership. ['19, c. 151, § 13, p. 478.]

§ 5795. Relation of limited partners interested. Where there are several limited partners the members may agree that one or more of the limited partners shall have priority over other limited partners as to the return of their contributions, as to their compensation by way of income, or as to any other matter. If such an agreement is made it shall be stated in the certificate, and in the absence of such a statement all the limited partners shall stand upon equal footing. ['19, c. 151, § 14, p. 478.]

§ 5796. Compensation of limited partner. A limited partner may receive from the partnership the share of the profits or the compensation by way of income stipulated for in the certificate: Provided, That after such payment is made, whether from the property of the partnership or that of a general partner, the partnership assets are in excess of all liabilities of the partnership except liabilities to limited partners on account of their contributions and to general partners. ['19, c. 151, § 15, p. 478.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Rights of limited partner: § 5791.

§ 5797. Withdrawal or reduction of limited partner's contribution. 1. A limited partner shall not receive from a general partner or out of partnership property any part of his contribution until

a. All liabilities of the partnership, except liabilities to general partners and to limited partners on account of their contributions, have been paid or there remains property of the partnership sufficient to pay them.

b. The consent of all members is had, unless the return of the contribution may be rightfully demanded under the provisions of paragraph 2, and

c. The certificate is cancelled or so amended as to set forth the withdrawal or reduction.

2. Subject to the provisions of paragraph 1 a limited partner may rightfully demand the return of his contribution.

a. On the dissolution of a partnership, or

b. When the date specified in the certificate for its return has arrived, or

c. After he has given six months' notice in writing to all other members, if no time is specified in the certificate either for the return of the contribution or for the dissolution of the partnership.

3. In the absence of any statement in the certificate to the contrary or the consent of all members, a limited partner, irrespective of the nature of his contribution, has only the right to demand and receive cash in return for his contribution.

4. A limited partner may have the partnership dissolved and its affairs wound up when

a. He rightfully but unsuccessfully demands the return of his contribution, or

b. The other liabilities of the partnership have not been paid, or the partnership property is insufficient for their payment as required by paragraph 1a and the limited partner would otherwise be entitled to the return of his contribution. ['19, c. 151, § 16, p. 478.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Rights of limited partner: § 5791.

§ 5798. Liability of limited partner to partnership. 1. A limited partner is liable to the partnership.

a. For the difference between his contribution as actually made and that stated in the certificate as having been made, and

b. For any unpaid contribution which he agreed in the certificate to make in the future at the time and on the conditions stated in the certificate.

2. A limited partner holds as trustee for the partnership

a. Specific property stated in the certificate as contributed by him, but which was not contributed or which has been wrongfully returned, and

b. Money or other property wrongfully paid or conveyed to him on account of his contribution.

3. The liabilities of a limited partner as set forth in this section can be waived or compromised only by the consent of all members; but a waiver or compromise shall not affect the right of a creditor of a partnership, who extended credit or whose claim arose after the filing and before a cancellation or amendment of the certificate, to enforce such liabilities.

4. When a contributor has rightfully received the return in whole or in part of the capital of his contribution, he is nevertheless liable to the partnership for any sum, not in excess of such return with interest, necessary to discharge its liabilities to all creditors who extend credit or whose claims arose before such return. ['19, c. 151, § 17, p. 479.]

§ 5799. Nature of limited partner's interest in partnership. A limited partner's interest in the partnership is personal property. ['19, c. 151, § 18, p. 480.]

§ 5800. Assignment of limited partner's interest. 1. A limited partner's interest is assignable.

2. A substituted limited partner is a person admitted to all the rights of a limited partner who has died or has assigned his interest in a partnership.

3. An assignee, who does not become a substituted limited partner, has no right to require any information or account of the partnership transactions or to inspect the partnership books; he is only entitled to receive the share of the profits or other compensation by way of income, or the return of his contribution, to which his assignor would otherwise be entitled.

4. An assignee shall have the right to become a substituted limited partner if all the members (except the assignor) consent thereto or if the assignor, being thereunto impowered by the certificate, gives the assignee that right.

5. An assignee becomes a substituted limited partner when the certificate is appropriately amended in accordance with section 5806.

6. The substituted limited partner has all the rights and powers, and is subject to all the restrictions and liabilities of his assignor, except those liabilities of which he was ignorant at the time he became a limited partner and which could not be ascertained from the certificate.

7. The substitution of the assignee as a limited partner does not release the assignor from liability to the partnership under sections 5787 and 5798. ['19, c. 151, § 19, p. 480.]

§ 5801. Effect of retirement, death or insanity of a general partner. The retirement, death or insanity of a general partner dissolves the partnership, unless the business is continued by the remaining general partners:

1. Under a right so to do stated in the certificate, or
2. With the consent of all members. ['19, c. 151, § 20, p. 481.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: When certificate shall be cancelled or amended: § 5805.

§ 5802. Death of limited partner. 1. On the death of a limited partner his executor or administrator shall have all the rights of a limited partner for the purpose of settling his estate, and such power as the deceased had to constitute his assignee a substituted limited partner.

2. The estate of a deceased limited partner shall be liable for all his liabilities as a limited partner. ['19, c. 151, § 21, p. 481.]

§ 5803. Rights of creditors of limited partner. 1. On due application to a court of competent jurisdiction by any creditor of a limited partner, the court may charge the interest of the indebted limited partner with payment of the unsatisfied amount of such claim; and may appoint a receiver, and make all other orders, directions, and inquiries which the circumstances of the case may require.

2. The interest may be redeemed with the separate property of any general partner, but may not be redeemed with partnership property.

3. The remedies conferred by paragraph 1 shall not be deemed exclusive of others which may exist.

4. Nothing in this act shall be held to deprive a limited partner of his statutory exemption. ['19, c. 151, § 22, p. 481.]

§ 5804. Distribution of assets. 1. In settling accounts after dissolution the liabilities of the partnership shall be entitled to payment in the following order:

a. Those to creditors, in the order of priority as provided by law, except those to limited partners on account of their contributions, and to general partners.

b. Those to limited partners in respect to their share of the profits and other compensation by way of income on their contributions.

c. Those to limited partners in respect to the capital of their contributions.

d. Those to general partners other than for capital and profits.

e. Those to general partners in respect to profits.

f. Those to general partners in respect to capital.

2. Subject to any statement in the certificate or to subsequent agreement, limited partners share in the partnership assets in respect to their claims for capital, and in respect to their claims for profits or for compensation by way of income on their contributions respectively, in proportion to the respective amounts of such claims. ['19, c. 151, § 23, p. 481.]

§ 5805. When certificate shall be cancelled or amended. 1. The certificate shall be cancelled when the partnership is dissolved or all limited partners cease to be such.

2. A certificate shall be amended when

a. There is a change in the name of the partnership or in the amount or character of the contribution of any limited partner.

b. A person is substituted as a limited partner.

c. An additional limited partner is admitted.

d. A person is admitted as a general partner.

e. A general partner retires, dies, or becomes insane, and the business is continued under section 5801.

f. There is a change in the character of the business of the partnership.

g. There is a false or erroneous statement in the certificate.

h. There is a change in the time as stated in the certificate for the dissolution of the partnership or for the return of a contribution.

i. A time is fixed for the dissolution of the partnership or the return of a contribution, no time having been specified in the certificate or

j. The members desire to make a change in any other statement in the certificate in order that it shall accurately represent the agreement between them. ['19, c. 151, § 24, p. 482.]

§ 5806. Requirements for amendment and for cancellation of certificate. 1. The writing to amend a certificate shall

a. Conform to the requirements of section 5783, paragraph 1a, as far as necessary to set forth clearly the change in the certificate which it is desired to make, and

b. Be signed and sworn to by all members, and an amendment substituting a limited partner or adding a limited or general partner shall be signed also by the member to be substituted or added, and when a limited partner is to be substituted, the amendment shall also be signed by the assigning limited partner.

2. The writing to cancel a certificate shall be signed by all members.

3. A person desiring the cancellation or amendment of a certificate, if any person designated in paragraphs 1 and 2 as a person who must execute the writing refuses to do so, may petition the district court to direct a cancellation or amendment thereof.

4. If the court finds that the petitioner has a right to have the writing executed by a person who refuses to do so, it shall order the county recorder in the office where the certificate is recorded to record the cancellation or amendment of the certificate; and where the certificate is to be amended, the court shall also cause to be filed for record in said office a certified copy of its decree setting forth the amendment.

5. A certificate is amended or canceled when there is filed for record in the office of the county recorder where the certificate is recorded.

a. A writing in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 1, or 2 or

b. A certified copy of the order of court in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 4.

6. After the certificate is duly amended in accordance with this section, the amended certificate shall thereafter be for all purposes the certificate provided for by this chapter. ['19, c. 151, § 25, p. 482.]

§ 5807. Parties to actions. A contributor, unless he is a general partner, is not a proper party to proceedings by or against a partnership, except where the object is to enforce a limited partner's right against or liability to the partnership. ['19, c. 151, § 26, p. 483.]

§ 5808. Name of act. This chapter may be cited as the uniform limited partnership law. ['19, c. 151, § 27, p. 483.]

2. This chapter shall be so interpreted and construed as to effect its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it.

3. This chapter shall not be so construed as to impair the obligations of any contract existing when the chapter goes into effect, nor to affect any action or procedings begun or right accrued before this chapter takes effect. ['19, c. 151, § 28, p. 483.]

§ 5811. Provision for existing limited partnership. 1. A limited or special partnership formed under any statute of this state prior to the adoption of this chapter, may become a limited partnership under this chapter by complying with the provisions of section 5783; provided the certificate sets forth.

a. The amount of the original contribution of each limited partner, and the time when the contribution was made, and

b. That the property of the partnership exceeds the amount sufficient to discharge its liabilities to persons not claiming as general or limited partners by an amount greater than the sum of the contributions of its limited partners.

2. A limited or special partnership formed under any statute of this state prior to the adoption of this chapter, until or unless it becomes a limited partnership under this chapter, shall continue to be governed by the provisions of sections 5757 to 5781, inclusive, except that such partnership shall not be renewed unless so provided in the original agreement. ['19, c. 151, § 30, p. 484.]

§ 5812. Time when law takes effect. This law shall take effect on the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and twenty. ['19, c. 151, § 32, p. 484.]

CHAPTER 229.

UNIFORM PARTNERSHIP LAW.

Note: This act was recommended to the states for adoption by the conference of commissioners on uniform state laws in October, 1914. In 1918 it had been adopted by eight jurisdictions in the United States.

Hist. The act was adopted in Idaho '19, c. 154, p. 493, effective Jan. 1, 1920.

ARTICLE 1.

PRELIMINARY PROVISIONS.

§ 5813. Name of law. This law may be cited as uniform partnership law. ['19, c. 154, § 1, p. 493.]

§ 5814. Definition of terms. In this chapter "court" includes every court and judge having jurisdiction in the case.

"Business" includes every trade, occupation, or profession.

"Person" includes bankrupt under the federal bankruptcy act or insolvent under any state insolvent act.

"Conveyance" includes every assignment, lease, mortgage, or encumbrance.

"Real property" includes land and any interest or estate in land. ['19, c. 154, § 2, p. 494.]

§ 5815. Interpretation of knowledge and notice. 1. A person has "knowledge" of a fact within the meaning of this chapter not only when he has actual knowledge thereof, but also when he has knowledge of such other facts as in the circumstances show bad faith.

2. A person has "notice" of a fact within the meaning of this chapter when the person who claims the benefit of the notice

a. States the fact to such person, or

b. Delivers through the mail, or by other means of communication, a written statement of the fact to such person or to a proper person at his place of business or residence. ['19, c. 154, § 3, p. 494.]

2. The law of estoppel shall apply under this chapter.

3. The law of agency shall apply under this chapter.

4. This chapter shall be so interpreted and construed as to effect its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it.

5. This chapter shall not be construed so as to impair the obligations of any contract existing when the act goes into effect, nor to affect any action or proceedings begun or right accrued before this chapter takes effect. ['19, c. 154, § 4, p. 494.]

§ 5817. Rules for cases not provided for in this chapter. In any case not provided for in this chapter, the rules of law and equity, including the law merchant, shall govern. ['19, c. 154, § 5, p. 494.]

ARTICLE 2.

NATURE OF A PARTNERSHIP.

§ 5818. Partnership defined. 1. A partnership is an association of two or more persons to carry on as coowners a business for profit.

2. But any association formed under any other statute of this state, or any statute adopted by authority, other than the authority of this state, is not a partnership under this chapter, unless such association would have been a partnership in this state prior to the adoption of this chapter; but this chapter shall apply to limited partnerships except in so far as the statutes relating to such partnerships are inconsistent herewith. ['19, c. 154, § 6, p. 494.]

§ 5819. Rules for determining the existence of a partnership. In determining whether a partnership exists, these rules shall apply:

1. Except as provided by section 5828 persons who are not partners as to each other are not partners as to third persons.

2. Joint tenancy, tenancy in common, tenancy by the entireties, joint property, common property, or part ownership does not of itself establish a partnership, whether such coowners do or do not share any profits made by the use of the property.

3. The sharing of gross returns does not of itself establish a partnership, whether or not the persons sharing them have a joint or common right or interest in any property from which the returns are derived.

4. The receipt by a person of a share of the profits of a business is prima facie evidence that he is a partner in the business, but no such inference shall be drawn if such profits were received in payment:

a. As a debt by instalment or otherwise.

b. As wages of an employee or rent to a landlord.

c. As an annuity to a widow or representative of a deceased partner.

d. As interest on a loan, though the amount of payment vary with the profits of the business.

e. As the consideration for the sale of the good will of a business or other property by instalments or otherwise. ['19, c. 154, § 7, p. 495.]

§ 5820. Partnership property. 1. All property originally brought into the partnership stock or subsequently acquired by purchase or otherwise, on account of the partnership is partnership property.

2. Unless the contrary intention appears, property acquired with partnership funds is partnership property.

3. Any estate in real property may be acquired in the partnership name. Title so acquired can be conveyed only in the partnership name.

4. A conveyance to a partnership in the partnership name, though without words of inheritance, passes the entire estate of the grantor unless a contrary intent appears. ['19, c. 154, § 8, p. 495.]

ARTICLE 3.

RELATIONS OF PARTNERS TO PERSONS DEALING WITH THE PARTNERSHIP.

§ 5821. Partner agent of partnership as to partnership business. 1. Every partner is an agent of the partnership for the purpose of its business, and the act of every partner, including the execution in the partnership name of any instrument, for apparently carrying on in the usual way the business of the partnership of which he is a member binds the partnership, unless the partner so acting has in fact no authority to act for the partnership in the particular matter, and the person with whom he is dealing has knowledge of the fact that he has no such authority.

2. An act of a partner which is not apparently for the carrying on of the business of the partnership in the usual way does not bind the partnership unless authorized by the other partners.

3. Unless authorized by the other partners or unless they have abandoned the business, one or more but less than all the partners have no authority to:

a. Assign the partnership property in trust for creditors or on the assignee's promise to pay the debts of the partnership.

b. Dispose of the good will of the business.

c. Do any other act which would make it impossible to carry on the ordinary business of a partnership.

d. Confess a judgment.

e. Submit a partnership claim or liability to arbitration or reference.

4. No act of a partner in contravention of a restriction on authority shall bind the partnership to persons having knowledge of the restriction. ['19, c. 154, § 9, p. 496.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Conveyance of real property of the partnership: § 5822.

§ 5822. Conveyance of real property of the partnership. 1. Where title to real property is in the partnership name, any partner may convey title to such property by a conveyance executed in the partnership name; but the partnership may recover such property unless the partner's act binds the partnership under the provisions of paragraph 1 of section 5821, or unless such property has been conveyed by the grantee or a person claiming through such grantee to a holder for value without knowledge that the partner, in making the conveyance, has exceeded his authority.

2. Where title to real property is in the name of the partnership, a conveyance executed by a partner, in his own name, passes the equitable interest of the partnership, provided the act is one within the authority of the partner under the provisions of paragraph 1 of section 5821.

3. Where title to real property is in the name of one or more but not all the partners, and the record does not disclose the right of the partnership, the partners in whose name the title stands may convey title to such property, but the partnership may recover such property if the partners' act does not bind the partnership under the provisions of paragraph 1 of section 5821, unless the purchaser or his assignee, is a holder for value, without knowledge.

4. Where the title to real property is in the name of one or more or all the partners, or in a third person in trust for the partnership, a conveyance executed by a partner in the partnership name, or in his own name, passes the equitable interest of the partnership, provided the act is one within the authority of the partner under the provisions of paragraph 1 of section 5821.

5. Where the title to real property is in the names of all the partners a conveyance executed by all the partners passes all their rights in such property. ['19, c. 154, § 10, p. 496.]

§ 5823. Partnership bound by admission of partner. An admission or representation made by any partner concerning partnership affairs within the scope of his authority as conferred by this chapter is evidence against the partnership. ['19, c. 154, § 11, p. 497.]

§ 5824. Partnerhip charged with knowledge of or notice to partner. Notice to any partner of any matter relating to partnership affairs, and the knowledge of the partner acting in the particular matter, acquired while a partner or then present to his mind, and the knowledge of any other partner who reasonably could and should have communicated it to the acting partner, operate as notice to or knowledge of the partnership, except in the case of a fraud on the partnership committed by or with the consent of that partner. ['19, c. 154, § 12, p. 497.]

§ 5825. Partnership bound by partner's wrongful act. Where, by any wrongful act or omission of any partner acting in the ordinary course of the business of the partnership, or with the authority of his copartners, loss or injury is caused to any person, not being a partner in the partnership, or any penalty is incurred, the partnership is liable therefor to the same extent as the partner so acting or omitting to act. ['19, c. 154, § 13, p. 497.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Nature of partner's liability: § 5827.

§ 5826. Partnership bound by partner's breach of trust. The partnership is bound to make good the loss:

1. Where one partner acting within the scope of his apparent authority received money or property of a third person and misapplies it; and

2. Where the partnership in the course of its business receives money or property of a third person and the money or property so received is misapplied by any partner while it is in custody of the partnership. ['19, c. 154, § 14, p. 498.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Nature of partner's liability: § 5827.

§ 5827. Nature of partner's liability. All partners are liable:

1. Jointly and severally for everything chargeable to the partnership under sections 5825 and 5826.

2. Jointly for all other debts and obligations of the partnership; but any partner may enter into a separate obligation to perform a partnership contract. ['19, c. 154, § 15, p. 498.]

§ 5828. Partner by estoppel. 1. When a person, by words spoken or written or by conduct, represents himself, or consents to another representing him to any one, as a partner in an existing partnership or with one or more persons not actual partners, he is liable to any such person to whom such representation has been made, who has, on the faith of such representation, given credit to the actual or apparent partnership, and if he has made such representation or consented to its being made in a public manner he is liable to such person, whether the representation has or has not been made or communicated to such person so giving credit by or with the knowledge of the apparent partner making the representation or consenting to its being made.

a. When a partnership liability results, he is liable as though he were an actual member of the partnership.

b. When no partnership liability results, he is liable jointly with the other persons, if any, so consenting to the contract or representation as to incur liability, otherwise separately.

2. When a person has been thus represented to be a partner in an existing partnership, or with one of [or] more persons not actual partners, he is an agent of the persons consenting to such representation to bind them to the same extent and in the same manner as though he were a partner in fact, with respect to persons who rely upon the representation. Where all the members of the existing partnership consent to the represensation, a partnership act or obligation results; but in all other cases it is the joint act or obligation of the person acting and the persons consenting to the representation. ['19, c. 154, § 16, p. 498.]

§ 5829. Liability of incoming partner. A person admitted as a partner into an existing partnership is liable for all the obligations of the partnership arising before his admission as though he had been a partner when such obligations were incurred, except that this liability shall be satisfied only out of partnership property. ['19, c. 154, § 17, p. 499.]

ARTICLE 4.

RELATIONS OF PARTNERS TO ONE ANOTHER.

§ 5830. Rules determining rights and duties of partners. The rights and duties of the partners in relation to the partnership shall be determined, subject to any agreement between them, by the following rules:

1. Each partner shall be repaid his contributions, whether by way of capital or advances to the partnership property and share equally in the profits and surplus remaining after all liabilities, including those to partners, are satisfied; and must contribute towards the losses, whether of capital or otherwise, sustained by the partnership according to his share in the profits.

2. The partnership must indemnify every partner in respect of payments made and personal liabilities reasonably incurred by him in the ordinary and proper conduct of its business, or for the preservation of its business or property.

3. A partner, who in aid of the partnership makes any payment or advance beyond the amount of capital which he agreed to contribute, shall be paid interest from the date of the payment or advance.

4. A partner shall receive interest on the capital contributed by him only from the date when repayment should be made.

5. All partners have equal rights in the management and conduct of the partnership business.

6. No partner is entitled to remuneration for acting in the partnership business, except that a surviving partner is entitled to reasonable compensation for his services in winding up the partnership affairs.

7. No person can become a member of a partnership without the consent of all the partners.

8. Any difference arising as to ordinary matters connected with the partnership business may be decided by a majority of the partners; but no act in contravention of any agreement between the partners may be done rightfully without the consent of all the partners. ['19, c. 154, § 18, p. 499.]

§ 5831. Partnership books. The partnership books shall be kept, subject to any agreement between the partners, at the principal place of business of the partnership, and every partner shall at all times have access to and may inspect and copy any of them. ['19, c. 154, § 19, p. 500.]

§ 5832. Duty of partners to render information. Partners shall render on demand true and full information of all things affecting the partnership to any partner or the legal representative of any deceased partner or partner under legal disability. ['19, c. 154, § 20, p. 500.]

§ 5833. Partner accountable as a fiduciary. 1. Every partner must account to the partnership for any benefit, and hold as trustee for it any profits derived by him without the consent of the other partners from any transaction connected with the formation, conduct, or liquidation of the partnership or from any use by him of its property.

2. This section applies also to the representatives of a deceased partner engaged in the liquidation of the affairs of the partnership as the personal representatives of the last surviving partner. ['19, c. 154, § 21, p. 500.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Right to an account: § 5834.

§ 5834. Right to an account. Any partner shall have the right to a formal account as to partnership affairs:

1. If he is wrongfully excluded from the partnership business or possession of its property by his copartners.
2. If the right exists under the terms of any agreement.
3. As provided by section 5833.
4. Whenever other circumstances render it just and reasonable. ['19, c. 154, § 22, p. 500.]

§ 5835. Continuation of partnership beyond fixed term. 1. When a partnership for a fixed term or particular undertaking is continued after the termination of such term or particular undertaking without any express agreement, the rights and duties of the partners remain the same as they were at such termination, so far as is consistent with a partnership at will.

2. A continuation of the business by the partners or such of them as habitually acted therein during the term, without any settlement or liquidation of the partnership affairs, is prima facie evidence of a continuation of the partnership. ['19, c. 154, § 23, p. 500.]

ARTICLE 5.

PROPERTY RIGHTS OF A PARTNER.

§ 5836. Extent of property rights of a partner. The property rights of a partner are:

1. His rights in specific partnership property.
2. His interest in the partnership.
3. His right to participate in the management. ['19, c. 154, § 24, p. 501.]

§ 5837. Nature of a partner's right in specific partnership property. 1. A partner is coowner with his partners of specific partnership property, holding as a tenant in partnership.

2. The incidents of this tenancy are such that:

a. A partner, subject to the provisions of this chapter and to any agreement between the partners, has an equal right with his partners to possess specific partnership property for partnership purposes; but he has no right to possess such property for any other purpose without the consent of his partners.

b. A partner's right in specific partnership property is not assignable except in connection with the assignment of the rights of all the partners in the same property.

c. A partner's right in specific partnership property is not subject to attachment or execution, except on a claim against the partnership. When partnership property is attached for a partnership debt the partners, or any of them or the representatives of a deceased partner, cannot claim any right under the homestead or exemption laws.

d. On the death of a partner his right in specific partnership property vests in the surviving partner or partners, except where the deceased was the last surviving partner, when his right in such property vests in his legal representative. Such surviving partner or partners, or the legal representative of the last surviving partner, has no right to possess the partnership property for any but a partnership purpose.

e. A partner's right in specific partnership property is not subject to dower, curtesy, or allowances to widows, heirs, or next of kin. ['19, c. 154, § 25, p. 501.]

§ 5838. Nature of partner's interest in the partnership. A partner's interest in the partnership is his share of the profits and surplus, and the same is personal property. ['19, c. 154, § 26, p. 502.]

§ 5839. Assignment of partner's interest. 1. A conveyance by a partner of his interest in the partnership does not of itself dissolve the partnership, nor, as against the other partners in the absence of agreement, entitle the assignee, during the continuance of the partnership, to interfere in the management or administration of the partnership business or affairs, or to require any information or account of partnership transactions, or to inspect the partnership books; but it merely entitles the assignee to receive in accordance with his contract the profits to which the assigning partner would otherwise be entitled.

2. In case of a dissolution of the partnership, the assignee is entitled to receive his assignor's interest and may require an account from the date only of the last account agreed to by all the partners. ['19, c. 154, § 27, p. 502.]

§ 5840. Partner's interest subject to charging order. 1. On due application to a competent court by any judgment creditor of a partner, the court which entered the judgment, order, or decree, or any other court, may charge the interest of the debtor partner with payment of the unsatisfied amount of such judgment debt with interest thereon; and may then or later appoint a receiver of his share of the profits, and of any other money due or to fall due to him in respect of the partnership, and make all other orders, directions, accounts and inquiries which the debtor partner might have made, or which the circumstances of the case may require.

2. The interest charged may be redeemed at any time before foreclosure, or in case of a sale being directed by the court may be purchased without thereby causing a dissolution:

a. With separate property, by any one or more of the partners, or

b. With partnership property, by any one or more of the partners with the consent of all the partners whose interests are not so charged or sold.

3. Nothing in this chapter shall be held to deprive a partner of his right, if any, under the exemption laws, as regards his interest in the partnership. ['19, c. 154, § 28, p. 502.]

ARTICLE 6.

DISSOLUTION AND WINDING UP.

Cross ref. Settlement of partnership business: § 5554.

§ 5841. Dissolution defined. The dissolution of a partnership is the change in the relation of the partners caused by any partner ceasing to be associated in the carrying on as distinguished from the winding up of the business. ['19, c. 154, § 29, p. 503.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Dissolution by decree of court: § 5844.

§ 5842. Partnership not terminated by dissolution. On dissolution the partnership is not terminated, but continues until the winding up of partnership affairs is completed. ['19, c. 154, § 30, p. 503.]

§ 5843. Causes of dissolution. Dissolution is caused:

1. Without violation of the agreement between the partners.

a. By the termination of the definite term or particular undertaking specified in the agreement.

b. By the express will of any partner when no definite term or particular undertaking is specified.

c. By the express will of all the partners who have not assigned their interests or suffered them to be charged for their separate debts, either before or after the termination of any specified term or particular undertaking.

d. By the expulsion of any partner from the business bona fide in accordance with such a power conferred by the agreement between the partners.

2. In contravention of the agreement between the partners, where the circumstances do not permit a dissolution under any other provision of this section, by the express will of any partner at any time.

3. By any event which makes it unlawful for the business of the partnership to be carried on or for the members to carry it on in partnership.

4. By the death of any partner.

5. By the bankruptcy of any partner or the partnership.

6. By decree of court under section 5844. ['19, c. 154, § 31, p. 503.]

§ 5844. Dissolution by decree of court. 1. On application by or for a partner the court shall decree a dissolution whenever:

a. A partner has been declared a lunatic in any judicial proceeding or is shown to be of unsound mind.

b. A partner becomes in any other way incapable of performing his part of the partnership contract.

c. A partner has been guilty of such conduct as tends to affect prejudicially the carrying on of the business.

d. A partner wilfully or persistently commits a breach of the partnership agreement, or otherwise so conducts himself in matters relating to the partnership business that it is not reasonably practicable to carry on the business in partnership with him.

e. The business of the partnership can only be carried on at a loss.

f. Other circumstances render a dissolution equitable.

2. On the application of the purchaser of a partner's interest under sections 5840 or 5841:

a. After the termination of the specified term or particular undertaking.

b. At any time if the partnership was a partnership at will when the interest was assigned or when the charging order was issued. ['19, c. 154, § 32, p. 503.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Causes of dissolution: § 5843.

§ 5845. General effect of dissolution on authority of partner. Except so far as may be necessary to wind up partnership affairs or to complete transactions begun but not then finished, dissolution terminates all authority of any partner to act for the partnership.

1. With respect to the partners.

a. When the dissolution is not by the act, bankruptcy or death of a partner; or

b. When the dissolution is by such act, bankruptcy or death of a partner, in cases where section 5846 so requires.

2. With respect to persons not partners, as declared in section 5847. ['19, c. 154, § 33, p. 504.]

§ 5846. Right of partner to contribution from copartners after dissolution. Where the dissolution is caused by the act, death or bankruptcy of a partner, each partner is liable to his copartners for his share of any liability created by any partner acting for the partnership as if the partnership had not been dissolved unless

a. The dissolution being by act of any partner, the partner acting for the partnership had knowledge of the dissolution, or

b. The dissolution being by the death or bankruptcy of a partner, the partner acting for the partnership had knowledge or notice of the death or bankruptcy. ['19, c. 154, § 34, p. 504.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Effect of dissolution on authority of partner: § 5845.

§ 5847. Power of partner to bind partnership to third persons after dissolution. 1. After dissolution a partner can bind the partnership except as provided in paragraph 3

a. By any act appropriate for winding up partnership affairs or completing transactions unfinished at dissolution.

b. By any transaction which would bind the partnership if dissolution had not taken place, provided the other party to the transaction

(1) Had extended credit to the partnership prior to dissolution and had no knowledge or notice of the dissolution; or

(2) Though he had not so extended credit, had nevertheless known of the partnership prior to dissolution, and, having no knowledge or notice of dissolution, the fact of dissolution had not been advertised in a newspaper of general circulation in the place (or in each place if more than one) at which the partnership business was regularly carried on.

2. The liability of a partner under paragraph 1b shall be satisfied out of partnership assets alone when such partner had been prior to dissolution

a. Unknown as a partner to the person with whom the contract is made; and

b. So far unknown and inactive in partnership affairs that the business reputation of the partnership could not be said to have been in any degree due to his connection with it.

3. The partnership is in no case bound by any act of a partner after dissolution

a. Where the partnership is dissolved because it is unlawful to carry on the business, unless the act is appropriate for winding up partnership affairs; or

b. Where the partner has become bankrupt; or

c. Where the partner has no authority to wind up partnership affairs; except by a transaction with one who

(1) Had extended credit to the partnership prior to dissolution and had no knowledge or notice of his want of authority; or

(2) Had not extended credit to the partnership prior to dissolution and, having no knowledge or notice of his want of authority, the fact of his want of authority has not been advertised in the manner provided for advertising the fact of dissolution in paragraph 1b (2).

4. Nothing in this section shall affect the liability under section 5828 of any person who after dissolution represents himself or consents to another person representing him as a partner in a partnership engaged in carrying on business. ['19, c. 154, § 35, p. 504.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Effect of dissolution on authority of partner: § 5845.

§ 5848. Effect of dissolution on partner's existing liability. 1. The dissolution of the partnership does not of itself discharge the existing liability of any partner.

2. A partner is discharged from any existing liability upon dissolution of the partnership by an agreement to that effect between himself, the partnership creditor and the person or partnership continuing the business; and such agreement may be inferred from the course of dealing between the creditor having knowledge of the dissolution and the person or partnership continuing the business.

3. Where a person agrees to assume the existing obligations of a dissolved partnership, the partners whose obligations have been assumed shall be discharged from any liability to any creditor of the partnership who, knowing of the agreement, consents to a material alteration in the nature or time of payment of such obligations.

4. The individual property of a deceased partner shall be liable for all obligations of the partnership incurred while he was a partner but subject to the prior payment of his separate debts. ['19, c. 154, § 36, p. 506.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Rights of partners to application of partnership property: § 5850.

§ 5849. Right to wind up. Unless otherwise agreed the partners who have not wrongfully dissolved partnership or the legal representative of the last surviving partner, not bankrupt, has the right to wind up the partnership affairs: Provided, however, That any partner, his legal representative or his assignee, upon cause shown, may obtain winding up by the court. ['19, c. 154, § 37, p. 506.]

§ 5850. Rights of partners to application of partnership property. 1. When dissolution is caused in any way, except in contravention of the partnership agreement, each partner, as against his copartners and all persons claiming through them in respect of their interests in the partnership, unless otherwise agreed, may have the partnership property applied to discharge its liabilities, and the surplus applied to pay in cash the net amount owing to the respective partners. But if dissolution is caused by expulsion of a partner, bona fide under the partnership agreement and if the expelled partner is discharged from all partnership liabilities, either by payment or agreement under section 5848, paragraph 2, he shall receive in cash only the net amount due him from the partnership.

2. When dissolution is caused in contravention of the partnership agreement the rights of the partners shall be as follows:

a. Each partner who has not caused dissolution wrongfully shall have

(1) All the rights specified in paragraph 1 of this section, and

(2) The right, as against each partner who has caused the dissolution wrongfully, to damages for breach of the agreement.

b. The partners who have not caused the dissolution wrongfully, if they all desire to continue the business in the same name, either by themselves or jointly with others, may do so, during the agreed term for the partnership and for that purpose may possess the partnership property, provided they secure the payment by bond approved by the court, or pay to any partner who has caused the dissolution wrongfully, the value of his interest in the partnership at the dissolution, less any damages recoverable under clause 2a (2) of this section, and in like manner indemnify him against all present or future partnership liabilities.

c. A partner who has caused the dissolution wrongfully shall have

(1) If the business is not continued under the provisions of paragraph 2b all the rights of a partner under paragraph 1, subject to clause 2a (2), of this section.

(2) If the business is continued under paragraph 2b of this section the right as against his copartners and all claiming through them in respect to their interests in the partnership, to have the value of his interest in the partnership, less any damage caused to his copartners by the dissolution, ascertained and paid to him in cash, or the payment secured by bond approved by the court, and to be released from all existing liabilities of the partnership; but in ascertaining the value of the partner's interest the value of the good will of the business shall not be considered. ['19, c. 154, § 38, p. 506.]

Cross ref. Express references to this section: Liability of persons continuing the business in certain cases: § 5853. Rights of retiring partner or estate of deceased partner when business is continued: § 5854.

§ 5851. Rights where partnership is dissolved for fraud or misrepresentation. Where a partnership contract is rescinded on the ground of the fraud or misrepresentation of one of the parties thereto, the party entitled to rescind is, without prejudice to any other right, entitled

a. To a lien on, or right of retention of, the surplus of the partnership property after satisfying the partnership liabilities to third persons for any sum of money paid by him for the purchase of an interest in the partnership and for any capital or advances contributed by him; and

b. To stand, after all liabilities to third persons have been satisfied, in the place of the creditors of the partnership for any payments made by him in respect of the partnership liabilities; and

c. To be indemnified by the person guilty of the fraud or making the representation against all debts and liabilities of the partnership. ['19, c. 154, § 39, p. 507.]

§ 5852. Rules for distribution. In settling accounts between the partners after dissolution, the following rules shall be observed, subject to any agreement to the contrary:

a. The assets of the partnership are:

(1) The partnership property.

(2) The contributions of the partners necessary for the payment of all the liabilities specified in clause b of this paragraph.

b. The liabilities of the partnership shall rank in order of payment, as follows:

(1) Those owing to creditors other than partners.

(2) Those owing to partners other than for capital and profits.

(3) Those owing to partners in respect of capital.

(4) Those owing to partners in respect of profits.

c. The assets shall be applied in the order of their declaration in clause a of this paragraph to the satisfaction of the liabilities.

d. The partners shall contribute, as provided by section 5830 the amount necessary to satisfy the liabilities; but if any, but not all, of the partners are insolvent, or, not being subject to process, refuse to contribute, the other partners shall contribute their share of the liabilities, and, in the relative proportions in which they share the profits, the additional amount necessary to pay the liabilities.

e. An assignee for the benefit of creditors or any person appointed by the court shall have the right to enforce the contributions specified in clause d of this paragraph.

f. Any partner or his legal representative shall have the right to enforce the contributions specified in clause d of this paragraph, to the extent of the amount which he has paid in excess of his share of the liability.

g. The individual property of a deceased partner shall be liable for the contributions specified in clause d of this paragraph.

h. When partnership property and the individual properties of the partners are in the possession of a court for distribution, partnership creditors shall have priority on partnership property and separate creditors on individual property, saving the rights of lien or secured creditors as heretofore.

i. Where a partner has become bankrupt or his estate is insolvent the claims against his separate property shall rank in the following order:

(1) Those owing to separate creditors.

(2) Those owing to partnership creditors.

(3) Those owing to partners by way of contribution. ['19, c. 154, § 40, p. 508.]

§ 5853. Liability of persons continuing the business in certain cases.

1. When any new partner is admitted into an existing partnership, or when any partner retires and assigns (or the representative of the deceased partner assigns) his rights in partnership property to two or more of the partners, or to one or more of the partners and one or more third person, if the business is continued without liquidation of the partnership affairs, creditors of the first or dissolved partnership are also creditors of the partnership so continuing the business.

2. When all but one partner retire and assign (or the representative of a deceased partner assigns) their rights in partnership property to the remaining partner, who continues the business without liquidation of partnership affairs, either alone or with others, creditors of the dissolved partnership are also creditors of the person or partnership so continuing the business.

3. When any partner retires or dies and the business of the dissolved partnership is continued as set forth in paragraphs 1 and 2 of this section, with the consent of the retired partners or the representative of the deceased partner, but without any assignment of his right in partnership property, rights of creditors of the dissolved partnership and of the creditors of the person or partnership continuing the business shall be as if such assignment had been made.

4. When all the partners or their representatives assign their rights in partnership property to one or more third persons who promise to pay the debts and who continue the business of the dissolved partnership, creditors of the dissolved partnership are also creditors of the person or partnership continuing the business.

5. When any partner wrongfully causes a dissolution and the remaining partners continue the business under the provisions of section 5850, paragraph 2b, either alone or with others, and without liquidation of the partnership affairs, creditors of the dissolved partnership are also creditors of the person or partnership continuing the business.

6. When a partner is expelled and the remaining partners continue the business either alone or with others, without liquidation of the partnership affairs, creditors of the dissolved partnership are also creditors of the person or partnership continuing the business.

7. The liability of a third person becoming a partner in the partnership continuing the business, under this section, to the creditors of the dissolved partnership shall be satisfied out of partnership property only.

8. When the business of a partnership after dissolution is continued under any conditions set forth in this section the creditors of the dissolved partnership, as against the separate creditors of the retiring or deceased partner or the representative of the deceased partner, have a prior right to any claim of the retired partner or the representative of the deceased partner against the person or partnership continuing the business, on account of the retired or deceased partner's interest in the dissolved partnership or on account of any consideration promised for such interest or for his right in partnership property.

9. Nothing in this section shall be held to modify any right of creditors to set aside any assignment on the ground of fraud.

10. The use by the person or partnership continuing the business of the partnership name, or the name of a deceased partner as part thereof, shall not of itself make the individual property of the deceased partner liable for any debts contracted by such person or partnership. ['19, c. 154, § 41, p. 509.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Rights of retiring partner or estate of deceased partner when business is continued: § 5854.

§ 5854. Rights of retiring or estate of deceased partner when the business is continued. When any partner retires or dies, and the business is continued under any of the conditions set forth in section 5853, paragraphs 1, 2, 3, 5 and 6, or section 5850, paragraph 2b, without any settlement of accounts as between him or his estate and the person or partnership continuing the business, unless otherwise agreed, he or his legal representative as against such persons or partnership may have the value of his interest at the date of dissolution ascertained, and shall receive as an ordinary creditor an amount equal to the value of his interest in the dissolved partnership with interest, or, at his option or at the option of his legal representative, in lieu of interest, the profits attributable to the use of his right in the property of the dissolved partnership: Provided, That the creditors of the dissolved partnership as against the separate creditors, or the representative of the retired or deceased partner, shall have priority on any claim arising under this section, as provided by section 5853, paragraph 8. ['19, c. 154, § 42, p. 510.]

§ 5855. Accrual of actions. The right to an account of his interest shall accrue to any partner, or his legal representative, as against the winding up partners or the surviving partners or the person or partnership continuing the business, at the date of dissolutions, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary. ['19, c. 154, § 43, p. 511.]

CHAPTER 230.

MINING PARTNERSHIP.

§ 5856. [3361] When mining partnership exists. A mining partnership exists when two or more persons who own or acquire a mining claim for the purpose of working it and extracting the mineral therefrom, actually engage in working the same. [R. S. § 3300.]

Mont. Civ. C. § 3350 identical. Madar v. Norman (1907) 13 I. 585, 589, 92 P. 572.

Definition: The term "mining claim" as used herein includes patented as well as unpatented mining ground. (Dis. op.) Salisbury v. Lane (1900) 7 I. 370, 63 P. 383.

Constitution of mining partnership: Parties who acquire a mine for the purpose of working it and actually engage in working the same, comprise a mining partnership although they do not own the same. Haskins v. Curran (1895) 4 I. 573, 43 P. 559. Nor is it necessary that all the coowners in the claim shall engage in working it, either together or separately, in order to constitute a mining partnership. Hawkins v. Spokane etc. Co. (1891) 3 I. 241, 28 P. 433.

To constitute a mining partnership it is essential that the coowners actually engage in working the mine or in the business of operating it; the cotenancy of two or more persons in a mining claim is not of itself sufficient to constitute such tenants mining partners. Madar v. Norman, supra.

It is not essential that all the tenants join in the working or business of mining in order to establish a mining partnership; that relation may be established among such coowners as have actually engaged in the working or mining operation; those not so engaged will be left to their right and be chargeable by their duties as cotenants only. Ib.

§ 5857. [3362] Express agreement not necessary. An express agreement to become partners or to share the profits and losses of mining is not necessary to the formation or existence of a mining partnership. The relation arises from the ownership of shares or interests in the mine and working the same for the purpose of extracting the minerals therefrom. [R. S. § 3301.]

Agreement unnecessary: A mining partnership exists without any agreement, either expressed or implied, and the relation differs in this from that of tenants in common. Hawkins v. Spokane etc. M. Co. (1891) 3 I. 241, 28 P. 433.

§ 5858. [3363] Sharing profits and losses. A member of a mining partnership shares in the profits and losses thereof in the proportion which the interest or share he owns in the mine, bears to the whole partnership capital or whole number of shares. [R. S. § 3302.]

[3364] Lien of partners and creditors. Each member of a mining partnership has a lien on the partnership property for the debts due the creditors thereof, and for money advanced by him for its use. A lien exists in favor of the creditors notwithstanding there is an agreement among the partners that it must not. [R. S. § 3303.]

Rights of majority: Those owning a majority of the shares or interests in a mining partnership have the right to control its methods of working; therefore, a majority owner of the shares in a mining partnership is entitled to an injunction to restrain the other partners from working a claim except in the manner directed by him. Hawkins v. Spokane etc. M. Co. (1891)

3 I. 241, 28 P. 433. The minority owner has the right to inspect the property to ascertain its value and the methods in use for working the same, so far as may be necessary for the protection of his interest and to enable him to dispose of the same, but he cannot work it against the protest of the majority owners. Hawkins v. Spokane etc. M. Co. (1893) 3 I. 650, 33 P. 40.

§ 5866. [3371] Partnership contracts may be recorded. Written contracts relating to prospecting or mining, or the formation of copartnership for that purpose, when signed by the parties thereto and indorsed by at least one witness, may be recorded in the office of the county recorder of the county wherein it is proposed to prosecute the business of said copartnership, or where the property affected by such contract is situated. TITLE XLVII. NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS.

CHAPTER 231.

UNIFORM NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS LAW.

Note: This law recommended by the national conference of commissioners on uniform state laws has been adopted in 50 states, territories and federal districts. In 1917 the only jurisdictions which had not adopted it were Georgia, Porto Rico and Texas.

As codified in Compiled Laws the original enactment of '03, p. 380, S. B. 86, which contained a great many clerical errors and variant readings from the uniform act, was corrected to conform to that act. This was in harmony with the original purpose of the enactment, as shown by its title: "An act relating to negotiable instruments (being an act to establish a law uniform with the laws of other states on that subject)."

Interpretation: The later uniform acts drafted subsequent to the negotiable instruments act contain a provision that: "This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it." While the uniform negotiable instruments act does not contain this section, yet the courts have interpreted it in harmony with the principles of this section. Rockfield v. First Nat. Bk. of Springfield, 77 Ohio St. 311; Downey v. O'Keefe, 26 R. I. 571; Thorpe v. White, 188 Mass. 333; Toole v. Crafts, 193 Mass. 110; Gibbs v. Guaraglia (N. J.) 67 Atlantic Rep. 81; Baumeister v. Kuntz (Fla.) 42 South. Rep. 886; Farquahar Co. v. Hingham (N. D.) 112 N. W. Rep. 557; Vander Ploeg v. Van Zunk (Iowa) 112 N. W. 807; in Rockfield v. First Nat. Bk., supra, Mr. Justice Spear said (pp. 329-331): "It is so much a matter of common knowledge as to make it proper to take judicial notice of the fact, that the act herein considered was enacted because of an effort on the part of the bar of many, if not all of the states of the union, to bring about a uniform system of law respecting negotiable instruments. . . . . That this purpose was prominent in the minds of the members of our general assembly in the enactment of the Ohio act is shown by the title of the act itself which is, 'An act to establish a law uniform with the laws of other states on negotiable instruments.' The desirability of such legislation had been long felt by commercial people of our state as well as by the judiciary and the bar at large. . . . . The purpose of the act is to bring Ohio into harmony with the other states of the union on so important a branch of the law as the relation of parties to commercial paper."

FORM AND INTERPRETATION.

Cross ref. Uniform bills of lading law: c. 233.

§ 5868. [3458] Requirements of negotiable instruments. An instrument to be negotiated must conform to the following requirements:

1. It must be in writing and signed by the maker or drawer.
2. Must contain an unconditional promise or order to pay a sum certain in money.
3. Must be payable on demand or at a fixed or determinable future time.
4. Must be payable to the order of a specified person or to bearer; and,
5. Where the instrument is addressed to a drawee, he must be named or otherwise indicated therein with reasonable certainty. ['03, p. 380, § 1.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 1, reen. R. C. § 3458, reen. C. L. ib.

Instruments held nonnegotiable: A promissory note containing a stipulation whereby the sureties, guarantors, indorsers and makers waive notice of the granting of any extension of time for payment and waive the right of defense on the ground that extension has been made without notice to them or either of them, is not a "negotiable promissory note." Union Stock Yards Nat. Bk. v. Bolan (1908) 14 I. 87, 93 P. 508, 125 A. S. R. 146.

A recital in a title-retaining note that the title to the property for which it is given shall remain in the payee and that he shall have the right to take possession of it whenever he may deem himself insecure, even before maturity of the note, renders such instrument nonnegotiable under the provisions of this and § 5872. Kimpton v. Studebaker Bros. (1908) 14 I. 522, 94 P. 1039, 125 A. S. R. 185, 14 Ann. Cas. 1126.

County warrants are not negotiable paper in the sense that a transferee for value is protected from a defense available against the original payee. Dexter Horton T. & S. Bk. v. Clearwater Co. (1916) 235 F. 743.

§ 5869. When sum payable is a sum certain. The sum payable is a sum certain within the meaning of this chapter; although it is to be paid:

1. With interest; or,
2. By stated instalments; or,
3. By stated instalments, with a provision that upon default in payment of any instalment, or of interest, the whole shall become due; or,
4. With exchange, whether at a fixed rate or at the current rate; or,
5. With costs of collection or an attorney's fee, in case payment shall not be made at maturity. [C. L. § 3459.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 2, reen. R. C. § 3459; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

Option to declare due: Where it is stipulated in a promissory note that "the whole sum of both principal and interest shall become immediately due and collectible at the option of the holder of the note" if payment of interest and principal instalments are not made when due, such stipulation is a penalty, and will not be enforced as to the interest not yet earned on the principal. Tipton v. Ellsworth (1910) 18 I. 207, 109 P. 134.

Attorney's fees: Subd. 5 provides that costs of collection or attorney's fees in case payment shall not be made at maturity may be stipulated for. That may be done in an interest note as well as in a principal note. Such provision does not constitute usury. Tipton v. Ellsworth, supra.

§ 5870. [3460] When promise is unconditional. An unqualified order or promise to pay is unconditional within the meaning of this chapter, though coupled with:

1. An indication of a particular fund out of which reimbursement is to be made, or a particular account to be debited with the amount; or,
2. A statement of the transaction which gives rise to the instrument. But an order or promise to pay out of a particular fund is not unconditional. ['03, p. 380, § 3.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 3, reen. R. C. § 3460, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5871. [3461] Determinable future time: What constitutes. An instrument is payable at a determinable future time, within the meaning of this chapter, which is expressed to be payable:

1. At a fixed rate period after date or sight; or,
2. On or before a fixed or determinable future time specified therein; or
3. On or at a fixed period after the occurrence of a specified event, which is certain to happen, though the time of happening be uncertain.

An instrument payable upon a contingency is not negotiable, and the happening of the event does not cure the defect. ['03, p. 380, § 4.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 4, reen. R. C. § 3461, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5872. [3462] Provisions which do not affect negotiability. An instrument which contains an order or promise to do an act in addition to the payment of money is not negotiable. But the negotiable character of an instrument otherwise negotiable is not affected by a provision which:

1. Authorizes the sale of collateral securities in case the instrument be not paid at maturity; or,
2. Authorizes a confession of judgment if the instrument be not paid at maturity; or,
3. Waives the benefit of any law intended for the advantage or protection of the obligor; or,
4. Gives the holder an election to require something to be done in lieu of payment of money.

But nothing in this section shall validate any provision or stipulation otherwise illegal. ['03, p. 380, § 5.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 5, reen. R. C. § 3462, reen. C. L. ib.

When not negotiable: A recital in a title-retaining note that the title to the property for which it is given shall remain in the payee and that he shall have the right to take possession of it whenever he may deem himself insecure, even before maturity of the note, renders such instrument nonnegotiable under the provisions of this and § 5868. Kimpton v. Studebaker Bros. (1908) 14 I. 522, 94 P. 1039, 125 A. S. R. 185, 14 Ann. Cas. 1126.

§ 5873. [3463] Facts which do not affect validity. The validity and negotiable character of an instrument are not affected by the fact that:

1. It is not dated; or,
2. Does not specify the value given, or that any value has been given therefor; or,
3. Does not specify the place where it is drawn or the place where it is payable; or,
4. Bears a seal; or,
5. Designates a particular kind of current money in which payment is to be made.

But nothing in this section shall alter or repeal any statute requiring in certain cases the nature of the consideration to be stated in the instrument. ['03, p. 380, § 6.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 6, reen. R. C. § 3463, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5874. [3464] When payable on demand. An instrument is payable on demand:

1. Where it is expressed to be payable on demand, or at sight, or on presentation; or,
2. In which no time for payment is expressed.

Where an instrument is issued, accepted or indorsed when overdue, it is, as regards the person so issuing, accepting or indorsing it, payable on demand. ['03, p. 380, § 7.]

§ 5875. [3465] When payable to order. The instrument is payable to order where it is drawn payable to the order of a specified person or to him or his order. It may be drawn payable to the order of:

1. A payee who is not maker, drawer or drawee; or,
2. The drawer or maker; or,

3. The drawee; or,
4. Two or more payees jointly; or,
5. One or some of several payees; or,
6. The holder of an office for the time being.

Where the instrument is payable to order, the payee must be named or otherwise indicated therein with reasonable certainty. ['03, p. 380, § 8.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 8, reen. R. C. § 3465, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5876. [3466] When payable to bearer. The instrument is payable to bearer:

1. When it is expressed to be so payable; or,
2. When it is payable to a person named therein or bearer; or,
3. When it is payable to the order of a fictitious or nonexisting person, and such fact was known to the person making it so payable; or,
4. When the name of the payee does not purport to be the name of any person; or,
5. When the only or last indorsement is an indorsement in blank. ['03, p. 380, § 9.]

§ 5877. Language of instrument: What terms sufficient. The instrument need not follow the language of this chapter, but any terms are sufficient which clearly indicate an intention to conform to the requirements hereof. [C. L. § 3467.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 10, reen. R. C. § 3467; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5878. Presumption as to date. Where the instrument or an acceptance or any indorsement thereon is dated, such date is deemed prima facie to be the true date of the making, drawing, acceptance or indorsement, as the case may be. [C. L. § 3468.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 11, reen. R. C. § 3468; compiled and reen C. L. ib.

§ 5879. [3469] Effect of antedating and postdating. The instrument is not invalid for the reason only that it is antedated or postdated, provided this is not done for an illegal or fraudulent purpose. The person to whom an instrument so dated is delivered acquires the title thereto as of the date of delivery. ['03, p. 380, § 12.]

§ 5880. [3470] Blank date may be filled by holder. When an instrument expressed to be payable at a fixed period after date is issued undated, or where the acceptance of an instrument payable at a fixed period after sight is undated, any holder may insert therein the true date of issue or acceptance, and the instrument shall be payable accordingly. The insertion of a wrong date does not avoid the instrument in the hands of a subsequent holder in due course; but as to him, the date so inserted is to be regarded as the true date. ['03, p. 380, § 13.]

§ 5881. Completion of instrument by holder. Where the instrument is wanting in any material particular, the person in possession thereof has a prima facie authority to complete it by filling up the blanks therein. And a signature on a blank paper delivered by the person making the signature in order that the paper may be converted into a negotiable instrument operates as a prima facie authority to fill it up as such for any amount. In order, however, that any such instrument when completed may be enforced against any person who became a party thereto prior to its completion, it must be filled up strictly in accordance with the authority given and within a reasonable time. But if any such instrument after completion is negotiated to a holder in due course, it is valid and effectual for all purposes in his hands, and he may enforce it as if it had been filled up strictly in accordance with the authority given and within a reasonable time. [C. L. § 3471.]

§ 5882. [3472] Incomplete instrument not delivered. Where an incomplete instrument has not been delivered it will not, if completed and negotiated without authority, be a valid contract in the hands of any holder, as against any person whose signature was placed thereon before delivery. ['03, p. 380, § 15.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 15, reen. R. C. § 3472, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5883. [3473] Necessity for delivery: Presumption of: When effectual: When presumed. Every contract on a negotiable instrument is incomplete and revocable until delivery of the instrument for the purpose of giving effect thereto. As between immediate parties, and as regards a remote party other than a holder in due course, the delivery, in order to be effectual, must be made either by or under the authority of the party making, drawing, accepting or indorsing, as the case may be; and in such case the delivery may be shown to have been conditional or for a special purpose only, and not for the purpose of transferring the property in the instrument.

But where the instrument is in the hands of a holder in due course, a valid delivery thereof by all parties prior to him so as to make them liable to him, is conclusively presumed. And where the instrument is no longer in the possession of a party whose signature appears thereon, a valid and intentional delivery by him is presumed until the contrary is proved. ['03, p. 380, § 16.]

Parol evidence: When admissible: Parol evidence is admissible in a suit between the original parties to show that the note was never delivered as a present contract. Barker v. Dulaney, 153 U. S. 228, 38 L. ed. 698, 14 S. Ct. 816, reversing 2 I. 719.

"Delivery" defined: "Delivery" imports such a transfer of the instrument to another as will enable the latter to hold it for himself. If the maker has only put the paper into the hands of his agent to hold as such, he has not delivered it. Lewis Co. v. S. Bk. of Peck (1918) 31 I. 244, 170 P. 98.

§ 5884. [3474] Construction where instrument is ambiguous. Where the language of the instrument is ambiguous, or there are omissions therein, the following rules of construction apply:

1. Where the sum payable is expressed in words and also in figures and there is a discrepancy between the two, the sum denoted by the words is the sum payable; but if the words are ambiguous or uncertain, reference may be had to the figures to fix the amount.

2. Where the instrument provides for the payment of interest, without specifying the date from which interest is to run, the interest runs from the date of the instrument, and if the instrument is undated, from the issue thereof.

3. Where the instrument is not dated, it will be considered to be dated as of the time it was issued.

4. Where there is conflict between the written and printed provisions of the instrument, the written provisions prevail.

5. Where the instrument is so ambiguous that there is doubt whether it is a bill or a note, the holder may treat it as either, at his election.

6. Where a signature is so placed upon the instrument that it is not clear in what capacity the person making the same intended to sign, he is to be deemed an indorser.

7. Where an instrument containing the words "I promise to pay" is signed by two or more persons, they are deemed to be jointly and severally liable thereon. ['03, p. 380, § 17.]

Applied to guaranty: A contract of guaranty indorsed upon the back of a promissory note in the following words: "For value received I hereby guarantee the payment of the within note and waive protest, demand and notice of nonpayment thereof," is a several as well as a joint obligation of each person who executes such contract. Miller v. Lewiston Nat. Bk. (1910) 18 I. 124, 108 P. 901.

§ 5885. [3475] Liability of person signing trade or assumed name. No person is liable on the instrument whose signature does not appear thereon except as herein otherwise expressly provided. But one who signs in a trade or assumed name will be liable to the same extent as if he had signed in his own name. ['03, p. 380, § 18.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 18, reen. R. C. § 3475, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5886. [3476] Signature by agent: Authority: How shown. The signature of any party may be made by a duly authorized agent. No particular form of appointment is necessary for this purpose; and the authority of the agent may be established as in other cases of agency. ['03, p. 380, § 19.]

Hist. '03, § 380, § 19, reen. R. C. § 3476, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5887. [3477] Liability of person signing as agent. Where the instrument contains, or a person adds to his signature, words indicating that he signs for or on behalf of the principal, or in a representative capacity, he is not liable on the instrument if he was duly authorized; but the mere addition of words describing him as an agent, or as filling a representative character without disclosing his principal, does not exempt him from personal liability. ['03, p. 380, § 20.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 20, reen. R. C. § 3477, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5888. Signature by procuration: Effect of. A signature by "procuration" operates as notice that the agent has but a limited authority to sign, and the principal is bound only in case the agent in so signing acted within the actual limits of his authority. [C. L. § 3478.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 21, reen. R. C. § 3478; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5889. [3479] Effect of indorsement by corporation or infant. The indorsement or assignment of the instrument by a corporation or by an infant passes the property therein, notwithstanding that from want of capacity the corporation or infant may incur no liability thereon. ['03, p. 380, § 22.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 22, reen. R. C. § 3479, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5890. [3480] Forged signature: Effect of. Where a signature is forged or made without the authority of the person whose signature it purports to be, it is wholly inoperative, and no right to retain the instrument, or to give a discharge therefor, or to enforce payment thereof against any party thereto, can be acquired through or under such signature, unless the party against whom it is sought to enforce such right is precluded from setting up the forgery or want of authority. ['03, p. 380, § 23.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 23, reen. R. C. § 3480, reen. C. L. ib.

ARTICLE 2.

CONSIDERATION.

§ 5891. [3481] Presumption of consideration. Every negotiable instrument is deemed prima facie to have been issued for a valuable consideration, and every person whose signature appears thereon to have become a party thereto for value. ['03, p. 380, § 24.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 24, reen. R. C. § 3481, reen. C. L. ib.

Woman's separate contracts: The presumption of this section does not affect the rule that a married woman cannot bind herself personally for the payment of a debt that was not contracted for her own use or benefit or for the use or benefit of her separate estate. McFarland v. Johnson (1912) 22 I. 694, 127 P. 911.

§ 5892. [3482] Value defined. Value is any consideration sufficient to support a simple contract. An antecedent or preexisting debt constitutes value, and is deemed such, whether the instrument is payable on demand or at a future time. ['03, p. 380, § 25.]

Applied: An existing debt may be represented by the maker's own note and the surrender of such note will be a good consideration for a new obligation. Fidelity S. Bk. v. Miller (1916) 29 I. 777, 162 P. 244.

§ 5893. [3483] Holder for value defined. Where value has at any time been given for the instrument, the holder is deemed a holder for value in respect to all parties who became such prior to that time. ['03, p. 380, § 26.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 26, reen. R. C. § 3483, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5894. Lienor a holder for value: To what extent. Where the holder has a lien on the instrument, arising either from contract or by implication of law, he is deemed a holder for value to the extent of his lien. [C. L. § 3484.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 27, reen. R. C. § 3484; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5895. Effect of want of consideration. Absence or failure of consideration is matter of defense as against any person not a holder in due course, and partial failure of consideration is a defense pro tanto, whether the failure is an ascertained and liquidated amount or otherwise. [C. L. § 3485.]

Fraud a necessary element to constitute defense: Inadequacy of consideration is no defense to an action on a promissory note unless there was fraud also on the part of the promisee. Harshbarger v. Eby (1916) 28 I. 753, 156 P. 619.

§ 5896. [3486] Accommodation party defined: Liability. An accommodation party is one who has signed the instrument as maker, drawer, acceptor or indorser, without receiving value therefor, and for the purpose of lending his name to some other person. Such a person is liable on the instrument to a holder for value, notwithstanding such holder at the time of taking the instrument knew him to be only an accommodation party. ['03, p. 380, § 29.]

ARTICLE 3.

NEGOTIATION.

§ 5897. [3487] What constitutes negotiation. An instrument is negotiated when it is transferred from one person to another in such manner as to constitute the transferee the holder thereof; if payable to bearer, it is negotiated by delivery; if payable to order, it is negotiated by the indorsement of the holder, completed by delivery. ['03, p. 380, § 30.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 30, reen. R. C. § 3487, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5898. [3488] Indorsement: How made. The indorsement must be written on the instrument itself or upon a paper attached thereto. The signature of the indorser, without additional words, is a sufficient indorsement. ['03, p. 380, § 31.]

§ 5899. [3489] Indorsement must be of entire instrument. The indorsement must be an indorsement of the entire instrument. An indorsement which purports to transfer to the indorsee a part only of the amount payable, or which purports to transfer the instrument to two or more indorsees severally, does not operate as a negotiation of the instrument. But where the instrument has been paid in part, it may be indorsed as to the residue. ['03, p. 380, § 32.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 32, reen. R. C. § 3489, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5900. [3490] Kinds of indorsement. An indorsement may be either in blank or special; and it may also be either restrictive or qualified or conditional. ['03, p. 380, § 33.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 33, reen. R. C. § 3490, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5901. [3491] Special and blank indorsements defined. A special indorsement specifies the person to whom or to whose order the instrument is to be payable; and the indorsement of such indorsee is necessary to the further negotiation of the instrument. An indorsement in blank specifies no indorsee, and an instrument so indorsed is payable to bearer, and may be negotiated by delivery. ['03, p. 380, § 34.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 34, reen. R. C. § 3491, reen. C. L. ib.

Applied to forgery: A check indorsed in blank by the payee can pass from hand to hand without further indorsement, and so the cashing of a check on which the payee's name has been forged raises no presumption that the person so cashing it was the forger. S. v. Miles (1912) 22 I. 166, 124 P. 786.

§ 5902. [3492] Blank indorsement converted into special. The holder may convert a blank indorsement into a special indorsement by writing over the signature of the indorser in blank any contract consistent with the character of the indorsement. ['03, p. 380, § 35.]

§ 5903. [3493] Restrictive indorsement defined. An indorsement is restrictive which either:

1. Prohibits the further negotiation of the instrument; or,
2. Constitutes the indorsee the agent of the indorser; or,

3. Vests the title in the indorsee in trust for or to the use of some other person. But the mere absence of words implying power to negotiate does not make an indorsement restrictive. ['03, p. 380, § 36.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 36, reen. R. C. § 3493, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5904. [3494] Effect of restrictive indorsement: Rights of indorsee. A restrictive indorsement confers upon the indorsee the right:

1. To receive payment of the instrument.
2. To bring any action thereon that the indorser could bring.
3. To transfer his rights as such indorsee, where the form of the indorsement authorizes him to do so.

But all subsequent indorsees acquire only the title of the first indorsee under the restrictive indorsement. ['03, p. 380, § 37.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 37, reen. R. C. § 3494, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5905. [3495.] Qualified indorsement. A qualified indorsement constitutes the indorser a mere assignor of the title to the instrument. It may be made by adding to the indorser's signature the words "Without recourse" or any words of similar import. Such an indorsement does not impair the negotiable character of the instrument. ['03, p. 380, § 38.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 38, reen. R. C. § 3495, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5906. Conditional indorsement. Where an indorsement is conditional, a party required to pay the instrument may disregard the condition, and make payment to the indorsee or his transferee, whether the condition has been fulfilled or not. But any person to whom an instrument so indorsed is negotiated, will hold the same, or the proceeds thereof, subject to the rights of the person indorsing conditionally. [C. L. § 3496.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 39, reen. R. C. § 3496; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5907. Indorsement of instrument payable to bearer. Where an instrument, payable to bearer, is indorsed specially, it may nevertheless be further negotiated by delivery; but the person indorsing specially is liable as indorser to only such holders as make title through his indorsement. [C. L. § 3497.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 40, reen. R. C. § 3497; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5908. [3498] Indorsement where payable to two or more persons. Where an instrument is payable to the order of two or more payees or indorsees who are not partners, all must indorse unless the one indorsing has authority to indorse for the others. ['03, p. 380, § 41.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 41, reen. R. C. § 3498, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5909. [3499] Instrument payable to cashier: Indorsement. Where an instrument is drawn or indorsed to a person as "cashier" or other fiscal officer of a bank or corporation, it is deemed prima facie to be payable to the bank or corporation of which he is such officer, and may be negotiated by either the indorsement of the bank or corporation, or the indorsement of the officer. ['03, p. 380, § 42.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 42, reen. R. C. § 3499, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5910. [3500] Misspelled names: Indorsement. Where the name of the payee or indorsee is wrongly designated or misspelled, he may indorse the instrument as therein described adding, if he think fit, his proper signature. ['03, p. 380, § 43.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 43, reen. R. C. § 3500, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5911. [3501] Indorsement in representative capacity. Where any person is under obligation to indorse in a representative capacity, he may indorse in such terms as to negative personal liability. ['03, p. 380, § 44.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 44, reen. R. C. § 3501, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5912. [3502] Presumption of negotiation before maturity. Except where an indorsement bears date after the maturity of the instrument, every negotiation is deemed prima facie to have been effected before the instrument was overdue. ['03, p. 380, § 45.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 45, reen. R. C. § 3502, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5913. [3503] Presumption as to place of indorsement. Except where the contrary appears, every indorsement is presumed prima facie to have been made at the place where the instrument is dated. ['03, p. 380, § 46.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 46, reen. R. C. § 3503, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5914. [3504] Continuation of negotiable character. An instrument negotiable in its origin continues to be negotiable until it has been restrictively indorsed or discharged by payment or otherwise. ['03, p. 380, § 47.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 47, reen. R. C. § 3504, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5915. Striking out indorsement. The holder may at any time strike out any indorsement which is not necessary to his title. The indorser whose indorsement is struck out, and all indorsers subsequent to him, are thereby relieved from liability on the instrument. [C. L. § 3505.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 48, reen. R. C. § 3505; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5916. Transfer without indorsement: Effect of. Where the holder of an instrument payable to his order transfers it for value without indorsing it, the transfer vests in the transferee such title as the transferer had therein, and the transferee acquires, in addition, the right to have the indorsement of the transferer. But for the purpose of determining whether the transferee is a holder in due course, the negotiation takes effect as of the time when the indorsement is actually made. [C. L. § 3506.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 49, reen. R. C. § 3506; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5917. [3507] When prior party may negotiate instrument. Where an instrument is negotiated back to a prior party, such party may, subject to the provisions of this chapter, reissue and further negotiate the same; but he is not entitled to enforce payment thereof against any intervening party to whom he was personally liable. ['03, p. 380, § 50.]

ARTICLE 4.

RIGHTS OF HOLDER.

§ 5918. [3508] Right of holder to sue: Payment. The holder of a negotiable instrument may sue thereon in his own name and payment to him in due course discharges the instrument. ['03, p. 380, § 51.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 51, reen. R. C. § 3508, reen. C. L. ib.

Presumption of ownership: In the absence of a specific agreement or understanding that a negotiable instrument should be a pledge the holder thereof is presumed to be the owner and entitled to maintain his action thereon. Home Land Co. v. Osborn (1910) 19 I. 95, 112 P. 764.

Holder for collection may sue: This section was adopted long after the adoption of §§ 6634-5, and must be construed in connection with the latter expression of the legislative will; and, so construed, the holder of a negotiable instrument, may, notwithstanding §§ 6634-5, sue thereon in his own name, though he is only a holder for collection. Craig v. Palo Alto Stock Farm (1909) 16 I. 701, 102 P. 393; Anderson v. Coolin (1916) 28 I. 494, 155 P. 677; Utah Imp. Vehicle Co. v. Kenyon (1917) 30 I. 407, 164 P. 1176.

§ 5919. [3509] Holder in due course defined. A holder in due course is a holder who has taken the instrument under the following conditions:

1. That the instrument is complete and regular upon its face.
2. That he became the holder of it before it was overdue, and without notice that it had been previously dishonored, if such was the fact.
3. That he took it in good faith and for value.
4. That at the time it was negotiated to him he had no notice of any infirmity in the instrument or defect in the title of the person negotiating it. ['03, p. 380, § 52.]

Applied: Facts held to show holder in due course. Nelson v. Hudgel (1913) 23 I. 327, 130 P. 85; S. W. Nat. Bk. v. Baker (1913) 23 I. 428, 130 P. 799; Burdell v. Nereson (1915) 28 I. 129, 152 P. 576; S. W. Nat. Bk. v. Lindsley (1916) 29 I. 343, 158 P. 1082.

A payee of a negotiable instrument may become a holder thereof in due course. Redfield v. Wells, 31 I. 415, 173 P. 640.

Facts held to show holder not to be in due course. Winter v. Nobs (1910) 19 I. 18, 112 P. 525, Ann. Cas. 1912C 302; Park v. Johnson (1911) 20 I. 548, 119 P. 52; Brown v. Miller (1912) 22 I. 307, 125 P. 981; Altschul v. Rogers (1912) 22 I. 512, 126 P. 1048.

Nonpayment of interest instalment: A mere failure to pay a periodical instalment of interest will not amount to a dishonor of a negotiable instrument and will not render the instrument overdue. But knowledge by the purchaser of overdue instalments of interest is a circumstance to be considered in determining his good faith in purchasing the note. Winter v. Nobs, supra.

Instructions: Instructions involving the law of this section held erroneous. Shellenberger v. Nourse, supra; Park v. Johnson, supra.

§ 5920. [3510] When person not deemed holder in due course. Where an instrument payable on demand is negotiated an unreasonable length of time after its issue the holder is not deemed a holder in due course. ['03, p. 380, § 53.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 53, reen. R. C. § 3510, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5921. [3511] Notice before full amount payment. Where the transferee receives notice of any infirmity in the instrument or defect in the title of the person negotiating the same before he has paid the full amount agreed to be paid therefor, he will be deemed a holder in due course only to the extent of the amount theretofore paid by him. ['03, p. 380, § 54.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 54, reen. R. C. § 3511, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5922. When title defective. The title of a person who negotiates an instrument is defective within the meaning of this chapter when he obtained the instrument, or any signature thereto, by fraud, duress, or force and fear, or other unlawful means, or for an illegal consideration, or when he negotiates it in breach of faith, or under such circumstances as amount to a fraud. [C. L. § 3512.]

§ 5923. [3513] What constitutes notice of defect. To constitute notice of an infirmity in the instrument or defect in the title of the person negotiating the same, the person to whom it is negotiated must have had actual knowledge of the infirmity or defect, or knowledge of such facts that his action in taking the instrument amounted to bad faith. ['03, p. 380, § 56.]

Nonpayment of interest instalment: Knowledge by the purchaser of overdue instalments of interest is a circumstance to be considered in determining his good faith in purchasing the note. Winter v. Nobs (1910) 19 I. 18, 112 P. 525, Ann. Cas. 1912C 302.

Good or bad faith: How shown: Mere suspicious circumstances are not sufficient to charge the purchaser of a promissory note with bad faith and notice of equities and defenses, but in order to charge the paper in his hands with prior equities and defenses his notice must be actual, either of the facts constituting the equities and defenses or of such circumstances that his action in taking the paper in the face of such knowledge amounts to bad faith. The rights of the holder are to be determined by the simple test of honesty and good faith, and not by speculative issues as to diligence or negligence. The good faith of a purchaser is a question of fact for the jury. Winter v. Nobs, supra.

An instruction which directs the jury that the presence of suspicious circumstances means bad faith is erroneous. The existence of suspicious circumstances alone will not destroy the good faith of a transaction, but it is such circumstances as would charge the purchaser of a note, as an ordinarily prudent man, with bad faith or notice of the infirmity in the instrument, or defect in the title of the person from whom he makes the purchase. Park v. Johnson (1911) 20 I. 548, 119 P. 52; Park v. Brandt (1911) 20 I. 660, 119 P. 877.

The purchaser of negotiable paper in due course and before maturity is under no duty to make inquiry as to the title to paper, fair and regular on its face, nor is he under any duty to inquire into the consideration given for the note or of the transaction out of which it arose. Vaughn v. Johnson (1911) 20 I. 669, 119 P. 879, 37 L. R. A. (N. S.) 816.

Whether the holder of the instrument had actual knowledge of the infirmity or defect or knowledge of such fact that his action in taking the instrument amounted to bad faith is an independent fact which must be determined upon evidence wholly independent of the original transaction in which the note was executed. Vaughn v. Johnson, supra.

The question as to the good faith of the purchaser of a negotiable promissory note, who claims to have purchased the same in due course before maturity and for a valuable consideration, is a question of fact to be determined by the jury in the light of all the facts and circumstances bearing upon the transaction. Winter v. Hutchins (1911) 20 I. 749, 119 P. 883.

In an action upon a negotiable promissory note procured by fraud, brought by an indorsee, a banking corporation, where the only evidence introduced to show that the plaintiff took the note in good faith and without notice was the testimony of the vice president and general manager of the bank, the credibility of his testimony is addressed to the jury, and not to the court as a matter of law. First Nat. Bk. v. Hall (1917) 31 I. 167, 169 P. 936.

This section is applicable in the case of one who knowingly receives partnership security in discharge of a separate claim against one of the partners. Redfield v. Wells, 31 I. 415, 173 P. 640.

Applied: Rosnagle v. Armstrong (1909) 17 I. 246, 105 P. 216; Nelson v. Hudgel (1913) 23 I. 327, 130 P. 85; S. W. Nat. Bk. v. Baker (1913) 23 I. 428, 130 P. 799; Burdell v. Nereson (1915) 28 I. 129, 152 P. 576.

§ 5925. [3515] When subject to original defenses. In the hands of any holder other than a holder in due course, a negotiable instrument is subject to the same defenses as if it were nonnegotiable. But a holder who derives his title through a holder in due course, and who is not himself a party to any fraud or illegality affecting the instrument, has all the rights of such former holder in respect of all parties prior to the latter. § 5926. [3516] Presumption as to holding in due course. Every holder is deemed prima facie to be a holder in due course; but when it is shown that the title of any person who has negotiated the instrument was defective, the burden is on the holder to prove that he or some person under whom he claims acquired the title as a holder in due course. But the last mentioned rule does not apply in favor of a party who became bound on the instrument prior to the acquisition of such defective title. ['03, p. 380, § 59.]

Weight of evidence for jury: Whether plaintiff has satisfactorily met the burden of proof to make good his claim to be an innocent purchaser is a question of fact for the jury, and is subject to the same rule as to its weight and sufficiency as any other fact in the case. Winter v. Nobs, supra. Save where the testimony is not only consistent with the good faith of the purchase, but is such that no fair-minded person could draw any other inference therefrom. S. W. Nat. Bk. v. Lindsley, supra.

Where the good faith of a party who claims to be the holder in due course is an issue upon which he has the burden of proof, the credibility of his testimony in support of that issue, though uncontradicted, is for the jury. First Nat. Bk. v. Hall, supra.

ARTICLE 5.

LIABILITIES OF PARTIES.

§ 5927. [3517] Liability of maker. The maker of a negotiable instrument by making it engages that he will pay it according to its tenor, and admits the existence of the payee and his then capacity to indorse. ['03, p. 380, § 60.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 60, reen. R. C. § 3517, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5928. Liability of drawer. The drawer by drawing the instrument admits the existence of the payee and his then capacity to indorse, and engages that on due presentment the instrument will be accepted or paid, or both, according to its tenor, and that if it be dishonored, and the necessary proceedings on dishonor be duly taken, he will pay the amount thereof to the holder, or to any subsequent indorser who may be compelled to pay it. But the drawer may insert in the instrument an express stipulation negativing or limiting his own liability to the holder. [C. L. § 3518.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 61, reen. R. C. § 3518; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5929. [3519] Liability of acceptor. The acceptor by accepting the instrument engages that he will pay it according to the tenor of his acceptance, and admits:

1. The existence of the drawer, the genuineness of his signature, and his capacity and authority to draw the instrument; and,

2. The existence of the payee and his then capacity to indorse. ['03, p. 380, § 62.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 62, reen. R. C. § 3519, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5930. [3520] When person deemed indorser. A person placing his signature upon an instrument otherwise than as maker, drawer or acceptor is deemed to be an indorser, unless he clearly indicates by appropriate words his intention to be bound in some other capacity. ['03, p. 380, § 63.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 63, reen. R. C. § 3520, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5931. [3521] Liability of irregular indorser. Where a person, not otherwise a party to an instrument, places thereon his signature in blank before delivery, he is liable as indorser in accordance with the following rules:

1. If the instrument is payable to the order of a third person, he is liable to the payee and to all subsequent parties.
2. If the instrument is payable to the order of the maker or drawer, or is payable to bearer, he is liable to all parties subsequent to the maker or drawer.
3. If he signs for the accommodation of the payee, he is liable to all parties subsequent to the payee. ['03, p. 380, § 64.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 64, reen. R. C. § 3521, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5932. [3522] Warranty where negotiation by delivery or qualified indorsement. Every person negotiating an instrument by delivery or by a qualified indorsement, warrants:

1. That the instrument is genuine and in all respects what it purports to be.
2. That he has a good title to it.
3. That all prior parties had capacity to contract.
4. That he has no knowledge of any fact which would impair the validity of the instrument or render it valueless.

But when the negotiation is by delivery only, the warranty extends in favor of no holder other than the immediate transferee.

The provisions of subdivision 3 of this section do not apply to persons negotiating public or corporate securities, other than bills and notes. ['03, p. 380, § 65.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 65, reen. R. C. § 3522, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5933. [3523] Liability of general indorser. Every indorser who indorses without qualification warrants to all subsequent holders in due course:

1. The matters and things mentioned in subdivisions 1, 2 and 3 of the next preceding section; and,
2. That the instrument is at the time of his indorsement valid and subsisting.

And, in addition, he engages that on due presentment it shall be accepted or paid, or both, as the case may be, according to its tenor, and that if it be dishonored and the necessary proceedings on dishonor be duly taken, he will pay the amount thereof to the holder, or to any subsequent indorser who may be compelled to pay it. ['03, p. 380, § 66.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 66, reen. R. C. § 3523, reen. C. L. ib.

Liability of indorser: The undertaking of an indorser is conditional; that is, his promise is that he will pay provided payment shall first have been properly demanded of the maker and due notice of the maker's neglect or refusal shall have been given. Ankeny v. Henry (1869) 1 I. 229.

§ 5934. [3524] Liability of indorser of bearer paper. Where a person places his indorsement on an instrument negotiable by delivery he incurs all the liabilities of an indorser. ['03, p. 380, § 67.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 67, reen. R. C. § 3524, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5935. [3525] Order of liability of indorsers. As respects one another, indorsers are liable prima facie in the order in which they indorse; but evidence is admissible to show that as between or among themselves they have agreed otherwise. Joint payees or joint indorsees who indorse are deemed to indorse jointly and severally. ['03, p. 380, § 68.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 68, reen. R. C. § 3525, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5936. [3526] Liability of agent or broker. Where a broker or other agent negotiates an instrument without indorsement he incurs all the liabilities prescribed by section 5932 unless he discloses the name of his principal, and the fact that he is acting only as agent. ['03, p. 380, § 69.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 69, reen. R. C. § 3526, reen. C. L. ib.

PRESENTMENT FOR PAYMENT.

§ 5937. [3527] When necessary. Presentment for payment is not necessary in order to charge the person primarily liable on the instrument; but if the instrument is, by its terms, payable at a special place, and he is able and willing to pay it there at maturity, such ability and willingness are equivalent to a tender of payment upon his part. But except as herein otherwise provided, presentment for payment is necessary in order to charge the drawer and indorsers. ['03, p. 380, § 70.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 70, reen. R. C. § 3527, reen. C. L. ib.

Demand unnecessary: Demand of payment from the maker of a promissory note at maturity is unnecessary in order to bring suit against him. Sabin v. Burke (1894) 4 I. 28, 37 P. 352.

§ 5938. [3528] When to be made. When the instrument is not payable on demand, presentment must be made on the day it falls due.

Where it is payable on demand, presentment must be made within a reasonable time after its issue, except that in case of a bill of exchange presentment for payment will be sufficient if made within a reasonable time after the last negotiation thereof. ['03, p. 380, § 71.]

§ 5939. [3529] What constitutes a sufficient presentment. Presentment for payment, to be sufficient, must be made:

1. By the holder, or by some person authorized to receive payment on his behalf.
2. At a reasonable hour on a business day.
3. At a proper place as herein defined.
4. To the person primarily liable on the instrument, or if he is absent or inaccessible, to any person found at the place where the presentment is made. ['03, p. 380, § 72.]

§ 5940. Place of presentment. Presentment for payment is made at the proper place:

1. Where a place of payment is specified in the instrument and it is there presented.
2. Where no place of payment is specified but the address of the person to make payment is given in the instrument and it is there presented.
3. Where no place of payment is specified and no address is given and the instrument is presented at the usual place of business or residence of the person to make payment.

4. In any other case, if presented to the person to make payment wherever he can be found, or if presented at his last known place of business or residence. [C. L. § 3530.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 73, reen. R. C. § 3530; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5941. [3531] Instrument must be exhibited. The instrument must be exhibited to the person from whom payment is demanded, and when it is paid must be delivered up to the party paying it. ['03, p. 380, § 74.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 74, reen. R. C. § 3531, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5942. [3532] Presentment where instrument payable at bank. Where the instrument is payable at a bank, presentment for payment must be made during banking hours, unless the person to make payment has no funds there to meet it at any time during the day, in which case presentment at any hour before the bank is closed on that day is sufficient. ['03, p. 380, § 75.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 75, reen. R. C. § 3532, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5943. [3533] Presentment where principal debtor is dead. Where the person primarily liable on the instrument is dead, and no place of payment is specified, presentment for payment must be made to his personal representative, if such there be, and if with the exercise of reasonable diligence he can be found. ['03, p. 380, § 76.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 76, reen. R. C. § 3533, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5944. [3534] Presentment to partners. Where the persons primarily liable on the instrument are liable as partners, and no place of payment is specified, presentment for payment may be made to any one of them, even though there has been a dissolution of the firm. ['03, p. 380, § 77.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 77, reen. R. C. § 3534, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5945. [3535] Presentment to joint debtors. Where there are several persons, not partners, primarily liable on the instrument, and no place of payment is specified, presentment must be made to them all. ['03, p. 380, § 78.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 78, reen. R. C. § 3535, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5946. Presentment to drawer: When unnecessary. Presentment for payment is not required in order to charge the drawer where he has no right to expect or require that the drawee or acceptor will pay the instrument. [C. L. § 3536.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 79, reen. R. C. § 3536; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5947. [3537] Presentment to indorser: When unnecessary. Presentment for payment is not required in order to charge an indorser where the instrument was made or accepted for his accommodation, and he has no reason to expect that the instrument will be paid if presented. ['03, p. 380, § 80.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 80, reen. R. C. § 3537, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5948. [3538] When delay in making presentment is excused. Delay in making presentment for payment is excused when the delay is caused by circumstances beyond the control of the holder, and not imputable to his default, misconduct or negligence.

When the cause of delay ceases to operate, presentment must be made with reasonable diligence. ['03, p. 380, § 81.]

§ 5949. [3539] When presentment is unnecessary. Presentment for payment is dispensed with:

1. Where after the exercise of reasonable diligence presentment as required by this title can not be made.
2. Where the drawee is a fictitious person.
3. By waiver of presentment, express or implied. ['03, p. 380, § 82.]

§ 5950. [3540] Dishonor by nonpayment. The instrument is dishonored by nonpayment when:

1. It is duly presented for payment and payment is refused or can not be obtained; or,
2. Presentment is excused and the instrument is overdue and unpaid. ['03, p. 380, § 83.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 83, reen. R. C. § 3540, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5951. [3541] Right of recourse to parties secondarily liable. Subject to the provisions of this chapter, when the instrument is dishonored by nonpayment, an immediate right of recourse to all parties secondarily liable thereon accrues to the holder. ['03, p. 380, § 84.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 84, reen. R. C. § 3541, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5952. Time of maturity. Every negotiable instrument is payable at the time fixed therein without grace. When the day of maturity falls upon Sunday or a holiday the instrument is payable on the next succeeding business day. Instruments falling due or becoming payable on Saturday are to be presented for payment on the next succeeding business day, except that instruments payable on demand may, at the option of the holder, be presented for payment before 12 o'clock noon on Saturday when that entire day is not a holiday. ARTICLE 7.

NOTICE OF DISHONOR.

§ 5956. [3546] To whom given. Except as herein otherwise provided, when a negotiable instrument has been dishonored by nonacceptance or nonpayment, notice of dishonor must be given to the drawer and to each indorser, and any drawer or indorser to whom such notice is not given is discharged. ['03, p. 380, § 89.]

Cited: (In brief of counsel) Bk. of Montpelier v. Montpelier L. Co. (1909) 16 I. 730.

§ 5957. [3547] By whom given. The notice may be given by or on behalf of the holder, or by or on behalf of any party to the instrument who might be compelled to pay it to the holder, and who, upon taking it up, would have a right to reimbursement from the party to whom the notice is given. ['03, p. 380, § 90.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 90, reen. R. C. § 3547, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5958. [3548] Same: By agent. Notice of dishonor may be given by an agent either in his own name or in the name of any party entitled to give notice, whether that party be his principal or not. ['03, p. 380, § 91.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 91, reen. R. C. § 3548, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5959. [3549] Effect of notice given on behalf of holder. Where notice is given by or on behalf of the holder, it inures for the benefit of all subsequent holders and all prior parties who have a right of recourse against the party to whom it is given. ['03, p. 380, § 92.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 92, reen. R. C. § 3549, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5960. [3550] Effect where notice is given by party entitled thereto. Where notice is given by or on behalf of a party entitled to give notice, it inures for the benefit of the holder and all parties subsequent to the party to whom notice is given. ['03, p. 380, § 93.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 93, reen. R. C. § 3550, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5961. [3551] When agent may give notice. Where the instrument has been dishonored in the hands of an agent, he may either himself give notice to the parties liable thereon, or he may give notice to his principal. If he gives notice to his principal, he must do so within the same time as if he were the holder, and the principal, upon the receipt of such notice, has himself the same time for giving notice as if the agent had been an independent holder. ['03, p. 380, § 94.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 94, reen. R. C. § 3551, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5962. [3552] Sufficiency of notice. A written notice need not be signed, and an insufficient written notice may be supplemented and validated by verbal communication. A misdescription of the instrument does not vitiate the notice unless the party to whom the notice is given is in fact misled thereby. ['03, p. 380, § 95.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 95, reen. R. C. § 3552, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5963. Form and service of notice. The notice may be in writing or merely oral and may be given in any terms which sufficiently identify the instrument and indicate that it has been dishonored by nonacceptance or nonpayment. It may in all cases be given by delivering it personally or through the mails. [C. L. § 3553.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 96, reen. R. C. § 3553; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5964. [3554] To whom notice may be given. Notice of dishonor may be given either to the party himself or to his agent in that behalf. ['03, p. 380, § 97.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 97, reen. R. C. § 3554, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5965. Notice where party is dead. When any party is dead, and his death is known to the party giving notice, the notice must be given to a personal representative, if there be one, and if with reasonable diligence, he can be found. If there be no personal representative, notice may be sent to the last residence or last place of business of the deceased. [C. L. § 3555.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 98, reen. R. C. § 3555; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5966. [3556] Notice to partners. Where the parties to be notified are partners, notice to any one partner is notice to the firm, even though there has been a dissolution. ['03, p. 380, § 99.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 99, reen. R. C. § 3556, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5967. [3557] Notice to joint parties. Notice to joint parties who are not partners must be given to each of them, unless one of them has authority to receive such notice for the others. ['03, p. 380, § 100.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 100, reen. R. C. § 3557, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5968. [3558] Notice to bankrupt. Where a party has been adjudged a bankrupt or an insolvent, or has made an assignment for the benefit of creditors, notice may be given either to the party himself or to his trustee or assignee. ['03, p. 380, § 101.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 101, reen. R. C. § 3558, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5969. [3559] Time within which notice must be given. Notice may be given as soon as the instrument is dishonored, and unless delay is excused as hereinafter provided, must be given within the times fixed by this chapter. ['03, p. 380, § 102.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 102, reen. R. C. § 3559, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5970. [3560] Where parties reside in same place. Where the person giving and the person to receive notice reside in the same place, notice must be given within the following times:

1. If given at the place of business of the person to receive notice, it must be given before the close of business hours on the day following.
2. If given at his residence, it must be given before the usual hours of rest on the day following.
3. If sent by mail, it must be deposited in the post office in time to reach him in the usual course on the day following. ['03, p. 380, § 103.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 103, reen. R. C. § 3560, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5971. [3561] Where parties reside in different places. Where the person giving and the person to receive notice reside in different places, the notice must be given within the following times:

1. If sent by mail, it must be deposited in the post office in time to go by mail the day following the day of dishonor, or if there be no mail at a convenient hour on that day, by the next mail thereafter.

2. If given otherwise than through the post office, then within the time that notice would have been received in due course of mail, if it had been deposited in the post office within the time specified in the last subdivision. ['03, p. 380, § 104.]

§ 5973. [3563] Deposit in post office: What constitutes. Notice is deemed to have been deposited in the post office when deposited in any branch post office or in any letter box under the control of the post office department. ['03, p. 380, § 106.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 106, reen. R. C. § 3563, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5974. [3564] Notice to antecedent party: Time of. Where a party receives notice of dishonor he has, after the receipt of such notice, the same time for giving notice to antecedent parties that the holder has after the dishonor. ['03, p. 380, § 107.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 107, reen. R. C. § 3564, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5975. Where notice must be sent. Where a party has added an address to his signature notice of dishonor must be sent to that address; but if he has not given such address, then the notice must be sent as follows:

1. Either to the post office nearest to his place of residence, or to the post office where he is accustomed to receive his letters; or,

2. If he lives in one place, and has his place of business in another, notice may be sent to either place; or,

3. If he is sojourning in another place, notice may be sent to the place where he is sojourning.

But where the notice is actually received by the party within the time specified in this chapter, it will be sufficient, though not sent in accordance with the requirements of this section. [C. L. § 3565.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 108, reen. R. C. § 3565; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5976. Waiver of notice. Notice of dishonor may be waived, either before the time of giving notice has arrived, or after the omission to give due notice, and the waiver may be express or implied. [C. L. § 3566.]

§ 5977. [3567] Parties affected by waiver. Where the waiver is embodied in the instrument itself, it is binding upon all parties, but where it is written above the signature of an indorser, it binds him only. ['03, p. 380, § 110.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 110, reen. R. C. § 3567, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5978. Waiver of protest. A waiver of protest, whether in the case of a foreign bill of exchange or other negotiable instrument, is deemed to be a waiver not only of a formal protest but also of presentment and notice of dishonor. [C. L. § 3568.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 111, reen. R. C. § 3568; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

"Protest" defined: The word "protest" in its popular sense, as generally and ordinarily used in commercial transactions, covers and includes all those acts and things necessary to be done in order to bind the indorser for the payment of the debt evidenced by the paper indorsed. Bk. of Montpelier v. Montpelier L. Co. (1909) 16 I. 730, 735, 102 P. 685.

§ 5979. [3569] When notice dispensed with. Notice of dishonor is dispensed with when, after the exercise of reasonable diligence, it can not be given to, or does not reach, the parties sought to be charged. ['03, p. 380, § 112.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 112, reen. R. C. § 3569, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5980. [3570] Delay in giving notice: How excused. Delay in giving notice of dishonor is excused when the delay is caused by circumstances beyond the control of the holder and not imputable to his default, misconduct or negligence. When the cause of delay ceases to operate, notice must be given with reasonable diligence. ['03, p. 380, § 113.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 113, reen. R. C. § 3570, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5981. [3571] When notice need not be given to drawer. Notice of dishonor is not required to be given to the drawer in either of the following cases:

1. Where the drawer and drawee are the same person.
2. Where the drawee is a fictitious person or a person not having capacity to contract.
3. Where the drawer is the person to whom the instrument is presented for payment.
4. Where the drawer has no right to expect or require that the drawee or acceptor will honor the instrument.
5. Where the drawer has countermanded payment. ['03, p. 380, § 114.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 114, reen. R. C. § 3571, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5982. [3572] When notice need not be given to indorser. Notice of dishonor is not required to be given to an indorser in either of the following cases:

1. Where the drawee is a fictitious person or a person not having capacity to contract and the indorser was aware of the fact at the time he indorsed the instrument.
2. Where the indorser is the person to whom the instrument is presented for payment.
3. Where the instrument was made or accepted, for his accommodation. ['03, p. 380, § 115.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 115, reen. R. C. § 3572, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5983. [3573] Notice of nonpayment where acceptance refused. Where due notice of dishonor by nonacceptance has been given, notice of a subsequent dishonor by nonpayment is not necessary, unless in the meantime the instrument has been accepted. ['03, p. 380, § 116.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 116, reen. R. C. § 3573, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5984. [3574] Effect of omission to give notice of nonacceptance. An omission to give notice of dishonor by nonacceptance does not prejudice the rights of a holder in due course subsequent to the omission. ['03, p. 380, § 117.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 117, reen. R. C. § 3574, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5985. [3575] Protest: When necessary. Where any negotiable instrument has been dishonored it may be protested for nonacceptance or nonpayment as the case may be; but protest is not required, except in the case of foreign bills of exchange. ['03, p. 380, § 118.]

ARTICLE 8.

DISCHARGE OF NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS.

§ 5986. [3576] How instrument discharged. A negotiable instrument is discharged:

1. By payment in due course by or on behalf of the principal debtor.
2. By payment in due course by the party accommodated, where the instrument is made or accepted for accommodation.
3. By the intentional cancellation thereof by the holder.
4. By any other act which will discharge a simple contract for the payment of money.
5. When the principal debtor becomes the holder of the instrument at or after maturity in his own right. ['03, p. 380, § 119.]

Hist '03, p. 380, § 119, reen. R. C. § 3576, reen. C. L. ib.

Cited: Fidelity S. Bk. v. Miller (1916) 29 I. 777, 162 P. 244.

§ 5987. [3577] Discharge of person secondarily liable. A person secondarily liable on the instrument is discharged:

1. By an act which discharges the instrument.
2. By the intentional cancellation of his signature by the holder.
3. By the discharge of a prior party.
4. By a valid tender of payment made by a prior party.
5. By a release of the principal debtor, unless the holder's right of recourse against the party secondarily liable is expressly reserved.
6. By any agreement binding upon the holder to extend the time of payment, or to postpone the holder's right to enforce the instrument, unless made with the assent of the party secondarily liable, or unless the right of recourse against such party is expressly reserved. ['03, p. 380, § 120.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 120, reen. R. C. § 3577, reen. C. L. ib.

Construed: This section does not apply to a case where there is default in the payment of a note by the original debtor, and by reason thereof the guarantor's liability becomes absolute; the section refers to discharges of persons secondarily liable on the instrument guaranteed, and not to persons whose contract of guaranty has become absolute by reason of default. Frost v. Harbert (1911) 20 I. 336, 118 P. 1095, 36 L. R. A. (N. S.) 875, 38 L. R. A. (N. S.) 875.

§ 5988. [3578] Payment by party secondarily liable. Where the instrument is paid by a party secondarily liable thereon it is not discharged; but the party so paying it is remitted to his former rights as regards all prior parties, and he may strike out his own and all subsequent indorsements, and again negotiate the instrument, except:

1. Where it is payable to the order of a third person, and had been paid by the drawer; and,
2. Where it was made or accepted for accommodation, and has been paid by the party accommodated. ['03, p. 380, § 121.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 121, reen. R. C. § 3578, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5989. [3579] Renunciation by holder. The holder may expressly renounce his rights against any party to the instrument before, at, or after its maturity. An absolute and unconditional renunciation of his rights against the principal debtor made at or after the maturity of the instrument discharges the instrument. But a renunciation does not affect the rights of a holder in due course without notice. A renunciation must be in writing, unless the instrument is delivered up to the person primarily liable thereon. ['03, p. 380, § 122.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 122, reen. R. C. § 3579, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5990. [3580] Cancellation by mistake: Burden of proof. A cancellation made unintentionally or under a mistake, or without the authority of the holder, is inoperative; but where an instrument or any signature thereon appears to have been cancelled, the burden of proof lies on the party who alleges that the cancellation was made unintentionally, or under a mistake or without authority. ['03, p. 380, § 123.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 123, reen. R. C. § 3580, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5991. [3581] Alteration of instruments: Effect of. Where a negotiable instrument is materially altered without the assent of all parties liable thereon, it is avoided, except as against a party who has himself made, authorized or assented to the alteration and subsequent indorsers.

But when an instrument has been materially altered and is in the hands of a holder in due course, not a party to the alteration, he may enforce payment thereof according to its original tenor. ['03, p. 380, § 124.]

§ 5992. [3582] Material alteration defined. Any alteration which changes:

1. The date.
2. The sum payable, either for principal or interest.
3. The time or place of payment.
4. The number or the relations of the parties.
5. The medium of currency in which payment is to be made.

Or which adds a place of payment where no place of payment is specified, or any other change or addition which alters the effect of the instrument in any respect, is a material alteration. ['03, p. 380, § 125.]

BILLS OF EXCHANGE: FORM AND INTERPRETATION.

§ 5993. [3583] Bill of exchange defined. A bill of exchange is an unconditional order in writing, addressed by one person to another, signed by the person giving it, requiring the person to whom it is addressed to pay on demand, or at a fixed or determinable future time, a sum certain in money, to order or to bearer. ['03, p. 380, § 126.]

§ 5994. [3584] Bill not an assignment of funds in hands of drawee. A bill of itself does not operate as an assignment of the funds in the hands of the drawee available for the payment thereof, and the drawee is not liable on the bill unless and until he accepts the same. ['03, p. 380, § 127.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 127, reen. R. C. § 3584, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5995. [3585] Bill addressed to more than one drawee. A bill may be addressed to two or more drawees jointly, whether they are partners or not; but not to two or more drawees in the alternative or in succession. ['03, p. 380, § 128.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 128, reen. R. C. § 3585, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5996. [3586] Inland and foreign bills of exchange. An inland bill of exchange is a bill which is, or on its face purports to be, both drawn and payable within this state. Any other bill is a foreign bill. Unless the contrary appears on the face of the bill the holder may treat it as an inland bill. ['03, p. 380, § 129.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 129, reen. R. C. § 3586, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5997. [3587] When bill may be treated as promissory note. Where in a bill, drawer and drawee are the same person, or where the drawee is a fictitious person, or a person not having capacity to contract, the holder may treat the instrument, at his option, either as a bill of exchange or a promissory note. ['03, p. 380, § 130.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 130, reen. R. C. § 3587, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 5998. [3588] Referee in case of need. The drawer of a bill and any indorser may insert thereon the name of a person to whom the holder may resort in case of need, that is to say, in case the bill is dishonored by nonacceptance or nonpayment. Such person is called the referee in case of need. It is in the option of the holder to resort to the referee in case of need or not, as he may see fit. ['03, p. 380, § 131]

ARTICLE 10.

ACCEPTANCE OF BILLS OF EXCHANGE.

§ 5999. Acceptance: How made: Form of. The acceptance of a bill is the signification by the drawee of his assent to the order of the drawer. The acceptance must be in writing and signed by the drawee. It must not express that the drawee will perform his promise by any other means than the payment of money. [C. L. § 3589.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 132, reen. R. C. § 3589; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

Application: This section is not applicable in a suit upon an express agreement to pay claims evidenced by certain written orders which though honored and paid were not accepted in writing. Amonson v. Stone (1917) 30 I. 656, 167 P. 1029.

§ 6000. [3590] Holder entitled to acceptance on face of bill. The holder of a bill presenting the same for acceptance may require that the acceptance be written on the bill, and if such request is refused, may treat the bill as dishonored. ['03, p. 380, § 133.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 133, reen. R. C. § 3590, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6001. [3591] Acceptance by separate instrument. Where an acceptance is written on a paper other than the bill itself it does not bind the acceptor except in favor of a person to whom it is shown and who, on the faith thereof, receives the bill for value. ['03, p. 380, § 134.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 134, reen. R. C. § 3591, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6002. [3592] Promise to accept before drawing. An unconditional promise in writing to accept a bill before it is drawn is deemed an actual acceptance in favor of every person who, upon the faith thereof, receives the bill for value. ['03, p. 380, § 135.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 135, reen. R. C. § 3592, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6003. [3593] Time in which to accept. The drawee is allowed 24 hours after presentment in which to decide whether or not he will accept the bill; but the acceptance, if given, dates as of the day of presentation. ['03, p. 380, § 136.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 136, reen. R. C. § 3593, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6004. [3594] Liability of drawee retaining or destroying bill. Where a drawee to whom a bill is delivered for acceptance destroys the same, or refuses within 24 hours after such delivery, or within such other period as the holder may allow to return the bill accepted or nonaccepted to the holder, he will be deemed to have accepted the same. ['03, p. 380, 137.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 137, reen. R. C. § 3594, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6005. [3595] Acceptance of incomplete bill. A bill may be accepted before it has been signed by the drawer, or while otherwise incomplete, or when it is overdue, or after it has been dishonored by a previous refusal to accept, or by nonpayment. But when a bill payable after sight is dishonored by nonacceptance and the drawee subsequently accepts it, the holder, in the absence of any different agreement, is entitled to have the bill accepted as of the date of the first presentment. ['03, p. 380, § 138.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 138, reen. R. C. § 3595, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6006. [3596] General and qualified acceptances. An acceptance is either general or qualified. A general acceptance assents without qualification to the order of the drawer. A qualified acceptance in express terms varies the effect of the bill as drawn. ['03, p. 380, § 139.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 139, reen. R. C. § 3596, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6007. [3597] When acceptance is general. An acceptance to pay at a particular place is a general acceptance unless it expressly states that the bill is to be paid there only and not elsewhere. ['03, p. 380, § 140.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 140, reen. R. C. § 3597, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6008. [3598] When acceptance is qualified. An acceptance is qualified, which is:

1. Conditional, that is to say, which makes payment by the acceptor dependent on the fulfillment of a condition therein stated.
2. Partial, that is to say, an acceptance to pay part only of the amount for which the bill is drawn.
3. Local, that is to say, an acceptance to pay only at a particular place.
4. Qualified as to time.
5. The acceptance of some one or more of the drawees, but not of all. ['03, p. 380, § 141.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 141, reen. R. C. § 3598, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6009. [3599] Rights of parties as to qualified acceptance. The holder may refuse to take a qualified acceptance, and if he does not obtain an unqualified acceptance, he may treat the bill as dishonored by non-acceptance. Where a qualified acceptance is taken, the drawer and indorsers are discharged from liability on the bill, unless they have expressly or impliedly authorized the holder to take a qualified acceptance or subsequently assent thereto. When the drawer or an indorser receives notice of a qualified acceptance, he must within a reasonable time express his dissent to the holder, or he will be deemed to have assented thereto. ['03, p. 380, § 142.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 142, reen. R. C. § 3599, reen. C. L. ib.

PRESENTMENT FOR ACCEPTANCE.

§ 6010. [3600] Presentment for acceptance: When necessary. Presentment for acceptance must be made:

1. When the bill is payable after sight, or in any other case where presentment for acceptance is necessary in order to fix the maturity of the instrument; or,

2. Where the bill expressly stipulates that it shall be presented for acceptance; or,

3. Where the bill is drawn payable elsewhere than at the residence or place of business of the drawee. In no other case is presentment for acceptance necessary in order to render any party to the bill liable. ['03, p. 380, § 143.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 143, reen. R. C. § 3600, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6011. [3601] When failure to present releases drawer and indorser. Except as herein otherwise provided, the holder of a bill which is required by the next preceding section to be presented for acceptance must either present it for acceptance or negotiate it within a reasonable time. If he fails to do so, the drawer and all indorsers are discharged. ['03, p. 380, § 144.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 144, reen. R. C. § 3601, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6012. Presentment: How made. Presentment for acceptance must be made by or on behalf of the holder at a reasonable hour, on a business day and before the bill is overdue, to the drawee or some person authorized to accept or refuse acceptance on his behalf; and,

1. Where a bill is addressed to two or more drawees who are not partners, presentment must be made to them all, unless one has authority to accept or refuse acceptance for all, in which case presentment may be made to him only.

2. Where the drawee is dead, presentment may be made to his personal representative.

3. Where the drawee has been adjudged a bankrupt or an insolvent or has made an assignment for the benefit of creditors, presentment may be made to him or to his trustee or assignee. [C. L. § 3602.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 145, reen. R. C. § 3602; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6013. [3603] On what days presentment may be made. A bill may be presented for acceptance on any day on which negotiable instruments may be presented for payment under the provisions of sections 5939 and 5952 of this chapter. When Saturday is not otherwise a holiday, presentment for acceptance may be made before 12 o'clock noon on that day. ['03, p. 380, § 146.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 146, reen. R. C. § 3603, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6014. [3604] Presentment where time insufficient. Where the holder of a bill drawn payable elsewhere than at the place of business or the residence of the drawee has not time, with the exercise of reasonable diligence, to present the bill for acceptance before presenting it for payment on the day that it falls due, the delay caused by presenting the bill for acceptance before presenting it for payment is excused, and does not discharge the drawers and indorsers. ['03, p. 380, § 147.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 147, reen. R. C. § 3604, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6015. When presentment is excused. Presentment for acceptance is excused and a bill may be treated as dishonored by nonacceptance in either of the following cases:

1. Where the drawee is dead, or has absconded or is a fictitious person or a person not having capacity to contract by bill.
2. Where after the exercise of reasonable diligence, presentment can not be made.
3. Where although presentment has been irregular, acceptance has been refused on some other ground. [C. L. § 3605.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 148, reen. R. C. § 3605; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6016. When dishonored by nonacceptance. A bill is dishonored by nonacceptance:

1. When it is duly presented for acceptance and such an acceptance as is prescribed by this chapter is refused or can not be obtained; or,
2. When presentment for acceptance is excused and the bill is not accepted. [C. L. § 3606.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 149, reen. R. C. § 3606; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6017. [3607] Duty of holder where bill not accepted. Where a bill is duly presented for acceptance and is not accepted within the prescribed time, the person presenting it must treat the bill as dishonored by nonacceptance, or he loses the right of recourse against the drawer and indorsers. ['03, p. 380, § 150.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 150, reen. R. C. § 3607, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6018. Rights of holder where bill not accepted. When a bill is dishonored by nonacceptance, an immediate right of recourse against the drawers and indorsers accrues to the holder, and no presentment for payment is necessary. [C. L. § 3608.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 151, reen. R. C. § 3608; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

ARTICLE 12.
PROTEST.

§ 6019. [3609] In what cases protest necessary. Where a foreign bill appearing on its face to be such is dishonored by nonacceptance, it must be duly protested for nonacceptance, and where such a bill which has not previously been dishonored by nonacceptance is dishonored by nonpayment, it must be duly protested for nonpayment. If it is not so protested, the drawer and indorsers are discharged. Where a bill does not appear on its face to be a foreign bill, protest thereof, in case of dishonor, is unnecessary. ['03, p. 380, § 152.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 152, reen. R. C. § 3609, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6020. Protest: How made. The protest must be annexed to the bill, or must contain a copy thereof, and must be under the hand and seal of the notary making it, and must specify:

1. The time and place of presentment.
2. The fact that presentment was made and the manner thereof.
4. The cause or reason for protesting the bill.
4. The demand made and the answer given, if any, or the fact that the drawee or acceptor could not be found. [C. L. § 3610.]

§ 6021. [3611] Who may make protest. Protest may be made by:

1. A notary public; or,
2. By any respectable resident of the place where the bill is dishonored, in the presence of two or more creditable witnesses. ['03, p. 380, § 154.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 154, reen. R. C. § 3611, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6022. When protest must be made. When a bill is protested, such protest must be made on the day of its dishonor, unless delay is excused as herein provided. When a bill has been duly noted, the protest may be subsequently extended as of the date of the noting. [C. L. § 3612.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 155, reen. R. C. § 3612; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6023. Place of protest. A bill must be protested at the place where it is dishonored, except that when a bill drawn payable at the place of business or residence of some person other than the drawee, has been dishonored by nonacceptance, it must be protested for nonpayment at the place where it is expressed to be payable, and no further presentment for payment to, or demand on, the drawee is necessary. [C. L. § 3613.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 156, reen. R. C. § 3613; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6024. [3614] Protest for nonacceptance and for nonpayment. A bill which has been protested for nonacceptance may be subsequently protested for nonpayment. ['03, p. 380, § 157.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 157, reen. R. C. § 3614, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6025. [3615] Protest where acceptor is insolvent. Where the acceptor has been adjudged bankrupt or an insolvent or has made an assignment for the benefit of creditors, before the bill matures, the holder may cause the bill to be protested for better security against the drawer and indorsers. ['03, p. 380, § 158.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 158, reen. R. C. § 3615, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6026. [3616] When protest dispensed with. Protest is dispensed with by any circumstances which would dispense with notice of dishonor. Delay in noting or protesting is excused when the delay is caused by circumstances beyond the control of the holder and not imputable to his default, misconduct or negligence. When the cause of delay ceases to operate, the bill must be noted or protested with reasonable diligence. ['03, p. 380, § 159.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 159, reen. R. C. § 3616, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6027. [3617] Protest of lost bill. Where a bill is lost or destroyed, or is wrongly detained from the person entitled to hold it, protest may be made on a copy or written particulars thereof. ['03, p. 380, § 160.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 160, reen. R. C. § 3617, reen. C. L. ib.

ARTICLE 13.

ACCEPTANCE FOR HONOR.

§ 6028. [3618] When bill may be accepted for honor. Where a bill of exchange has been protested for dishonor by nonacceptance, or protested for better security, and is not overdue, any person not being a party already liable thereon, may, with the consent of the holder, intervene and accept the bill supra protest for the honor of any party liable thereon, or for the honor of the person for whose account the bill is drawn. The acceptance for honor may be for part only of the sum for which the bill is drawn, and where there has been an acceptance for honor for one party, there may be a further acceptance by a different person for the honor of another party. ['03, p. 380, § 161.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 161, reen. R. C. § 3618, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6029. [3619] Acceptance for honor: How made. An acceptance for honor supra protest must be in writing and indicate that it is an acceptance for honor, and must be signed by the acceptor for honor. ['03, p. 380, § 162.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 162, reen. R. C. § 3619, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6030. [3620] When deemed to be an acceptance for honor of the drawer. Where an acceptance for honor does not expressly state for whose honor it is made, it is deemed to be an acceptance for the honor of the drawer. ['03, p. 380, § 163.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 163, reen. R. C. § 3620, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6031. [3621] Liability of acceptor for honor. The acceptor for honor is liable to the holder and to all parties to the bill subsequent to the party for whose honor he has accepted it. ['03, p. 380, § 164.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 164, reen. R. C. § 3621, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6032. [3622] Agreement of acceptor for honor. The acceptor for honor by such acceptance engages that he will on due presentment pay the bill according to the terms of his acceptance: Provided, It shall not have been paid by the drawee: And, Provided also, That it shall have been duly presented for payment and protested for nonpayment and notice of dishonor given to him. ['03, p. 380, § 165.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 165, reen. R. C. § 3622, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6033. Maturity of bill payable after sight and accepted for honor. Where a bill payable after sight is accepted for honor its maturity is calculated from the date of the noting for nonacceptance and not from the date of the acceptance for honor. [C. L. § 3623.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 166, reen. R. C. § 3623; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6034. [3624] Protest of bill accepted for honor or containing reference. Where a dishonored bill has been accepted for honor supra protest or contains a reference in case of need, it must be protested for non payment before it is presented for payment to the acceptor for honor or referee in case of need. ['03, p. 380, § 167.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 167, reen. R. C. § 3624, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6035. Presentment for payment to acceptor for honor: How made. Presentment for payment to the acceptor for honor must be made as follows:

1. If it is to be presented in the place where the protest for nonpayment was made, it must be presented not later than the day following its maturity.

2. If it is to be presented in some other place than the place where it was protested, then it must be forwarded within the time specified in section 5971. [C. L. § 3625.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 168, reen. R. C. § 3625; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6036. [3626] When delay in making presentment is excused. The provisions of section 5948 apply where there is delay in making presentment to the acceptor for honor or referee in case of need. ['03, p. 380, § 169.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 169, reen. R. C. § 3626, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6037. [3627] Dishonor of bill by acceptor for honor. When the bill is dishonored by the acceptor for honor it must be protested for nonpayment by him. ['03, p. 380, § 170.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 170, reen. R. C. § 3627, reen. C. L. ib.

ARTICLE 14.

PAYMENT FOR HONOR.

§ 6038. Who may make payment for honor. Where a bill has been protested for nonpayment, any person may intervene and pay it supra protest for the honor of any person liable thereon or for the honor of the person for whose account it was drawn. [C. L. § 3628.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 171, reen. R. C. § 3628; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6039. [3629] Payment for honor: How made. The payment for honor supra protest in order to operate as such and not as a mere voluntary payment must be attested by a notarial act of honor which may be appended to the protest or form an extension to it. ['03, p. 380, § 172.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 172, reen. R. C. § 3629, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6040. Declaration before payment for honor. The notarial act of honor must be founded on a declaration made by the payer for honor or by his agent in that behalf declaring his intention to pay the bill for honor and for whose honor he pays. [C. L. § 3630.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 173, reen. R. C. § 3630; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6041. [3631] Preference of parties offering to pay for honor. Where two or more persons offer to pay a bill for the honor of different parties, the person whose payment will discharge most parties to the bill is to be given the preference. ['03, p. 380, § 174.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 174, reen. R. C. § 3631, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6042. [3632] Effect on subsequent parties where bill is paid for honor. Where a bill has been paid for honor all parties subsequent to the party for whose honor it is paid are discharged, but the payer for honor is subrogated for, and succeeds to, both the rights and duties of the holder as regards the party for whose honor he pays and all parties liable to the latter. ['03, p. 380, § 175.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 175, reen. R. C. § 3632, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6043. [3633] Where holder refuses to receive payment supra protest. Where the holder of a bill refuses to receive payment supra protest

he loses his right of recourse against any party who would have been discharged by such payment. ['03, p. 380, § 176.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 176, reen. R. C. § 3633, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6044. [3634] Rights of payer for honor. The payer for honor on paying to the holder the amount of the bill and the notarial expenses incidental to its dishonor, is entitled to receive both the bill itself and the protest. ['03, p. 380, § 177.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 177, reen. R. C. § 3634, reen. C. L. ib.

ARTICLE 15.

BILLS IN A SET.

Cross ref. Uniform bills of lading law: c. 233.

§ 6045. [3635] Bills in set constitute one bill. Where a bill is drawn in a set, each part of the set being numbered and containing a reference to the other parts, the whole of the parts constitute one bill. ['03, p. 380, § 178.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 178, reen. R. C. § 3635, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6046. [3636] Right of holders where different parts are negotiated. Where two or more parts of a set are negotiated to different holders in due course, the holder whose title first accrues is, as between such holders, the true owner of the bill. But nothing in this section affects the rights of a person who in due course accepts or pays the part first presented to him. ['03, p. 380, § 179.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 179, reen. R. C. § 3636, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6047. [3637] Liability of holder who indorses two or more parts of a set to different persons. Where the holder of a set indorses two or more parts to different persons he is liable on every such part, and every indorser subsequent to him is liable on the part he has himself indorsed, as if such parts were separate bills. ['03, p. 380, § 180.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 180, reen. R. C. § 3637, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6048. [3638] Acceptance of bills drawn in sets. The acceptance may be written on any part and it must be written on one part only. If the drawee accepts more than one part, and such accepted parts are negotiated to different holders in due course, he is liable on every such part as if it were a separate bill. ['03, p. 380, § 181.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 181, reen. R. C. § 3638, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6049. [3639] Payment by acceptor of bills drawn in sets. When the acceptor of a bill drawn in a set pays it without requiring the part bearing his acceptance to be delivered up to him, and that part at maturity is outstanding in the hands of a holder in due course, he is liable to the holder thereon. ['03, p. 380, § 182.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 182, reen. R. C. § 3639, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6050. [3640] Effect of discharging one of a set. Except as herein otherwise provided where any one part of a bill drawn in a set is discharged by payment or otherwise, the whole bill is discharged. ['03 p. 380, § 183.]

PROMISSORY NOTES AND CHECKS.

§ 6051. [3641] Promissory note defined. A negotiable promissory note, within the meaning of this chapter, is an unconditional promise in writing made by one person to another, signed by the maker engaging to pay on demand or at a fixed or determinable future time, a sum certain in money to order or to bearer. Where a note is drawn to the maker's own order, it is not complete until indorsed by him. ['03, p. 380, § 184.]

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 6057. Short title. This title shall be cited as the uniform negotiable instruments law. [C. L. § 3647.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 190, reen. R. C. § 3647; compiled and reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6058. [3648] Definitions. In this chapter unless the context otherwise requires:

"Acceptance" means an acceptance completed by delivery or notification.

"Action" includes counterclaim and set-off.

"Bank" includes any person or association of persons carrying on the business of banking, whether incorporated or not.

"Bearer" means the person in possession of a bill or note which is payable to bearer.

"Bill" means bill of exchange, and "note" means negotiable promissory note.

"Delivery" means transfer of possession, actual or constructive, from one person to another.

"Holder" means the payee or indorsee of a bill or note, who is in possession of it, or the bearer thereof.

"Indorsement" means an indorsement completed by delivery.

"Instrument" means negotiable instrument.

"Issue" means the first delivery of the instrument, complete in form, to a person who takes it as a holder.

"Person" includes a body of persons, whether incorporated or not.

"Value" means valuable consideration.

"Written" includes printed, and "writing" includes print. ['03, p. 380, § 191.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 191, reen. R. C. § 3648, reen. C. L. ib.

Holder: An assignee for the purpose of collection is a holder within the meaning of the section. Craig v. Palo Alto Stock Farm (1909) 16 I. 701, 102 P. 393.

The law raises the presumption that title has passed to the holder. Home Land Co. v. Osborn (1910) 19 I. 95, 112 P. 764.

Any person is authorized to bring an action on a promissory note who holds it under proper authority and for the real owner thereof. Anderson v. Coolin (1916) 28 I. 494, 155 P. 677.

An indorsee who is in possession of a promissory note is the holder thereof and may sue thereon in his own name. Utah Imp. etc. Co. v. Kenyon (1917) 30 I. 407, 164 P. 1176.

§ 6059. [3649] Primary and secondary liability. The person "primarily" liable on an instrument is the person who by the terms of the instrument is absolutely required to pay the same. All other parties are "secondarily" liable. ['03, p. 380, § 192.]

Hist. '03, p. 380, § 192, reen. R. C. § 3649, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6060. [3650] Reasonable time: How determined. In determining what is a "reasonable time" or an "unreasonable time" regard is to be had to the nature of the instrument, the usage of trade or business (if any) with respect to such instruments, and the facts of the particular case. ['03, p. 380, § 193.]

CHAPTER 232.

INSTRUMENTS MADE NEGOTIABLE BY INDORSEMENT.

§ 6063. [3654] Indorsement of written contract. A nonnegotiable written contract for the payment of money or personal property may be transferred by indorsement, in like manner with negotiable instruments. Such indorsement transfers all the rights of the assignor under the instrument to the assignee, subject to all equities and defenses existing in favor of the maker at the time of the indorsement. [R. S. § 3600.]

Application: This and the following sections refer only to written evidences of debt sold and transferred for value, and not to those deposited as collateral security. Murphy v. Bartsch (1890) 2 I. 636, 23 P. 82.

§ 6064. [3655] Liability of indorser. Every assignor, his heirs, executors or administrators, of every such instrument in writing, is liable to the action of the assignee thereof, his executors, or administrators, if such assignee has used diligence, by the institution and prosecution of a suit against the maker of such instrument, or against his heirs, executors or administrators, for recovery of the money or property due thereon, or damages in lieu thereof; but if the institution of such suit would have been unavailing, or the maker had absconded or left, or was absent from the state when such assigned instrument became due, or absconds within 20 days thereafter, such assignee, his heirs, executors or administrators, may recover against the assignor, or his heirs, executors or administrators, as if due diligence by suit had been used. By "due diligence" shall be understood the institution of suit within 60 days after the maturity of the obligation. [R. S. § 3601.]

TITLE XLVIII.

CHAPTER 233.

UNIFORM BILLS OF LADING ACT.

Note: In 1905 the conference of commissioners on uniform state laws retained Prof. Samuel Williston of Harvard university law school to prepare an act to make uniform the law of bills of lading, successive drafts of which were submitted to the conference at its meetings in 1906, 1907, 1908 and 1909, when the fourth tentative draft with numerous corrections was approved and recommended for adoption in the various states. Since that time it has been adopted in 22 jurisdictions as follows: Alaska, California, Connecticut, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Washington, Wisconsin. The changes made by this act in the common law are pointed out in the article on bills of lading, 4 R. C. L. 1.

Hist. The act was adopted in Idaho '15, c. 16, p. 53, and is here given as adopted except § 54 of the original relating to then existing bills, now obsolete, and § 55, repealing inconsistent legislation, are omitted.

Cross ref. Not repealed by uniform sales law: § 5750.

ARTICLE 1.

THE ISSUE OF BILLS OF LADING.

§ 6065. Bills governed by this act. Bills of lading issued by any common carrier shall be governed by this chapter. ['15, c. 16, § 1, p. 54.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 1, p. 54, reen. C. L. 254:1.

§ 6066. Form of bills: Essential terms. Every bill must embody within its written or printed terms:

1. The date of its issue.

2. The name of the person from whom the goods have been received.

3. The place where the goods have been received.

4. The place to which the goods are to be transported.

5. A statement whether the goods received will be delivered to a specified person, or to the order of a specified person.

6. A description of the goods or of the packages containing them which may, however, be in such general terms as are referred to in section 6087; and

7. The signature of the carrier.

A negotiable bill shall have the words "order of" printed thereon immediately before the name of the person upon whose order the goods received are deliverable.

A carrier shall be liable to any person injured thereby for the damage caused by the omission from a negotiable bill of any of the provisions required in this section. ['15, c. 16, § 2, p. 54.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 2, p. 54, reen. C. L. 254:2.

§ 6067. Form of bills: What terms may be inserted. A carrier may insert in a bill, issued by him, any other terms and conditions, provided that such terms and conditions shall not:

1. Be contrary to law or public policy; or,

2. In any wise impair his obligation to exercise at least that degree of care in the transportation and safekeeping of the goods entrusted to him which a reasonably careful man would exercise in regard to similar goods of his own. ['15, c. 16, § 3, p. 55.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 3, p. 55, reen. C. L. 254:3.

Liability for damage by fire: A bill of lading stating that the carrier shall not be liable for any loss or damage by fire is void as against the shipper unless it be shown by other evidence that there was a consideration for such exemption. McIntosh v. O. R. & N. Co. (1909) 17 I. 100, 105 P. 66.

§ 6068. Definition of nonnegotiable or straight bill. A bill in which it is stated that the goods are consigned or destined to a specified person is a nonnegotiable or straight bill. ['15, c. 16, § 4, p. 55.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 4, p. 55, reen. C. L. 254:4.

§ 6069. Definition of negotiable or order bill. A bill in which it is stated that the goods are consigned or destined to the order of any person named in such bill is a negotiable or order bill. Any provision in such a bill that it is nonnegotiable shall not affect its negotiability within the meaning of this chapter. ['15, c. 16, § 5, p. 55.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 5, p. 55, reen. C. L. 254:5.

§ 6070. Negotiable bills must not be issued in sets. Negotiable bills issued in this state for the transportation of goods to any place in the United States on the continent of North America, except Alaska, shall not be issued in parts or sets.

If so issued the carrier issuing them shall be liable for failure to deliver the goods described therein to any one who purchases a part for value in good faith, even though the purchase be after the delivery of the goods by the carrier to a holder of one of the other parts. ['15, c. 16, § 6, p. 55.]

§ 6071. Duplicate negotiable bills must be so marked. When more than one negotiable bill is issued in this state for the same goods to be transported to any place in the United States on the continent of North America, except Alaska, the word "duplicate" or some other word or words indicating that the document is not an original bill shall be placed plainly upon the face of every such bill, except the one first issued. A carrier shall be liable for the damage caused by his failure so to do to any one who has purchased the bill for value in good faith as an original, even though the purchase be after the delivery of the goods by the carrier to the holder of the original bill. ['15, c. 16, § 7, p. 55.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 7, p. 55, reen. C. L. 254:7.

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Penalty for violation: § 6110.

§ 6072. Nonnegotiable bills shall be so marked. A nonnegotiable bill shall have placed plainly upon its face by the carrier issuing it "nonnegotiable" or "not negotiable." This section shall not apply, however, to memoranda or acknowledgments of an informal character. ['15, c. 16, § 8, p. 56.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 8, p. 56, reen. C. L. 254:8.

§ 6073. Insertion of name of person to be notified. The insertion in a negotiable bill of the name of a person to be notified of the arrival of the goods shall not limit the negotiability of the bill, or constitute notice to a purchaser thereof of any rights or equities of such person in the goods. ['15, c. 16, § 9, p. 56.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 9, p. 56, reen. C. L. 254:9.

§ 6074. Acceptance of bill indicates assent to its terms. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, where a consignor receives a bill and makes no objection to its terms or conditions at the time he receives it, neither the consignor nor any person who accepts delivery of the goods, nor any person who seeks to enforce any provision of the bill, shall be allowed to deny that he is bound by such terms and conditions, so far as they are not contrary to law or public policy. ['15, c. 16, § 10, p. 56.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 10, p. 56, reen. C. L. 254:10.

ARTICLE 2.

OBLIGATIONS AND RIGHTS OF CARRIERS UPON THEIR BILLS OF LADING.

§ 6075. Obligation of carrier to deliver. A carrier, in the absence of some lawful excuse, is bound to deliver goods upon a demand made either by the consignee named in the bill for the goods, or if the bill is negotiable, by the holder thereof, if such demand is accompanied by

1. An offer in good faith to satisfy the carrier's lawful lien upon the goods.

2. An offer in good faith to surrender, properly indorsed, the bill which was issued for the goods, if the bill is negotiable; and,

3. A readiness and willingness to sign, when the goods are delivered, an acknowledgment that they have been delivered, if such signature is requested by the carrier.

In case the carrier refuses or fails to deliver the goods in compliance with a demand by the consignee or holder so accompanied, the burden shall be upon the carrier to establish the existence of a lawful excuse for such refusal or failure. ['15, c. 16, § 11, p. 56.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 11, p. 56, reen. C. L. 254:11.

§ 6076. Justification of carrier in delivering. A carrier is justified, subject to the provisions of the three following sections, in delivering goods to one who is:

1. A person lawfully entitled to the possession of the goods; or,
2. The consignee named in a nonnegotiable bill for the goods; or,
3. A person in possession of a negotiable bill for the goods by the terms of which the goods are deliverable to his order, or which has been indorsed to him or in blank by the consignee or by the mediate or immediate indorsee of the consignee. ['15, c. 16, § 12, p. 57.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 12, p. 57, reen. C. L. 254:12.

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Excepted from provision of § 6086, providing that adverse title is no defense.

§ 6077. Carrier's liability for misdelivery. Where a carrier delivers goods to one who is not lawfully entitled to the possession of them, the carrier shall be liable to any one having a right of property or possession in the goods if he delivered the goods otherwise than as authorized by subdivisions 1 and 2 of the preceding section; and, though he delivered the goods as authorized by either of said subdivisions, he shall be so liable if prior to such delivery he:

1. Had been requested, by or on behalf of a person having a right of property or possession in the goods, not to make such delivery; or,
2. Had information at the time of the delivery that it was to a person not lawfully entitled to the possession of the goods.

A request or information to be effective within the meaning of this section must be given to an officer or agent of the carrier, the actual or apparent scope of whose duties includes action upon such a request or information, and must be given in time to enable the officer or agent to whom it is given, acting with reasonable diligence, to stop delivery of the goods. ['15, c. 16, § 13, p. 57.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 13, p. 57, reen. C. L. 254:13.

§ 6078. Negotiable bills must be cancelled when goods delivered. Except as provided in section 6091, and except when compelled by legal process, if a carrier delivers goods for which a negotiable bill had been issued, the negotiation of which would transfer the right to the possession of the goods, and fails to take up and cancel the bill, such carrier shall be liable for failure to deliver the goods to any one who for value and in good faith purchases such bill, whether such purchaser acquired title to the bill before or after the delivery of the goods by the carrier, and notwithstanding delivery was made to the person entitled thereto. ['15, c. 16, § 14, p. 57.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 14, p. 57, reen. C. L. 254:14.

§ 6079. Negotiable bills must be cancelled or marked when parts of goods delivered. Except as provided in section 6091, and except when compelled by legal process, if a carrier delivers part of the goods for which a negotiable bill had been issued and fails either:

1. To take up and cancel the bill; or,
2. To place plainly upon it a statement that a portion of the goods has been delivered, with a description, which may be in general terms, either of the goods or packages that have been so delivered or of the goods or packages which still remain in the carrier's possession, he shall be liable for failure to deliver all the goods specified in the bill, to any one who for value and in good faith purchases it, whether such purchaser acquired title to it before or after the delivery of any portion of the goods by the carrier, and notwithstanding such delivery was made to the person entitled thereto. ['15, c. 16, § 15, p. 58.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 15, § 58, reen. C. L. 254:15.

§ 6080. Altered bills. Any alteration, addition or erasure in a bill after its issue without authority from the carrier issuing the same either in writing or noted on the bill, shall be void, whatever be the nature and purpose of the change, and the bill shall be enforceable according to its original tenor. ['15, c. 16, § 16, p. 58.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 16, p. 58, reen. C. L. 254:16.

§ 6081. Lost or destroyed bills. Where a negotiable bill has been lost or destroyed, a court of competent jurisdiction may order the delivery of the goods upon satisfactory proof of such loss or destruction and upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to be approved by the court to protect the carrier or any person injured by such delivery from any liability or loss, incurred by reason of the original bill remaining outstanding. The court may also in its discretion order the payment of the carrier's reasonable costs and counsel fees.

The delivery of the goods under an order of the court as provided in this section shall not relieve the carrier from liability to a person to whom the negotiable bill has been or shall be negotiated for value without notice of the proceedings or of the delivery of the goods. ['15, c. 16, § 17, p. 58.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 17, p. 58, reen. C. L. 254:17.

§ 6082. Effect of duplicate bills. A bill upon the face of which the word "duplicate" or some other word or words indicating that the document is not an original bill is placed plainly shall impose upon the carrier issuing the same the liability of one who represents and warrants that such bill is an accurate copy of an original bill properly issued, but no other liability. ['15, c. 16, § 18, p. 58.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 18, p. 58, reen. C. L. 254:18.

§ 6083. Carrier can not set up title in himself. No title to goods or right to their possession, asserted by a carrier for his own benefit, shall excuse him from liability for refusing to deliver the goods according to the terms of a bill issued for them, unless such title or right is derived directly or indirectly from a transfer made by the consignor or consignee after the shipment, or from the carrier's lien. ['15, c. 16, § 19, p. 59.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 19, p. 59, reen. C. L. 254:19.

§ 6084. Interpleader of adverse claimants. If more than one person claims the title or possession of goods, the carrier may require all known claimants to interplead, either as a defense to an action brought against him for nondelivery of the goods, or as an original suit, whichever is appropriate. ['15, c. 16, § 20, p. 59.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 20, p. 59, reen. C. L. 254:20.

§ 6085. Carrier has reasonable time to determine validity of claims. If some other than the consignee or person in possession of the bill has a claim to the title or possession of the goods, and the carrier has information of such claim, the carrier shall be excused from liability for refusing to deliver the goods either to the consignee or person in possession of the bill, or to the adverse claimant, until the carrier has had a reasonable time to ascertain the validity of the adverse claim or to bring legal proceedings to compel all claimants to interplead. ['15, c. 16, § 21, p. 59.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 21, p. 59, reen. C. L. 254:21.

§ 6086. Adverse title is no defense, except as above provided. Except as provided in the two preceding sections and in section 6076, no right or title of a third person unless enforced by legal process shall be a defense to an action brought by the consignee of a nonnegotiable bill or by the holder of a negotiable bill against the carrier for failure to deliver the goods on demand. ['15, c. 16, § 22, p. 59.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 22, p. 59, reen. C. L. 254:22.

§ 6087. Liability for nonreceipt or misdescription of goods. If a bill of lading has been issued by a carrier or on his behalf by an agent or employee the scope of whose actual or apparent authority includes the issuing of bills of lading, the carrier shall be liable to:

1. The consignee named in a nonnegotiable bill; or,
2. The holder of a negotiable bill,

Who has given value in good faith relying upon the description therein of the goods, for damages caused by the nonreceipt by the carrier or a connecting carrier of all or part of the goods or their failure to correspond with the description thereof in the bill at the time of its issue.

If, however, the goods are described in a bill merely by a statement of marks or labels upon them or upon packages containing them, or by a statement that the goods are said to be goods of a certain kind or quantity, or in a certain condition, or it is stated in the bill that packages are said to contain goods of a certain kind or quantity or in a certain condition, or that the contents or condition of the contents of packages are unknown, or words of like purport are contained in the bill, such statements, if true, shall not make liable the carrier issuing the bill, although the goods are not of the kind or quantity or in the condition which the marks or labels upon them indicate, or of the kind or quantity or in the condition they were said to be by the consignor. The carrier may, also, by inserting in the bill the words "shipper's load and count" or other words of like purport indicate that the goods were loaded by the shipper and the description of them made by him; and if such statement be true, the carrier shall not be liable for damages caused by the improper loading or by the nonreceipt or by the misdescription of the goods described in the bill. ['15, c. 16, § 23, p. 59.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: General description herein prescribed an essential part of bill: § 6066.

§ 6088. Attachment or levy upon goods for which a negotiable bill has been issued. If goods are delivered to a carrier by the owner or by a person whose act in conveying the title to them to a purchaser for value in good faith would bind the owner and a negotiable bill is issued for them, they can not thereafter, while in possession of the carrier, be attached by garnishment or otherwise, or be levied upon under an execution, unless the bill be first surrendered to the carrier or its negotiation enjoined. The carrier shall in no such case be compelled to deliver the actual possession of the goods until the bill is surrendered to him or impounded by the court. ['15, c. 16, § 24, p. 60.]

§ 6089. Creditor's remedies to reach negotiable bills. A creditor whose debtor is the owner of a negotiable bill shall be entitled to such aid from courts of appropriate jurisdiction by injunction and otherwise in attaching such bill, or in satisfying the claim by means thereof as is allowed at law or in equity in regard to property which can not readily be attached or levied upon by ordinary legal process. ['15, c. 16, § 25, p. 60.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 25, p. 60, reen. C. L. 254:25.

§ 6090. Negotiable bill must state charges for which lien is claimed. If a negotiable bill is issued the carrier shall have no lien on the goods therein mentioned, except for charges on those goods for freight, storage, demurrage and terminal charges, and expenses necessary for the preservation of the goods or incident to their transportation subsequent to the date of the bill, unless the bill expressly enumerates other charges for which a lien is claimed. In such case there shall also be a lien for the charges enumerated so far as they are allowed by law and the contract between the consignor and the carrier. ['15, c. 16, § 26, p. 60.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 26, p. 60, reen. C. L. 254:26.

§ 6091. Effect of sale. After goods have been lawfully sold to satisfy a carrier's lien, or because they have not been claimed, or because they are perishable or hazardous, the carrier shall not thereafter be liable for failure to deliver the goods to the consignee or owner of the goods, or to a holder of the bill given for the goods when they were shipped, even if such bill be negotiable. ['15, c. 16, § 27, p. 61.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 27, p. 61, reen. C. L. 254:27.

ARTICLE 3.

NEGOTIATION AND TRANSFER OF BILLS.

§ 6092. Negotiation of negotiable bills by delivery. A negotiable bill may be negotiated by delivery where, by the terms of the bill, the carrier undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of a specified person, and such person or subsequent indorsee of the bill has indorsed it in blank. ['15, c. 16, § 28, p. 61.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 28, p. 61, reen. C. L. 254:28.

§ 6093. Negotiation of negotiable bills by indorsement. A negotiable bill may be negotiated by the indorsement of the person to whose order the goods are deliverable by the tenor of the bill. Such indorsement may be in blank or to a specified person. If indorsed to a specified person, it may be negotiated again by the indorsement of such person in blank or to another specified person. Subsequent negotiation may be made in like manner. ['15, c. 16, § 29, p. 61.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 29, p. 61, reen. C. L. 254:29.

§ 6094. Transfer of bills. A bill may be transferred by the holder by delivery, accompanied with an agreement, express or implied, to transfer the title to the bill or to the goods represented thereby.

A nonnegotiable bill can not be negotiated, and the indorsement of such bill gives the transferee no additional right. ['15, c. 16, § 30, p. 61.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 30, p. 61, reen. C. L. 254:30.

§ 6095. Who may negotiate a bill. A negotiable bill may be negotiated by any person in possession of the same, however such possession may have been acquired, if, by the terms of the bill, the carrier undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of such person, or if at the time of negotiation the bill is in such form that it may be negotiated by delivery. ['15, c. 16, § 31, p. 61.]

§ 6096. Rights of person to whom a bill has been negotiated. A person to whom a negotiable bill has been duly negotiated acquires thereby:

1. Such title to the goods as the person negotiating the bill to him had or had ability to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value, and also such title to the goods as the consignee and consignor had or had power to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value; and,

2. The direct obligation of the carrier to hold possession of the goods for him according to the terms of the bill as fully as if the carrier had contracted directly with him. ['15, c. 16, § 32, p. 62.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 32, p. 62, reen. C. L. 254:32.

§ 6097. Rights of person to whom a bill has been transferred. A person to whom a bill has been transferred but not negotiated acquires thereby as against the transferror, the title to the goods, subject to the terms of any agreement with the transferror. If the bill is nonnegotiable such person also acquires the right to notify the carrier of the transfer to him of such bill, and thereby to become the direct obligee of whatever obligations the carrier owed to the transferror of the bill immediately before the notification.

Prior to the notification of the carrier by the transferror or transferee of a nonnegotiable bill, the title of the transferee to the goods and the right to acquire the obligation of the carrier may be defeated by garnishment or by attachment or execution upon the goods by a creditor of the transferror, or by a notification to the carrier by the transferror or a subsequent purchaser from the transferror of a subsequent sale of the goods by the transferror.

A carrier has not received notification within the meaning of this section unless an officer or agent of the carrier, the actual or apparent scope of whose duties includes action upon such a notification, has been notified; and no notification shall be effective until the officer or agent to whom it is given has had time with the exercise of reasonable diligence to communicate with the agent or agents having actual possession or control of the goods. ['15, c. 16, § 33, p. 62.]

§ 6098. Transfer of negotiable bill without indorsement. Where a negotiable bill is transferred for value by delivery, and the indorsement of the transferror is essential for negotiation, the transferee acquires a right against the transferror to compel him to indorse the bill, unless a contrary intention appears. The negotiation shall take effect as of the time when the indorsement is actually made. This obligation may be specifically enforced. ['15, c. 16, § 34, p. 62.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 34, p. 62, reen. C. L. 254:34.

§ 6099. Warranties on sale of bill. A person who negotiates or transfers for value a bill by indorsement or delivery, including one who assigns for value a claim secured by a bill, unless a contrary intention appears, warrants:

1. That the bill is genuine.

2. That he has a legal right to transfer it.

3. That he has knowledge of no fact which would impair the validity or worth of the bill; and,

4. That he has a right to transfer the title to the goods, and that the goods are merchantable or fit for a particular purpose whenever such warranties would have been implied, if the contract of the parties had been to transfer without a bill the goods represented thereby.

In the case of an assignment of a claim secured by a bill, the liability of the assignor shall not exceed the amount of the claim. ['15, c. 16, § 35, p. 63.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 35, p. 63, reen. C. L. 254:35.

§ 6100. Indorser not a guarantor. The indorsement of a bill shall not make the indorser liable for any failure on the part of the carrier or previous indorsers of the bill to fulfill their respective obligations. ['15, c. 16, § 36, p. 63.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 36, p. 63, reen. C. L. 254:36.

§ 6101. No warranty implied from accepting payment of a debt. A mortgagee or pledgee, or other holder of a bill for security, who in good faith demands or receives payment of the debt for which such bill is security, whether from a party to a draft drawn for such debt or from any other person, shall not be deemed by so doing to represent or to warrant the genuineness of such bill or the quantity or quality of the goods therein described. ['15, c. 16, § 37, p. 63.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 37, p. 63, reen. C. L. 254:37.

§ 6102. When negotiation not impaired by fraud, accident, mistake, duress or conversion. The validity of the negotiation of a bill is not impaired by the fact that such negotiation was a breach of duty on the part of the person making the negotiation, or by the fact that the owner of the bill was deprived of the possession of the same by fraud, accident, mistake, duress or conversion, if the person to whom the bill was negotiated, or a person to whom the bill was subsequently negotiated, gave value therefor, in good faith, without notice of the breach of duty, or fraud, accident, mistake, duress or conversion. ['15, c. 16, § 38, p. 63.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 38, p. 63, reen. C. L. 254:38.

§ 6103. Subsequent negotiation. Where a person having sold, mortgaged or pledged goods which are in a carrier's possession and for which a negotiable bill has been issued, or having sold, mortgaged or pledged the negotiable bill representing such goods, continues in possession of the negotiable bill, the subsequent negotiation thereof by that person under any sale, pledge or other disposition thereof to any person receiving the same in good faith, for value and without notice of the previous sale, shall have the same effect as if the first purchaser of the goods or bill had expressly authorized the subsequent negotiation. ['15, c. 16, § 39, p. 63.]

§ 6104. Form of the bill as indicating rights of buyer and seller. Where goods are shipped by the consignor in accordance with a contract or order for their purchase, the form in which the bill is taken by the consignor shall indicate the transfer or retention of the property or right to the possession of the goods as follows:

1. Where by the bill the goods are deliverable to the buyer or to his agent, or to the order of the buyer or of his agent, the consignor thereby transfers the property in the goods to the buyer.

2. Where by the bill the goods are deliverable to the seller or to his agent, or to the order of the seller or of his agent, the seller thereby reserves the property in the goods. But if, except for the form of the bill, the property would have passed to the buyer on shipment of the goods, the seller's property in the goods shall be deemed to be only for the purpose of securing performance by the buyer of his obligations under the contract.

3. Where by the bill the goods are delivered to the order of the buyer or his agent, but possession of the bill is retained by the seller or his agent, the seller thereby reserves a right to the possession of the goods, as against the buyer.

4. Where the seller draws on the buyer for the price and transmits the draft and bill together to the buyer to secure acceptance or payment of the draft, the buyer is bound to return the bill if he does not honor the draft, and if he wrongfully retains the bill he acquires no added right thereby. If, however, the bill provides that the goods are deliverable to the buyer, or to the order of the buyer, or is indorsed in blank or to the buyer by the consignee named therein, one who purchases in good faith, for value, the bill or goods from the buyer shall obtain the title to the goods, although the draft has not been honored, if such purchaser has received delivery of the bill indorsed by the consignee named therein or of the goods, without notice of the facts making the transfer wrongful. ['15, c. 16, § 40, p. 64.]

§ 6105. Demand, presentation or sight draft must be paid, but draft on more than three days' time merely accepted before buyer is entitled to the accompanying bill. Where the seller of goods draws on the buyer for the price of the goods and transmits the draft and a bill of lading for the goods either directly to the buyer or through a bank or other agency, unless a different intention on the part of the seller appears, the buyer and all other parties interested shall be justified in assuming:

1. If the draft is by its terms or legal effect payable on demand or presentation or at sight, or not more than three days thereafter (whether such three days be termed days of grace or not), that the seller intended to require payment of the draft before the buyer should be entitled to receive or retain the bill.

2. If the draft is by its terms payable on time, extending beyond three days after demand, presentation or sight (whether such three days be termed days of grace or not), that the seller intended to require acceptance, but not the payment of the draft before the buyer should be entitled to receive or retain the bill.

The provisions of this section are applicable whether by the terms of the bill the goods are consigned to the seller, or to his order, or to the buyer, or to his order, or to a third person, or to his order. ['15, c. 16, § 41, p. 65.]

§ 6106. Negotiation defeats vendor's lien. Where a negotiable bill has been issued for goods, no seller's lien or right of stoppage in transitu shall defeat the rights of any purchaser for value in good faith to whom such bill has been negotiated, whether such negotiation be prior or subsequent to the notification to the carrier who issued such bill of the seller's claim to a lien or right of stoppage in transitu. Nor shall the carrier be obliged to deliver or justified in delivering the goods to an unpaid seller unless such bill is first surrendered for cancellation. ['15, c. 16, § 42, p. 65.]

§ 6107. When rights and remedies under mortgages and liens are not limited. Except as provided in section 6106, nothing in this chapter shall limit the rights and remedies of a mortgagee or lien holder whose mortgage or lien on goods would be valid, apart from this chapter, as against one who for value and in good faith purchased from the owner, immediately prior to the time of their delivery to the carrier, the goods which are subject to the mortgage or lien and obtained possession of them. ['15, c. 16, § 43, p. 65.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 43, p. 65, reen. C. L. 254:43.

ARTICLE 4.

CRIMINAL OFFENSES.

§ 6108. Issue of bill for goods not received. Any officer, agent or servant of a carrier who, with intent to defraud, issues or aids in issuing a bill knowing that all or any part of the goods for which such bill is issued have not been received by such carrier, or by an agent of such carrier or by a connecting carrier, or are not under the carrier's control at the time of issuing such bill, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding $5000, or by both. ['15, c. 16, § 44, p. 66.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 44, p. 66, reen. C. L. 254:44.

§ 6109. Issue of bill containing false statement. Any officer, agent or servant of a carrier who, with intent to defraud, issues or aids in issuing a bill for goods knowing that it contains any false statement, shall be guilty of a crime; and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding $1000, or by both. ['15, c. 16, § 45, p. 66.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 45, p. 66, reen. C. L. 254:45.

§ 6110. Issue of duplicate bills not so marked. Any officer, agent or servant of a carrier who, with intent to defraud, issues or aids in issuing a duplicate or additional negotiable bill for goods in violation of the provisions of section 6071, knowing that a former negotiable bill for the same goods or any part of them is outstanding and uncancelled, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding $5000, or by both. ['15, c. 16, § 46, p. 66.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 46, p. 66, reen. C. L. 254:46.

§ 6111. Negotiation of bill for mortgaged goods. Any person who ships goods to which he has not title, or upon which there is a lien or mortgage, and who takes for such goods a negotiable bill which he afterward negotiates for value with intent to deceive and without disclosing his want of title or the existence of the lien or mortgage, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding $1000, or by both. ['15, c. 16, § 47, p. 66.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 47, p. 66, reen. C. L. 254:47.

§ 6112. Negotiation of bill when goods are not in carrier's possession. Any person who with intent to deceive negotiates or transfers for value a bill knowing that any or all of the goods which by the terms of such bill appear to have been received for transportation by the carrier which issued the bill, are not in possession or control of such carrier, or of a connecting carrier, without disclosing this fact, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding $5000, or by both. ['15, c. 16, § 48, p. 66.]

§ 6113. Inducing carrier to issue bill when goods have not been received. Any person who with intent to defraud secures the issue by a carrier of a bill knowing that at the time of such issue, any or all of the goods described in such bill as received for transportation have not been received by such carrier, or an agent of such carrier or a connecting carrier, or are not under the carrier's control, by inducing an officer, agent or servant of such carrier falsely to believe that such goods have been received by such carrier, or are under its control, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding $5000, or by both. [C. L. 254:49.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 49, p. 67; compiled and reen. C. L. 254:49.

§ 6114. Issue of nonnegotiable bill not so marked. Any person who with intent to defraud issues or aids in issuing a nonnegotiable bill without the words "not negotiable" placed plainly upon the face thereof, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding five years or by a fine not exceeding $5000, or by both. ['15, c. 16, § 50, p. 67.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 50, p. 67, reen. C. L. 254:50.

ARTICLE 5.

INTERPRETATION.

§ 6115. Rule for cases not provided for in this chapter. In any case not provided for in this chapter the rules of law and equity including the law merchant, and in particular the rules relating to the law of principal and agent, executors, administrators and trustees, and to the effect of fraud, misrepresentation, duress or coercion, accident, mistake, bankruptcy or other invalidating cause, shall govern. ['15, c. 16, § 51, p. 67.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 51, p. 67, reen. C. L. 254:51.

§ 6116. Interpretation shall give effect to purpose of uniformity. This chapter shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it. ['15, c. 16, § 52, p. 67.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 52, p. 67, reen. C. L. 254:52.

§ 6117. Definitions. 1. In this chapter, unless the context or subject matter otherwise requires:

"Action" includes counterclaim, set-off, and suit in equity.

"Bill" means bill of lading.

"Consignee" means the person named in the bill as the person to whom delivery of the goods is to be made.

"Consignor" means the person named in the bill as the person from whom the goods have been received for shipment.

"Goods" means merchandise or chattels in course of transportation, or which have been or are about to be transported.

"Holder" of a bill means a person who has both actual possession of such bill and a right of property therein.

"Order" means an order by indorsement on the bill.

"Owner" does not include mortgagee or pledgee.

"Person" includes a corporation or partnership or two or more persons having a joint or common interest.

To "purchase" includes to take as mortgagee and to take as pledgee.

"Purchaser" includes mortgagee and pledgee.

"Value" is any consideration sufficient to support a simple contract. An antecedent or preexisting obligation, whether for money or not, constitutes value where a bill is taken either in satisfaction thereof or as security therefor.

2. A thing is done "in good faith," within the meaning of this chapter, when it is in fact done honestly, whether it be done negligently or not. ['15, c. 16, § 53, p. 67.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 53, p. 67, reen. C. L. 254:53.

§ 6118. Name of chapter. This chapter may be cited as the uniform bills of lading law. ['15, c. 16, § 56, p. 68.]

Hist. '15, c. 16, § 56, p. 68, reen. C. L. 254:54.

TITLE XLIX.

CHAPTER 234.

UNIFORM WAREHOUSE RECEIPTS LAW.

Note: This act was recommended to the states for adoption by the conference of commissioners on uniform state laws in August, 1906. It was prepared by Prof. Samuel Williston of Harvard university law school and Barry Mohum, Esq., of the Washington bar. It has been adopted in every jurisdiction in the United States except Arizona, Hawaii Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Mississippi, New Hampshire, Oklahoma, Porto Rico, South Carolina and Texas.

Hist. The act was adopted in Idaho '15, c. 31, p. 85, reen. in C. L. c. 255, omitting § 59 of the original act relating to then existing receipts as obsolete, and § 60, the repealing clause; a few minor changes due to clerical errors having been made to conform to the uniform draft.

A prior law on the subject of warehouse receipts is found in R. C. §§ 1486-93, as a part of the state grain commission law, which was repealed by the public utilities law, '13, c. 61, § 79, p. 296. This former law was construed in Frontier Mill. etc. Co. v. Roy White etc. Co. (1914) 25 I. 478, 138 P. 825.

Cross ref. Not repealed by uniform sales law: § 5750.

ARTICLE 1.

THE ISSUE OF WAREHOUSE RECEIPTS.

§ 6119. Persons who may issue receipts. Warehouse receipts may be issued by any warehouseman. ['15, c. 31, § 1, p. 86.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 1, p. 86, reen. C. L. 255:1.

§ 6120. Form of receipts: Essential terms. Warehouse receipts need not be any particular form, but every such receipt must embody within its written or printed terms:

1. The location of the warehouse where the goods are stored.
2. The date of issue of the receipt.
3. The consecutive number of the receipt.
4. A statement whether the goods received will be delivered to the bearer, to a specified person, or to a specified person or his order.
5. The rate of storage charges.
6. A description of the goods or of the packages containing them.
7. The signature of the warehouseman, which may be made by his authorized agent.
8. If the receipt is issued for goods of which the warehouseman is owner, either solely or jointly or in common with others, the fact of such ownership, and
9. A statement of the amount of advances made and of liabilities incurred for which the warehouseman claims a lien. If the precise amount of such advances made or of such liabilities incurred is, at the time of the issue of the receipt, unknown to the warehouseman or to his agent who issues it, a statement of the fact that advances have been made or liabilities incurred and the purpose thereof is sufficient.

A warehouseman shall be liable to any person injured thereby, for all damage caused by the omission from a negotiable receipt of any of the terms herein required. ['15, c. 31, § 2, p. 86.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 2, p. 86, reen. C. L. 255:2.

Cross ref. Receipts for agricultural products: § 6200.

§ 6121. Form of receipts: What terms may be inserted. A warehouseman may insert in a receipt issued by him, any other terms and conditions, provided that such terms and conditions shall not:

1. Be contrary to the provisions of this chapter:
2. In any wise impair his obligation to exercise that degree of care in the safe keeping of the goods intrusted to him which a reasonably careful man would exercise in regard to similar goods of his own. ['15, c. 31, § 3, p. 87.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 3, p. 87, reen. C. L. 255:3.

§ 6122. Definition of nonnegotiable receipt. A receipt in which it is stated that the goods received will be delivered to the depositor, or to any other specified person, is a nonnegotiable receipt. ['15, c. 31, § 4, p. 87.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 4, p. 87, reen. C. L. 255:4.

§ 6123. Definition of negotiable receipt. A receipt in which it is stated that the goods received will be delivered to the bearer, or to the order of any person named in such receipt is a negotiable receipt. No provision shall be inserted in a negotiable receipt that it is nonnegotiable. Such provision, if inserted, shall be void. ['15, c. 31, § 5, p. 87.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 5, p. 87, reen. C. L. 255:5.

§ 6124. Duplicate receipts must be so marked. When more than one negotiable receipt is issued for the same goods, the word "duplicate" shall be plainly placed upon the face of every such receipt, except the one first issued. A warehouseman shall be liable for all damage caused by his failure so to do to anyone who purchased the subsequent receipt for value supposing it to be an original, even though the purchase be after the delivery of the goods by the warehouseman to the holder of the original receipt. [C. L. 255:6.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 6, p. 87; compiled and reen. C. L. 255:6.

§ 6125. Failure to mark "not negotiable." A nonnegotiable receipt shall have plainly placed upon its face by the warehouseman issuing it "nonnegotiable" or "not negotiable." In case of the warehouseman's failure so to do, a holder of the receipt who purchased it for value supposing it to be negotiable, may, at his option, treat such receipt as imposing upon the warehouseman the same liabilities he would have incurred had the receipt been negotiable.

This section shall not apply, however, to letters, memoranda, or written acknowledgements of an informal character. ['15, c. 31, § 7, p. 88.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 7, p. 88, reen. C. L. 255:7.

ARTICLE 2.

OBLIGATIONS AND RIGHTS OF WAREHOUSEMEN UPON THEIR RECEIPTS.

§ 6126. Obligation of warehouseman to deliver. A warehouseman, in the absence of some lawful excuse provided by this chapter, is bound to deliver the goods upon a demand made either by the holder of a receipt for the goods or by the depositor, if such demand is accompanied with:

1. An offer to satisfy the warehouseman's lien.
2. An offer to surrender the receipt if negotiable, with such indorsements as would be necessary for the negotiation of the receipt, and
3. A readiness and willingness to sign, when the goods are delivered, an acknowledgment that they have been delivered, if such signature is requested by the warehouseman.

In case the warehouseman refuses or fails to deliver the goods in compliance with a demand by the holder or depositor so accompanied, the burden shall be upon the warehouseman to establish the existence of a lawful excuse for such refusal. ['15, c. 31, § 8, p. 88.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 8, p. 88, reen. C. L. 255:8.

§ 6127. Justification of warehouseman in delivering. A warehouseman is justified in delivering the goods, subject to the provisions of the three following sections, to one who is:

1. The person lawfully entitled to the possession of the goods, or his agent.
2. A person who is either himself entitled to delivery by the terms of a nonnegotiable receipt issued for the goods, or who has written authority from the person so entitled either indorsed upon the receipt or written upon another paper, or
3. A person in possession of a negotiable receipt by the terms of which the goods are deliverable to him or order or to bearer, or which has been indorsed to him or in blank by the person to whom delivery was promised by the terms of the receipt or by his mediate or immediate indorsee. ['15, c. 31, § 9, p. 88.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Excepted from provision that adverse title is no defense: § 6137.

§ 6128. Warehouseman's liability for misdelivery. Where a warehouseman delivers the goods to one who is not in fact lawfully entitled to the possession of them, the warehouseman shall be liable as for conversion to all having a right of property or possession in the goods if he delivered the goods otherwise than as authorized by subdivisions 1 and 2 of the preceding section and though he delivered the goods as authorized by said subdivisions he shall be so liable, if prior to such delivery he had either:

1. Been requested, by or on behalf of the person lawfully entitled to a right of property or possession in the goods, not to make such delivery, or

2. Had information that the delivery about to be made was to one not lawfully entitled to the possession of the goods. ['15, c. 31, § 10, p. 89.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 10, p. 89, reen. C. L. 255:10.

§ 6129. Negotiable receipts must be cancelled when goods delivered. Except as provided in section 6154, where a warehouseman delivers goods for which he had issued a negotiable receipt, the negotiation of which would transfer the right to the possession of the goods, and fails to take up and cancel the receipt, he shall be liable to anyone who purchases for value in good faith such receipt, for failure to deliver the goods to him, whether such purchaser acquired title to the receipt before or after the delivery of the goods by the warehouseman. ['15, c. 31, § 11, p. 89.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 11, p. 89, reen. C. L. 255:11.

§ 6130. Negotiable receipts must be cancelled or marked when part of goods delivered. Except as provided in section 6154, where a warehouseman delivers part of the goods for which he had issued a negotiable receipt and fails either to take up and cancel such receipt, or to place plainly upon it a statement of what goods or packages have been delivered, he shall be liable, to anyone who purchases for value in good faith such receipt, for failure to deliver all the goods specified in the receipt, whether such purchaser acquired title to the receipt before or after the delivery of any portion of the goods by the warehouseman. ['15, c. 31, § 12, p. 89.]

§ 6131. Altered receipts. The alteration of a receipt shall not excuse the warehouseman who issued it from any liability if such alteration was:

1. Immaterial.
2. Authorized, or
3. Made without fraudulent intent.

If the alteration was authorized, the warehouseman shall be liable according to the terms of the receipt as altered. If the alteration was unauthorized, but made without fraudulent intent, the warehouseman shall be liable according to the terms of the receipt as they were before alteration.

Material and fraudulent alteration of a receipt shall not excuse the warehouseman who issued it from liability to deliver, according to the terms of the receipt as originally issued, the goods for which it was issued, but shall excuse him from any other liability to the person who made the alteration and to any person who took such receipt with notice of the alteration. Any purchaser of the receipt for value without notice of the alteration shall acquire the same rights against the warehouseman which such purchaser would have acquired if the receipt had not been altered at the time of the purchase. ['15, c. 31, § 13, p. 89.]

§ 6132. Lost or destroyed receipts. Where a negotiable receipt has been lost or destroyed, a court of competent jurisdiction may order the delivery of the goods upon satisfactory proof of such loss or destruction and upon the giving of a bond with sufficient sureties to be approved by the court to protect the warehouseman from any liability or expense which he or any person injured by such delivery may incur by reason of the original receipt remaining outstanding. The court may also in its discretion order the payment of the warehouseman's reasonable costs and counsel fees.

The delivery of the goods under an order of the court as provided in this section, shall not relieve the warehouseman from liability to a person to whom the negotiable receipt has been or shall be negotiated for value without notice of the proceedings or of the delivery of the goods. ['15, c. 31, § 14, p. 90.]

Cross ref. Express reference to this section: Excepted from penalty for issuing duplicate receipts: § 6170.

§ 6133. Effect of duplicate receipts. A receipt upon the face of which the word "duplicate" is plainly placed is a representation and warranty by the warehouseman that such receipt is an accurate copy of an original receipt properly issued and uncancelled at the date of the issue of the duplicate, but shall impose upon him no other liability. ['15, c. 31, § 15, p. 90.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 15, p. 90, reen. C. L. 255:15.

§ 6134. Warehouseman can not set up title in himself. No title or right to the possession of the goods, on the part of the warehouseman, unless such title or right is derived directly or indirectly from a transfer made by the depositor at the time of or subsequent to the deposit for storage, or from the warehouseman's lien, shall excuse the warehouseman from liability for refusing to deliver the goods according to the terms of the receipt. ['15, c. 31, § 16, p. 90.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 16, p. 90, reen. C. L. 255:16.

§ 6135. Interpleader of adverse claimants. If more than one person claims the title or possession of the goods, the warehouseman may, either as a defense to an action brought against him for nondelivery of the goods, or as original suit, whichever is appropriate, require all known claimants to interplead. ['15, c. 31, § 17, p. 91.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 17, p. 91, reen. C. L. 255:17.

§ 6136. Warehouseman has reasonable time to determine validity of claims. If some one other than the depositor or person claiming under him has a claim to the title or possession of the goods, and the warehouseman has information of such claim, the warehouseman shall be excused from liability for refusing to deliver the goods, either to the depositor or person claiming under him or to the adverse claimant, until the warehouseman has had a reasonable time to ascertain the validity of the adverse claim or to bring legal proceedings to compel all claimants to interplead. ['15, c. 31, § 18, p. 91.]

§ 6137. Adverse title is no defense except as above provided. Except as provided in the two preceding sections and in sections 6127 and 6154, no right or title of a third person shall be a defense to an action brought by the depositor or person claiming under him against the warehouseman for failure to deliver the goods according to the terms of the receipt. ['15, c. 31, § 19, p. 91.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 19, p. 91, reen. C. L. 255:19.

§ 6138. Liability for nonexistence or misdescription of goods. A warehouseman shall be liable to the holder of a receipt for damages caused by the nonexistence of the goods or by the failure of the goods to correspond with the description thereof in the receipt at the time of its issue. If, however, the goods are described in a receipt merely by a statement of marks or labels upon them, or upon packages containing them, or by a statement that the goods are said to be goods of a certain kind, or that the packages containing the goods are said to contain goods of a certain kind, or by words of like import, such statements, if true, shall not make liable the warehouseman issuing the receipt, although the goods are not of the kind which the marks or labels upon them indicate, or of the kind they were said to be by the depositor. ['15, c. 31, § 20, p. 91.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 20, p. 91, reen. C. L. 255:20.

§ 6139. Liability for care of goods. A warehouseman shall be liable for any loss or injury to the goods caused by his failure to exercise such care in regard to them as a reasonably careful owner of similar goods would exercise, but he shall not be liable, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, for any loss or injury to the goods which could not have been avoided by the exercise of such care. ['15, c. 31, § 21, p. 91.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 21, p. 91, reen. C. L. 255:21.

§ 6140. Goods must be kept separate. Except as provided in the following section, a warehouseman shall keep the goods so far separate from goods of other depositors, and from other goods of the same depositor for which a separate receipt has been issued, as to permit at all times the identification and redelivery of the goods deposited. ['15, c. 31, § 22, p. 92.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 22, p. 92, reen. C. L. 255:22.

§ 6141. Fungible goods may be commingled if warehouseman authorized. If authorized by agreement or by custom, a warehouseman may mingle fungible goods with other goods of the same kind and grade. In such case the various depositors of the mingled goods shall own the entire mass in common and each depositor shall be entitled to such portion thereof as the amount deposited by him bears to the whole. ['15, c. 31, § 23, p. 92.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 23, p. 92, reen. C. L. 255:23.

Cross ref. Fungible agricultural products of different grades to be kept separate: § 6198. Sale of fungible goods: § 5676.

§ 6142. Liability of warehouseman to depositors of commingled goods. The warehouseman shall be severally liable to each depositor for the care and redelivery of his share of such mass to the same extent and under the same circumstances as if the goods had been kept separate. ['15, c. 31, § 24, p. 92.]

§ 6143. Attachment or levy upon goods for which negotiable receipt has been issued. If goods are delivered to a warehouseman by the owner or by a person whose act in conveying the title to them to a purchaser in good faith for value would bind the owner, and a negotiable receipt is issued for them, they can not thereafter, while in the possession of the warehouseman, be attached by garnishment or otherwise, or be levied upon under an execution, unless the receipt be first surrendered to the warehouseman, or its negotiation enjoined. The warehouseman shall in no case be compelled to deliver up the actual possession of the goods until the receipt is surrendered to him or impounded by the court. ['15, c. 31, § 25, p. 92.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 25, p. 92, reen. C. L. 255:25.

§ 6144. Creditor's remedies to reach negotiable receipts. A creditor whose debtor is the owner of a negotiable receipt shall be entitled to such aid from courts of appropriate jurisdiction, by injunction and otherwise, in attaching such receipt or in satisfying the claim by means thereof as is allowed at law or in equity, in regard to property which can not readily be attached or levied upon by ordinary legal process. [C. L. 255:26.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 26, p. 92; compiled and reen. C. L. 255:26.

§ 6145. What claims are included in the warehouseman's lien. Subject to the provisions of section 6148, a warehouseman shall have a lien on goods deposited or on the proceeds thereof in his hands, for all lawful charges for storage and preservation of the goods; also for all lawful claims for money advanced, interest, insurance, transportation, labor, weighing, coopering and other charges and expenses in relation to such goods; also for all reasonable charges and expenses for notice, and advertisements of sale, and for sale of the goods where default has been made in satisfying the warehouseman's lien. ['15, c. 31, § 27, p. 93.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 27, p. 93, reen. C. L. 255:27.

§ 6146. Against what property the lien may be enforced. Subject to the provisions of section 6148 a warehouseman's lien may be enforced:

1. Against all goods, whenever deposited, belonging to the person who is liable as debtor for the claims in regard to which the lien is asserted; and,

2. Against all goods belonging to others which have been deposited at any time by the person who is liable as debtor for the claims in regard to which the lien is asserted if such person had been so intrusted with the possession of the goods that a pledge of the same by him at the time of the deposit to one who took the goods in good faith for value would have been valid. ['15, c. 31, § 28, p. 93.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 28, p. 93, reen. C. L. 255:28.

§ 6147. How the lien may be lost. A warehouseman loses his lien upon goods:

1. By surrendering possession thereof; or,

2. By refusing to deliver the goods when a demand is made with which he is bound to comply under the provisions of this chapter. ['15, c. 31, § 29, p. 93.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 29, p. 93, reen. C. L. 255:29.

§ 6148. Negotiable receipt must state charges for which lien is claimed. If a negotiable receipt is issued for goods, the warehouseman shall have no lien thereon, except for charges for storage of those goods subsequent to the date of the receipt, unless the receipt expressly enumerates other charges for which a lien is claimed. In such case there shall be a lien for the charges enumerated so far as they are within the terms of section 6145, although the amount of charges so enumerated is not stated in the receipt. ['15, c. 31, § 30, p. 93.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 30, p. 93, reen. C. L. 255:30.

§ 6149. Warehouseman need not deliver until lien is satisfied. A warehouseman having a lien valid against the person demanding the goods may refuse to deliver the goods to him until the lien is satisfied. ['15, c. 31, § 31, p. 93.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 31, p. 93, reen. C. L. 255:31.

§ 6150. Warehouseman's lien does not preclude other remedies. Whether a warehouseman has or has not a lien upon the goods, he is entitled to all remedies allowed by law to a creditor against his debtor, for the collection from the depositor of all charges and advances which the depositor has expressly or impliedly contracted with the warehouseman to pay. ['15, c. 31, § 32, p. 93.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 32, p. 93, reen. C. L. 255:32.

§ 6151. Satisfaction of lien by sale. A warehouseman's lien for a claim which has become due may be satisfied as follows:

The warehouseman shall give a written notice to the person on whose account the goods are held, and to any other person known by the warehouseman to claim an interest in the goods. Such notice shall be given by delivery in person or by registered letter addressed to the last known place of business or abode of the person to be notified. The notice shall contain:

1. An itemized statement of the warehouseman's claim, showing the sum due at the time of the notice and the date or dates when it became due.
2. A brief description of the goods against which the lien exists.
3. A demand that the amount of the claim as stated in the notice, and of such further claim as shall accrue, shall be paid on or before a day mentioned, not less than 10 days from the delivery of the notice if it is personally delivered, or from the time when the notice should reach its destination, according to the due course of post, if the notice is sent by mail; and
4. A statement that unless the claim is paid within the time specified the goods will be advertised for sale and sold by auction at a specified time and place.

In accordance with the terms of a notice so given, a sale of the goods by auction may be had to satisfy any valid claim of the warehouseman for which he has a lien on the goods. The sale shall be had in the place where the lien was acquired, or, if such place is manifestly unsuitable for the purpose, at the nearest suitable place. After the time for the payment of the claim specified in the notice to the depositor has elapsed, an advertisement of the sale, describing the goods to be sold, and stating the name of the owner or person on whose account the goods are held, and the time and place of the sale, shall be published once a week for two consecutive weeks in a newspaper published in the place where such sale is to be held. The sale shall not be held less than 15 days from the time of the first publication. If there is no newspaper published in such place, the advertisement shall be posted at least 10 days before such sale in not less than six conspicuous places therein.

From the proceeds of such sale the warehouseman shall satisfy his lien, including the reasonable charges of notice, advertisement and sale. The balance, if any, of such proceeds shall be held by the warehouseman, and delivered on demand to the person to whom he would have been bound to deliver or justified in delivering the goods.

At any time before the goods are so sold any person claiming a right of property or possession therein may pay the warehouseman the amount necessary to satisfy his lien and to pay the reasonable expenses and liabilities incurred in serving notices and advertising and preparing for the sale up to the time of such payment. The warehouseman shall deliver the goods to the person making such payment if he is a person entitled, under the provisions of this chapter, to the possession of the goods on payment of charges thereon. Otherwise the warehouseman shall retain possession of the goods according to the terms of the original contract of deposit. ['15, c. 31, § 33, p. 94.]

§ 6152. Perishable and hazardous goods. If goods are of a perishable nature, or by keeping will deteriorate greatly in value, or by their odor, leakage, inflammability or explosive nature, will be liable to injure other property, the warehouseman may give such notice to the owner or to the person in whose name the goods are stored as is reasonable and possible under the circumstances, to satisfy the lien upon such goods, and to remove them from the warehouse, and in the event of the failure of such person to satisfy the lien and to remove the goods within the time so specified, the warehouseman may sell the goods at public or private sale without advertising. If the warehouseman after a reasonable effort is unable to sell such goods, he may dispose of them in any lawful manner, and shall incur no liability by reason thereof.

The proceeds of any sale made under the terms of this section shall be disposed of in the same way as the proceeds of sales made under the terms of the preceding section. ['15, c. 31, § 34, p. 95.]

§ 6153. Other methods of enforcing liens. The remedy for enforcing a lien herein provided does not preclude any other remedies allowed by law for the enforcement of a lien against personal property nor bar the right to recover so much of the warehouseman's claim as shall not be paid by the proceeds of the sale of the property. ['15, c. 31, § 35, p. 95.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 35, p. 95, reen. C. L. 255:35.

§ 6154. Effect of sale. After goods have been lawfully sold to satisfy a warehouseman's lien, or have been lawfully sold or disposed of because of their perishable or hazardous nature, the warehouseman shall not thereafter be liable for failure to deliver the goods to the depositor, or owner of the goods, or to a holder of the receipt given for the goods when they were deposited, even if such receipt be negotiable. ['15, c. 31, § 36, p. 95.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 36, p. 95, reen. C. L. 255:36.

ARTICLE 3.

NEGOTIATION AND TRANSFER OF RECEIPTS.

§ 6155. Negotiation of negotiable receipts by delivery. A negotiable receipt may be negotiated by delivery:

1. Where, by the terms of the receipt, the warehouseman undertakes to deliver the goods to the bearer; or,

2. Where, by the terms of the receipt, the warehouseman undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of a specified person, and such person or a subsequent indorsee of the receipt has indorsed it in blank or to bearer.

Where, by the terms of a negotiable receipt, the goods are deliverable to bearer or where a negotiable receipt has been indorsed in blank or to bearer, any holder may indorse the same to himself or to any other specified person, and in such case the receipt shall thereafter be negotiated only by the indorsement of such indorsee. ['15, c. 31, § 37, p. 96.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 37, p. 96, reen. C. L. 255:37.

§ 6156. Negotiation of negotiable receipts by indorsement. A negotiable receipt may be negotiated by the indorsement of the person to whose order the goods are, by the terms of the receipt, deliverable. Such indorsement may be in blank, to bearer or to a specified person. If indorsed to a specified person it may be again negotiated by the indorsement of such person in blank, to bearer or to another specified person. Subsequent negotiation may be made in like manner. ['15, c. 31, § 38, p. 96.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 38, p. 96, reen. C. L. 255:38.

§ 6157. Transfer of receipts. A receipt which is not in such form that it can be negotiated by delivery may be transferred by the holder by delivery to a purchaser or donee.

A nonnegotiable receipt can not be negotiated, and the indorsement of such a receipt gives the transferee no additional right. ['15, c. 31, § 39, p. 96.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 39, p. 96, reen. C. L. 255:39.

§ 6158. Who may negotiate a receipt. A negotiable receipt may be negotiated by any person in possession of the same, however such possession may have been acquired, if, by the terms of the receipt the warehouseman undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of such person, or if at the time of negotiation the receipt is in such form that it may be negotiated by delivery. ['15, c. 31, § 40, p. 96.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 40, p. 96, reen. C. L. 255:40.

Full negotiability: Full negotiability is given by this section. An alternative reading of the uniform act adopted in some states is not so broad in its terms.

§ 6159. Rights of person to whom a receipt has been negotiated. A person to whom a negotiable receipt has been duly negotiated acquires thereby:

1. Such title to the goods as the person negotiating the receipt to him had or had ability to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value, and also such title to the goods as the depositor or person to whose order the goods were to be delivered by the terms of the receipt had or had ability to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value; and,

2. The direct obligation of the warehouseman to hold possession of the goods for him according to the terms of the receipt as fully as if the warehouseman had contracted directly with him. ['15, c. 31, § 41, p. 97.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 41, p. 97, reen. C. L. 255:41.

§ 6160. Rights of person to whom a receipt has been transferred. A person to whom a receipt has been transferred but not negotiated, acquires thereby, as against the transferor, the title of the goods, subject to the terms of any agreement with the transferor.

If the receipt is nonnegotiable such person also acquires the right to notify the warehouseman of the transfer to him of such receipt, and thereby to acquire the direct obligation of the warehouseman to hold possession of the goods for him according to the terms of the receipt.

Prior to the notification of the warehouseman by the transferor or transferee of a nonnegotiable receipt, the title of the transferee to the goods and the right to acquire the obligation of the warehouseman may be defeated by the levy of an attachment or execution upon the goods by a creditor of the transferor, or by a notification to the warehouseman by the transferor or a subsequent purchaser from the transferor of a subsequent sale of the goods by the transferor. ['15, c. 31, § 42, p. 97.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 42, p. 97, reen. C. L. 255:42.

§ 6161. Transfer of negotiable receipt without indorsement. Where a negotiable receipt is transferred for value by delivery, and the indorsement of the transferor is essential for negotiation, the transferee acquires a right against the transferor to compel him to indorse the receipt, unless a contrary intention appears. The negotiation shall take effect as of the time when the indorsement is actually made. ['15, c. 31, § 43, p. 97.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 43, p. 97, reen. C. L. 255:43.

§ 6162. Warranties on sale of receipts. A person who for value negotiates or transfers a receipt by indorsement or delivery, including one who assigns for value a claim secured by a receipt, unless a contrary intention appears, warrants:

1. That the receipt is genuine.
2. That he has a legal right to negotiate or transfer it.
3. That he has knowledge of no fact which would impair the validity or worth of the receipt; and,
4. That he has a right to transfer the title to the goods and that the goods are merchantable or fit for a particular purpose whenever such warranties would have been implied, if the contract of the parties had been to transfer without a receipt the goods represented thereby. ['15, c. 31, § 44, p. 97.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 44, p. 97, reen. C. L. 255:44.

§ 6163. Indorser not a guarantor. The indorsement of a receipt shall not make the indorser liable for any failure on the part of the warehouseman or previous indorsers of the receipt to fulfill their respective obligations. ['15, c. 31, § 45, p. 98.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 45, p. 98, reen. C. L. 255:45.

§ 6164. No warranty implied from accepting payment of a debt. A mortgagee, pledgee or holder for security of a receipt who in good faith demands or receives payment of the debt for which such receipt is security, whether from a party to a draft drawn for such debt or from any other person, shall not by so doing be deemed to represent or to warrant the genuineness of such receipt or the quantity or quality of the goods therein described. ['15, c. 31, § 46, p. 98.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 46, p. 98, reen. C. L. 255:46.

§ 6165. When negotiation not impaired by fraud, mistake or duress. The validity of the negotiation of a receipt is not impaired by the fact that such negotiation was a breach of duty on the part of the person making the negotiation, or by the fact that the owner of the receipt was induced by fraud, mistake or duress to intrust the possession or custody of the receipt to such person, if the person to whom the receipt was negotiated, or a person to whom the receipt was subsequently negotiated, paid value therefor, without notice of the breach of duty, or fraud, mistake or duress. ['15, c. 31, § 47, p. 98.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 47, p. 98, reen. C. L. 255:47.

§ 6166. Subsequent negotiation. Where a person having sold, mortgaged or pledged goods which are in a warehouse and for which a negotiable receipt has been issued, or having sold, mortgaged or pledged the negotiable receipt representing such goods, continues in possession of the negotiable receipt, the subsequent negotiation thereof by that person under any sale or other disposition thereof to any person receiving the same in good faith, for value and without notice of the previous sale, mortgage or pledge, shall have the same effect as if the first purchaser of the goods or receipt had expressly authorized the subsequent negotiation. ['15, c. 31, § 48, p. 98.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 48, p. 98, reen. C. L. 255:48.

§ 6167. Negotiation defeats vendor's lien. Where a negotiable receipt has been issued for goods, no seller's lien or right of stoppage in transitu shall defeat the rights of any purchaser for value in good faith to whom such receipt has been negotiated, whether such negotiation be prior or subsequent to the notification to the warehouseman who issued such receipt of the seller's claim to a lien or right of stoppage in transitu. Nor shall the warehouseman be obliged to deliver or justified in delivering the goods to an unpaid seller unless the receipt is first surrendered for cancellation. ['15, c. 31, § 49, p. 99.]

ARTICLE 4.

CRIMINAL OFFENSES.

§ 6168. Issue of receipt for goods not received. A warehouseman, or any officer, agent or servant of a warehouseman, who issues or aids in issuing a receipt knowing that the goods for which such receipt is issued have not been actually received by such warehouseman, or are not under his actual control at the time of issuing such receipt, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding $5000, or by both. ['15, c. 31, § 50, p. 99.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 50, p. 99, reen. C. L. 255:50.

§ 6169. Issue of receipt containing false statement. A warehouseman, or any officer, agent or servant of a warehouseman, who fraudulently issues or aids in fraudulently issuing a receipt for goods knowing that it contains any false statement, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding $1000, or by both. ['15, c. 31, § 51, p. 99.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 51, p. 99, reen. C. L. 255:51.

§ 6170. Issue of duplicate receipts not so marked. A warehouseman or any officer, agent or servant of a warehouseman, who issues or aids in issuing a duplicate or additional negotiable receipt for goods, knowing that a former negotiable receipt for the same goods or any part of them is outstanding and uncancelled, without plainly placing upon the face thereof the word "duplicate," except in the case of a lost or destroyed receipt after proceedings as provided for in section 6132, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding $5000, or by both. ['15, c. 31, § 52, p. 99.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 52, p. 99, reen. C. L. 255:52.

§ 6171. Issue for warehouseman's goods of receipts which do not state that fact. Where there are deposited with or held by a warehouseman goods of which he is owner, either solely or jointly or in common with others, such warehouseman, or any of his officers, agents or servants, who knowing this ownership, issues or aids in issuing a negotiable receipt for such goods which does not state such ownership, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding $1000, or by both. ['15, c. 31, § 53, p. 100.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 53, p. 100, reen. C. L. 255:53.

§ 6172. Delivery of goods without obtaining negotiable receipt. A warehouseman, or any officer, agent or servant of a warehouseman, who delivers goods out of the possession of such warehouseman, knowing that a negotiable receipt the negotiation of which would transfer the right to the possession of such goods is outstanding and uncancelled, without obtaining the possession of such receipt at or before the time of such delivery, shall, except in the cases provided for in sections 6132 and 6154, be found guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding $1000, or by both. ['15, c. 31, § 54, p. 100.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 54, p. 100, reen. C. L. 255:54.

Defective receipt no defense: Where a party is charged with the unlawful sale of grain stored in his warehouse, he should not be heard in his defense to urge that a warehouse receipt issued by him for grain received and stored is not in form and substance as required to be issued by the provisions of the statute. S. v. Henzell (1910) 17 I. 725, 107 P. 67, 27 L. R. A. (N. S.) 159.

Intent not material: Under a former statute it was held in a prosecution of a warehouseman for unlawfully selling stored grain that the motive or intent with which the sale was made was immaterial and constituted no defense. S. v. Henzell, supra.

§ 6173. Negotiation of receipt for mortgaged goods. Any person who deposits goods to which he has not title, or upon which there is a lien or mortgage, and who takes for such goods a negotiable receipt which he afterward negotiates for value with intent to deceive and without disclosing his want of title or the existence of the lien or mortgage shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding $1000, or by both. ['15, c. 31, § 55, p. 100.]

ARTICLE 5.

INTERPRETATION.

§ 6174. Cases not provided for in chapter. In any case not provided for in this chapter the rules of law and equity, including the law merchant, and in particular the rules relating to the law of principal and agent and to the effect of fraud, misrepresentation, duress or coercion, mistake, bankruptcy, or other invalidating cause, shall govern. ['15, c. 31, § 56, p. 100.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 56, p. 100, reen. C. L. 255:56.

§ 6175. Interpretation shall give effect to purpose of uniformity. This chapter shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it. ['15, c. 31, § 57, p. 100.]

Hist. '15, c. 31, § 57, p. 100, reen. C. L. 255:57.

§ 6176. Definitions. 1. In this chapter, unless the context or subject matter otherwise requires:

"Action" includes counterclaim, set-off and suit in equity.

"Delivery" means voluntary transfer of possession from one person to another.

"Fungible goods" means goods of which any unit is, from its nature or by mercantile custom, treated as the equivalent of any other unit.

"Goods" means chattels or merchandise in storage, or which has been or is about to be stored.

"Holder" of a receipt means a person who has both actual possession of such receipt and a right of property therein.

"Order" means an order by indorsement on the receipt.

"Owner" does not include mortgagee or pledgee.

CHAPTER 235.

BONDED WAREHOUSE LAW.

§ 6178. Short title of act. This act shall be known by the short title of bonded warehouse law. ['19, c. 152, § 1, p. 485.]

§ 6179. Terms defined. The term "public warehouse" or "warehouse" as used in this chapter shall be deemed to mean every building, structure, or other protected inclosure in which any agricultural produce is received for storage or transfer for compensation; such warehouses are hereby declared to be public utilities.

The term "agricultural product" wherever used in this chapter shall be deemed to mean grains, leguminous seeds, hay, potatoes, fruit and wool or any of them.

The term "person" includes a corporation or partnership or two or more persons having a joint or common interest.

The term "warehouseman" means a person operating or controlling a public warehouse.

The term "receipt" means a warehouse receipt. ['19, c. 152, § 2, p. 485.]

§ 6180. License necessary to operate public warehouse. Before a person can lawfully operate a public warehouse in this state he must procure a license under this chapter. ['19, c. 152, § 3, p. 485.]

§ 6181. Penalty for operating without license. Any person operating a public warehouse without a license shall forfeit to the state for each day's operation $50, and such operation may be enjoined upon complaint of the commissioner of agriculture. ['19, c. 152, § 4, p. 485.]

§ 6182. Inspection and classification of warehouses, storage, warehousing, weighing and certification of products: Duties of warehousemen. Upon application by any person for license to conduct a warehouse under this chapter, the department of agriculture is authorized to investigate and determine whether the warehouse for which licenses are applied, or have been previously issued, under this chapter, are suitable for the proper storage of agricultural products, and the department of agriculture is authorized with or without application, to wit:

To inspect any warehouse licensed under this chapter; to investigate the storage, warehousing, classifying according to grade, and otherwise weighing and certification of agricultural products therein conducted; to classify warehouses, licensed or applying for license, in accordance with their ownership, location, surroundings, capacity, conditions and other qualities, and as to the kinds of licenses issued or that may be issued for them pursuant to this chapter; and to prescribe, within the limitations of this chapter, the duties of the warehousemen conducting warehouses licensed under this chapter with respect to their care of and responsibility for agricultural products. ['19, c. 152, § 5, p. 485.]

§ 6183. Licenses to warehousemen: Issue: Conditions precedent. The department of agriculture is authorized, upon application to it, to issue to any warehouseman a license for the conduct of a warehouse or warehouses in accordance with this chapter and such rules and regulations as may be made hereunder: Provided, That each such warehouse be found suitable for the proper storage of the particular agricultural product or products for which a license is applied for, and that such warehouseman agree, as a condition to the granting of the license, to comply with and abide by all the terms of this chapter and the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder. ['19, c. 152, § 6, p. 486.]

§ 6184. Term of license: Renewal. Each license issued under section 6183 shall be issued for a period not exceeding one year. All licenses shall terminate on June 30th following their issuance. ['19, c. 152, § 7, p. 486.]

§ 6185. Bond of applicant for license: Additional bond. Each warehouseman applying for a license to conduct a warehouse in accordance with this chapter shall, as a condition to the granting thereof, execute and file with the department of agriculture a good and sufficient bond other than personal security to the state to secure the faithful performance of his obligations as a warehouseman under all the laws of the state, and the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder, and of such additional obligations as a warehouseman as may be assumed by him under contracts with the respective depositors of agricultural products in such warehouse. Said bond shall be in such form and amount, shall have such surety or sureties, and shall contain such terms and conditions as the department of agriculture may prescribe to carry out the purposes of this chapter, including the requirements of fire insurance. Whenever the department of agriculture shall determine that a bond approved by it is, or for any cause has become, insufficient, it may require an additional bond or bonds to be given by the warehouseman concerned, conforming with the requirements of this section, and unless the same be given within the time fixed by a written demand therefor the license of such warehouseman may be suspended or revoked. ['19, c. 152, § 8, p. 486.]

§ 6186. Action on bond by persons injured. Any person injured by the breach of any obligation to secure which a bond is given, under the provisions of section 6185, shall be entitled to sue on the bond in his own name in a court of competent jurisdiction to recover the damages he may have sustained by such breach. ['19, c. 152, § 9, p. 487.]

§ 6187. Designation of warehouse as bonded warehouse. Upon the filing with and approval by the department of agriculture of a bond, in compliance with this chapter, for the conduct of a warehouse, such warehouse shall be designated as bonded hereunder; but no warehouse shall be designated as bonded under this chapter, and no name or description conveying the impression that it is so bonded, shall be used, until a bond, such as provided for in section 6185, has been filed with and approved by the department of agriculture, nor unless the license issued under this chapter for the conduct of such warehouse remains unsuspended and unrevoked. ['19, c. 152, § 10, p. 487.]

§ 6188. Fees of department. The department of agriculture shall charge, assess, and cause to be collected a reasonable fee for every examination or inspection of a warehouse under this chapter when such examination of inspection is made upon application of a warehouseman, and a fee not exceeding $2 per annum for each license or renewal thereof issued to a warehouseman under this chapter. All such fees shall be deposited and covered into the state treasury. ['19, c. 152, § 11, p. 487.]

§ 6189. Schedule of rates: Posting. Every public warehouseman shall annually, during the first week in July, publish by posting in a conspicuous place in his warehouse, a schedule of storage rates for the ensuing year, which schedule shall be kept posted in a conspicuous place in said warehouse. ['19, c. 152, § 12, p. 487.]

§ 6190. Privilege of examining products stored: Every person having an interest in any agricultural product stored in any such warehouse, and every state inspector, shall have the right to examine at all times during ordinary business hours any product so stored, and all parts of such warehouses, provided warehouse or the agricultural products stored therein is not endangered by such inspection; and every warehouseman, his agents and servants shall furnish proper facilities for such examination. ['19, c. 152, § 13, p. 487.]

§ 6191. Employment of inspectors. The department of agriculture may employ such inspectors, samplers and weighers as it may deem necessary. ['19, c. 152, § 14, p. 488.]

§ 6192. Licenses to classify, grade or weigh products for storage. The department of agriculture may, upon presentation of satisfactory proof of competency, issue to any person a license to classify any agricultural product or products, stored or to be stored in a warehouse licensed under this chapter, according to grade or otherwise and to certificate the grade or other class thereof, or to weigh the same and certificate the weights thereof, or both to classify and weigh the same and to certificate the grade or other class and the weight thereof, upon condition that such person agree to comply with and abide by the terms of this chapter and of the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder so far as the same relate to him, and execute a sufficient bond to the state of Idaho in sum determined by the department of agriculture for the faithful discharge of his duties. ['19, c. 152, § 15, p. 488.]

§ 6193. Same: Suspension or revocation of license. Any license issued to any person to classify or to weigh any agricultural product or products under this chapter may be suspended or revoked by the department of agriculture whenever it is satisfied, after opportunity afforded to the licensee concerned for a hearing, that such licensee has failed to classify or to weigh any agricultural product or products correctly, or has violated any of the provisions of this chapter, or of the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder, so far as the same may relate to him, or that he has used his license or allowed it to be used for any improper purpose whatsoever. Pending investigation, the department of agriculture, whenever it deems necessary, may suspend a license temporarily without hearing. ['19, c. 152, § 16, p. 488.]

§ 6194. Fees for inspection. The department shall fix the fees for the inspection and weighing of agricultural products, such fees to be a lien upon such products. ['19, c. 152, § 17, p. 488.]

§ 6195. Warehousemen to receive products without discrimination. Every warehouseman conducting a warehouse licensed under this chapter shall receive for storage therein, so far as its capacity permits, any agricultural product of the kind customarily stored therein by him which may be tendered to him, bearing certificate, when required, of an official inspector showing suitable condition, for warehousing, in the usual manner in the ordinary and usual course of business, without making any discrimination between persons desiring to avail themselves of warehouse facilities. ['19, c. 152, § 18, p. 488.]

§ 6196. Products for storage deemed deposited subject to law. Any person who deposits agricultural products for storage in a warehouse licensed under this chapter shall be deemed to have deposited the same subject to the terms of this chapter and the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder. ['19, c. 152, § 19, p. 489.]

§ 6197. Inspection and grading of fungible diseased or insect infected products. Any fungible diseased or insect infected agricultural product complained of by any person having interest in the warehouse or agricultural products stored in a warehouse licensed under this chapter shall be inspected and graded by a representative of the department of agriculture or a person duly licensed to grade the same under this chapter, and if such inspection or grading shows such agricultural product to be in condition that its continued storing or retention would injure or damage the warehouse or other products stored therein the owner shall, by order of the inspector, forthwith remove such agricultural product. Providing the owner of such product is unknown to the inspector or warehouseman, the warehouseman shall proceed to remove or make disposition of such product in a manner that will tend to save and realize the values contained in such product by the owner, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed under this chapter. ['19, c. 152, § 20, p. 489.]

§ 6198. Fungible products of different grades to be kept separate. Every warehouseman conducting a warehouse licensed under this chapter shall at no time while they are in his custody mix fungible agricultural products of different grades. ['19, c. 152, § 21, p. 489.]

Cross ref. Fungible goods may be commingled: § 6141.

§ 6199. Receipts for products stored. For all agricultural products stored in a warehouse licensed under this chapter original receipts shall be issued by the warehouseman conducting the same, but no receipts shall be issued except for agricultural products actually stored in the warehouse at the time of the issuance thereof. ['19, c. 152, § 22, p. 489.]

§ 6200. Same: Contents. Every receipt issued for agricultural products stored in a warehouse licensed under this chapter shall embody within its written or printed terms:

1. All the requirements of a receipt under the uniform warehouse receipts law.

2. A description of the agricultural products received, showing the quantity thereof, or, in case of agricultural products customarily put up in bales or packages, a description of such bales or packages by marks, numbers, or other means of identification and the weight of such bales or packages.

3. The grade or other class of the agricultural products received and the standard or description in accordance with which such classification has been made: Provided, That such grade or other class shall be stated according to the official standards of the state applicable to such agricultural products as the same may be fixed and promulgated under authority of law: Provided further, That until such official standards of the state for any agricultural product or products have been fixed and promulgated, the grade or other class thereof may be stated in accordance with any recognized standard: Provided, That unless otherwise required by law, when requested by the depositor of other than fungible agricultural products, a receipt omitting compliance with this subdivision may be issued if it have plainly and conspicuously embodied in its written or printed terms a provision that such receipt is not negotiable.

4. A statement that the receipt is issued subject to the state bonded warehouse act and the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder.

5. Such other terms and conditions within the limitations of this chapter as may be required by the department of agriculture. ['19, c. 152, § 23, p. 489.]

Cross ref. Form of warehouse receipts: §§ 6120-6121.

§ 6201. Standards for agricultural products. The department of agriculture is authorized, from time to time, to establish and promulgate standards for agricultural products in this chapter defined by which their quality or value may be judged or determined.

So far as practicable such standards shall conform to the official standards of the United States applicable to such agricultural products as the same may from time to time be fixed and promulgated.

No warehouseman in this state shall insert in any receipt issued by him any language in anywise limiting or modifying his liabilities, or responsibilities, as imposed by the laws of this state. ['19, c. 152, § 24, p. 490.]

§ 6202. Loss of receipts: Conditions of reissue. While an original receipt issued under this chapter is outstanding and uncancelled by the warehouseman issuing the same no other or further receipt shall be issued for the agricultural product covered thereby or for any part thereof, except that in the case of a lost or destroyed receipt a new receipt, upon the same terms and subject to the same conditions and bearing on its face the number and date of the receipt in lieu of which it is issued, may be issued upon the giving of satisfactory security in compliance with the rules and regulations made pursuant to this chapter. ['19, c. 152, § 25, p. 490.]

§ 6203. Records of products stored: Reports: Conduct of warehouses. Every warehouseman conducting a warehouse licensed under this chapter shall keep in a place of safety complete and correct records of all agricultural products stored therein and withdrawn therefrom, of all warehouse receipts issued by him, and of the receipts returned to and canceled by him, shall make reports to the department of agriculture concerning such warehouse and the condition, contents, operation, and business thereof, in such form and at such times as it may require, and shall conduct said warehouse in all other respects in compliance with this chapter and the rules and regulations made hereunder. ['19, c. 152, § 26, p. 491.]

§ 6204. Examination of products stored: Publication of findings. The department of agriculture is authorized to cause examinations to be made of any agricultural product stored in any warehouse licensed under this chapter. Whenever, after opportunity for hearing is given to the warehouseman conducting such warehouse, it is determined that he is not performing fully the duties imposed on him by this chapter and the rules and regulations made hereunder, the department may publish its findings. ['19, c. 152, § 27, p. 491.]

§ 6205. Suspension or revocation of license. The department of agriculture may, after opportunity for hearing has been afforded to the licensee concerned, suspend or revoke any license issued to any warehouseman conducting a warehouse under this chapter, for any violation of or failure to comply with any provision of this chapter or of the rules and regulations made hereunder or upon the ground that unreasonable or exorbitant charges have been made for services rendered. Pending investigation the department of agriculture, whenever it deems necessary, may suspend a license temporarily without hearing. ['19, c. 152, § 28, p. 491.]

§ 6206. Publication of reports: Names and locations of warehouses. The department of agriculture from time to time may publish the results of any investigations made under this chapter; and it shall publish the names and locations of warehouses licensed and bonded and the names and addresses of persons licensed under this chapter and a list of all licenses terminated under this chapter and the causes therefor. ['19, c. 152, § 29, p. 491.]

§ 6207. Examination of books. The department of agriculture is authorized through officials, employees, or agents of the department designated by it, to examine all books, records, papers, and accounts of warehouses relating thereto. ['19, c. 152, § 30, p. 492.]

§ 6208. Rules and regulations. The department of agriculture shall from time to time make such rules and regulations as it may deem necessary for the efficient execution of the provisions of this chapter. ['19, c. 152, § 31, p. 492.]

§ 6209. Cooperation. In the administration of this chapter the department is directed to cooperate with the state seed commissioner, with the federal departments and with official agencies in other states. ['19, c. 152, § 32, p. 492.]

§ 6210. Violation of law: Penalty. Every person who shall forge, alter, counterfeit, simulate, or falsely represent, or shall without proper authority use, any license issued by the department of agriculture under this chapter, or who shall violate or fail to comply with any provision of section 6185, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than $500 or imprisoned not more than six months, or both, in the discretion of the court. ['19, c. 152, § 33, p. 492.]

§ 6211. Rent of quarters: Employment of assistants. The department is authorized to rent such quarters and to employ such persons and means as it may deem necessary in the city of Boise and elsewhere, and it is authorized, in its discretion, to employ qualified persons not regularly in the service of the state for temporary assistance in carrying out the purposes of this chapter. ['19, c. 152, § 34, p. 492.]

§ 6212. Effect of partial invalidity of law. If any clause, sentence, paragraph, or part of this chapter shall, for any reason, be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair, or invalidate the remainder thereof, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered. ['19, c. 152, § 35, p. 492.]

TITLE L.

CHAPTER 236.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION LAW.

Hist. '19, c. 8, § 38, p. 65 (§ 351 herein) abolished the state insurance manager and § 28 of the same act (§ 284 herein) vested his powers in the department of commerce and industry. The section notes "Compiled upon authority '19, c. 8," etc., indicate that the substitutions of offices and officials authorized by that act have been made accordingly; the text of preexisting law not being changed except in so far as necessary in making substitutions.

Comp. leg. This law follows closely the uniform act recommended by the national conference of commissioners on uniform state laws.

ARTICLE 1.

SCOPE OF CHAPTER.

§ 6213. Employments covered. This chapter shall apply to all public employment as defined in section 6215 and to all private employment in a trade or occupation which is carried on by the employer for the sake of pecuniary gain, not expressly excepted by the provisions of section 6216. ['17, c. 81, § 1a, p. 254.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 1a, p. 254, reen. C. L. 256:1a. Comp. leg. See uniform act § 1.

§ 6214. Declaration of police power. The common law system governing the remedy of workmen against employers for injuries received in industrial and public work is inconsistent with modern industrial conditions. The administration of the common law system in such cases has produced the result that little of the cost to the employer has reached the injured workman, and that little at large expense to the public. The remedy of the workman has been uncertain, slow and inadequate. Injuries in such employments formerly occasional have become frequent and inevitable. The welfare of the state depends upon its industries, and even more upon the welfare of its wageworkers. The state of Idaho, therefore, exercising herein its police and sovereign power, declares that all phases of the premises are withdrawn from private controversy, and sure certain relief for injured workmen and their families and dependents is hereby provided regardless of questions of fault and to the exclusion of every other remedy, proceeding or compensation, except as is otherwise provided in this chapter, and to that end all civil actions and civil causes of action for such personal injuries, and all jurisdiction of the courts of the state over such causes are hereby abolished, except as is in this chapter provided. ['17, c. 81, § 1b, p. 254.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 1b, p. 254, reen. C. L. 256:1b. Comp. leg.—Wash. '11, c. 75, § 1, but limited to extra hazardous occupations.

Cross ref. Abolition of civil remedies: § 6219.

§ 6215. Public employment. This chapter shall apply to employees of the state and of all counties, cities, cities under special charter or commission form of government, villages, school districts, irrigation districts, drainage districts, highway districts, road districts and other public and municipal corporations within the state; but not to public officials who are elected by popular vote or who receive salaries exceeding $2400 a year. Policemen and firemen and others entitled to pensions shall be deemed employees within the meaning of this chapter.

If, however, any policeman or fireman or other person entitled to a pension claims compensation under this chapter there shall be deducted from such compensation any sum which such policeman or fireman or other person may be entitled to receive from any pension or other benefit fund to which the state or municipal body may contribute. ['17, c. 81, § 2, p. 255.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 2, p. 255, reen. C. L. 256:2.

Cross ref. Express references to this section: As defining public employment: § 6213; public bodies not required to secure compensation: § 6278; but must give state insurance fund the preference: § 6316.

Comp. leg. See uniform act § 2.

§ 6216. Employments not covered. None of the provisions of this chapter shall apply to:

1. Agricultural pursuits.
2. Household domestic service.
3. Casual employment.
4. Employment by charitable organizations; or,
5. Employment of outworkers; or of
6. Members of the employer's family dwelling in his house:

Unless the employer and employee expressly agree in writing filed with the board that the provisions of the chapter shall apply. Any such agreement may be terminated by either party upon 60 days' notice to the other and to the board in writing prior to any accident. ['17, c. 81, § 3, p. 255.]

RIGHTS AND REMEDIES GRANTED AND AFFECTED.

§ 6217. Right to compensation for injury. If a workman receives personal injury by accident arising out of and in the course of any employment covered by this chapter his employer or the surety shall pay compensation in the amounts and to the person or persons hereinafter specified. ['17, c. 81, § 4, p. 256.]

§ 6218. Injuries not covered. No compensation shall be allowed for an injury caused:

1. By the employee's wilful intention to injure himself or to injure another; or,
2. By his intoxication.

If the employer claims an exemption or forfeiture under this section the burden of proof shall be upon him. ['17, c. 81, § 5, p. 256.]

§ 6219. Right to compensation exclusive. The rights and remedies herein granted to an employee on account of a personal injury for which he is entitled to compensation under this chapter shall exclude all other rights and remedies of such employee, his personal representatives, dependents, or next of kin, at common law or otherwise, on account of such injury.

Employers, who hire workmen within this state to work outside of the state, may agree with such workmen that the remedies under this chapter shall be exclusive as regards injuries received outside this state by accident arising out of and in the course of such employment; and all contracts of hiring in this state shall be presumed to include such an agreement. ['17, c. 81, § 6, p. 256.]

§ 6222. Substitute systems of compensation. With the approval of the [industrial accident] board, an employer who is subject to the provisions of this chapter may enter into an agreement with his employees to provide a system of compensation or benefits in lieu of the compensation provided by this chapter, subject, however, to the following restrictions:

1. The benefits to injured employees shall be at least equivalent to those herein provided.

2. If contributions are required from employees the additional benefits shall be commensurate with such contributions.

3. If acceptance of such substitute system is made a condition of employment, equitable provision shall be made for the withdrawal of employees from it and the distribution of its assets. An employer who is authorized to substitute a plan under the provisions of this section shall give his employees notice thereof in the form prescribed by the board and a statement of the plan approved shall be filed with the board. Copies of settlements made under the provisions of this section shall be filed with the board. ['17, c. 81, § 9, p. 257.]

COMPENSATION.

§ 6223. Death benefits. If death results from the injury within two years the employer or the surety shall pay to the person entitled to compensation, or, if there are none, then to the personal representative of the deceased employee, burial expenses not to exceed $100, and shall also pay to or for the following persons for the following periods, a weekly compensation equal to the following percentages of the deceased employee's average weekly wages as defined in section 6237:

1. To the dependent widow or widower, if there be no dependent children, 45 per centum.

2. To the dependent widow or widower, if there be a dependent child or children, 55 per centum for such widow or widower and children. Such compensation to the widow or widower shall be for the use and benefit of such widow or widower and of the dependent children, and the board may from time to time apportion such compensation between them in such way as it deems best. If a child has a guardian other than the surviving widow or widower, the compensation payable on account of such child shall be paid to such guardian.

3. If there be no dependent widow or widower, but a dependent child or children, 25 per centum for one child and 10 per centum for each additional child, not to exceed a total of 55 per centum, to be divided equally among such children if more than one.

4. To the parents, if one be wholly dependent for support upon the deceased employee at the time of his death and the other is not dependent to any extent, 25 per centum; if both are wholly dependent, 20 per centum to each; if one be or both are partly dependent, a proportionate amount in the discretion of the board.

The above percentages shall be paid if there be no dependent widow, widower or child. If there be a widow, widower or child, there shall be paid so much of the above percentages as, when added to the total percentages payable to the widow, widower and children, will not exceed a total of 55 per centum.

5. To the brothers, sisters, grandparents and grandchildren, if one be wholly dependent upon the deceased employee for support at the time of his death, 20 per centum to such dependent; if more than one be wholly dependent, 30 per centum, divided among such dependents share and share alike; if there be no one of them wholly dependent, but one or more partly dependent, 10 per centum divided among such dependents share and share alike.

The above percentages shall be paid if there be no dependent widow, widower, child or parent. If there be a dependent widow, widower, child or parent, there shall be paid so much of the above percentages as, when added to the total percentage payable to the widow, widower, children and dependent parents, will not exceed a total of 55 per centum.

6. In case there are two or more classes of persons entitled to compensation under this section and the apportionment of such compensation, above provided, would result in injustice, the board may, in its discretion, modify the apportionment to meet the requirements of the case.

7. In case there are no dependents of the deceased employee, the employer shall pay into the state treasury to be deposited in the industrial administration fund the sum of $1000. ['17, c. 81, § 10, p. 257.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 10, p. 257, reen. C. L. Comp. leg. Similar to uniform act § 7. 256:10.

§ 6224. Dependents. The following persons, and they only, shall be deemed dependents and entitled to compensation under the provisions of this chapter:

A child if under 18 years of age, or incapable of self support and unmarried, whether actually dependent upon the deceased or not.

The widow only if living with the deceased, or actually dependent wholly or partially, upon him.

The widower only if incapable of self support and actually dependent, wholly or partially, upon the deceased at the time of her injury.

A parent or grandparent only if actually dependent, wholly or partially, upon the deceased.

A grandchild, brother or sister only if under 18 years of age, or incapable of self support, and wholly dependent upon the deceased.

The relation of dependency must exist at the time of the injury. ['17, c. 81, § 11, p. 259.]

§ 6225. Periods of compensation. The compensation herein provided for shall be payable during the following periods:

To a widow, until death or remarriage, but in no case to exceed 400 weeks.

To a widower, during disability or until remarriage, but in no case to exceed 400 weeks.

To or for a child, until 18 years of age, but in the case of a child incapable of self support and unmarried as long as so incapable, but in no case to exceed 400 weeks beyond said age of 18 years.

To a parent or grandparent, during the continuation of a condition of actual dependency, but in no case to exceed 400 weeks.

To or for a grandchild, brother or sister, during dependency as hereinbefore defined, but in no case to exceed 400 weeks.

Upon the cessation of compensation under this section to or on account of any person, the compensation of the remaining persons entitled to compensation for the unexpired part of the period, during which their compensation is payable shall be that which such persons would have received if they had been the only persons entitled to compensation at the time of the decedent's death. § 6226. Nonresident alien dependents. Except as otherwise provided by treaty, whenever under the provisions of this chapter compensation is payable to a dependent who is an alien not residing in the United States, the employer shall pay 50 per centum of the compensation herein otherwise provided to such dependent and the remaining 50 per centum into the state treasury to be deposited in the industrial administration fund. But if a nonresident alien dependent is a citizen of a government having a compensation law which excludes citizens of the United States either resident or nonresident, from partaking of the benefit of such law in as favorable a degree as herein extended to nonresident aliens, then all of the compensation which would otherwise be payable to such dependent shall be paid into the industrial administration fund. § 6227. Certain words defined. As used in the foregoing sections the term "child" includes step-children, adopted children, posthumous children, and acknowledged illegitimate children, but does not include married children unless dependent. The terms "brother" and "sister" include step-brothers and step-sisters, half-brothers and half-sisters, and brothers and sisters by adoption, but do not include married brothers nor married sisters unless dependent. The term "grandchild" includes children of adopted children and children of step-children, but does not include step-children of children, step-children of step-children, step-children of adopted children, nor married grand-children, unless dependent. The term "parent" includes step-parents and parents by adoption. The term "grandparent" includes parents of parents by adoption, but does not include parents of step-parents, step-parents of parents, nor step-parents of step-parents. The words "adopted" and "adoption" as used in this chapter shall include cases where persons are treated as adopted as well as those of legal adoption. ['17, c. 81, § 14, p. 260.]

§ 6228. Sundry provisions as to death benefits. In computing death benefits the total weekly compensation shall be subject to a maximum of $12 per week and a minimum of $6 per week, but if at the time of the injury the employee received wages of less than $6 per week, then the compensation shall not exceed the full amount of such wages.

Payment of death benefits by an employer in good faith to a dependent subsequent in right to another or other dependents shall protect and discharge the employer unless and until such dependent or dependents prior in right shall have given him notice of his or their claim. In case the employer is in doubt as to the respective rights of rival claimants he may apply to the board to decide between them.

In case death occurs after a period of disability, either total or partial, the period of disability shall be deducted from the total periods of compensation respectively stated in section 6225.

The compensation of a person who is insane shall be paid to his or her guardian. ['17, c. 81, § 15, p. 261.]

§ 6229. Medical attendance. The employer shall provide for an injured employee such reasonable medical, surgical or other attendance or treatment, nurse and hospital service, medicine, crutches and apparatus, as may be required or be requested by the employee immediately after an injury, and for a reasonable time thereafter. If the employer fails to provide the same, the injured employee may do so at the expense of the employer. All fees and other charges for such treatment and services and compensation therefor shall be subject to regulation by the board. The pecuniary liability of the employer for the treatment and other service herein required shall be limited to such charges as prevail in the same community for similar treatment of injured persons of a like standard of living when such treatment is paid for by the injured person. In determining what fees and charges are reasonable, the board shall consider the increased security of payment afforded by this chapter. ['17, c. 81, § 16, p. 261.]

§ 6230. Hospital contracts. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as preventing employers and workmen from waiving the provisions of section 6229 and entering into mutual contracts or agreements providing for hospital benefits and accommodations to be furnished to the employee.

Such hospital contracts or agreements must provide for medical, hospital and surgical attendance for such employee for sickness contracted during the employment (except venereal diseases and sickness as a result of intoxication), as well as for injuries received arising out of and in the course of the employment.

No assessment of employee for such hospital contracts or benefits shall exceed $1 per month for each employee, except in cases where it shall appear to the satisfaction of the board, after a hearing had for that purpose, that the actual cost of such service exceeds the said sum of $1 per month, and any such finding of the board may be modified at any time when justified by a change of conditions, or otherwise, either upon the board's own motion or the application of any party in interest.

No profit, directly or indirectly, shall be made by any employer as a result of such hospital contract or assessment. It is the purpose and intent of this chapter to provide that each and every hospital maintained wholly or in part by payments from workmen, which furnishes treatment and services to employees for sickness and injury, as provided in this chapter, shall be under the supervision of the board as to services and treatment rendered such employees, and shall, from time to time make reports of such services, attendances, treatments, receipts and disbursments as the board may require. § 6231. Total disability. Where the injury causes total disability for work the employer during such disability, but not including the first seven days thereof, shall pay the injured employee a weekly compensation equal to 55 per centum of his average weekly wages, but not more than $12 nor less than $6 a week for a period not exceeding 400 weeks, and thereafter a weekly compensation of $6 a week. In no case shall the weekly payments continue after the disability ends.

In case of an employee whose average monthly wages are less than $6 a week the weekly compensation shall be the full amount of such average weekly wages, but where the disability is permanent the weekly compensation in such cases shall be $6.

In case the total disability begins after a period of partial disability, the period of partial disability shall be deducted from such total period of 400 weeks. ['17, c. 81, § 18, p. 263.]

§ 6232. Certain injuries deemed total disabilities. In the case of the following injuries in the absence of conclusive proof to the contrary the disability caused thereby shall be deemed total and permanent, to wit:

1. The total and permanent loss of sight in both eyes.
2. The loss of both feet at or above the ankle.
3. The loss of both hands at or above the wrist.
4. The loss of one hand and one foot.

5. An injury to the spine resulting in permanent and complete paralysis of both legs or arms or of one leg and one arm.

6. An injury to the skull resulting in incurable imbecility or insanity.

The above enumeration is not to be taken as exclusive. ['17, c. 81, § 19, p. 263.]

§ 6233. Partial disability. Where the injury causes partial disability for work, the employer, during such disability and for a period not exceeding 150 weeks beginning on the eighth day of disability, shall pay the injured workman a weekly compensation equal to 55 per centum of the difference between his average weekly wages before the accident and the weekly wages he is most probably able to earn thereafter, taking into account the nature of the physical injury or disfigurement, the occupation of the injured employee and his age at the time of the injury, not exceeding, however, the difference between the wages which the injured employee is most probably able to earn after the injury and the maximum compensation allowed in cases of total disability: Provided, That such a sum shall be paid as compensation in each case, which, when added to the wages which the injured employee is able to earn after the injury, will equal the minimum compensation allowed in cases of total disability. In no case shall the weekly payments continue after the disability ends, and in case the partial disability begins after a period of total disability the period of total disability shall be deducted from such total period of 150 weeks. PRELIMINARY PROCEDURE IN OBTAINING COMPENSATION.

§ 6242. Medical examination. After an injury and during the period of disability, the workman, if so requested by his employer, or ordered by the board, shall submit himself to examination, at reasonable times and places, to a duly qualified physician or surgeon designated and paid by the employer. The workman shall have the right to have a physician or surgeon designated and paid by himself present at such examination, which right, however, shall not be construed to deny to the employer's physician the right to visit the injured workman at all reasonable times and under all reasonable conditions during total disability. If a workman refuses to submit himself to or in any way obstructs such examination, his right to take or prosecute any proceeding under this chapter shall be suspended until such refusal or obstruction ceases, and no compensation shall be payable for the period during which such refusal or obstruction continues. If an injured workman persists in insanitary, injurious or unreasonable practices which tend to imperil or retard his recovery, the board may, in its discretion, order the compensation of such workman to be suspended or reduced. § 6245. Giving of notice and making of claim. Any notice under this chapter shall be given to the employer, or, if the employer be a partnership, then to any one of the partners. If the employer be a corporation, then the notice may be given to any agent of the corporation upon whom process may be served, or to any officer of the corporation, or any agent in charge of the business at the place where the injury occurred. Such notice shall be given by delivering it or by sending it by mail by registered letter addressed to the employer at his or its last known residence or place of business. The foregoing provisions shall apply to the making of a claim. ['17, c. 81, § 32, p. 268.]

§ 6246. Sufficiency of notice. A notice given under the provisions of section 6243 of this chapter shall not be held invalid or insufficient by reason of any inaccuracy in stating the time, place, nature or cause of the injury, or otherwise, unless it is shown that the employer was in fact misled to his injury thereby. Want of notice or delay in giving notice shall not be a bar to proceedings under this chapter if it be shown that the employer, his agent or representative, had knowledge of the accident, or that the employer has not been prejudiced by such delay or want of notice. ARTICLE 5.

INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT BOARD.

§ 6248. Creation of board. A board is hereby created to be known as the industrial accident board, consisting of three members, to be appointed by the governor, with the approval of the senate. The term of office of each member of said board shall be six years, excepting that of the members of said board first appointed, one shall be appointed to hold office until the second Monday of January, 1919, one until the second Monday of January, 1921, and one until the second Monday of January, 1923. Not more than one of the appointees to such board shall be a person who, on account of his previous vocations, employment or affiliations can be classed as a representative of employers, and not more than one of such appointees shall be a person who, on account of his previous vocation, employment or affiliations can be classed as a representative of workmen; not more than two of the members of the board shall belong to the same political party. Any vacancy during a term may be filled by appointment by the governor with the approval of the senate. If any appointment is made during the recess of the legislature it shall be subject to confirmation by the senate during its next ensuing session. After due notice and public hearing the governor may remove any member for cause and the good of the public service.

No person shall be eligible to appointment as a member of the board unless he shall be at least 30 years of age, a qualified elector of the state of Idaho and a resident of Idaho not less than three years consecutively next preceding his appointment, of good moral character and of a previous experience and training to qualify him to efficiently and justly discharge the duties of his office.

No person accepting appointment as a member of the board and qualifying as such shall be eligible to election or appointment to any public office during any calendar year which shall include any part of the term of membership on the board for which he may have been appointed and qualified and in which such election shall be held or appointment made. Resignation from membership on the board shall not relieve such member from any of the provisions of this chapter, and the acceptance of appointment and qualification as a member of the board shall constitute a valid waiver of any and all statutory or constitutional rights to or eligibility for holding any other public office during such time. [C. L. 256:35.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 35, p. 269; compiled and reen. C. L. 256:35.

§ 6249. Salaries. The salary of each member of the board shall be $3000 per year. ['17, c. 81, § 36, p. 270.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 36, p. 270, reen. C. L. 256:36.

§ 6250. Quorum: Chairman: Vacancies: A majority of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The members of the board shall select one of their number as chairman. A vacancy on the board shall not impair the right of the remaining members to perform all the duties and exercise all the power and authority of the board. The act of a majority of the board, when in session as a board, shall be deemed to be the act of the board, but any investigation, inquiry or hearing which the board has power to undertake or to hold may be undertaken or held by or before any member thereof or any examiner or referee appointed by the board for that purpose. Every finding, order, decision or award made by any member, examiner or referee pursuant to such investigation, inquiry or hearing, when approved and confirmed by the board and ordered filed in its office shall be deemed to be the finding, order, decision or award of the board. [C. L. 256:37.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 37, p. 270; compiled and reen. C. L. 256:37.

§ 6251. Seal. The board shall have a seal bearing the following inscription, "Industrial accident board, state of Idaho, seal." The seal shall be affixed to all writs and authentications of copies of records and to such other instruments as the board shall direct. All courts shall take judicial notice of said seal. ['17, c. 81, § 38, p. 271.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 43, p. 271, reen. C. L. 256:43.

§ 6257. Records and forms. The board shall cause to be printed such blank forms as it shall deem requisite to facilitate or promote the efficient administration of this chapter. It shall provide a book in which shall be entered the minutes of all its proceedings, a book of record in which shall be recorded all awards made by the board and such other books or records as it shall deem requisite for the purpose and efficient administration of this chapter. All such records are to be kept in the office of the board. ['17, c. 81, § 44, p. 271.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 44, p. 271, reen. C. L. 256:44.

§ 6258. Reports. The board shall have the power and authority to publish and distribute at its discretion from time to time, in addition to its annual report, such further reports and bulletins covering its operations, proceedings and matters relative to its work as it may deem advisable. ['17, c. 81, § 45, p. 272.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 45, p. 272, reen. C. L. 256:45.

§ 6259. Fees. The board shall have power and authority to charge and collect the following fees:

1. For copies of papers and records not required to be certified or otherwise authenticated by the board, 15 cents for each folio; for certified copies of official documents and orders filed in its office or of the evidence taken at any hearing, 20 cents for each folio.
2. To fix and collect reasonable charges for publications issued under its authority.
3. The fees charged and collected under this section shall be paid monthly into the treasury of the state to the credit of the industrial administration fund and shall be accompanied by a detailed statement thereof. ['17, c. 81, § 46, p. 272.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 46, p. 272, reen. C. L. 256:46.

§ 6260. Duties of attorney general. The attorney general shall be the legal adviser of the board and shall represent it in all proceedings whenever so requested by the board or any member thereof. ['17, c. 81, § 47, p. 272.]

ARTICLE 6.

PROCEDURE BEFORE THE BOARD.

§ 6261. Procedure: Witnesses. Process and procedure under this chapter shall be as summary and simple as reasonably may be and as far as possible in accordance with the rules of equity. The board or any member thereof shall have the power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, and to examine such of the books and records of the parties to a proceeding as relate to the questions in dispute. The district court shall have power to enforce by proper proceedings the attendance and testimony of witnesses, and the production and examination of books, papers and records. Upon request of any party, a stenographic report of the testimony at any hearing shall be taken at the cost of such party.

Witnesses subpoenaed by the board or a member thereof shall be allowed such fees and traveling expenses as are allowed in civil actions, to be paid by the party in whose interest such witnesses are subpoenaed. ['17, c. 81, § 48, p. 272.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 48, p. 272, reen. C. L. Comp. leg. Uniform act § 28. 256:48.

§ 6262. Agreements. If the employer and the injured employee reach an agreement in regard to compensation under this chapter, a memorandum of the agreement shall be filed with the board and, if approved by it, thereupon the memorandum shall for all purposes be enforcible under the provisions of section 6271 unless modified as provided in section 6269. Such agreements shall be approved by the board only when the terms conform to the provisions of this chapter. ['17, c. 81, § 49, p. 273.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 49, p. 273, reen. C. L. Comp. leg. Uniform act § 29. 256:49.

§ 6263. Committee of arbitration. If the compensation is not settled by agreement, either party may make an application to the board for the formation of a committee of arbitration. Such committee shall consist of three members, one of whom shall be a member of the industrial accident board, or appointed by it, who shall act as chairman. The other two members shall be named, respectively, by the parties. If a vacancy occurs it shall be filled in the same way as the original appointment. ['17, c. 81, § 50, p. 273.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 50, p. 273, reen. C. L. Comp. leg. Uniform act § 30. 256:50.

§ 6264. Formation of committee. Immediately after such application the board shall designate one of its members, or a substitute, to act as chairman of the committee of arbitration, and shall request the parties to appoint their respective representatives. If within seven days after such request, or after a vacancy has occurred, either party does not appoint his representative, the board shall fill the vacancy and notify the parties to that effect. ['17, c. 81, § 51, p. 273.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 51, p. 273, reen. C. L. Comp. leg. Uniform act § 31. 256:51.

§ 6265. Hearings and awards. The committee on arbitration shall make such inquiries and investigations as it shall deem necessary. The hearings of the committee, unless otherwise agreed, shall be held in the city or town where the injury occurred if within this state, and the award of the committee, together with a statement of its findings of fact, ruling of law, and any other matters pertinent to the questions arising before it, shall be filed with the industrial accident board. A copy of the award shall be immediately sent to the parties. Unless a claim for a review is filed by either party within 30 days the award shall be enforcible under the provisions of section 6271. [C. L. 256:52.]

§ 6271. Enforcement of award. Any party in interest may file in the district court for the county in which the injury occurred, if such injury occurred within the state, otherwise in the district court for the county where the employer and employee reside, a certified copy of a decision of the board awarding compensation, from which no appeal has been taken within the time allowed therefor, or a certified copy of a decision of an arbitration committee awarding compensation from which no claim for review has been filed within the time allowed therefor, or a certified copy of a memorandum of agreement approved by the board, whereupon said court shall render a decree or judgment in accordance therewith and notify the parties thereof. Such decree or judgment shall have the same effect and all proceedings in relation thereto shall thereafter be the same, as though said decree or judgment had been rendered in a suit duly heard and determined by said court, except that there shall be no appeal therefrom, and the same shall not constitute a lien upon the real property of the employer unless execution shall be levied thereon. If a workman who has been hired in this state receives personal injury by accident arising out of and in the course of such employment, he shall be entitled to compensation according to the law of this state even though such injury was received outside of this state.

If a workman who has been hired outside of this state is injured while engaged in his employer's business, and is entitled to compensation for such injury under the law of the state where he was hired, he shall be entitled to enforce against his employer his rights in this state if his rights are such that they can reasonably be determined and dealt with by the board and the courts in this state. ['17, c. 81, § 62, p. 276.]

ARTICLE 8.

SECURITY FOR COMPENSATION.

§ 6278. Security for payment of compensation. Employers, but not including the state or the municipal bodies mentioned in section 6215, shall secure compensation to their employees in one of the following ways:

1. By insuring and keeping insured the payment of such compensation in the state insurance fund; or,

2. By depositing and maintaining with the department of commerce and industry security satisfactory to the board securing the payment by said employer of compensation according to the terms of this chapter. Such security may consist of a surety bond or guaranty contract with any company authorized to do surety or guaranty business in Idaho and having a sufficient deposit with the state treasurer upon which execution may lawfully be issued against said company on behalf of any workman secured under said bonds or contracts.

No company shall be permitted to write surety bonds or guarantee contracts covering the liability hereunder of employees of this state unless it shall have been authorized to do business under the laws of this state and until it shall have received the approval of the board. The board is hereby authorized to make and change such reasonable regulations as they may deem necessary with reference to the capital stock, surplus and reserves of such companies, to the end that the workmen secured under this chapter by any such company shall be adequately protected. The approval by the board of any such company may be withdrawn if it shall appear to the board that workmen secured therein under this chapter are not fully protected.

The board is also authorized to make and change such rules and regulations as they shall deem necessary to secure the prompt payment of compensation awards under this chapter, and shall withdraw their approval of any company, whenever it appears that such company unnecessarily delays the payment of such awards.

§ 6281. Effect of failure to secure compensation. If an employer subject to the provisions of this chapter fails to comply with the provisions of section 6278 he shall be liable to a penalty for every day during which such failure continues of $1 for every employee, to be recovered in an action brought by the department of commerce and industry in the name of the state or in its own name, and the amount so collected shall be paid into the state insurance fund.

The department of commerce and industry may, however, in its discretion, for good cause shown, remit any such penalty in whole or in part, provided the employer in default secures compensation, as provided in section 6278.

Furthermore, if any employer shall be in default under section 6278 for a period of 30 days, he may be enjoined by the district court from carrying on his business while such default continues.

ARTICLE 9.

STATE INSURANCE FUND.

§ 6288. Creation of state insurance fund. There is hereby created a fund, to be known as the state insurance fund, for the purpose of insuring employers against liability for compensation under this workmen's compensation law and of assuring to the persons entitled thereto the compensation provided by said law. Such fund shall consist of all premiums and penalties received and paid into the fund, of property and securities acquired by and through the use of moneys belonging to the fund, and of interest earned upon moneys belonging to the fund and deposited or invested as herein provided.

Such fund shall be administered by the department of commerce and industry without liability on the part of the state beyond the amount of such fund. Such fund shall be applicable to the payment of losses sustained on account of insurance and to the payment of compensation under the workmen's compensation law and of expenses of administering this article.

§ 6297. State treasurer custodian of fund. The state treasurer shall be the custodian of the state insurance fund, and all disbursements therefrom shall be paid by him upon warrants or vouchers authorized and signed by the commissioner of the department of commerce and industry, and also signed by the state auditor. The state treasurer shall give a separate and additional bond in an amount to be fixed by the governor, and with sureties approved by him, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duty as custodian of the state insurance fund. The state treasurer may deposit any portion of the said fund not needed for immediate use, in the manner and subject to all the provisions of law respecting the deposit of other state funds by him. Interest earned by such portion of the state insurance fund deposited by the state treasurer shall be collected by him and placed to the credit of the fund.

Comp. leg. Uniform act § 67.

§ 6299. Investment of surplus or reserve. The department of commerce and industry may invest any of the surplus or reserve funds belonging to the state insurance fund in the same securities and investments authorized for investments by savings banks. All such securities or evidences of indebtedness shall be placed in the hands of the state treasurer, who shall be the custodian thereof. He shall collect the principal and interest thereof, when due, and pay the same into the state insurance fund. The state treasurer shall pay all warrants or vouchers drawn on the state insurance fund for the making of such investments when signed by the commissioner of commerce and industry and by the state auditor. The department of commerce and industry, with the consent of the state auditor, may sell any of such securities, the proceeds thereof to be paid over to the state treasurer for said state insurance fund.

Comp. leg. Uniform act § 69.

§ 6301. Classification of risks and adjustment of premiums. Employments insured in the state insurance fund shall be divided by the department of commerce and industry, for the purposes of the said fund, into classes. Separate accounts shall be kept of the amounts collected and expended in respect to each such class for convenience in determining equitable rates; but for the purpose of paying compensation the state insurance fund shall be deemed one and indivisible. The department of commerce and industry shall have power to rearrange any of the classes by withdrawing any employment embraced in it and transferring it wholly or in part to any other class, and from such employments to set up new classes in its discretion. The department shall determine the hazards of the different classes and fix the rates of premiums therefor based upon the total pay roll and number of employees in each of such classes of employment at the lowest possible rate consistent with the maintenance of a solvent state insurance fund and the creation of a reasonable surplus and reserve; and for such purpose may adopt a system of schedule rating in such a manner as to take account of the peculiar hazard of each individual risk.

§ 6303. Dividends. At the end of every year, and at such other times as the department of commerce and industry in its discretion may determine, a readjustment of the rate shall be made for each of the several classes of employments or industries. If at any time there is an aggregate balance remaining to the credit of any class of employment or industry which the department of commerce and industry deems may be safely and properly divided, it may in its discretion credit to each individual member of such class who shall have been a subscriber to the state insurance fund for a period of six months or more, prior to the time of such readjustment, such proportion of such balance as he is properly entitled to, having regard to his prior paid premiums since the last readjustment of rates.

Comp. leg. Uniform act § 72.

§ 6304. Assessments. If the premiums fixed for any class and collected from its members are subsequently found by the department of commerce and industry to have been too small for any period, it may determine what additional premiums are required from said class for said period, and may make assessments accordingly, and each of the members of such class shall be liable to the said department to pay such assessment so made upon him within 30 days after notice thereof.

§ 6305. Readjustment of payrolls. If the amount of premium collected from any employer at the beginning of any period is ascertained by using the estimated expenditure of wages for the period of time covered by such premium payment as a basis, an adjustment of the amount of such premium shall be made at the end of such period and the actual amount of such premium shall be determined in accordance with the amount of the actual expenditure of wages for such period; and if such wage expenditure for such period is less than the amount on which such estimated premium was collected, such employer shall be entitled to receive a refund from the state insurance fund of the difference between the amount so paid by him and the amount so found to be actually due, or to have the amount of such difference credited on succeeding premium payments at his option; and if such actual premium, when so ascertained, exceeds in amount a premium so paid by such employer at the beginning of such period, such employer shall immediately upon being advised of the true amount of such premium due, forthwith pay to the department of commerce and industry an amount equal to the difference between the amount actually found to be due and the amount paid by him at the beginning of such period.

§ 6306. Policies and payment of premiums. 1. Every employer insuring in the state insurance fund shall receive from the department of commerce and industry a contract or policy of insurance.

2. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, all premiums shall be paid by every employer who elects to insure with the state insurance fund to the department of commerce and industry semiannually or at such times as may be prescribed by the department. Receipts shall be given for such payments and the money shall be paid over to the state treasurer to the credit of the state insurance fund.

§ 6307. Actions for collection in case of default: Penalty. If an employer shall default in any payment required to be made by him to the state insurance fund, the amount due from him shall be collected by civil action against him in the name of the state or of the department of commerce and industry, and it shall be the duty of the department forthwith to bring or cause to be brought against each such employer a civil action in the proper court for the collection of such amount so due; and the same, when collected by the department, shall be paid into the state insurance fund, and such employer's compliance with the provisions of this chapter requiring payments to be made to the state insurance fund shall date from the time of the payment of said money so collected to the department.

An employer who is in default for 10 days in payment of any premium shall also be liable to a penalty for every day during which such failure continues of $1 for every employee, to be recovered in an action brought by the department of commerce and industry in the name of the state, or in the name of the department and the amounts so collected shall be paid into the state insurance fund.

The department may, however, in its discretion for good cause shown, remit any such penalty in whole or in part, provided the employer in default subsequently pays the premium.

§ 6325. Employment. "Employment," in the case of private employers, includes employment only in a trade or occupation which is carried on by the employer for the sake of a pecuniary gain. It shall also include any of the pursuits specified in section 6216 when the employer and employee shall have elected to come under the chapter as in said section provided. ['17, c. 81, § 110f, p. 291.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 110f, p. 291, reen. C. L. 56:110f.

§ 6326. Board. The word "board," whenever used in this chapter, unless the context shows otherwise, shall be taken to mean the industrial accident board. ['17, c. 81, § 110g, p. 292.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 110g, p. 292, reen. C. L. 56:110g.

§ 6327. "Partial disability." Diminished ability to obtain employment owing to disfigurement resulting from an injury may be held to constitute partial disability. ['17, c. 81, § 110h, p. 292.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 110h, p. 292, reen. C. L. 56:110h.

§ 6328. Wages. "Wages" shall include the market value of board, lodging, fuel and other advantages which can be estimated in money which the employee receives from the employer as a part of his remuneration. "Wages" shall not include any sums which the employer has paid to the employee to cover any special expenses entailed on him by the nature of his employment. ['17, c. 81, § 110i, p. 292.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 110i, p. 292, reen. C. L. 256:110i.

§ 6329. Surety. "Surety" shall include the department of commerce and industry, representing the state insurance fund, and also any companies from any of which employers have obtained surety bonds or guaranty contracts in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 110j, p. 292, reen. C. L. 56:110j; compiled upon authority '19, c. 8, § 28, p. 56.

§ 6330. Number and gender. Any terms shall include the singular and plural and both sexes where the context so requires. [C. L. 56:110k,]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 110k, p. 292; compiled and reen. C. L. 256:110k.

§ 6331. Unconstitutional provisions. If any part or section of this chapter be decided by the courts to be unconstitutional or invalid, the same shall not affect the validity of the chapter as a whole, or any part thereof which can be given effect without the part so decided to be unconstitutional or invalid. ['17, c. 81, § 111, p. 292.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 111, p. 292, reen. C. L. 56:111. Comp. leg. Uniform act § 91.

§ 6332. Penalties for false representations. If for the purpose of obtaining any benefit or payment under the provisions of this chapter, either for himself or for any other person, any one wilfully makes a false statement or representation, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and he shall forfeit all right to compensation under this chapter after conviction for such offense. ['17, c. 81, § 112, p. 292.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 112, p. 292, reen. C. L. 56:112. Comp. leg. Uniform act § 92.

§ 6333. Prior injuries. The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to injuries sustained, or accidents which occur, prior to the taking effect hereof. ['17, c. 81, § 113, p. 292.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 113, p. 292, reen. C. L. 56:113. Comp. leg. Uniform act § 93.

§ 6334. Rule of construction to secure uniformity. This chapter shall be so interpreted and construed as to effect its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it. ['17, c. 81, § 114, p. 293.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 114, p. 293, reen. C. L. Comp. leg. Uniform act § 94. 256:114.

§ 6335. Appropriation. For the purpose of carrying out article 9 of this chapter there is hereby appropriated out of the funds in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $20,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to be placed in the state insurance fund and to be refunded as provided in section 6300. There is also hereby appropriated out of the funds in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated the sum of $15,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to be placed in the industrial administration fund. ['17, c. 81, § 115, p. 293.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 115, p. 293, reen. C. L. 256:115.

§ 6336. Short title. This chapter may be cited as the workmen's compensation law. ['17, c. 81, § 116, p. 293.]

ARTICLE 11.

SAFETY PROVISIONS.

§ 6337. Board may prescribe. The board shall have the power, in addition to other powers herein granted by general rules or regulations

1. To declare and prescribe what safety devices, safeguards or other means or methods of protection are well adapted to render employees and places of employment safe.

2. To fix and order such reasonable standards for the construction, maintenance and repair of places of employment as shall render them safe.

3. To require the performance of any act necessary for the protection of the life, health and safety of employees. ['17, c. 81, § 118, p. 293.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 118, p. 293, reen. C. L. 256:117.

§ 6338. Board rules must be obeyed. Every employer, employee and other person shall obey and comply with each and every requirement of every order, direction or regulation made or prescribed by the board, and shall do everything necessary or proper in order to secure compliance with and observance of every such order, direction or regulation. ['17, c. 81, § 119, p. 293.]

Hist. '17, c. 81, § 119, p. 293, reen. C. L. 256:118.

§ 6339. Penalty for violation of safety provisions. Every employer, employee or other person who, either individually or acting as an officer, agent or employee of a corporation or other person, violates any safety provision contained in this article, or any part of such provision, or who shall fail or refuse to comply with any such provision, or any part thereof, or who, directly or indirectly, knowingly induces another so to do is guilty of a misdemeanor. ['17, c. 81, § 120, p. 294.]

TITLE LI. LIENS.

CHAPTER 237.

LIENS IN GENERAL.

Cross ref. Warehousemen's lien: §§ 6145-51.

§ 6340. [3373] Liens defined. A lien is a charge imposed in some mode other than by a transfer in trust upon specific property by which it is made security for the performance of an act. [R. S. § 3325.]

Hist. R. S. § 3325, reen. R. C. § 3373, reen. C. L. ib.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 2872; same as amended: Kerr's C. ib.

Transfer in trust: The transfer in trust mentioned by this section is one which creates a trust and absolutely conveys title from the grantor, and not a deed of trust which hypothecates the property for the payment of the debt. Brown v. Bryan (1898) 6 I. 1, 51 P. 995.

§ 6341. [3374] General and special liens. Liens are either general or special. [R. S. § 3326.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 2877; Kerr's C. ib.

§ 6346. [3379] Lien on future interest. An agreement may be made to create a lien upon property not yet acquired by the party agreeing to give the lien, or not yet in existence. In such case the lien agreed for attaches from the time when the party agreeing to give it acquires an interest in the thing, to the extent of said interest. [R. S. § 3331.]

Hist. R. S. § 3331, reen. R. C. § 3379, reen. C. L. ib.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 2883; Kerr's C. ib.

§ 6347. [3380] Lien for performance of future obligation. A lien may be created by contract, to take immediate effect, as security for the performance of obligations not then in existence. [R. S. § 3332.]

Hist. R. S. § 3332, reen. R. C. § 3380, reen. C. L. ib.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 2884; Kerr's C. ib.

§ 6348. [3381] Lien transfers no title. Notwithstanding an agreement to the contrary, a lien, or a contract for a lien, transfers no title to the property subject to the lien. [R. S. § 3333.]

Hist. R. S. § 3333, reen. R. C. § 3381, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6351. [3384] Priority of purchase money mortgage. A mortgage given for the price of real property, at the time of its conveyance, has priority over all other liens created against the purchaser, subject to the operation of the recording laws. [R. S. § 3336.]

Hist. R. S. § 3336, reen. R. C. § 3384, reen. C. L. ib.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 2898; Kerr's C. ib.

Purchase money mortgage: A mortgage on preempted public land made to procure money to make final payment for the land, is a purchase money mortgage within the meaning of this section, and has priority over subsequently accruing marital rights of the mortgagor's wife in the land, although she did not join in the mortgage. Kneen v. Halin (1899) 6 I. 621, 59 P. 14.

§ 6352. [3385] Right to redeem from lien. Every person, having an interest in property subject to a lien, has a right to redeem it from the lien, at any time after the claim is due, and before his right of redemption is foreclosed. [R. S. § 3337.]

§ 6353. [3386] Rights of junior lienor. One who has a lien inferior to another, upon the same property, has a right:

1. To redeem the property in the same manner as its owner might, from the superior lien; and,

2. To be subrogated to all the benefits of the superior lien, when necessary for the protection of his interests upon satisfying the claim secured thereby. [R. S. § 3338.]

CHAPTER 238.

MORTGAGES.

ARTICLE 1.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Cross ref. Foreclosure of mortgages: §§ 6949-52.

§ 6355. [3388] Mortgage defined. Mortgage is a contract by which specific property is hypothecated for the performance of an act without the necessity of a change of possession. [R. S. § 3350.]

Hist. R. S. § 3350, reen. R. C. § 3388, reen. C. L. ib.

Trust deed a mortgage: A trust deed given to secure a debt is a mortgage although it contains a power of sale. Brown v. Bryan (1898) 6 I. 1, 51 P. 995.

Form of indebtedness: A debt for which a mortgage is given may consist in the faithful performance of a duty resting upon the mortgagor, if it is capable of being reduced to money value. Dover L. Co. v. Case (1918) 31 I. 276, 170 P. 108.

§ 6356. [3389] Must be in writing. A mortgage can be created, renewed or extended only by writing, executed with the formalities required in the case of a grant or conveyance of real property. [R. S. § 3351.]

Hist. R. S. § 3351, reen. R. C. § 3389, reen. C. L. ib.

Application: This section applies to all mortgages whether real or chattel. Willows v. Rosenstein (1897) 5 I. 305, 48 P. 1067.

Prohibited agreements: An agreement to hold a mortgage for an individual indebtedness when said mortgage has been included in a subsequent copartnership mortgage which has been satisfied, is contrary to the provisions of this section. Ib.

The lien of a mortgage cannot be extended beyond its terms so as to secure a debt not named therein, or to hypothecate property not covered by the mortgage, except by a compliance with the provisions of this section; but this does not preclude the mortgagor from waiving the statute of limitations as to the mortgage debt by indorsing an acknowledgment to pay the debt on the note and mortgage. Moulton v. Williams (1899) 6 I. 424, 55 P. 1019.

Parties to an usurious contract secured by a trust deed, cannot remove the usurious character of the transaction by an agreement between themselves, and thus make the trust deed a lien for interest and costs as against a junior mortgagee, who is not a party to the agreement and whose rights will be prejudiced thereby. Madsen v. Whitman (1902) 8 I. 762, 71 P. 152.

Estoppel: Where a stranger to a mortgage purchases the mortgaged property, and agrees that the mortgage shall stand as security for the purchase price, the provisions of this section have no application, and the purchaser is estopped to deny the validity of the agreement although it is not executed in conformity to this section. Burke Land etc. Co. v. Wells, Fargo Co. (1900) 7 I. 42, 60 P. 87.

§ 6357. [3390] Lien of mortgage is special. The lien of a mortgage is special, unless otherwise expressly agreed, and is independent of possession. [R. S. § 3352.]

Hist. R. S. § 3352, reen. R. C. § 3390, reen. C. L. ib.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 2923; Kerr's C. ib.

§ 6358. [3391] Transfers deemed mortgages. Every transfer of an interest in property other than in trust, made only as a security for the performance of another act, is to be deemed a mortgage, except when in the case of personal property it is accompanied by an actual change of possession, in which case it is to be deemed a pledge. [R. S. § 3353.]

Hist. R. S. § 3353, reen. R. C. § 3391, reen. C. L. ib.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 2924; same as amended: Kerr's C. ib.

Cited: Capital L. Co. v. Saunders (1914) 26 I. 408, 143 P. 1178.

Definition: The transfer in trust mentioned by this section is one which creates a trust and absolutely conveys title from the grantor, and not a deed of trust which hypothecates the property for the payment of the debt. Brown v. Bryan (1898) 6 I. 1, 51 P. 995.

What constitutes a mortgage: A deed absolute on its face and a separate agreement bearing the same date as the deed, for a reconveyance of the same tract of land to the grantor upon payment of the consideration named in the deed, by a specified time, constitute together a mortgage. Kelly v. Leachman (1892) 3 I. 392, 29 P. 849; (1893) 3 I. 629, 33 P. 44; Wilson v. Thompson (1896) 4 I. 679, 43 P. 557.

Where a deed, absolute on its face, has been executed to secure the payment of a debt, and it is clearly and satisfactorily established that the instrument was intended only as security and that it is therefore only a mortgage, the title to the property remained in the grantor. Hannah v. Vensel (1911) 19 I. 796, 116 P. 115.

Where an instrument in writing in the form of a deed of conveyance is executed and delivered as security for a debt, such instrument becomes a mortgage and not a deed notwithstanding the form of the instrument. Bergen v. Johnson (1912) 21 I. 619, 123 P. 484.

Equitable mortgage: Where a deed, absolute on its face, is taken to real property but is in effect an equitable mortgage, and the plaintiff prays to have the same so declared, and no application is made to foreclose said mortgage, the proper form of decree is that the plaintiff be allowed to redeem upon the payment of the sum found due within a reasonable time to be fixed by the decree, and that upon such payment the mortgage shall be adjudged to be satisfied, and that in default of such payment the title shall be quieted in the defendant. Machold v. Farnan (1911) 20 I. 80, 117 P. 408.

Cancellation of defeasance: A defeasance may be voluntarily surrendered or cancelled, and such action will render the mortgage, whether it was in form a mortgage, or whether it was in form a conveyance absolute with defeasance provable by parol, an absolute deed and conveyance. Smith v. Schultz (1912) 23 I. 144, 148, 129 P. 640.

Equity of redemption may be purchased from mortgagor, and debt thereby be extinguished, and transfer become absolute. Shaner v. Rathdrum S. Bk. (1916) 29 I. 576, 161 P. 90.

§ 6359. [3392] Defeasance may be shown by parol. The fact that a transfer was made subject to defeasance on a condition, may, for the purpose of showing such transfer to be a mortgage, be proved (except as against a subsequent purchaser or incumbrancer for value and without notice), though the fact does not appear by the terms of the instrument. [R. S. § 3354.]

Hist. R. S. § 3354, reen. R. C. § 3392, reen. C. L. ib.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 2925; Kerr's C. ib.

Cited: Brown v. Bryan (1898) 6 I. 1, 51 P. 995; Thompson v. Burns (1908) 15 I. 572, 99 P. 111; Capital L. Co. v. Saunders (1914) 26 I. 408, 143 P. 1178.

Evidence must be convincing: A deed absolute on its face cannot be held to be a mortgage unless there is a debt to be secured thereby, and the evidence must be clear, that it was not a sale. Bergen v. Johnson (1912) 21 I. 619, 123 P. 484; Shaner v. Rathdrum S. Bk. (1916) 29 I. 576, 161 P. 90.

Question of intention: Whether instrument sued upon is a conditional sale note or a chattel mortgage, and whether or not respondent has mistaken his remedy, are questions which are dependent upon the agreement of parties at time transaction was entered into, and must be decided from all facts and circumstances which will tend to show the intent of parties. Keane v. Kibble (1915) 28 I. 274. 154 P. 972.

As applied to innocent third parties: Proof cannot be made against innocent purchasers and incumbrancers, that a deed absolute on its face was intended as a mortgage, unless that fact appears from the terms of the instrument itself. Hannah v. Vensel (1911) 19 I. 796, 116 P. 115.

§ 6360. [3393] Extent of mortgage lien. A mortgage is a lien upon everything that would pass by a grant or conveyance of the property. [R. S. § 3355.]

Hist. R. S. § 3355, reen. R. C. § 3393, reen. C. L. ib.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 2926; Kerr's C. ib.

Cited: Kelly v. Leachman (1893) 3 I. 629, 33 P. 44.

Effect of mortgage lien: A mortgage, or any contract or instrument made only as security for the payment of a debt, merely creates a lien on the property therein described and leaves the legal title in the mortgagor or grantor, which title can only be divested by judicial sale in a suit or action under and in conformity with the statute. Hannah v. Vensel (1911) 19 I. 796, 116 P. 115.

§ 6361. [3394] Subsequent title inures to mortgagee. Title acquired by the mortgagor subsequent to the execution of the mortgage inures to the mortgagee as security for the debt in like manner as if acquired before the execution. [R. S. § 3356.]

Hist. R. S. § 3356, reen. R. C. § 3394, reen. C. L. ib.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 2930; same as amended: Kerr's C. ib.

§ 6362. [3395] Power of attorney to mortgage. A power of attorney to execute a mortgage must be in writing, subscribed, acknowledged, or proved, certified and recorded in like manner as powers of attorney for grants of real property. [R. S. § 3357.]

Hist. R. S. § 3357, reen. R. C. § 3395, reen. C. L. ib.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 2933; Kerr's C. ib.

§ 6363. [3396] Recording assignment of mortgage. An assignment of a mortgage may be recorded in like manner as a mortgage, and such record operates as notice to all persons subsequently deriving title to the mortgage from the assignor. [R. S. § 3358.]

Hist. R. S. § 3358, reen. R. C. § 3396, reen. C. L. ib.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Civ. C. 1872, § 2934; same as amended: Kerr's C. ib.

§ 6364. [3397] Same: Not notice to mortgagor. The record of the assignment of a mortgage is not of itself notice to a mortgagor, his heirs or personal representatives, so as to invalidate any payment made by them, or either of them, to the mortgagee. [R. S. § 3359.]

Applied: In an action to foreclose a mortgage, where it appears that the mortgage was fraudulent, or if not fraudulent has been fully paid, and demand was made for the release of the same, and the holder refuses to make release, a case is presented where the statute should be enforced. Blackfoot S. Bk. v. Crisler (1911) 20 I. 379, 118 P. 775.

Usurious mortgages: Satisfaction: A mortgage given to secure the payment of an usurious contract is satisfied upon the payment of the principal debt, whereupon the mortgagor is entitled to a satisfaction of such mortgage of record, and an action for such relief will lie under this section. Cleveland v. Western Loan & Savings Co. (1901) 7 I. 477, 63 P. 885; Anderson v. Or. Mtg. Co. (1902) 8 I. 418, 69 P. 130.

Accrual of action: The cause of action given by this section does not accrue until the mortgage debt has been fully paid and demand for a discharge of the mortgage has been made. Barnes v. Pitts etc. Works (1898) 6 I. 259, 55 P. 237.

Tender necessary: One who claims to have made a tender is not entitled to damages under this section, for the mortgagee's refusal to satisfy a mortgage, where the facts show that a sufficient tender was not made. Machold v. Farnan (1911) 20 I. 80, 117 P. 408.

Pleading: A complaint to recover the penalty prescribed by this section, must contain a direct and unequivocal allegation of payment of the amount secured by the mortgage; an allegation that plaintiff has fully paid and satisfied the notes and mortgage in so far as the holder of said notes and mortgage is concerned is insufficient. MORTGAGE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

§ 6373. [3406] Property subject to mortgage. Chattel mortgages may be made upon all property, goods or chattels, not defined by statute to be real estate, upon growing crops, and upon crops to be sown and grown in the future; but, should the persons executing mortgages upon crops to be afterwards sown, fail to sow or cause the same to be sown, no lien of such mortgages shall attach to crops sown by other persons upon the lands described in said mortgages, except in so far as the mortgagors in said mortgages have or retain interests in said crops. § 6374. [3407] Mortgage on exempt property. No personal property of either husband or wife, that is exempt by law from execution, shall be mortgaged by either husband or wife without the joint concurrence of both. ['99, p. 292, § 1.]

§ 6375. [3408] Affidavit and record of mortgage. A mortgage of personal property is void as against creditors of the mortgagor and subsequent purchasers and incumbrancers of the property in good faith and for value, unless:

1. It is accompanied by the affidavit of the mortgagor that it is made in good faith and without any design to hinder, delay or defraud creditors.

2. It is acknowledged or proven, as grants of real estate, and the mortgage, or a true copy thereof, is filed for record with the county recorder of the county where such property is located and kept. ['90-91, p. 181, § 1.]

Necessity of affidavit: The affidavit required by this section is necessary only to sustain the validity of the mortgage as against creditors and purchasers, and does not affect it as between mortgagor and mortgagee. Marchand v. Ronaghan (1903) 9 I. 95, 72 P. 731.

A chattel mortgage although not accompanied by an affidavit that it is executed in good faith and without any design to hinder, delay or defraud creditors, is valid as between the mortgagor and the mortgagee. Hare v. Young (1915) 26 I. 691, 146 P. 107.

Unrecorded mortgages: Where a chattel mortgage is not filed for record as required by this section a subsequent purchaser of the property is not bound by the mortgage unless he is shown to have had actual notice of the same. Cowden v. Finney (1904) 9 I. 619, 75 P. 765; Cowden v. Mills (1904) 9 I. 626, 75 P. 766.

An agreement between mortgagor and mortgagee to withhold a chattel mortgage from record is evidence of a fraudulent intent. Re Hickerson (1908) 162 F. 345.

Power of sale in mortgagor: While a mortgagor may retain possession of the mortgaged property provided the mortgage is executed and recorded as required by law, yet, if the mortgagee permits the mortgagor not only to retain possession but to sell the property at retail without also requiring the proceeds of sale to be applied in reduction of the debt, the mortgage is void as against attaching creditors of the mortgagor. Lewiston Nat. Bk. v. Martin (1890) 2 I. 734, 23 P. 920.

While a mortgage on a stock of goods which permits the mortgagor to remain in the full and free use and enjoyment of the same, is void in that it permits him to sell the goods in the usual course of trade, yet such a mortgage is valid when it covers wood corded and standing in the forest where it has been cut. Meyer v. Munro (1903) 9 I. 46, 71 P. 969.

A mortgage upon a stock of goods remaining in the hands of the mortgagor with power to dispose of the same is void as to the third parties. Re Hickerson (1908) 162 F. 345.

Personal property defined: The property of a public service corporation necessary for the maintenance, repair and operation of its system is not to be regarded as "personal property" under this section but with the real property as constituting a single indissoluble unit. Equitable Trust Co. v. Great Shoshone etc. Power Co. (1915) 228 F. 516.

After-acquired property: A mortgage given upon chattels to be afterward acquired is valid and binding upon the parties thereto and all others having notice of it. Such notice may be given to creditors of mortgagor and incumbrancers of the property by conforming to this section. Dover L. Co. v. Case (1918) 31 I. 276, 170 P. 108.

§ 6376. [3409] Filing and indexing of mortgage. Upon the receipt of any such instrument the recorder shall indorse on the back the time of receiving it, and shall file the same in his office, to be kept there for the inspection of all persons interested, and the recorder shall keep a book in which shall be entered a minute of all mortgages of personal property. Such book shall be ruled off into separate columns, with heads as follows: "Time of reception," "Name of mortgagor," "Date of instrument," "Amount secured," "When due," "Property mortgaged," "Before whom sworn to and acknowledged," and "Remarks." The proper entry shall be made under each of such heads, and the recorder shall receive the sum of 50 cents, and no more, for filing any such mortgage, which amount he may demand before filing any such mortgage: Provided, That property in transit from the possession of the mortgagee to the county in which the mortgagor resides, or to a location for use, shall, for a reasonable length of time for such transportation, be considered as located in the county to which the same is being removed: Provided, further, That if the mortgagee receive and retain actual possession of the property mortgaged, he may omit

Possession equivalent to recording: If the mortgagee receive and retain actual possession of the mortgaged property, such possession is equivalent to the recording of such mortgage, and gives to the world the same notice that is given by the recording of such mortgage. Martin v. Holloway (1909) 16 I. 513, 102 P. 3, 25 L. R. A. (N. S.) 110; Equitable T. Co. v. Great Shoshone etc. Co. (1917) 245 F. 697.

Stipulation for possession by mortgagee: This section recognizes the right of a mortgagor to contract with the mortgagee for the possession by the latter of the mortgaged property, and a mortgage is not rendered invalid by reason of a clause authorizing the mortgagee upon named contingencies to take possession of the mortgaged property. First Nat. Bk. of St. Anthony v. Steers (1904) 9 I. 519, 75 P. 225.

Such an agreement may be made after the execution of the mortgage, and possession surrendered to the mortgagee. Martin v. Holloway, supra.

Same: Action by mortgagee: Where a chattel mortgage contains a stipulation authorizing the mortgagee to take possession of the property upon certain contingencies therein named, the mortgagee, upon the occurrence of such a contingency, may maintain an action of claim and delivery to recover possession of the property. First Nat. Bk. of St. Anthony v. Steers, supra.

Possession may cure void mortgage: Where a chattel mortgage is valid between the parties, though for some reason it be void as to creditors, yet, if the property be delivered to the mortgagee prior to the time any specific right or lien thereon is acquired by a creditor, the possession of such mortgagee is valid, and may be maintained, and the property sold under the provisions of the mortgage. Martin v. Holloway, supra.

§ 6377. [3410] Removal from county. When mortgaged personal property is thereafter removed from the county wherein it was situated at the time of the execution of the mortgage by the written consent of the mortgagee, it is, except as between the parties to the mortgage, exempt from the operations thereof, unless, either, (1) the mortgagee, within 10 days after such removal, cause the mortgage to be recorded in the county to which the property has been removed, or (2) the mortgagee, within 10 days after such removal, take possession of the mortgaged property. § 6378. [3411] Attachment of mortgaged property. All mortgaged personal property may be attached at the suit of any creditor of the mortgagor; such creditor, however, must pay or tender to the mortgagee, the amount due him on such mortgagee before the officer making such attachment is entitled to the actual possession of such property. When the property thus attached and redeemed by the creditor is sold by the officer under due legal proceedings, he must:

1. Pay to such creditor the amount advanced by him to pay the mortgage with lawful interest thereon.
2. Pay all costs appertaining to the judgment, execution and sale.
3. Pay the judgment creditor the amount of his judgment, and the surplus, if any, to the judgment debtor.

If the creditor of the mortgagor prefer he may cause to be attached the equity of redemption of the mortgagor. Such attachment is made by serving upon the mortgagor and the mortgagee a copy of the writ of attachment, together with a notice signed by the officer that the interest of the mortgagor in such property is attached. When the sale of such equity is made on execution obtained by such attaching creditor, the proceeds must be applied to the payment of the costs and the satisfaction of the judgment, and the remainder, if any, paid to the judgment debtor.

The purchaser at such sale is entitled to the possession of the property subject, however, to the rights of the mortgagee. [R. S. § 3389.]

§ 6379. [3412] Modes of foreclosure. Any mortgage of personal property, when the debt to secure which the mortgage was given is due, may be foreclosed by notice and sale as hereinafter provided, or it may be foreclosed by action in the district court having jurisdiction in the county in which the property is situated. Constitutionality: This section is held constitutional. Givens v. Keeney (1900) 7 I. 335, 63 P. 110.

§ 6380. Summary foreclosure: Foreclosure by notice and sale: Affidavit. In proceeding to foreclose by notice and sale, the mortgagee, his agent or attorney, must make an affidavit stating the date of the mortgage, the names of the parties thereto, a full description of the property mortgaged, and the amount due thereon. Such affidavit shall be sufficient authority to demand and receive possession of the property, if the same can be taken peaceably, but if it can not be so taken, then such affidavit must be placed in the hands of the sheriff of the county or the constable in the precinct where the property is located, together with a notice signed by the mortgagee, his agent or attorney, requiring such officer to take the mortgaged property into his possession and sell the same. ['09, p. 149, S. B. 42, § 1.]

Construed: Before amendment: The mode of foreclosure prescribed by this section and the foreclosure by action authorized by R. S. § 4520, are the exclusive modes of foreclosure; a power of sale contained in a mortgage is void, and does not authorize the mortgagee to foreclose summarily by exercising such power. Rein v. Callaway (1901) 7 I. 634, 65 P. 63.

Same: After amendment: By the amendment of this section in 1909, the ruling in Rein v. Callaway, 7 I. 634, 65 P. 63, is modified, so that debtor may voluntarily surrender possession to mortgagee. Tappin v. McCabe (1915) 27 I. 402, 149 P. 460.

An action cannot be maintained against an officer for his neglect or refusal to take personal property into his possession under this section unless it is alleged and proved that the mortgagee has exhausted his statutory remedy by demanding and failing to secure possession of the chattels peaceably. Ib.

But the mortgagee is not required to make a demand upon the mortgagor to turn over the property peaceably before placing his affidavit in the hands of the proper officer, if the mortgagor cannot be found within the county. (Morgan, J. dissents) Hudson v. Carlson (1918) 31 I. 196, 170 P. 100.

The amendment to this section being for the benefit of the mortgagor, the mortgagee has not an election between the remedies therein provided, but must take possession of the property if it can be done peaceably. (Dis. op by Morgan, J.) Ib.

The amendment enlarges the remedy of the mortgagee by giving him the power to foreclose without requiring the services of an officer, if possession of the property can be obtained peaceably but does not deprive him of the right to require the proper officer to foreclose. (Con. op. by Rice, J.) Ib.

Sheriff protected: Where the affidavit and notice are regular in form, the sheriff is bound to execute the same, and will be protected in such execution without determining whether or not the mortgage on which the affidavit and notice are issued is valid. Blumauer-Frank Drg. Co. v. Branstetter (1895) 4 I. 557, 43 P. 575.

§ 6381. Service of affidavit. The affidavit must be personally served upon the mortgagor and upon the person having possession of the mortgaged property, in the same manner as is provided by law for the service of a summons. At the time of the service of the affidavit, the person or officer making such service must also serve upon the same persons, a notice signed by himself setting forth a full description of the property, the amount claimed to be due by the mortgagee, and the time and place of sale: Provided, That if the mortgagor can not be found within the county wherein the mortgage is being foreclosed, the general notice of sale directed in the next section is sufficient service upon the mortgagor of both said affidavit and notice. § 6383. Title of purchaser: Bill of sale. The purchaser at such sale takes all the interest which the mortgagor had in the mortgaged property at the time of the execution of the mortgage, and the person or officer selling must execute to him a bill of sale of the property, which must set forth the date of the mortgage, the names of the parties thereto, the date of sale, a description of the property, and the amount paid therefor. At all foreclosure sales of mortgaged personal property the mortgagee, by himself, his agent or attorney, shall have the right to bid for and purchase said property, or any portion thereof, and sales so made to him shall have the same effect as though made to other persons. Contest: Production of affidavit: In an action to contest the right to foreclose a chattel mortgage the court is not authorized to order the defendants to file the original affidavit in the mortgage foreclosure proceedings, unless it is made to appear that they have the affidavit in their possession, and fail or refuse to produce the same upon demand. Murphy v. Russell & Co. (1901) 8 I. 133, 67 P. 421.

§ 6385. [3418] Contest of foreclosure. The right of the mortgagee to foreclose, as well as the amount claimed to be due, may be contested in the district court by any person interested in so doing, for which purpose an injunction may issue if necessary. [R. S. § 3396.]

Nature of action: This section contemplates an action in the district court and authorizes the issuance of an injunction, but the action may be maintained without an injunction. Murphy v. Russell & Co. supra.

Who may contest: An attaching creditor may contest the validity of the mortgage on which the foreclosure is based. Blumauer-Frank Drg. Co. v. Branstetter (1895) 4 I. 557, 43 P. 575.

In order to entitle a creditor to an injunction against the sale of personal property secured by a chattel mortgage, and enable him to resist the foreclosure thereof, he should connect himself with some interest in or claim upon the specific property either by judgment, lien or attachment. Neustadter Bros. v. Doust (1907) 13 I. 617, 92 P. 978.

A trustee in bankruptcy in possession of mortgaged property and creditors whose claims he has allowed are "persons interested" under this section. Re Hickerson (1908) 162 F. 345.

A judgment creditor and general creditors whose claims had been allowed in receivership suit may intervene in the foreclosure suit and contest validity of the mortgage so far as it covered personal property. Equitable etc. Co. v. Great Shoshone etc. Co. (1917) 245 F. 697.

In a foreclosure suit it is within the court's discretion whether a creditor who had not availed himself of the right to intervene and contest mortgage should be allowed to set up a claim. Ib.

§ 6386. [3419] Unauthorized removal or sale of property. If the mortgagor of any property mortgaged in pursuance of the provisions of this article, while such mortgage remains unsatisfied in whole or in part, wilfully removes from the county or counties where the mortgage is recorded, destroys, conceals, sells or in any manner disposes of, the property mortgaged, or any part thereof, without consent of the holder of said mortgage, he is guilty of larceny, and such sale or transfer is void. Oral consent: Under a territorial statute which was substantially similar to this section with the exception that it required the "written consent" of the mortgagee to a sale, it was held that oral evidence of the mortgagee's consent was admissible to sustain the sale as between vendee and vendor in the absence of any objection by the mortgagee to the sale. Mills v. Glennon (1885) 2 I. 105, 6 P. 116.

§ 6387. [3420] Time allowed to record mortgage. The mortgagee is allowed one day for every 20 miles or fraction thereof of the distance between his residence and the county recorder's office where such mortgage is to be recorded, to conform to the provisions of this article, before any subsequent incumbrance, sale or seizure, under any process, is effectual to hold or bind the mortgaged property. Equitable title: An equitable title will support a vendor's lien. Farnsworth v. Pepper (1915) 27 I. 154, 148 P. 48.

Attorney's fees: Attorney's fees not a cost chargeable in foreclosing a vendor's lien. (On petition for rehearing) Farnsworth v. Pepper (1915) 27 I. 159, 148 P. 48.

Deficiency judgment: A deficiency judgment may be entered in accordance with § 6949, when the property is insufficient to satisfy claim. (On petition for rehearing) Farnsworth v. Pepper (1915) 27 I. 159, 148 P. 48.

What is security: Where a person sells real estate to a married man and conveys the same by good and sufficient deed, and takes as a part of the purchase price promissory notes executed by the vendee and the vendee's wife, the signature of the wife to such notes does not constitute such security as will amount to a waiver of the vendor's lien. of, has a special lien thereon, dependent on possession, for the compensation, if any, which is due him from the owner, for such service. Livery or boarding or feed stable proprietors, and persons pasturing live stock of any kind, have a lien, dependent on possession, for their compensation in caring for, boarding, feeding or pasturing such live stock. If the liens as herein provided are not paid within 60 days after the work is done, service rendered, or feed or pasturing supplied, the person in whose favor such special lien is created may proceed to sell the property at public auction, after giving 10 days' public notice of the sale by advertising in some newspaper published in the county where such property is situated, or if there be no newspaper published in the county then by posting notices of the sale in three of the most public places in the county, for 10 days previous to such sale. Where two or three tenants in common in possession of personal property employ another to care for and protect the property, the latter is entitled to a lien dependent on possession for his pay for his services in caring for the same, but is not entitled to a lien on real property for the care and protection of either the real estate or the personal property. Williamson v. Moore (1905) 10 I. 749, 80 P. 227.

This section applies to cases where a party takes the possession of personal property, such, for example, as live stock, and agrees to graze, feed or pasture the stock for a period of time and assumes the exclusive care of and responsibility for the property, and furnishes or procures the feed or pasture therefor, whether it be from his private inclosure or on the public domain. Mendilie v. Snell, supra.

Property in custody of law: This section has no application to property in the custody of the law. Beck v. Lavin (1908) 15 I. 363, 98 P. 1028.

Possession: The right to a lien under this section depends wholly upon the possession of the property by the claimant. Hill v. Twin Falls etc. Co. (1912) 22 I. 274, 125 P. 204.

The possession necessary to entitle the party to a lien must be such as to give the party for the time being the exclusive care, control and direction of the property, which must be more than that of a mere servant for hire from day to day or month to month who is subject to the direction and orders of the master. Mendilie v. Snell, supra.

If in connection with closing a sale, papers are put into a broker's hands incidentally, and only to have him examine the mortgage and abstract, he is not entitled to a lien upon them for any commission which might be due from the plaintiff to him in negotiating the sale of said property. TRUSTS.

§ 6417. Trustees: Power of district court to appoint. When a trust exists without any appointed trustees or where any or all of the trustees renounce, die, or are discharged, the district court of the county where the trust property or some portion thereof is situated, must appoint another trustee to direct the execution of the trust. The court may, in its discretion, appoint the original number or any less number of trustees. ['19, c. 19, § 1, p. 82.]

§ 6418. Same: Survival of trust. On the death, renunciation, or discharge of one of the several number of trustees, the trust survives to the others. ['19, c. 19, § 2, p. 82.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Similar: Kerr's C. C. P. § 2288.

§ 6419. Same: Compensation. When a declaration of trust is silent upon the subject of compensation, the trustee is entitled to the same compensation as an executor. If it specifies the amount of his compensation, he is entitled to the amount thus specified and no more. ['19, c. 19, § 3, p. 82.]

TITLE LIII.

CHAPTER 242.

NUISANCES.

ARTICLE 1.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 6420. Nuisance defined. Anything which is injurious to health or morals, or is indecent, or offensive to the senses, or an obstruction to the free use of property, so as to interfere with the comfortable enjoyment of life or property, or unlawfully obstructs the free passage or use, in the customary manner, of any navigable lake, or river, stream, canal, or basin, or any public park, square, street or highway, is a nuisance. ['15, c. 43, § 1, p. 126.]

Hist. R. S. § 2620, reen. R. C. § 3656; am. '15, c. 43, § 1, p. 126, reen. C. L. § 3656.

What constitutes a nuisance: The statutes mean something more than the usual, ordinary and lawful use of one's own property in order to constitute an act or acts a nuisance within the definitions they contain. Bellevue v. Daly (1908) 14 I. 545, 94 P. 1036, 15 L. R. A. (N. S.) 992, 14 Ann. Cas. 1136, 125 A. S. R. 179.

Ditch across road: When one constructs a ditch across a public street in such way as to render the street unsafe or inconvenient for travel, and maintains the same without a bridge, he is guilty of maintaining a nuisance. Lewiston v. Booth (1893) 3 I. 692, 34 P. 809.

To complete a highway across a canal a bridge must be built; and, until a bridge is built, the highway, not being complete, is not capable of being lawfully obstructed at that point; the canal, therefore, is not a nuisance because of its unlawfully obstructing the free passage or use of the highway. MacCammelly v. Pioneer Irr. Dist. ((909) 17 I. 415, 105 P. 1076.

Where a canal has been constructed and operated in accordance with law, it is not a nuisance and can only become a nuisance by reason of the manner in which it is maintained or the method of its operation and the mere fact that a municipality subsequently extends a street across a canal which has been lawfully constructed and operated does not convert the canal into a nuisance at the place where the street crosses the canal. Boise v. Boise Canal Co. (1911) 19 I. 717, 115 P. 505.

Herding sheep near homes: The herding of a large band of sheep near the homes of settlers, thereby creating an offensive smell, is a nuisance. Sweet v. Ballentyne (1902) 8 I. 431, 69 P. 995.

Gambling devices: The instruments and devices with which gambling is carried on are nuisances. Mullen & Co. v. Moseley (1907) 13 I. 457, 90 P. 986, 121 A. S. R. 277, 13 Ann. Cas. 450, 12 L. R. A. (N. S.) 394.

Railroad: A railroad and the work necessary and incident to its maintenance is not a nuisance and cannot be abated as such. Boise Valley etc. Co. v. Kroeger (1909) 17 I. 384, 105 P. 1070, 28 L. R. A. (N. S.) 968.

Preparation of meat products: The smoking of meats, rendering lard and manufacturing of sausages and other meat products is not per se a nuisance. Lorenzi v. Star Market Co. (1911) 19 I. 67, 115 P. 490, 35 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1142.

Miner's excavation: An excavation, pit or shaft made by a miner in the prosecution of his work is not of itself a nuisance. Strong v. Brown (1914) 26 I. 1, 140 P. 77, 52 L. R. A. (N. S.) 140.

§ 6421. [3657] Public nuisance. A public nuisance is one which affects at the same time an entire community or neighborhood, or a considerable number of persons, although the extent of the annoyance or damage inflicted upon individuals may be unequal. [R. S. § 3621.

§ 6424. Same: House and furniture. A building or place in which a house of ill fame is conducted or kept, and the furniture and moveable contents thereof, are a moral nuisance. ['15, c. 43, § 2, p. 126.]

Hist. R. C. § 3657c, enacted by '15, c. 43, § 2, p. 126, reen. C. L. § 3657c.

§ 6425. Same: Building where gambling is carried on. Any building, place, or the ground itself, wherein or whereon gambling or any game of chance for money, checks, credit or other representatives of value is carried on or takes place, or gambling paraphernalia is kept, or any notice, sign or device advertising or indicating the existence or presence of such gambling or any game of chance is displayed or exposed to view, is declared a moral nuisance and shall be enjoined and abated as provided by law. § 6428. [3660] Liability of successive owners for continuing nuisance. Every successive owner of property who neglects to abate a continuing nuisance upon, or in the use of, such property, created by a former owner, is liable therefor in the same manner as the one who first created it. ARTICLE 2.

PUBLIC NUISANCES.

§ 6430. [3662] Not legalized by prescription. No lapse of time can legalize a public nuisance, amounting to an actual obstruction of public right. [R. S. § 3630.]

Prescriptive right not acquired: No lapse of time can give a prescriptive right to maintain a nuisance. Lewiston v. Booth (1893) 3 I. 692, 34 P. 809.

§ 6431. [3663] Remedies. The remedies against a public nuisance are:

1. Indictment or information.
2. A civil action; or,
3. Abatement.

[R. C. § 3663.]

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: Civ. C. 1872, § 3492; Kerr's C. ib.

§ 6433. Action by private person. A private person may maintain an action:

1. For a moral nuisance, if he be a resident citizen of the county, whether the nuisance complained of is specially injurious to him or not.
2. For any other public nuisance, if it is specially injurious to himself. ['15, c. 43, § 4, p. 126.]

Hist. R. S. § 3633, reen. R. C. § 3665; am. '15, c. 43, § 4, p. 126, reen. C. L. § 3665.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Analogous: Civ. C. 1872, § 3493; Kerr's C. ib.

Private actions: A private person may sue to abate or restrain the continuance of a public nuisance, provided he alleges and shows that such nuisance is especially injurious to himself. Thus a person whose property is rendered undesirable as a residence and thereby depreciated in value because of the maintenance of a house of prostitution in the neighborhood, may sue to enjoin the continued maintenance of the same as a nuisance. Redway v. Moore (1892) 3 I. 312, 29 P. 104. A private person who is especially injured by the maintenance of obstructions in a navigable river may sue to abate the same. Small v. Harrington (1904) 10 I. 499, 79 P. 461. But a reasonable obstruction in a navigable stream, which merely impairs navigation but does not destroy it, cannot be enjoined at the suit of a private person. Ib.

To authorize a private person to bring an action to abate a public nuisance the plaintiff must allege and show that he will be specially injured in a different way from the public generally, or deprived of the free use of his own private property. Strickler v. Hillis (1909) 15 I. 709, 99 P. 831.

To have suffered in a different manner or extent than the public at large is to have received a special and peculiar damage for which a recovery may be had. Strickler v. Hillis (1910) 17 I. 646, 106 P. 1128.

Same: Pleading: A private person who sues to abate a public nuisance must allege by positive averment in his complaint sufficient fact to show special injury to himself. Redway v. Moore, supra.

Res adjudicata: The trial and acquitta of a party charged in criminal proceeding with the construction of a nuisance in a navigable stream, is not a bar to a civi action to enjoin the nuisance. Small v Harrington, supra.

§ 6434. [3666] Abatement by public body or officer. A public nuisance may be abated by any public body or officer authorized thereto by law. [R. S. § 3634.]

Road overseer: A road overseer is the proper party, under our statute, to bring an action to abate a nuisance when such nuisance consists of an obstruction to a public highway within his district. Meservey v. Gulliford (1908) 14 I. 133, 93 P. 78(

§ 6435. [3667] Abatement by private person. Any person may abate a public nuisance which is specially injurious to him, by removing, or if necessary, destroying, the thing which constitutes the same without committing a breach of the peace, or doing unnecessary injury. [R. S. § 3635.]

ORGANIZATION AND JURISDICTION.

ARTICLE 1.

COURTS OF JUSTICE IN GENERAL.

§ 6440. [3810] Courts enumerated. The following are the courts of justice of this state:

1. The supreme court.
2. The district courts.
3. The probate courts.
4. The justices' courts. [R. S. § 3810.]

THE SUPREME COURT.

Cross ref. Clerk of the supreme court, duties, salary and deputies: §§ 189-98.

§ 6442. [3814] Constitution of court. The supreme court consists of three justices, a majority of whom shall be necessary to make a quorum or pronounce a decision. The justices of the supreme court shall be elected by the electors of the state at large. The terms of office of said justices shall be six years. The justice having the shortest term to serve, not holding his office by appointment or election to fill a vacancy, shall be chief justice, and shall preside at all terms of the supreme court, and, in the case of his absence, the justice having in like manner the next shortest term to serve shall preside in his stead. [R. C. § 3814.]

Hist. R. C. § 3814, compiled from Const. V, 6, reen. C. L. 3814.

'19, c. 168, p. 539, here omitted as temporary, provided in part as follows: "There shall be nominated for and elected at the general election to be held in November, 1920, in addition to the justice of the supreme court now provided for by law, one justice for the term of four years, and one justice for the term of six years. . . . . the taking of office of said additional justices to be conditional upon the adoption and ratification of the amendment to the constitution proposed in house joint resolution No. 6. . . ."

§ 6443. [3815] Jurisdiction in general. The jurisdiction of this court is of two kinds:

1. Original; and
2. Appellate. [R. S. § 3815.]

§ 6444. [3816] Original jurisdiction. Its original jurisdiction extends to the issuance of writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, habeas corpus, and all writs necessary or proper to the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction. [R. C. § 3816.]

Mandate: It is not within the scope of mandamus to confer power upon those to whom it is directed; it only enforces the exercise of power already existing when such exercise is a duty. Thus, the supreme court cannot, by writ of mandamus. require the territorial secretary to determine from evidence what are the correct minutes of the legislature and to expunge certain matter from those minutes. (Berry, J. dissents) Clough v. Curtis (1889) 2 I. 523, 22 P. 8; aff. 134 U. S. 361, 10 S. C. R. 573, 33 L. ed. 945.

Mandamus will not lie at the instance of the speaker of the house of representatives to require the secretary of the territory to deliver to him the journal of the house after the adjournment of the session for correction. (Berry, J. dissents) Burkhart v. Reed (1889) 2 I. 503, 22 P. 1; aff. 134 U. S. 361, 10 S. C. R. 573, 33 L. ed. 945.

The secretary of the territory is amenable to a writ of mandamus issued out of the supreme court. (Dis. op.) Burkhart v. Reed (1889) 2 I. 503, 22 P. 1.

A court, by means of writs of mandamus operating upon the officers of legislative bodies, cannot make up the records of the proceedings of those bodies, or cause alterations to be made in such records as prepared by the officer whose duty it was to prepare them. Clough v. Curtis and Burkhart v. Reed (1890) 134 U. S. 361, 33 L. ed. 945, 10 S. Ct. 573.

Certiorari: When the constitution was adopted jurisdiction was therein granted to the supreme court to issue the writ of certiorari then known and in use in the territory of Idaho, and none other. Neil v. Public Utilities Com. 32 I. —, 178 P. 271. (Dis. op. by Budge, J.)

Habeas corpus: The supreme court is a court of original jurisdiction in all matters of habeas corpus, and upon an application for the writ it will not exercise the jurisdiction of an appellate court for the examination of questions reviewable on appeal. In re Knudtson (1905) 10 I. 67, 79 P. 641.

§ 6445. [3817] Appellate jurisdiction. Its appellate jurisdiction extends to a review of all cases removed to it under such regulations as are now or may be prescribed by law, from the final decisions of the district courts, or the judges thereof. [R. C. § 3817.]

Limited to appeals from district courts: Its appellate jurisdiction is limited to the review of the decisions of the district courts, or the judges thereof, and it cannot entertain an appeal directly from the public utilities commission. Neil v. Public Utilities Com. 32 I. —, 178 P. 271.

§ 6446. [3818] Disposition of appeals. The court may reverse, affirm or modify any order or judgment appealed from, and may direct the proper judgment or order to be entered, or direct a new trial or further proceedings to be had. Its judgment must be remitted to the court from which the appeal was taken. The decisions of the court shall be given in writing; and in giving a decision, if a new trial be granted, the court shall pass upon and determine all the questions of law involved in the case presented upon such appeal, and necessary to the final determination of the case. Liberal construction: This section should be liberally construed and authorizes the supreme court on affirming a decision of the trial court sustaining a demurrer, to set aside the judgment of that court dismissing the action in order to afford plaintiff an opportunity to amend, or to direct that court to issue a temporary restraining order. Boise City v. Artes. H. & C. Water Co. (1895) 4 I. 392, 39 P. 566.

Under this section a cause may be remanded, with instructions to take such further proceedings therein as may appear to be in accordance with justice, including authority to hear and determine appellant's motion to amend his complaint, if made within 10 days after filing of the remittitur. Feehan v. Kendrick, 32 I. —, 179 P. 507.

Application: The provisions of this section apply to all appeals whether taken on bills of exception or statements of the case both in actions at law and suits in equity, but in no form of appeal is the court required in its decisions to pass upon and determine all the questions of law involved in the case unless a new trial is granted. Work Bros. v. Kinney (1902) 8 I. 771, 71 P. 477.

Modification of judgment: A judgment which improperly directs payment in a specified form of currency, may be corrected by the supreme court without directing a new trial. Betts v. Butler (1868) 1 I. 185. A judgment which is too large in the amount of interest allowed should be modified and not reversed. Taylor v. Peterson (1873) 1 I. 513.

If it reasonably appears that plaintiff might make a case, a new trial and not an absolute reversal will be granted. Miller v. Mullan (1909) 17 I. 28. 34, 104 P. 660, 19 Ann. Cas. 1107.

Directed judgment: Where a party is entitled to have a verdict directed in his favor at the close of the evidence and the case is reversed on appeal, a new trial will not be ordered. The case will be remanded, with instructions that judgment be entered in his favor. Exchange S. Bk. v. Taber (1915) 26 I. 723, 145 P. 1090.

Finality of judgment: The affirmance by the supreme court of a judgment of the trial court determining certain rights of parties, is final as to such issues. Idaho Trust etc. Bk. v. Ridenbaugh (1916) 29 I. 647, 161 P. 868; Idaho Trust etc. Bk. v. Nampa etc. Irr. Dist. (1916) 29 I. 658, 161 P. 872.

Place of hearing: The place of hearing an appeal either in an action or special proceeding is determined by this section, and parties have a right to a hearing at Boise or Lewiston in accordance with the terms of this section; it is not discretionary with the court to fix the hearing, on the application of one of the parties alone, at Boise in place of Lewiston, when the cause is such that it should properly be heard at Lewiston. Mahoney v. Elliott (1901) 8 I. 190, 67 P. 317.

§ 6452. [3822] Appointment of crier, bailiff and messenger. The court shall have power to appoint a crier, a bailiff and a messenger for each term of court, when such officers are necessary. The crier and bailiff shall receive $4 per day each, and the messenger $2 per day; they shall receive such pay only when necessarily engaged in their duties as such officers; said time to be certified to the auditor by one of the justices of the supreme court, at the close of each term of court. Said salaries shall be paid quarterly out of the state treasury on warrants issued by the auditor. [R. C. § 3822.]

§ 6457. [3830] Jurisdiction: Original and appellate. The district court has original jurisdiction:

1. In all cases both at law and in equity.
2. In all special proceedings.
3. In the issuance of writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, habeas corpus and all writs necessary to the exercise of its powers.
4. In the trial of all indictments and informations. Its appellate jurisdiction extends to all cases arising in probate or justices' courts; and to all other matters and cases wherein an appeal is allowed by law. [R. C. § 3830.]

Jurisdiction: Where a district judge from one district holds court in another district and no question is raised as to his authority it will be presumed unless the record discloses to the contrary that he was lawfully exercising jurisdiction. Such jurisdiction is exercised under color of authority and is not open to collateral attack. Ex parte Allen (1918) 31 I. 295, 170 P. 921.

ARTICLE 2.

POWERS OF JUDGES AT CHAMBERS.

§ 6493. [3890] Jurisdiction of judge at chambers. A district judge may sit at chambers anywhere within his district, and when so acting, has jurisdiction and power as follows:

1. To grant, dissolve or modify temporary injunctions.
2. To discharge attachments.
3. To hear applications for the sale of perishable personal property held under attachment.
4. To hear applications for the appointment of a receiver, or to discharge one already appointed, or to modify the order appointing one, and to make all orders in relation to receivers, usually made by a judge or a court in such matters.

5. To hear applications for mandamus, or habeas corpus, and enter final judgment therein.

6. To act upon a motion for a new trial.

7. To issue writs of review and prohibition, and to hear and determine the same, and enter final judgment therein.

8. To appoint appraisers under the eminent domain act.

9. To grant all orders and writs which are usually granted in the first instance upon ex parte applications.

10. To issue citation, and hear and determine, and enter final judgment in all proceedings brought under or in pursuance of section 8684 of these codes.

11. To exercise all powers expressly conferred upon a judge by any statute of this state, as contradistinguished from the court.

12. To receive a plea of guilty upon his application, from any person charged with a crime in the district court, and to pass sentence and final judgment thereon; said judgment to be filed with the clerk of the court of the proper county where said cause of action arose, and to have the same force and effect as any other final judgment entered in a criminal case.

13. To hear demurrers and motions and other issues of law, and to settle and make up issues of law.

14. To set causes for trial.

Additional undertaking: This section does not authorize the court to require an undertaking on appeal additional to the one required by statute applicable to the given case. Barnes v. Buffalo Pitts Co. (1899) 6 I. 519, 57 P. 267.

Ancillary orders: Where, notwithstanding a judgment of ouster in quo warranto proceedings, the person ousted takes possession of the office in open and direct violation of the judgment, the court may issue an order putting the person declared by the judgment entitled to the office in possession thereof. People v. Lindsay (1871) 1 I. 394.

A temporary order, providing for the custody of a child pending habeas corpus proceedings in relation to the same, may be issued at chambers and without the seal of the court. Re Miller (1896) 4 I. 711, 43 P. 870.

In habeas corpus proceedings for the custody of a child, the court may issue an order nisi requiring the child to be committed to the custody of the applicant until the hearing where the facts show that the health of the child is endangered in its present environments and that it is also dangerous, in view of the inclemency of the season or other conditions, to bring the child before the court for immediate hearing. Ib.

Powers of substitute judge: A judge of one district, called into another district to try a case pending in that district, has all the powers of the judge of that district for the purposes of the case, and may make an order extending the time for preparing and presenting statements and bills of exceptions, or for filing affidavits on motion for a new trial. Morris v. Lemp (1907) 13 I. 116, 88 P. 761.

Applied to appellate practice: The district court, upon the reversal of a judgment, on appeal from a probate or justice's court on question of law alone, where no issue of fact was tendered in the lower court, should remand the cause with instructions to proceed in accordance with the decision and judgment of the district court. Smith v. Clyne (1908) 15 I. 254, 97 P. 40.

Applied to sheep trespass: In pursuance of the authority of this statute and the right of action conferred by §§ 1908 and 1909, it is proper for a justice's court to proceed under the provisions of §§ 1990 and 1992 in a case where it is charged that the owner of trespassing sheep is unknown to the plaintiff, and that he is unable to ascertain the name of the owner, and the animals are taken into the possession of the plaintiff in the action and subsequently delivered to the officer who levies upon them under the execution issued by the justice. Cleveland v. Wallace (1913) 23 I. 570, 131 P. 10.

Procedure: When jurisdiction is conferred upon a court, as an incident of such grant, there is conferred the power to make same effective by suitable process or mode of procedure. Fox v. Flynn (1915) 27 I. 580, 150 P. 44.

Quashing panel: Where the board of commissioners makes a jury list under this section and no appeal is taken from their order in the matter, the district court is without jurisdiction to quash the panel and discharge the jury on an ex parte motion of the district attorney not made in a pending case nor pursuant to the complaint of any litigant, on the ground of illegality in the selection of the list. § 6525. [3948] Same: Selection of jurors. In making up the jury list mentioned in section 6524 the board of county commissioners must proceed to select and list from the poll lists of the several precincts in their respective counties, last returned to the clerk of their board, the names of a sufficient number of persons legally competent to serve as jurors so that said jury list will provide at least 50 jurors for each term of the district court appointed or directed to be holden in said county for the ensuing year; and in making such selection, they must take the names of such only as are not legally disqualified or exempt from serving as jurors, who are of fair character, of approved integrity and of sound judgment. As nearly as may be, they must choose the names of residents from each precinct in the same proportion which the total of the poll lists for each precinct bears to the total of all the poll lists for the entire county, and they must not accept or reject the name of any person because of his religious or political affiliations or beliefs. 1. He must shake the box containing the names of jurors returned to him, from which jurors are required to be drawn, so as to mix the slips of paper upon which such names were written, as much as possible.

2. He must then publicly draw out of the box as many such slips of paper as are ordered by the judge.
3. A minute of the drawing must be kept by one of the attending officers in which must be entered the names contained on every slip of paper so drawn, before any other slip is drawn.
4. If after drawing the whole number required, the name of any person has been drawn who is dead or insane, or who has permanently removed from the county, to the knowledge of the clerk or any other attending officer, an entry of such fact must be made in the minute of the drawing, and the slip of paper containing such name must be destroyed.
5. Another name must then be drawn, in place of that contained on the slip of paper so destroyed, which must in like manner, be entered in the minutes of the drawing.
6. The same proceeding must be had as often as may be necessary, until the whole number of jurors required are drawn.
7. The minute of the drawing must then be signed by the clerk and the attending officers or persons, and filed in the clerk's office.
8. Separate lists of the names of the persons so drawn for trial jurors, and of those drawn for grand jurors, specifying for what court they were drawn, must be made and certified by the clerk and the attending officers or persons, and delivered to the sheriff of the county.

9. If both a grand and petit jury are ordered at the same drawing, the grand jury shall be drawn first. [R. S. § 3957.]

§ 6559. [3983] Filing stenographic records and reports. The reporter shall file the stenographic records and reports made by him with the clerk of the district court of the county in which such report was taken and was tried. ['90-91, p. 233, § 4.]

Hist. '90-91, p. 233, § 4, reen. '99, p. 163, § 4, reen. R. C. § 3983, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6560. [3984] Copy of record: Fees. It shall be the duty of each reporter to furnish, on the application of the attorney general, prosecuting attorney, or any party to a suit in which a stenographic record has been made, a typewritten copy of the record, or any part thereof, for which he shall charge in addition to his salary, a fee of 7½ cents per hundred words, to be paid by the party requesting the same, and to be taxed as costs in the case against the party finally defeated in the action: Provided, When such copy is requested on behalf of the state or its attorney, or by a defendant in a criminal case or his attorney, and when after conviction the defendant in a criminal case shall satisfy the court by affidavit or otherwise, that he is unable by reason of his poverty to pay for such copy, so requested by himself or his attorney, the court reporter shall furnish such copy free of charge. Such copy shall constitute prima facie the minutes of the court, and may be used on all motions for new trials, review or appeal, when the minutes of the court may be used. ['07, p. 542, § 2.]

Cross ref. Taxation of costs in general: See §§ 7207, 7218, 7219, 9013. Reporter's transcript: § 6886.

Taxation as costs: In order to entitle a party to tax fees of a stenographer as costs it must appear that the services for which the fees were charged were rendered by the court stenographer and incurred under the provisions of this statute. McDonald v. Burke (1892) 3 I. 266, 28 P. 440, 35 A. S. R. 276.

A proceeding before a judge at chambers upon motion to show cause for an injunction is a "suit" in which the prevailing party is entitled to tax the cost of stenographer's fees. Raft River etc. Co. v. Langford (1898) 6 I. 30, 51 P. 1027.

Under the rules of this court and this section the statutory fee paid by a party to an action to the reporter for a transcript of the evidence to be used on motion for a new trial and appeal may be taxed as costs against the party finally defeated on appeal. Young v. Extension Ditch Co. (1908) 14 I. 126, 93 P. 772.

"Copy" defined: The copy contemplated by this statute is a literal copy of such record, containing the questions and answers, the objections made, the exceptions taken, etc., and such record reduced to narrative form by the stenographic reporter is not such a copy as the law contemplates. Kean v. Pittsburg Lead M. Co. (1910) 18 I. 711, 112 P. 214.

By whom procured: Either party to a suit, in which a stenographic record has been made, may demand a typewritten copy of a part or the whole thereof. It is not contemplated that each party must procure a transcript of the evidence to prepare his bill, or statement, or amendments thereto; but it does contemplate that the appellant, in the first instance, shall procure such copy and that the respondent may have the benefit thereof. Ib.

§ 6563. Appointment of deputy and assistants. When owing to the absence, sickness or other disability of the regular reporter, or when the business of the court demands it, the court may appoint a substitute or deputy court reporter to act in the place of the regular reporter during such absence, sickness or other disability of the regular reporter. Such substitute or deputy reporter shall perform the same duties prescribed by law for the regular reporter, give such bond as is required by the court, take the same oath, and shall receive such compensation as may be allowed by the court when employed owing to the absence of such regular reporter, to be paid out of the salary of the regular reporter, but when such absence is on account of sickness then such compensation shall be paid out of the state treasury as the regular reporter's salary is paid: Provided, That such compensation shall only be paid for the time such deputy reporter is actually engaged in such work: and, Provided further, That in all criminal cases where, in the opinion of the court, the notes of the court reporter should be extended for use upon the trial of the cause, or in civil cases where in the opinion of the court, the services of a deputy reporter are required, the court may appoint an additional or substitute court reporter, to aid the regular court reporter in reporting such causes, and who shall be paid a sum to be fixed by the court, to be paid as is the salary of the regular court reporter. When in the opinion of the court, or of the judge thereof, the services of one or more persons are required to assist in the making of transcripts of testimony, the court or judge may by order authorize the reporter to employ such persons as may be necessary to facilitate the work in order that transcripts may be prepared without delay. Such assistants shall be entitled to charge and receive for their services in the preparation of transcripts the fees allowed by law therefor, the same to be paid by the reporter from the money received by him for such work. § 6564. Disposal of fees: Statement. All fees earned by any court reporter or his deputy or assistants under the provisions of this title in excess of those earned by assistants in the preparation of transcripts pursuant to section 6563 shall be paid to the state treasurer to be placed to the credit of the general fund of the state. Said reporter shall make a quarterly report to the state auditor of all fees earned by himself, his deputies and assistants, and said report shall be accompanied by a remittance of such excess fees. CHAPTER 248.

ATTORNEYS AND COUNSELORS AT LAW.

ARTICLE 1.

ADMISSION TO PRACTICE.

§ 6565. [3990] Persons entitled to admission as attorneys. Any citizen or person, resident of this state, who has bona fide declared his intention to become a citizen in the manner required by law, of the age of 21 years, of good moral character, and who possesses the necessary qualifications of learning and ability, is entitled to admission as attorney and counselor in all courts of this state. ['97, p. 57, § 1.]

Hist. (See C. C. P. '81, § 113) R. S. § 3990; am. '97, p. 57, § 1, reen. '99, p. 302, § 1, reen. R. C. § 3990, reen. C. L. ib.

§ 6566. Same: Qualifications and examination. Every applicant for admission as an attorney and counselor must produce satisfactory testimonials of good moral character, and, except as hereinafter provided, undergo a strict examination in open court as to his qualifications, by the justices of the supreme court. ['09, p. 109, S. B. 138, § 1.]

Hist. (See C. C. P. '81, § 114) R. S. § 3991, reen. R. C. ib.; am. '09, p. 109, S. B. 138, reen. C. L. § 3991.

N. D. Analogous: Pol. C. § 790.

Effect of amendment: The admission of attorneys is placed wholly within the jurisdiction of the supreme court. The amended law does not authorize the admission of attorneys by the district courts. Anderson v. Coolin (1915) 27 I. 334, 149 P. 286.

§ 6567. [3992] Same: Certificate of admission. If, upon such examination in the supreme court, the applicant is found qualified, the court shall admit him as attorney and counselor in all the courts of this state, and shall direct an order to be entered to that effect upon its records, and that a certificate of such record be given to him by the clerk of the court, which certificate is his license. [R. S. § 3992.]

§ 6569. Same: Attorneys from other states. The examination may be dispensed with in the case of any person who has been admitted to practice law under license or certificate from the highest court of another state or territory, and has been thereafter actually engaged in the practice of law as a principal occupation for not less than three years immediately preceding the date of application for admission to practice in this state, and who is in good standing as such. The court shall, before admitting such person, require the production of his license or certificate and an affidavit of his standing, and shall satisfy itself by questioning the applicant under oath, and such other means as it may adopt, that he has been engaged in actual practice as above stated. ARTICLE 2.

ATTORNEYS' RIGHTS AND DUTIES.

§ 6572. [3997] Duties of attorneys. It is the duty of an attorney and counselor:

1. To support the constitution and laws of the United States and of this state.

2. To maintain the respect due to the courts of justice and judicial officers.

3. To counsel or maintain such actions, proceedings or defenses only as appear to him legal or just, except the defense of a person charged with a public offense.

4. To employ, for the purpose of maintaining the causes confided to him, such means only as are consistent with truth, and never seek to mislead the judges by an artifice or false statement of fact or law.

5. To maintain inviolate the confidence, and at every peril to himself, to preserve the secrets of his client.

6. To abstain from all offensive personality, and to advance no fact prejudicial to the honor or reputation of a party or witness, unless required by the justice of the cause with which he is charged.

7. Not to encourage either the commencement or the continuance of an action or proceeding from any motive of passion or interest.

8. Never to reject for any consideration personal to himself the cause of the defenseless or the oppressed. [R. S. § 3997.]

Remedy for violation of trust: Where an attorney is employed by a person to secure real property belonging to the client and in the course of such employment, and before the employment terminates, such attorney secures a supposed interest in such property and repudiates his fiduciary obligation and receives in his own name the title to such property he has been employed to secure for his client, such title will be declared to be held in trust for the use and benefit of the client. Ainsworth v. Harding (1912) 22 I. 645, 12[illegible] P. 92.

§ 6573. [3998] Authority of attorney. An attorney and counselor has authority:

1. To bind his client in any of the steps of an action or proceeding by his agreement filed with the clerk, or entered upon the minutes of the court, and not otherwise.

2. To receive money claimed by his client in an action or proceeding during the pendency thereof, or after judgment, unless a revocation of his authority is filed, and upon the payment thereof, and not otherwise, to discharge the claim or acknowledge satisfaction of the judgment. [R. S. § 3998.]

Payment of compensation: As a gen- ral rule an order changing attorney will ot be made unless fees or compensation arned by the attorney are paid or facts re made to appear by the party moving or the change which show that this is im- ossible in the given case. Curtis v. Rich- rds (1895) 4 I. 434, 40 P. 57.

Change after judgment: After final judgment a party who appeals may employ new counsel or change his attorney without notice, and the provisions of this and the following sections do not apply in such cases. Lydon v. Piper (1897) 5 I. 541, 51 P. 101.

Appeal from order: An application for a change of attorneys to which objection is made by the attorney is a special proceeding, the final judgment made on which is reviewable on appeal to the supreme court. Curtis v. Richards, supra.

§ 6575. [4000] Notice of change. When an attorney is changed, as rovided in the last section, written notice of the change and of the sub- titution of a new attorney, or of the appearance of the party in person, nust be given to the adverse party; until then, he must recognize the ormer attorney. ARTICLE 3.

DISBARMENT.

§ 6578. [4002] Grounds. An attorney and counselor may be removed or suspended by the supreme court and by the district courts for either of the following causes, arising after his admission to practice:

1. His conviction of a felony or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, in which case the record of conviction is conclusive evidence.
2. Wilful disobedience or violation of an order of the court, requiring him to do or forbear an act connected with or in course of his profession, and any violation of the oath taken by him or his duties as such attorney and counselor.
3. Corruptly and without authority appearing as attorney for a party to an action or proceeding.
4. Lending his name to be used as an attorney and counselor by any other person who is not an attorney and counselor.
5. Failure for 10 days after written demand, and payment or tender of the fees and expenses due him from his client to pay over or deliver any money or other property belonging to his client which he shall have received in his office of attorney or counselor in the course of collection or settlement of any claim or demand.
6. Habitual intemperance to such an extent that it disqualifies such attorney from faithfully discharging the duties devolving upon him; and in all cases where an attorney is removed or suspended by a district court the judgment or order of removal or suspension may be reviewed on appeal by the supreme court. Postponement of proceedings: Where an indictable crime is charged against an attorney the supreme court will not proceed in disbarment proceedings until criminal proceedings have been taken in the district court, or until sufficient time has elapsed to accord the proper authorities opportunity to prosecute the case in that court. Re Tipton (1895) 4 I. 513, 42 P. 504.

Suspension pending hearing: An attorney will not be suspended from his privileges as such pending the hearing on disbarment charges preferred against him. S. v. Goode (1896) 4 I. 730, 44 P. 640.

Procuring license on false affidavit: An applicant who makes a false affidavit, stating his admission to the highest court of another state, and, upon such affidavit procures his admission to practice in the courts of this state, will be disbarred. Re Bradley (1908) 14 I. 784, 96 P. 208.

Conviction: The statute does not require that the conviction be had in a court of record. On the contrary, it impliedly contemplates that some of the convictions embraced within its terms may be had in inferior courts. Re Henry (1909) 15 I. 755, 99 P. 1054, 21 L. R. A. (N. S.) 207.

Moral turpitude: Moral turpitude is an act of baseness, vileness or depravity in the private and social duties which a man owes to his fellowmen, or to society in general, contrary to the accepted and customary rule of right and duty between man and man. Conviction on the charge of petit larceny is construed as an act of moral turpitude. Re Henry (1909) 15 I. 755, 99 P. 1054, 21 L. R. A. (N. S.) 207.

The crime of aiding another to avoid registration, by advising young men, subject to registration, to not register for mili tary service, as required by act of congress, thereby seeking to interfere with the government in its efforts to raise an army in time of war, involves moral turpitude. Re Hofstede, 31 I. 448, 173 P. 1087.

Lending name: This applies to regularly admitted resident attorneys of the state who, with knowledge, permit the use of their names by persons who have not been admitted, resulting in such unauthorized persons appearing as attorneys and counselors in the courts. Anderson v. Coolin (1915) 27 I. 334, 149 P. 286.

§ 6579. [4003] Conviction of felony. In case of the conviction of an attorney or counsellor of a felony, or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, the clerk of the court in which a conviction is had, must, within 30 days thereafter, transmit to the supreme court a certified copy of the record of conviction. TITLE LV. PROCEEDINGS IN CIVIL ACTIONS IN COURTS OF RECORD.

CHAPTER 249.

FORM OF CIVIL ACTIONS.

§ 6591. [4020] One form of civil action. There is in this state but one form of civil actions for the enforcement or protection of private rights and redress or prevention of private wrongs: Provided, That in all matters not regulated by this code, in which there is any conflict or variance between the rules of equity jurisprudence and the rules of the common law, with reference to the same matter, the rules of equity shall prevail. [R. S. § 4020.]

Construction: While the distinction between actions at law and suits at equity is abolished and the plaintiff is entitled to any relief warranted by his complaint and established by his evidence, without regard to the form of his prayer, yet where the plaintiff draws his complaint on the theory that he is entitled to legal relief, and shows himself by his evidence only entitled to equitable relief, and does not offer to amend his complaint to conform to his proof, he cannot be granted any relief. Anderson v. War Eagle Con. Min. Co. (1902) 8 I. 789, 72 P. 671.

Action on judgment: Since the abolition of scire facias, an action on a judgment is, under this section, a new action and not an action or proceeding in the original action to revive the original judgment. Stevens v. Hall (1902) 8 I. 549, 69 P. 282.

TIME OF COMMENCING CIVIL ACTIONS.

ARTICLE 1.

IN GENERAL.

§ 6594. [4030] Limitations in general. Civil actions can only be commenced within the periods prescribed in this chapter after the cause of action shall have accrued, except when, in special cases, a different limitation is prescribed by statute. [R. S. § 4030.]

Protection of right of way: The statute of limitations will not run against an action by a railroad to maintain the integrity of the right of way granted by congress for the specific use and purpose of said railroad. Oregon etc. R. R. Co. v. Quigley (1905) 10 I. 770, 80 P. 401.

Action against fiduciary: The statute does not begin to run against a cestui que trust until the trust is denied or some act is done by the trustee inconsistent with the trust. Nasholds v. McDonnell (1898) 6 I. 377, 55 P. 894.

The statute does not run against an action by the county to recover money received by a county officer as a fiduciary in trust for the county. Fremont Co. v. Brandon (1899) 6 I. 482, 56 P. 264; (Overruled: Bannock Co. v. Bell, 8 I. 1, 65 P. 710).

Presumption of death: In cases where the fact of death is established by the presumption arising from seven years' unexplained absence of a person, a cause of action on a benefit certificate payable upon the death of such person does not accrue until the end of the seven-year period of disappearance. Gaffney v. Royal Neighbors of America, 31 I. 549, 174 P. 1014.

Kollmeyer, 31 I. 712, 175 P. 964.

Easement: The right to conduct excess water upon and across land of another is an easement which may be obtained by prescription, and the period of adverse possession whereby it may be acquired is that mentioned in this and §§ 6597 and 6599. Beasley v. Engstrom (1917) 31 I. 14, 168, P. 1145.

Equitable actions: The statute is as complete a bar in equity as at law. Ames v. Howes (1907) 13 I. 756, 93 P. 35.

Ownership of the equitable title and possession within the time limited is sufficient to enable plaintiff to sue. American M. Co. v. Trask (1915) 28 I. 642, 156 P. 136.

Finding: Where statute of limitations is pleaded in the answer, the court must make a finding upon such a defense unless finding thereon would not affect or control the judgment or call for a different judgment than that authorized by the findings made. Hailey v. Riley (1908) 14 I. 481, 95 P. 686, 17 L. R. A. (N. S.) 86.

Fraud only tolls the statute: If no fraud is shown, neither the ignorance of a person of his right to bring an action, nor the mere silence of the person liable to the action, prevents the running of the statute of limitations. Coe v. Sloan (1909) 16 I. 49, 100 P. 354.

Trusts: Express trusts are not within the operation of the statute of limitations, but trusts which arise from an implication of law or constructive trusts are within the operation of the statute. Ames v. Howes (1907) 13 I. 756, 93 P. 35.

An express, as well as an implied, trust is repudiated by adverse possession, and the statute of limitations begins to run from the time the beneficiary has notice of such repudiation. Olympia M. & M. Co. v. Kerns (1913) 24 I. 481, 135 P. 255, appeal dismissed 236 U. S. 211, 59 L. ed. 542, 35 S. C. R. 415.

Unpatented mining claim: Open, notorious, adverse possession of an unpatented mining claim for a period of more than five years is a bar to an action to recover possession of the same. Bradley v. Johnson (1906) 11 I. 689, 83 P. 927.

Water rights: Where plaintiff appropriated a certain number of inches of the waters of a creek in 1870, and continuously used the same, and defendant appropriated other waters of the creek in 1880 and used the same up 1893, but without, until that time, interfering with plaintiff's use of the water claimed by him, plaintiff's right to sue to enforce his claim to the water as against the defendant was not barred by the statute of limitations. Brossard v. Morgan (1900) 7 I. 215, 61 P. 1031.

§ 6597. [4037] Same: Seizin within five years. No cause of action, or defense to an action, arising out of the title to real property, or to rents or profits out of the same, can be effectual unless it appears that the person prosecuting the action, or making the defense, or under whose title the action is prosecuted or the defense is made, or the ancestor, predecessor or grantor, of such person, was seized or possessed of the premises in question within five years before the commencement of the act in respect to which such action is prosecuted or defense made. Engstrom (1917) 31 I. 14, 168 P. 1145.

Claim of title: One who has purchased a tract of land and pays the purchase price and enters into possession believing he has title, whether he receives a good deed or an imperfect one, or none at all, nevertheless enters adversely to the vendor and all the rest of the world, and holds possession adversely. Fountain v. Lewiston Nat. Bk. (1905) 11 I. 451, 83 P. 505.

Permissive occupation: A prescriptive title can not be founded upon use and occupation, which is not adverse to the title of the owner, but which is under permission of the owner. Davis v. Davenney (1901) 7 I.742, 65 P. 500.

A claimant of property who enters into possession under an agreement whereby, upon the happening of a contingency, he may be under the duty or necessity of restoring possession to the grantor or true owner, holds possession for his grantor or the true owner and cannot claim by adverse possession against him. Fountain v. Lewiston Nat Bak., supra.

Where there is no proof showing that actual occupation was accompanied by a claim or an intention inconsistent with the title of the owner, an adverse claim based upon such occupation cannot be allowed. Bower v. Kollmeyer, 31 I. 712, 175 P. 964.

Sheriff's deed: An action to set aside a judgment and sheriff's deed based thereon, is barred after the lapse of five years from the execution of the deed, in the absence of a showing that reasonable diligence has been exercised in the discovery of the acts complained of. Ryan v. Wood in (1904) 9 I. 525, 75 P. 261.

Vacation of streets: Action to have cit ordinances vacating streets declared nu and void should have been brought a least within five years from the date suc cause of action arose. Canady v. Coeu d'Alene L. Co. (1911) 21 I 77, 120 P. 830.

§ 6598. [4038] Effect of entry. No entry upon real estate is deeme sufficient or valid as a claim unless an action be commenced thereupo within one year after making such entry, and within five years of th time when the right to make it descended or accrued. [R. S. § 4038.]

§ 6601. [4041] Same: What constitutes possession. For the purpose of constituting an adverse possession by a person claiming a title founded upon a written instrument, or a judgment or decree, land is deemed to have been possessed and occupied in the following cases:

1. Where it has been usually cultivated or improved.
2. Where it has been protected by a substantial inclosure.
3. Where, although not inclosed, it has been used for the supply of fuel, or of fencing timber for the purposes of husbandry, or for pasturage, or for the ordinary use of the occupant.
4. Where a known farm or single lot has been partly improved, the portion of such farm or lot that may have been left not cleared, or not inclosed, according to the usual course and custom of the adjoining country, shall be deemed to have been occupied for the same length of time as the part improved and cultivated. Unrecorded deed: Where a purchaser of a right of way for a ditch across a tract of land has failed to record its conveyance prior to the record of a subsequent conveyance made in good faith, and in an action to quiet title seeks to recover on the grounds of adverse possession for the statutory period, the extent of the right of way or easement must be determined by the facts proven as to the extent of the use and occupation, and can not be determined by the calls of such unrecorded deed. Swank v. Sweetwater Irr. etc. Co. (1908) 15 I. 353, 98 P. 297.

§ 6603. [4043] Same: What constitutes possession: Payment of taxes. For the purpose of constituting an adverse possession, by a person claiming title not founded upon a written instrument, judgment or decree, land is deemed to have been possessed and occupied in the following cases only:

1. Where it has been protected by a substantial inclosure.
2. Where it has been usually cultivated or improved.

Provided, however, That in no case shall adverse possession be considered established under the provisions of any sections of this code unless it shall be shown that the land has been occupied and claimed for the period of five years continuously, and the party or persons, their predecessors and grantors, have paid all the taxes, state, county or municipal, which have been levied and assessed upon such land according to law. Payment of taxes: Payment of taxes must be shown in order to establish title by adverse possession. Brose v. Boise City Ry. etc. Co. (1897) 5 I. 694, 51 P. 753.

One who fails to pay the taxes on land and informs the assessor that the land belongs to another does not acquire a title by adverse possession. Green v. Christie (1895) 4 I. 438, 40 P. 54.

Where A purchases land from B which is inclosed by a fence, and within such inclosure is a small tract of land not within the description of the deeds given by B to A, which small tract is now and has been possessed, used and occupied by A for a period of 14 years, he exercising acts of control and ownership thereover, and where it appears from the record that such tract of land has not been assessed for taxation according to law, or at all, the facts so shown are sufficient to establish adverse possession. Urquides v. Flanagan (1900) 7 I. 163, 61 P. 514.

Adverse possession can not be established unless it is shown that the land has been occupied and claimed for five years continuously, and the claimant or his predecessors have paid all taxes levied upon such land or that the property was exempt from taxation or has never been assessed. Swank v. Sweetwater Irr. etc. Co. (1908) 15 I. 353, 98 P. 297. Dickerson v. Hansen, 32 I. —, 177 P. 760.

Boundaries: Where one enters into the possession of a tract of land and maintains a fence, and occupies and uses the land up to the fence for a period of 40 years, with the knowledge and acquiescence of the successive owner of the adjoining land, such occupancy will amount to adverse possession, even though the division fence was erected through mistake as to the true boundary line. Bayhouse v. Urquides, (1909) 17 I. 286, 105 P. 1066.

Where a row of trees has constituted a monument between lots of coterminous owners for more than five years, same established true boundary line. Boise Valley etc. Co. v. Kroeger (1909) 17 I. 384, 398, 105 P. 1070, 28 L. R. A. (N. S.) 968.

Acquiescence in the maintenance of a line fence for a great length of time may be presumptive evidence of an agreement as to a boundary line, but is not conclusive evidence, and will not overcome a positive agreement or understanding that after the true line is established the fence will be made to conform to it. Brown v. Brown (1910) 18 I. 345, 110 P. 269.

Effect of pendency of a homestead contest: The pendency of a homestead contest in the land department of the United States does not suspend the running of the statute of limitations. N. P. Ry. Co. v. Pyle (1910) 19 I. 3, 112 P. 678.

Any continuous five-year period: Where one claims title to property by adverse possession it is not necessary that the five years' continuous, exclusive adverse possession and payment of taxes should have been immediately preceding the commencement of the action or at any special or particular time, but it is sufficient if the party claiming such title can establish any continuous five-year period subsequent to the acquisition of the legal title by the adverse party during which he has complied with the statute in maintaining his open, notorious, continuous adverse possession and payment of taxes for such period. Cramer v. Walker (1913) 23 I. 495, 130 P. 1002.

Improved: The word "improved" in this section means to change or make better or to adapt it more to the purposes for which it is intended than had previously been done. In case of a mill site used for ordinary mining purposes, it is not necessary that it be either cultivated or inclosed. Trask v. Success M. Co. (1916) 28 I. 483, 155 P. 288.

§ 6604. [4044] Possession of tenant: Presumptions. When the relation of landlord and tenant has existed between any persons, the possession of the tenant is deemed the possession of the landlord until the expiration of five years from the termination of the tenancy, or, where there has been no written lease, until the expiration of five years from the time of the last payment of rent, notwithstanding that such tenant may have acquired another title, or may have claimed to hold adversely to his landlord. But such presumptions can not be made after the periods herein limited. [R. S. § 4044.]

[4046] Persons under disabilities. If a person entitled to commence an action for the recovery of real property, or for the recovery of the possession thereof, or to make any entry or defense founded on the title to real property, or to rents or services out of the same, be at the time such title first descends or accrues, either:

1. Within the age of majority; or,
2. Insane; or,
3. Imprisoned on a criminal charge, or in execution, upon conviction of a criminal offense, for a term less than for life; or,
4. A married woman, and her husband be a necessary party with her in commencing such action or making such entry or defense.

The term during which such disability continues is not deemed any portion of the time in this title limited for the commencement of such action or the making of such entry or defense, but such action may be commenced, or entry or defense made, within the period of five years after such disability shall cease, or after the death of the person entitled who shall die under such disability; but such action shall not be commenced or entry or defense made after that period. An action against the president and secretary of a corporation based on their statutory liability under R. C. § 2792 (§§ 4772-9), to answer for its contractual obligations is barred within three years under subd. 1. Dietrich v. Copeland L. Co. supra.

Subd. 1 has no application to an action by a county to recover balance of fees due for recording of instruments. Lincoln Co. v. Twin Falls etc. Co. (1913) 23 I. 433, 130 P. 788.

Trespass: An action for damages for recurrent flowage of agricultural lands by waters polluted with poisonous waste from ore reduction works is not for trespass but on the case, and not limited by subd. 2 of this section. Hill v. Empire State etc. Co. (1908) 158 F. 881.

Limitation for action for trespass upon real property has no application to action on the case for consequential damages. Boise Dev. Co. v. Boise (1917) 30 I. 675, 167 P. 1032.

Recurring trespasses: Where a dam causes periodical damage to a sand beach by flooding the statute does not run from the first as to all recurring floodings. Defenbaugh v. Wash. W. Power Co. (1913) 24 I. 514, 135 P. 247.

Tort: Under subd. 3 a right of action accrues in favor of the owner of goods as soon as they are wrongfully taken from his possession, or wrongfully converted by one who rightfully came into possession of them. Havird v. Lung (1911) 19 I. 790, 115 P. 930.

Where the possession of property is acquired by a tort no demand is necessary prior to the institution of suit for its recovery; consequently the statute of limitations is set in motion without such demand. Ib.

Fraud or mistake: The provisions of subd. 4 have no application to the action for taking, detaining or injuring goods or chattels, the period for commencing which is prescribed by subd. 3. Havird v. Lung, supra.

One who sustains damage by reason of the mistake and false and fraudulent representation contained in an abstract may commence his action to recover damages against the abstracter within three years after discovering the fraud or mistake. Hillock v. Idaho etc. Co. (1912) 22 I. 440, 126 P. 612, 42 L. R. A. (N. S.) 178.

The test, under subd. 4, is not whether the fraud or mistake occurred in a contract or independently of contract, but the test is whether the action seeks relief from or on account of a fraud or mistake. Ib.

Under subd. 4 knowledge of such facts as would put a reasonably prudent person upon inquiry is equivalent to knowledge of fraud, and will start commencement of statute. Williams v. Shrope (1917) 30 I. 746, 168 P. 162.

Complainant's eight-year delay in seeking relief against an administrator who fraudulently represented that he was the next of kin, held not to warrant denial of relief. Diamond v. Connolly, 251 F. 234.

§ 6612. [4055] Actions against officers, for penalties, on bonds and for personal injuries. Within two years:

1. An action against a sheriff, coroner or constable, upon the liability incurred by the doing of an act in his official capacity, and in virtue of his office, or by the omission of an official duty, including the nonpayment of money collected upon an execution.

2. An action upon a statute for a penalty or forfeiture, where the action is given to an individual, or to an individual and the state, except when the statute imposing it prescribes a different limitation.

3. An action upon a statute or upon an undertaking in a criminal action for a forfeiture or penalty to a county or to the people of the state.

4. An action to recover damages for an injury to the person, or for the death of one caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another.

5. An action for libel, slander, assault, battery, false imprisonment or seduction.

6. An action against a sheriff or other officer for the escape of a prisoner arrested or imprisoned on civil process. ['03, p. 56, § 1.]

Action against officer: An action by a county to recover from the clerk of court, auditor and recorder moneys illegally allowed by the county commissioners to the clerk, etc., and fees illegally collected by the clerk, etc., from the county, is barred after four years. Bannock Co. v. Bell (1901) 8 I. 1, 65 P. 710.

Appointment of administrator: A proceeding for the appointment of an administrator is an action within the meaning of this section and it is barred if not commenced within four years from the death of the decedent. Gwinn v. Melvin (1903) 9 I. 202, 72 P. 961.

Actions for damages: Actions for damages against real property come under this section. Boise Dev. Co. v. Boise (1917) 30 I. 675, 167 P. 1032.

§ 6618. [4061] Limitations apply to state. The limitations prescribed in this chapter apply to actions brought in the name of the state, or for the benefit of the state, in the same manner as to actions by private parties. [R. S. § 4061.]

Application to state: The statute of limitations applies to the state as well as to private individuals. Small v. S. (1904) 10 I. 1, 76 P. 765.

Limitation of section: This section is specifically restricted to the limitations "prescribed by this title," that is, of actions of a private nature and against private individuals. It does not apply to an action to enforce a public duty, such as an action on behalf of a county to compel the commissioners of another county to appoint an accountant for the apportionment of the indebtedness of the counties as prescribed by a county division act. Re Counties v. Alturas Co. (1894) 4 I. 145, 37 P. 349.

Action by county: The statute runs against the county in a civil action brought by it against the clerk, auditor and recorder for illegal fees and compensation collected by him from the county during his term of office. When action accrues: A cause of action accrues within the meaning of this section when it can be properly commenced. Pridgeon v. Greathouse (1871) 1 I. 359.

Debtor entering state: The words "return to the state" apply to a nonresident debtor who enters into a contract in a foreign state and thereafter comes into this state, as well as to a citizen who enters into a contract within this state and thereafter departs from the state. West v. Theis, supra.

Not amended: The act of March 13, 1907 ('07, pp. 319, 321) amending R. C. § 4144 and providing a method of substituted service of process upon a resident of this state temporarily absent from his residence or from the state, did not amend this section. Anthes v. Anthes (1912) 21 I. 305, 121 P. 553.

Absence: It is immaterial what may be the cause of absence or whether it be of a mere temporary nature or a change of residence and domicile. Anthes v. Anthes, supra.

§ 6623. [4070] Persons under disabilities. If a person entitled to bring an action, other than for the recovery of real property, be, at the time the cause of action accrued, either:

1. Within the age of majority; or,
2. Insane; or,
3. Imprisoned on a criminal charge, or in execution under the sentence of a criminal court for a term less than for life; or,
4. A married woman, and her husband be a necessary party with her in commencing such action;

The time of such disability is not a part of the time limited for the commencement of the action. [R. S. § 4070.]

N. D. Similar: C. C. P. § 7394.

Application: The acknowledgment and promise to pay a debt which would otherwise be barred by limitations must be in writing signed by the party sought to be charged as well where the original debt is not barred when the acknowledgment and promise is made, as in cases where the statute has already run. Reed v. Smith (1874) 1 I. 533.

Clear and definite acknowledgment of the existence of a contract and liability which has not at the time been barred by the statute of limitations, whether coupled with a direct promise to pay or not, carries with it an implied promise to pay the debt and fixes a new date from which the statute begins to run. Dern v. Olsen (1910) 18 I. 358, 110 P. 164, Ann. Cas. 1912A 1, L. R. A. (N. S.) 1915B 1016.

Renewal notes: The giving of new notes, including the interest due on the original debt, is sufficient acknowledgment of the whole indebtedness to prevent the running of the statute of limitations. Kelly v. Leachman (1893) 3 I. 629, 33 P. 44.

Indorsement on note: An indorsement written on a note and mortgage by which the debtor purports to acknowledge and renew the same is evidence of waiver by the debtor of the bar of the statute. Moulton v. Williams (1899) 6 I. 424, 55 P. 1019.

Payment as acknowledgment: Payment on a promissory note to remove the bar of the statute of limitations must be evidenced by a writing, and must be a voluntary payment by the payee, and made for the purpose of applying the payment on the note. Gray v. Pierson (1901) 7 I. 540, 64 P. 233.

Administrator can not waive statute: An administrator can not "acknowledge or promise" to pay "a new or continuing contract" so as to remove the same from the operation of the statute of limitations. Dern v. Olsen, supra.

§ 6632. [4079] Actions barred in another state. When a cause of action has arisen in another state or territory, or in a foreign country, and by the laws thereof an action thereon can not there be maintained against a person by reason of the lapse of time, an action thereon shall not be maintained against him in this state, except in favor of one who has been a citizen of this state and who has held the cause of action from the time it accrued. Construed: The phrase "has arisen in another state" refers to and means the state in which the foreign contract is to be paid or discharged, and has no application to an intermediate state or foreign country through which the debtor may subsequently travel or in which he may reside for a sufficient length of time to constitute the bar of the statute of limitations of such state, prior to coming to this state, where an action is eventually commenced. West v. Theis, supra.

"A cause of action arises" at the time and the place in the state or foreign country when and where the debt is to be paid or the contract performed, and continues and follows the debtor until it is either barred by the statute of limitations of the state wherein it arose or until the debtor has lived within this state a sufficient length of time to bar it by the statute of limitations of this state. Ib.

Where a resident of this state goes into the state of Washington and makes a partial payment upon a Washington contract after its maturity, and before such contract is barred by the statute of limitations of that state, upon his return to this state the contract follows him as made, and is enforceable under the laws of this state, and the statute of limitations of this state begins to run upon his reentry into this state, after such payment. Sterrett v. Sweeney (1908) 15 I. 416, 98 P. 418, 128 A. S. R. 68, 20 L. R. A. (N. S.) 963.

§ 6633. [4080] "Action" includes special proceeding. The word "action" as used in this chapter is to be construed, whenever it is necessary so to do, as including a special proceeding of a civil nature. [R. S. § 4080.]

CHAPTER 251.

PARTIES TO CIVIL ACTIONS.

§ 6634. [4090] Party in interest must prosecute. Every action must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest, except as otherwise provided by this code. [R. S. § 4090.]

Applied: Where a party purchased a stallion and at the same time received from the vendor a contract of warranty, and thereafter and before using him sold the animal without assigning the contract of warranty to the purchaser, he may sue on the contract of warranty as the real party in interest. Olson Bros. v. Hurd (1911) 20 I. 47, 116 P. 358.

Where an action is brought by a married woman to recover a judgment on promissory notes, and decree foreclosing mortgage given to secure notes, and the answer of defendant avers that real estate covered by mortgage is community property, and sets up an offset or counterclaim against husband and asks to have him made a party plaintiff, it is error for court to deny such motion. Campbell v. Kerns (1907) 13 I. 287, 70 P. 108.

Any resident taxpayer may sue to determine the legality of acts of a city official. Moore v. Hupp (1909) 17 I. 232, 245-6, 105 P. 209.

The holder of certificates of indebtedness incurred by the state engineer in a water suit and representing a judgment for costs is the legal owner of judgment and may sue thereon in his own name. Idaho Trust etc. Bk. v. Ridenbaugh (1916) 29 I. 647, 161 P. 868; Idaho Trust etc. Bk. v. Nampa etc. Irr. Dist. (1916) 29 I. 658, 161 P. 872.

Assignees: Where as between assignor and assignee the transfer of a chose in action is complete the assignee is the real party in interest and is entitled to maintain action in his own name whether the assignment is with or without consideration and notwithstanding any equities to which the same may be subject. Brumback v. Oldham (1878) 1 I. 709.

Where A delivers property to an express company with direction to deliver the same to B he thereby vests the rights of possession in B, and the latter will be entitled to demand, sue for and receive the same. Pratt v. N. P. Express Co. (1907) 13 I. 373, 90 P. 341, 121 A. S. R. 268, 10 L. R. A. (N. S.) 499.

Action on official bond: Under the statute providing that action shall be brought in the name of the real party in interest, the people of the territory are the proper party plaintiff in an action on an official bond of a county treasurer running to "the people of the United States in the territory of Idaho," and it is proper to further allege that the action is brought for the use of the county. People v. Slocum (1866) 1 I. 62.

Action on injunction bond: An action on an injunction bond given in a suit against the mayor and common council of a city in their official capacity is properly brought in the name of the city as the real party in interest. Boise City v. Randall (1901) 8 I. 119, 66 P. 938.

Action by agent: A real estate broker who takes an option for the purchase of property in his own name, but in reality for the benefit of a customer, to whom he demands its conveyance, having himself no interest in the contract beyond a contingent commission in case the sale is made, can not maintain a suit for the specific enforcement of the contract, as he is not the real party in interest and does not bring himself within the exceptions enumerated in this section. Lawyer v. Post (1901) 109 F. 512.

Where an attorney has collected moneys for his clients and deposited the same in a bank and sues to collect the money so deposited from the bank, his clients, for whom the money was deposited, are proper parties plaintiff. Cunningham v. Bk. of Nampa (1907) 13 I. 167, 88 P. 975, 121 A. S. R. 257, 10 L. R. A. (N. S.) 706.

Mode of raising objection: The fact that the plaintiff is not the real party in interest can not be taken advantage of by demurrer when it does not appear from the face of the complaint, but is a proper matter of defense. Holton v. Sandpoint L. Co. (1901) 7 I. 573, 64 P. 889.

Negotiable instruments: In relation to negotiable instruments § 5918 of the uniform negotiable instruments law supersedes this section. The holder of such an instrument even though he may hold it for collection only may sue thereon in his own name. Craig v. Palo Alto Stock Farm (1909) 16 I. 701, 102 P. 393; Anderson v. Coolin (1916) 28 I. 494, 155 P. 677.

§ 6635. [4091] Assignment of thing in action. In the case of an assignment of a thing in action, the action by the assignee is without prejudice to any set-off, or other defense existing at the time of, or before, notice of the assignment; but this section does not apply to a negotiable instrument, transferred in good faith and upon good consideration, before maturity. Assignment of cost bill: The assignee of a cost bill takes the same subject to any right of offset against the bill existing at the time of the assignment. Northwestern etc. Bk. v. Rauch (1901) 8 I. 50, 66 P. 807.

§ 6636. [4092] Actions by executors and trustees. An executor or administrator, or trustee of an express trust, or a person expressly authorized by statute, may sue without joining with him the persons for whose benefit the action is prosecuted. A person with whom or in whose name a contract is made for the benefit of another is a trustee of an express trust within the meaning of this section. [R. S. § 4092.]

Applied: In a suit against a foreign corporation on an official bond for the use and benefit of all persons who may become aggrieved by the wrongful act or default of the principal, and the state sues on the bond, it sues as trustee of an express trust and the particular persons aggrieved do not need to be joined as parties. Repeal: This section repeals by implication R. S. § 4093 which provides that "when a married woman is a party her husband must be joined with her" except in certain cases. Decisions under the repealed section are as follows:

Bassett v. Beam (1894) 4 I. 106, 36 P. 501; (In brief of counsel) Campbell v. Kerns (1907) 13 I. 287.

Action by wife: The husband must join with the wife in an action by her for personal injuries but need not join with the action a separate and distinct cause of action for injuries to himself sustained at the same time and by the same wrongful act. Lindsay v. O. S. L. Ry. Co. (1907) 13 I. 477, 90 P. 984, 12 L. R. A. (N. S.) 184.

Action against wife: In an action against the wife to foreclose a mortgage, the husband is a necessary party although the mortgaged property is the separate property of the wife, unless they are living separate and apart by reason of the desertion of the husband, or by an agreement in writing entered into between them. Vermont Loan & Trust Co. v. McGregor (1897) 5 I. 510, 51 P. 104.

§ 6638. [4094] Same: Wife may defend. If a husband and wife be sued together the wife may defend her own right, and if the husband neglect to defend she may defend for his right also. [R. S. § 4094.]

Disclaimer by husband: In an action against husband and wife relating to a water right appurtenant to real estate occupied by them as a residence, a disclaimer filed therein by the husband does not affect the rights of the wife, and she may defend the action in her own name. The only effect of such disclaimer is that he refuses to defend the action. Stowall v. Tucker (1900) 7 I. 312, 62 P. 1033.

Wife may testify: The wife may also testify in such action in regard to the contract sued on. Larson v. Carter (1908) 14 I. 511, 94 P. 825.

§ 6639. [4095] Infants and insane persons: Guardians ad litem. When an infant or an insane or incompetent person is a party, he must appear either by his general guardian or by a guardian ad litem appointed by the court in which the action is pending in each case, or by a judge thereof, or a probate judge. A guardian ad litem may be appointed in any case when it is deemed by the court in which the action or proceeding is prosecuted, or by a judge thereof, expedient, to represent the infant, insane or incompetent person in the action or proceeding, notwithstanding he may have a general guardian and may have appeared by him. [R. S. § 4095.]

Nonresident guardian: It is not error to appoint a nonresident as guardian ad litem, although there is a general guardian, where the court is satisfied that the interest of the minor requires it. Pine v. Callahan (1902) 8 I. 684, 71 P. 473.

Time of appointment: The appointment of a guardian ad litem after the trial of a case and on the hearing of a motion for new trial, by an order of the trial court nunc pro tunc, is not a jurisdictional defect, but at most an irregularity which does not of itself vitiate the proceedings. Trask v. Boise King Placers Co. (1914) 26 I. 290, 142 P. 1073.

§ 6640. [4096] Same: Appointment of guardian. When a guardian ad litem is appointed by the court or judge he must be appointed as follows:

1. When the infant is plaintiff; upon the application of the infant if he be of the age of 14 years; or if under that age, upon the application of a relative or friend of the infant.

2. When the infant is defendant; upon the application of the infant if he be of the age of 14 years and apply within 10 days after the service of the summons; if he be under the age of 14, or neglect so to apply, then upon the application of any other party to the action, or of a relative or friend of the infant.

3. When an insane or incompetent person is party to an action or proceeding, upon the application of a relative or friend of such insane or incompetent person, or of any other party to the action or proceeding. [R. S. § 4096.]

Such action may be maintained against the person causing the injury or death, or if such person be employed by another person, who is responsible for his conduct, also against such other person. § 6644. [4100] Action for wrongful death. When the death of a person, not being a minor, is caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another, his heirs or personal representatives may maintain an action for damages against the person causing the death; or if such person be employed by another person who is responsible for his conduct, then also against such other person. In every action under this and the preceding section, such damages may be given as under all the circumstances of the case may be just. [R. S. § 4100.]

N. D. Analogous: C. C. P. §§ 8321, 8322.

Not repealed: This section was not repealed by '09, p. 34, H. B. 26, the employers' liability law. Chiara v. Stewart M. Co. (1913) 24 I. 472, 135 P. 245; St. Germain v. Potlatch Lbr. Co. (Wash. 1913) 135 P. 804.

Construed: The word "heirs" as used in this section means such heirs as are entitled to inherit from a deceased person under the statute of this state. Where there are no heirs the action can not be maintained. Any judgment obtained in such an action inures to the benefit of the "heirs" of the decedent, and in no case becomes a part of the assets of the estate of the deceased. Whitley v. Spokane etc. Ry. Co. (1913) 23 I. 642, 132 P. 121.

The construction of this statute by the supreme court of Idaho, with respect to the nature of the right of action created, is in accord with the accepted view of statutes similar to Lord Campbell's act. The recovery is not for the benefit of the "estate" of the decedent; the heirs are the only beneficiaries and are not represented by the administratrix in a suit brought without their consent. Spokane etc. R. Co. v. Whitley (1915) 237 U. S. 487, 59 L. ed. 1060, 35 S. C. R. 655, aff. 23 I. 642, 132 P. 121.

Nature of action: The right of action given by this section to the heirs or personal representatives of a person whose death is caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another, is an entirely new cause of action for damages for the loss sustained by such beneficiaries, and is not dependent on the right of the deceased to maintain an action for the act which caused his death, had he survived. N. P. Ry. Co. v. Adams (1902) 116 F. 324, 54 C. C. A. 196.

The death of a free passenger on a railway train, not due to omission on the part of the railroad of any duty owing to the deceased, is not "wrongful" or "negligent" within the meaning of this section and does not authorize an action by the heirs against the railroad. N. P. Ry. Co. v. Adams (1904) 192 U. S. 440, 24 S. C. R. 408, 48 L. ed. 513.

Right of action: Under this section neither the widow nor the next of kin can maintain an action in their own names. Vaughn v. Bunker Hill & Sullivan M. etc. Co. (1903) 126 F. 895.

A mother who is the sole heir of an unmarried adult son, may maintain an action in her own name for the wrongful death of such son. Peterman v. N. P. Ry. Co. (1900) 105 F. 335.

Pleading: A complaint under this section is not obnoxious to a general demurrer because it fails to show whether the deceased is a minor or a major. Palmer v. Utah & N. R. Co. (1887) 2 I. 315, 13 P. 425.

Damages: The expression "as under the circumstances of the case, may be just," used in this section, means such circumstances as are properly shown to the jury by the evidence under the pleadings, and the jury should be so instructed. The jury should not be permitted to assess damages on their own ideas and notions of what the "circumstances of the case" are, regardless of the pleadings and proof. Holt v. Spokane & Palouse Ry. Co. (1893) 3 I. 703, 35 P. 39.

It is not error for the court to instruct the jury that in considering the amount of pecuniary damages sustained by the plaintiff, they may take into consideration "the degree of intimacy existing between the father and the child and the loss of companionship if such be shown." The jury is not limited to a precise and specific pecuniary amount measured by the direct evidence given in the case, but are at liberty to take into consideration, guided by the evidence given in the case, the intrinsic probabilities 'that damages have been sustained by and on account of the loss of bodily care or intellectual culture or moral training which the parent of the deceased had previously supplied or bestowed. Anderson v. G. N. Ry. Co. (1908) 15 I. 513, 99 P. 91.

In an action by the father for the wrongful death of a son seven years of age, caused by collision on the railway, where it is admitted that the death occurred through the negligence and carelessness of the servants of the defendant, the value of the child's services to the father during the period of his minority should be ascertained by the jury from the evidence introduced and by using their own judgment, common sense and discretion, as an estimate of such services must of necessity to a considerable extent be a matter of opinion. Golden v. Spokane etc. R. Co. (1911) 20 I. 526, 118 P. 1076.

If it be shown heirs have suffered injury in loss of companionship of deceased, such loss may be considered by jury, even though heirs are not relatives in direct line. Kelly v. Lemhi Irr. etc. Co. (1917) 30 I. 778, 168 P. 1076.

Water suits: Settlers along a stream who have acquired the right to appropriate and use the waters of such stream as the common source of supply have such a common interest in having the rights of the respective appropriators determined and quieted as to entitle them to join as plaintiffs in a suit for that purpose, although each owns his separate land and water right in his own individual capacity. Frost v. Alturas Water Co. (1905) 11 I. 294, 81 P. 996.

Where several land owners agree among themselves to unite in interest and construct their own ditch or lateral and make a joint application to a ditch company for sufficient water for all their land, they may join as plaintiffs in an action to compel the company to deliver the quantity of water applied for at their headgate. Helphrey v. Perrault (1906) 12 I. 451, 86 P. 417.

Separate parties who own and hold their lands separately and each of whom has a separate written contract with a water company whereby the company separately agrees to furnish each with water for the irrigation of his land, can not join in a common action to compel the company to deliver them a sufficient amount of water to properly irrigate their lands. § 6646. Joinder of parties defendant. Any person may be made a defendant who has or claims an interest in the controversy adverse to the plaintiff, or who is a necessary party to a complete determination or settlement of the question involved therein. And in an action to determine the title or right of possession to real property which, at the time of the commencement of the action, is in the possession of a tenant, the landlord may be joined as a party defendant. Custodian of fund: A bank is a proper party defendant to an action brought by a depositor to recover money deposited therein, although it may be shown on the trial as a defense that the bank is no longer liable because of having parted with the deposit in good faith. Parties affected by judgment: A sheriff who has sold property under execution sale and who refuses to make a deed therefor to the purchaser, the execution defendants whose property was sold, and a third party who claims adversely to the plaintiff, may be joined as defendants in an action by the purchaser to obtain a sheriff's deed to the property. Brady v. Linehan (1898) 5 I. 732, 51 P. 761.

Community of interest: Where settlers along a stream claim the waters from the stream to irrigate their lands they all have such a common interest in the adjudication of the water rights of the stream that they may all be joined as defendants in a suit by other appropriators of waters from the same stream, brought for the purpose of determining such rights. Frost v. Alturas Water Co. (1905) 11 I. 294, 81 P. 996.

Additional parties: Where the rights of the parties to an action can not be properly determined without bringing in other parties, the court should permit the defendant to file a cross complaint and require such other parties to be brought in. § 6655. [4111] Intervention. Any person may, before the trial, intervene in an action or proceeding, who has an interest in the matter in litigation, in the success of either of the parties, or an interest against both. An intervention takes place when a third person is permitted to become a party to an action or proceeding between other persons, either by joining the plaintiff in claiming what is sought by the complaint, or by uniting with the defendant in resisting the claims of the plaintiff, or by demanding any thing adversely to both the plaintiff and the defendant, and is made by complaint, setting forth the grounds upon which the intervention rests, filed by leave of the court, and served upon the parties to the action or proceeding who have not appeared and upon the attorneys of the parties who have appeared, who may answer or demur to it as if it were an original complaint. Construction: The word "action" as used in this section means a civil action purely, and no intervention is authorized in proceedings of a quasi criminal nature such as proceedings in quo warranto. People v. Green (1869) 1 I. 235.

Interest authorizing intervention: The interest which entitles a person to intervene in a suit against other parties must be in the matter in litigaton, and of such a direct and immediate character that the intervenor will either gain or lose in the direct legal operation and effect of the judgment. People v. Green (1869) 1 I. 235; Pittock v. Buck (1908) 15 I. 47, 96 P. 212.

The fact that an intervenor has some other and adequate remedy for the protection of his property and right is no bar to his right to intervene. Potlatch L. Co. v. Runkel (1909) 16 I. 192, 101 P. 396, 18 Ann. Cas. 591, 23 L. R. A. (N. S.) 536.

Claimant of fund: Where a fund is deposited in court pursuant to stipulation, to abide the result of the action, a third person claiming an interest in said fund is entitled to intervene in the action. Pence v. Sweeney (1891) 3 I. 181, 28 P. 413.

Claim or ownership of attached property: The owner or claimant of property attached in an action for debt has such an interest against both parties to the main action as entitles him to intervene for the purpose of asserting his right and title to the attached property. Potlatch L. Co. v. Runkel, supra.

Judgment creditors: A judgment creditor and general creditors whose claims had been allowed in receivership suit may intervene in the foreclosure suit and contest validity of the mortgage so far as it covered personal property. Equitable etc. Co. v. Great Shoshone Co. (1917) 245 F. 697.

Effect of intervention: One who is allowed to intervene in a suit between third persons becomes a party to such suit, and his rights are as comprehensive as those of the original parties so far as any action of the court intereferes with said rights, and he is consequently entitled to a writ of review equally with the original parties to the suit. Gold Hunter M. etc. Co. v. Holleman (1891) 3 I. 99, 27 P. 413.

Pleadings: When an officer whom it is sought to oust by quo warranto proceedings holds office under the statute until his successor is elected and qualified, a complaint in intervention in such proceeding which alleges that the officer wrongfully withholds the office but directly avers that the intervenor has failed to qualify, fails to state a cause of action. People v. Green (1869) 1 I. 235.

Time for intervention: A complaint in intervention filed after the joinder of issue on demurrer and the submission of the case thereby, is too late. Ib.

In a foreclosure suit it is within court discretion whether a creditor who had not availed himself of the right to intervene and contest mortgage should be allowed to set up a claim. Equitable etc. Co. v. Great Shoshone etc. Co., 245 F. 697.

Actions against corporations: Either a domestic corporation or a foreign corporation which has complied with the requirements of the statute prescribing the conditions on which it may do business in the state is entitled to be sued in the county in which its principal place of business is located. (Overruled: Boyer v. N. P. Ry. Co. post.) Easely v. New Zealand Ins. Co. (1894) 4 I. 205, 38 P. 405.

§ 6665. [4124] Improper venue: Proceedings. If the county in which the action is commenced is not the proper county for the trial thereof, the action may, notwithstanding, be tried therein, unless the defendant, at the time he appears and answers or demurs, files an affidavit of merits, and demands, in writing, that the trial be had in the proper county. Rights of cross-complainant: Where an action is commenced to contest the foreclosure of a chattel mortgage and a cross-complaint is filed seeking to foreclose a real estate mortgage covering property in another county and given to secure the same debt for which the chattel mortgage was given, the court in which the action is commenced has jurisdiction to foreclose the real estate mortgage, and the cross complainant is not entitled to a change of venue to the county in which the real property is situated. Murphy v. Russell (1901) 8 I. 151, 67 P. 427.

§ 6666. Change of venue: When granted. The court or judge must, on motion, when it appears by affidavit or other satisfactory proof change the place of trial in the following cases:

1. When the county designated in the complaint is not the proper county.

2. When there is reason to believe that an impartial trial can not be had therein.

3. When the convenience of witnesses and the ends of justice would be promoted by the change.

4. When from any cause the judge is disqualified from acting. ['13 c. 96, p. 385.]

Cited: Easely v. New Zealand Ins Co. (1894) 4 I. 205, 38 P. 405.

Discretion of trial court: An application for a change of venue is addressed to the sound legal discretion of the trial court, and the decision reached by the trial court on such matter will not be reversed on appeal unless the showing made is such as to convince the appellate court that the trial court has abused such discretion. Gibbert v. Wash. W. P. Co. (1911) 19 I. 637, 115 P. 924. But see Gordon v. Conor (1897) 5 I. 673, 51 P. 747; Callahan v. Callahan (1917) 30 I. 431, 165 P. 1122.

Popular prejudice: Where a motion for change of venue is based on the ground of popular prejudice, supported by the affidavit of the applicant and denied by the counter affidavit of the adverse party, supported by the affidavits of 100 citizens showing that each of them is competent to sit as a juror in the case, it is error to grant the motion, although the applicant alleges without contradiction that two juries had failed to agree in the case. Sommercamp v. Catlow (1878) 1 I. 717.

Counter affidavit may be filed in opposition to a motion for change of venue on the ground of popular prejudice. Hyde v. Harkness (1875) 1 I. 601.

An application for change of venue on the grounds of popular prejudice ought to be supported by the affidavits of persons who have either been over the county generally or through large communities thereof, and have heard the citizens generally express themselves in regard to the matter at issue, or by residents of different portions of the county who know of the sentiment prevailing in their respective communities. Gibbert v. Wash. W. P. Co., supra.

Convenience of witness: A motion for change of venue on the ground of convenience of witnesses is addressed to the sound discretion of the trial court and its action will not be reversed in the absence of an abuse of discretion. Shirley v. Nodine (1878) 1 I. 696.

Where an application for change of venue on the ground of convenience of a witness shows that the witness resides in another state, the application should at least allege that the witness had promised to attend the trial if the change should be ordered; it is insufficient to allege that he thinks that he will do so. Ib.

Where a motion for change of the place of trial is made under the provisions of this section upon the ground that "the convenience of witnesses and the ends of justice would be promoted by the change," but no affidavits accompany the motion in support thereof, and it does not appear from the complaint or answer that the convenience of witnesses or the ends of justice would be promoted by such change, it is no abuse of discretion to deny the motion. Young v. Extension Ditch Co. (1916) 28 I. 775, 156 P. 917.

Prejudice of judge: Prejudice of the judge is ground for a change of venue under this section in view of Const. V, 18. which requires the courts to administer justice without prejudice. (Stockslager, C. J. dissents) Day v. Day (1906) 12 I. 556; 86 P. 531.

When a district judge is disqualified from acting as a judge in a case pending in his court, and a motion is made for a change of venue on the ground of such disqualification, it is the duty of such judge to grant a change of venue, and such duty is mandatory and not discretionary. Gordon v. Conor (1897) 5 I. 673, 51 P. 747. Especially is this true since the '13 amendment. Callahan v. Callahan (1917) 30 I. 431, 165 P. 1122.

Where a motion is made and sustained for change of venue on the ground of disqualification of the judge, such judge has no power to pass upon questions preliminary to the trial, such as the question of convenience of witnesses as determining the place of trial. Gordon v. Conor, Ib.

Where a party moves for a change of place of trial, on the grounds of the prejudice of the judge, it is not sufficient for him to state that "he has good reason to believe, and does believe, that he can not have a fair and impartial trial," but he must state the facts upon which he predicates his charge of prejudice. Bell v. Bell (1910) 18 I. 636, 111 P. 1074.

§ 6667. [4126] Same: Disqualification of judge. Whenever in any action pending before any court, the judge or justice thereof shall be disqualified from acting therein, or, if from any cause the court orders the place of trial to be changed, it must be transferred for trial to such other court of competent jurisdiction as may be agreed upon by the parties by stipulation in writing in open court, and entered in the minutes; or, if they do not so agree, then to the nearest court where the like objection or cause for making the order does not exist, as follows:

1. If in the district court, to another district court.
2. If in the probate court, to the district court in the same county.
3. If in a justice's court, to another justice's court in the same county.
4. Whenever the judge of any district court shall be disqualified from hearing any cause pending therein, and any of the attorneys of record in such cause shall petition the governor to request that the judge of some other district court hold court in the county wherein such cause is pending, the governor may request the judge of the district court of some other district, who is not disqualified, to hold court in the county in which such cause is pending; and, upon receiving such request from the governor, it shall be the duty of the judge so requested to hold such court and to try and determine such cause, and it shall be the duty of the disqualified judge to hold court for an equal length of time for the judge who takes his place, if so requested by such judge. The request of the attorneys hereinbefore provided for shall be in writing, filed in the cause, and a copy thereof, together with a list of all the attorneys of record in such cause, shall be certified by the clerk of the court to the governor as speedily as possible. Hill v. Morgan (1904) 9 I. 718, 76 P. 323.

The omission of the seal of the court on an alias summons is not fatal, but is a mere irregularity and does not render the process void. Harpold v. Doyle (1909) 16 I. 671, 102 P. 158.

Presumption of demand: In considering the sufficiency of an alias summons it will be presumed that the demand or the clerk was duly made therefor, in the absence of any showing to the contrary. Hill v. Morgan, supra.

§ 6674. [4142] Lis pendens. In an action affecting the title or the right of possession of real property, the plaintiff at the time of filing the complaint, and the defendant at the time of filing his answer, when affirmative relief is claimed in such answer, or at any time afterward may file for record with the recorder of the county in which the property or some part thereof is situated, a notice of the pendency of the action, containing the names of the parties, the object of the action or defense, and a description of the property in that county affected thereby. From the time of filing such notice for record only shall a purchaser or incumbrancer of the property affected thereby be deemed to have constructive notice of the pendency of the action, and only of its pendency against parties designated by their real names. Smith v. Faris-Kesl Const. Co. (1915) 27 I. 407, 151 P. 25.

§ 6675. [4143] Service of summons: Return. The summons may be served by the sheriff of the county where the defendant is found, or b any other person over the age of 18, not a party to the action. A copy of the complaint must be served with the summons, unless two or more defendants are residents of the same county, in which case a copy of the complaint need only be served upon one of such defendants. When the summons is served by the sheriff, it must be returned with his certificate of its service, and of the service of a copy of the complaint when such copy is served, to the office of the clerk from which it issued. When it is served by any other person it must be returned to the same place, with an affidavit of such person of its service, and of the service of a copy of the complaint, when such copy is served. § 6676. Same: Manner of service. The summons must be served by delivering a copy thereof as follows:

1. If the suit is against a corporation formed under the laws of this state, to the president or other head of the corporation, secretary, cashier or managing agent thereof: Provided, That if such president, secretary, cashier or managing agent shall all have moved from or ceased to be a resident of, or be absent from the state, or their names can not be ascertained by the sheriff or other person seeking to procure service, then service may be made by delivering a copy of the summons and copy of the complaint to the auditor of the county in which the principal place of business of such corporation is located according to its articles of incorporation, in the manner and with the same effect as though such service had been made upon any of the above officers or agents of such company. It shall be the duty of such auditor to forward a copy of any such summons so served on him, by registered mail, to such corporation at its principal place of business in such county, in care of any officer of such corporation if any are known to him, but no failure on the part of such auditor to mail such summons shall affect the validity of such service thereof: Provided further, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent or invalidate the service of such summons on an agent of such corporation in any other county in which he may be found.

2. If the suit is against a foreign corporation or a nonresident joint stock company, or association doing business and having a managing or business agent, cashier or secretary within this state, to such agent, cashier or secretary, or to any station, ticket or other agent of said corporation, transacting business thereof, in the county where the action is commenced, and if there is no such agent in said county then service may be made upon any such agent in any other county.

3. Whenever any foreign corporation, nonresident joint stock company or association shall not have any designated person actually residing in the county in which said corporation or joint stock company shall be doing business in this state upon whom process can be served as provided in section 4773 of these codes, or when the agent of such company as provided in said section shall have removed from, or ceased to be a resident, or can not after due diligence be found within the county where the action arose, or conceals himself in order to avoid the service of process, then service of such summons shall be made upon the county auditor of said county with like effect as though said service were made upon an agent or person appointed and designated as provided in said section 4773, and it shall be the duty of such auditor to forward a copy of such summons so served on him, by registered mail, to the principal business office of such corporation, in this state, if the address of such office be known to him, but no failure on the part of such auditor to mail such copy of summons shall affect the validity of the service thereof.

4. Foreign corporations: Foreign corporations may be sued in any county of the state although the designated agent for the service of process resides in some other county than that of suit. Boyer v. N. P. Ry. Co. (1901) 8 I. 74, 66 P. 826.

Proof of service: Proof of service of summons on the president of a foreign corporation without anything to show that the president was the managing or business agent or cashier of the corporation, is fatally defective. Applington v. G. V. B. Mining Co. (1898) 6 I. 216, 55 P. 241.

Sufficiency of service: Service of summons on a corporation is sufficient when made upon a person who had theretofore been served with process, and the corporation accepted such service by its appearance, where the corporation, through its attorney or some one authorized to act for it did not inform the party in interest how a better service could be made. Hill v. Morgan (1904) 9 I. 718, 76 P. 323.

Service of summons on "manager" of corporation is prima facie service upon the corporation. Densel v. Atlanta Merc. Co. (1909) 17 I. 432, 106 P. 2.

§ 6677. Service by publication: Affidavit. When the person on whom the service is to be made resides outside of the state, or has departed from the state, or can not after due diligence be found within the state, or conceals himself therein to avoid the service of summons, or is a foreign corporation having no managing or business agent, cashier or secretary within this state, and the fact appears by affidavit to the satisfaction of the court in which the suit is pending, or to the judge or to the clerk thereof in vacation, and it also appears by the verified complaint on file that a cause of action exists against the defendant in respect to whom the service is to be made, and that he is a necessary or proper party to the action, such court or judge or the clerk in vacation of the court, may make an order for the publication of the summons, or, if the address of the defendant outside of the state is known, may make an order that personal service of the summons may be made outside of the state in lieu of such publication, and an affidavit setting forth in ordinary and concise language any of the grounds as above set forth, upon which the publication of the summons is asked for, shall be sufficient without setting forth or showing what efforts have been made or what diligence has been exerted, in attempting to find the defendant. Constitutionality: This section as it appeared in the R. S. was not in conflict with the constitution by reason of its authorizing a probate judge to make the order for publication in a case not pending in his court. McKnight v. Grant (1907) 13 I. 629, 92 P. 989, 121 A. S. R. 287.

Affidavit for publication: An affidavit for publication which describes as the basis of the action a cause of action different from the one alleged in the complaint, can not be made the basis for an order for publication, and an order for publication and publication of summons under such order are void and do not give an absent defendant constructive notice of the pendency of the action. Vermont L. &. T. Co. v. McGregor (1897) 5 I. 510, 51 P. 104.

An affidavit for publication which states that due and diligent search has been made for defendants and that they can not be found within the state, but fails to allege the facts which constitute such due and diligent search, is insufficient to authorize an order for publication. Mills v. Smiley (1904) 9 I. 325, 76 P. 786.

An affidavit for publication should show whether the defendant is a resident or nonresident of the state and his last place of residence, if known, and if such place is unknown, that fact should also appear. Ib.

Due diligence: This section does not dispense with the use of due diligence to ascertain the residence or postoffice address of the defendant, and the mere assertion of diligence in the affidavit is not a compliance with the statute. Lohr v. Curley (1915) 27 I. 739, 152 P. 185.

§ 6678. Same: Order and service. The order must direct the publication to be made in a newspaper to be designated as most likely to give notice to the person to be served, at least once a week for the full period of one month; at least 30 days shall intervene between the first and last publication of summons against a defendant residing outside of the state or absent therefrom. In case publication is ordered where the residence of a nonresident or absent defendant is known, the court or judge must direct a copy of the summons and complaint to be forthwith deposited in the post office, directed to the person to be served at his place of residence. When publication is ordered and made the service of summons is complete at the expiration of the period of publication. When personal service of summons is ordered and made outside of the state the service is complete at the time of service. ['09, p. 185, S. B. '9, § 3.]

Substantial compliance: The proceedings of courts of general jurisdiction, where the summons is served by publication, are supported by the same presumptions as where the service is personally made, and can not be avoided for mere errors or irregularities. Harpold v. Doyle (1908) 16 I. 671, 102 P. 158.

Duration of publication (prior to amendment): The month contemplated by this section is a calendar month and not a lunar month, but a publication for five consecutive weeks at intervals of a week is sufficient. Forsman v. Bright (1902) 8 I. 467, 69 P. 473.

Where the order for publication of summons directed that publication be made "at least once a week for one full month" and the summons is published in a weekly newspaper for five consecutive weeks, the first publication being made on September 16 and the last publication October 14 following, the requirement of this section was complied with. (Ailshie, J. dissents) Harpold v. Doyle (1908) 16 I. 671, 102 P. 158.

Extra territorial service: Where after order for publication the summons is personally served on the defendant out of the state, the service does not become complete until the expiration of the time prescribed in the order for publication, and the defendant has 40 days after the expiration of such time in which to answer; a default judgment entered within such 40 days is void. Bowen v. Harper (1899) 6 I. 654, 59 P. 179.

§ 6679. [4147] Service on one of joint defendants. When the action is against two or more defendants jointly or severally liable on a contract and the summons is served on one or more but not on all of them, the plaintiff may proceed against the defendants served in the same manner as if they were the only defendants. § 6680. Proof of service. Proof of service of summons and complaint must be as follows:

1. If served by the sheriff, his certificate thereof.
2. If by any other person, his affidavit thereof; or,
3. In case of publication, the affidavit of the printer, or his foreman or principal clerk, showing the same; and an affidavit of a deposit of a copy of the summons in the post office if the same has been deposited; or,
4. In case of personal service outside of the state, an affidavit thereof by the person making such service.

O'Neill v. Potvin (On rehearing 1908) 13 I. 721, 93 P. 20, 257.

§ 6681. [4149] Jurisdiction acquired by service. From the time of the service of the summons and of a copy of the complaint in a civil action, where service of a copy of the complaint is required, or of the completion of the publication, when service by publication is ordered, the court is deemed to have acquired jurisdiction of the parties and to have control of all the subsequent proceedings. Objection to the illegal service is considered as abandoned only when the party pleads to the merits in the first instance. Harkness v. Hyde (1879) 98 U. S. (8 Otto) 476, 25 L. ed. 237.

THE COMPLAINT.

§ 6686. [4167] First pleading is complaint. The first pleading on the part of the plaintiff is the complaint. [R. S. § 4167.]

1. The title of the action, the name of the court and county in which the action is brought, and the names of the parties to the action.

2. A statement of the facts constituting the cause of action, in ordinary and concise language.

3. A demand of the relief which the plaintiff claims; if the recovery of money or damages be demanded, the amount thereof must be stated. [R. S. § 4168.]

Russell (1901) 8 I. 133, 67 P. 421; Porter v. Allen (1902) 8 I. 358, 69 P. 105, 236; Coleman v. Jaggers (1906) 12 I. 125, 85 P. 894.

Forms abolished: No particular form of complaint is required; it must contain a statement of the facts constituting the cause of action in ordinary and concise language, and when that is done the plaintiff is entiteld to whatever relief his allegations and proof show him entitled to, either at law or in equity. Anderson v. War Eagle Con. M. Co. (1902) 8 I. 789, 72 P. 671.

The technicalities of pleading have been dispensed with by the code and the plaintiff need only state his cause of action in ordinary concise terms, whether it be in assumpsit, trespass or ejectment, without regard to the ancient forms of pleadings and the plaintiff can be sent out of court only when, upon the facts pleaded, he is entitled to no relief either at law or equity. Rauh v. Oliver (1904) 10 I. 3, 77 P. 20; Bates v. Cap. S. Bk. (1912) 21 I. 141, 121 P. 561; Poncia v. Eagle (1915) 28 I. 60, 152 P. 208; Carroll v. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. (1916) 28 I. 466, 154 P. 985.

Name of pleading: The sufficiency of the pleading must be determined upon the facts pleaded rather than upon any name given to the pleading or the cause of action. Bates. v. Cap. S. Bk. (1910) 18 I. 429, 110 P. 277.

Allegations should be positive: A complaint alleging generally an indebtedness for a balance due for goods, wares and merchandise sold and delivered, while it does not comply with this section, is sufficient. Shaw v. Manville (1895) 4 I. 369, 39 P. 559.

A pleading should contain a positive statement of the essential facts and is insufficient where it merely states that such facts are alleged to exist; in an action on an account a complaint which fails to allege, except by way of recital, that there is a certain amount due the plaintiff, is demurrable. Holton v. Sandpoint L. Co. (1901) 7 I. 573, 64 P. 889.

Brevity in the complaint is to be commended but the ultimate facts, as distinguished from mere conclusions, should be detailed with sufficient particularity to apprise the defendant of the basis of the plaintiff's claim. That the defendant is indebted to plaintiff, without setting forth when, where or how the indebtedness arose, is not a statement of facts constituting a cause of action. Phoenix L. Co. v. Regents of U. of Idaho (1908) 197 F. 425.

A common-law count for money had and received, without alleging the facts creating the indebtedness, is insufficient to state a cause of action for fraud, under this section. Moser v. Pugh-Jenkins Furniture Co., 31 I. 438, 173 P. 639.

Actions for negligence: In an action against a carrier for personal injuries to a passenger, it is sufficient to allege in general terms that the injury complained of was occasioned by the negligence of the servant of the carrier, without further alleging that the servant was acting within the scope of his employment. Lindsay v. O. S. L. Ry. Co. (1907) 13 I. 477, 90 P. 984, 12 L. R. A. (N. S.) 184.

In an action for the negligent killing of an animal, the complaint must contain a statement of the facts constituting the negligent killing, in ordinary, concise language. A general allegation of negligence is insufficient to withstand a special demurrer for uncertainty. King v. O. S. Ry. Co. (1898) 6 I. 306, 55 P. 665.

But where no demurrer is interposed against a complaint in which negligence is pleaded generally, such general plea is sufficient. Younie v. Blackfoot L. & Co. (1908) 15 I. 56, 96 P. 193.

Pleading corporate existence: An allegation that the defendant is a corporation organized and existing by virtue of the law and doing business in a certain county is a sufficient allegation of corporate existence. Jones v. Pacific Dredging Co. (1903) 9 I. 186, 72 P. 956.

Exhibits: Pleading an instrument by attaching a copy to the complaint as an exhibit thereto does not tender an issue or involve an assertion of the truth of the statements and recitals contained in the exhibit. In order to tender an issue as to the truth or correctness of statements and recitals contained in such exhibit, it is necessary to plead them in appropriate terms. Sweeney v. Johnson (1913) 23 I. 530, 130 P. 997.

§ 6688. Joinder of causes. The plaintiff may unite several causes of action in the same complaint, where they all arise out of:

1. Contracts, express or implied.
2. Claims to recover specific real property, with or without damages for the withholding thereof, or for waste committed thereon, and the rents and profits of the same.
3. Claims to recover specific personal property, with or without damages for the withholding thereof.
4. Claims against a trustee by virtue of a contract, or by operation of law.
5. Injuries to character.
6. Injuries to person.
7. Injuries to property: Provided, That where injuries to person and to personal property arise out of the occurrence or transaction, causes of action may be united in the same complaint, and separate actions for such injuries are hereby prohibited.

With the exception of the causes of action specified in subdivision 7 last preceding, the causes of action so united must all belong to one only of these classes, and must affect all the parties to the action and not require different places of trial, and must be separately stated; but an action for malicious arrest and prosecution, or either of them, may be united with an action for either an injury to the character or to the person. ['13, c. 23, p. 92, § 1.]

Hist. (See C. C. P. '81, § 231) R. S. § 169, reen. R. C. ib.; am. '13, c. 23, § 1, p. 92, reen. C. L. § 4169.

Comp. leg.—Cal. Same: C. C. P. 1872, 427; Kerr's C. ib.

N. D. Similar: C. C. P. § 7466.

Commingling causes in one count: Procedure: Where two or more causes of action are improperly united and commingled in one count in the complaint, the proper procedure to reach the defect is by motion to require the plaintiff to separately state his several causes of action in different counts. Darknell v. Coeur d'Alene etc. Co. (1910) 18 I. 61, 108 P. 836.

When joinder is permissible: The plaintiff may unite several causes of action in the same complaint where all of such causes belong to either one of the several classes therein mentioned, but is prohibited from uniting in the same complaint causes of action arising under different classes or not coming within any one of the said classes. Kruger v. St. Joe L. Co. (1905) 9 I. 504, 83 P. 695.

Single cause of action: In an action on an injunction bond, sums of money paid to two attorneys for fees in the injunction suit constitute but one cause of action. Angel v. Levy (1878) 1 I. 722.

A complaint alleging in one paragraph an indebtedness on a balance of account for money loaned, services performed, goods furnished and money paid, states but one cause of action and is not bad for failing to separately state the different amounts due on each item separately. Mills v. Glennon (1885) 2 I. 105, 6 P. 116.

Allegations showing separate items of damages growing out of the same facts may be alleged as a part of the same cause of action. Unfried v. Libert (1911) 20 I. 708, 119 P. 885.

Repetition of allegations: Where several causes of action are united in one complaint, it is not necessary to rewrite in each count, after the first, all the allegations. but it is sufficient if apt and express reference is made in each subsequent count to each preliminary allegation stated in the first, thus making them a part thereof. Aulbach v. Dahler (1896) 4 I. 654, 43 P. 322.

Restatement of same count: Under the code, a party may state as many causes of action as he may have if they are of a character to be properly embraced in the same complaint, but he may not write out the same causes of action under different forms. People v. Slocum (1866) 1 I. 62.

Contract actions: A count of a complaint seeking relief on the theory of rescission of a contract is inconsistent with another count claiming damages from breach of the contract, and it is proper to compel an election between said counts. Murphy v. Russell & Co. (1901) 8 I. 133, 67 P. 421.
